

FOR REFERENCE

Do Not Take From This Room

UNIVERSITY OF ALABAMA
LIBRARY COLLEGE 1996

Through A Different Door

Lee College

William G.
Squires
Library

William G. Squires Library
Cleveland, Tennessee

NOT TO BE TAKEN OUT

hakin' off the nickname.

We never wanted to be generation X
We were well on our way to being eneration neXt.

We weren't blaming the generation before us for the world we were leading into.
Instead, we were thinking about how we could change it for the one's to come.

Sometimes, we didn't know eXactly how, or which direction we should go.

We did know where those before us had been.

To get to that tomorrow we were lookin' for,

We had to go . . .

This is a story of people.

Individuals who were sometimes confident, sometimes confused-sometimes lonely and sometimes courageous, but always hopeful.

This was Lee College like it never was before and never will be again.

through a different

DOOR

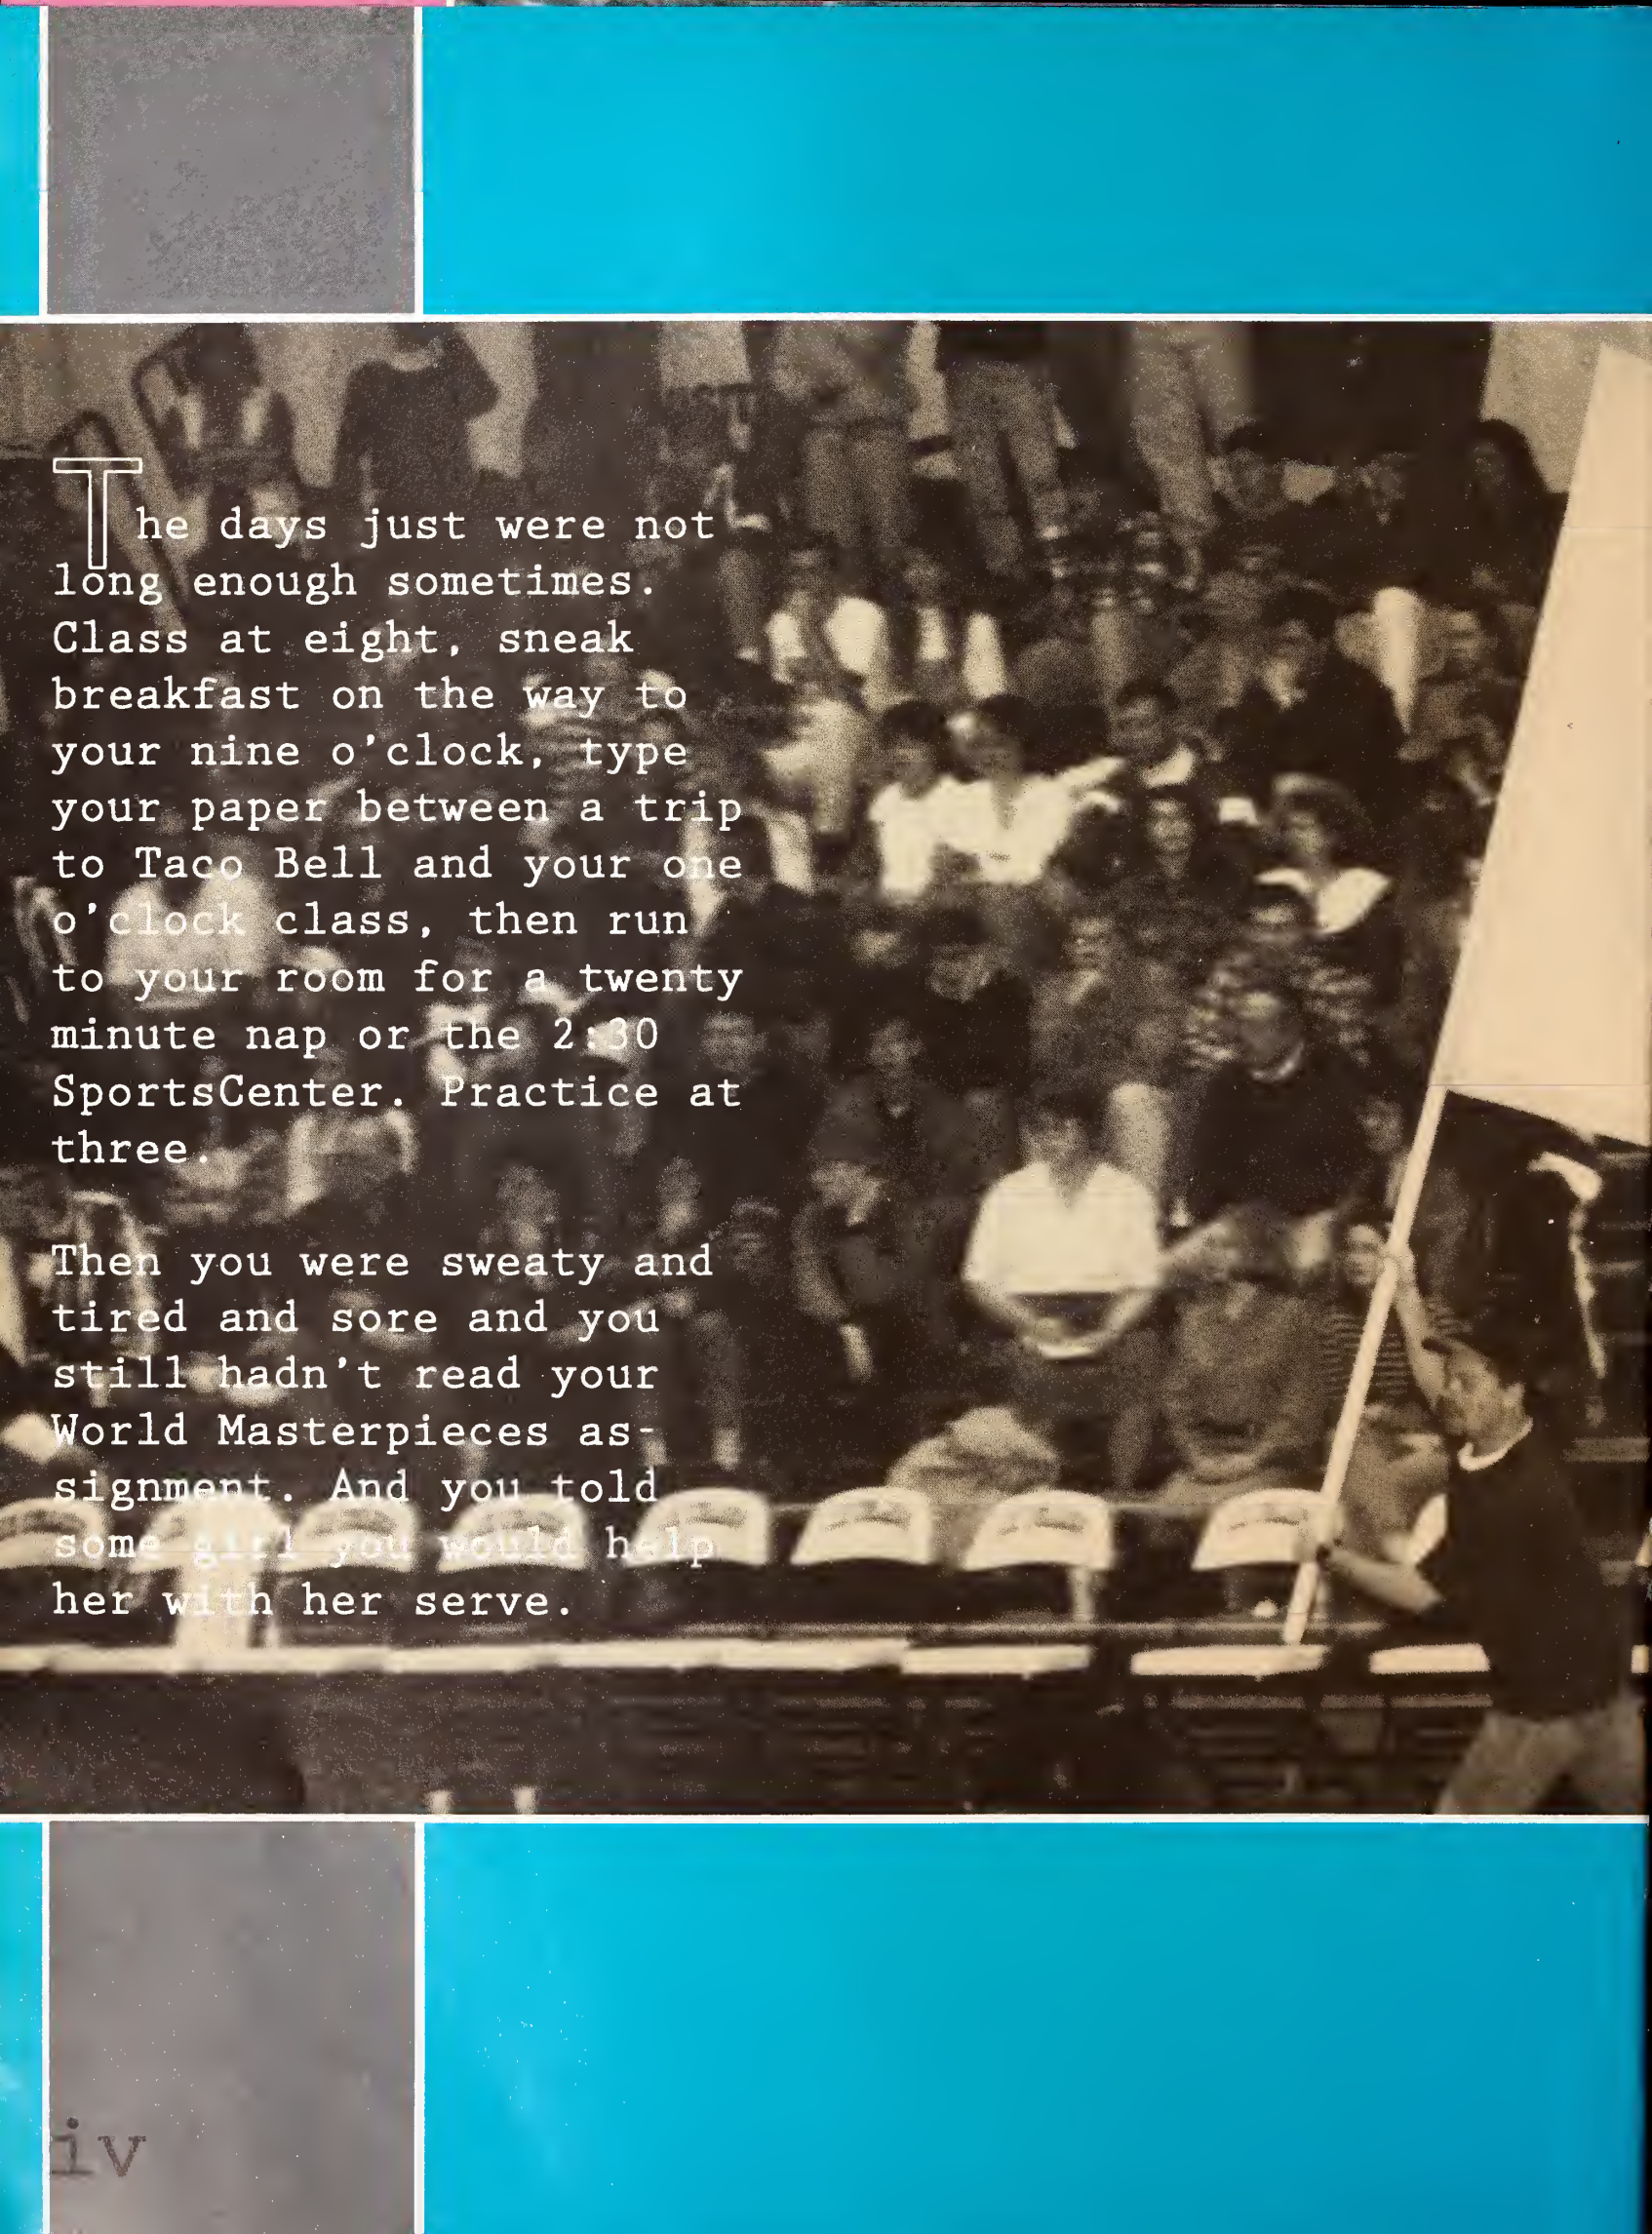

Ref.
LD 2956 A7 156 1976
C.3

If it was your first year, your fourth year, your last year, you were trying to decide on your major, you were doing your student teaching, you were getting that 'resume' just right. You were looking for a person, you were missing the one you loved back home, you were trying to date them all. You were looking forward to your Spring Break, you were being entirely too sentimental about your last.
You were living in the best time of your life, with all the questions about your future and alot of those about your past could be answered simply and sufficiently.

"I'm in College."

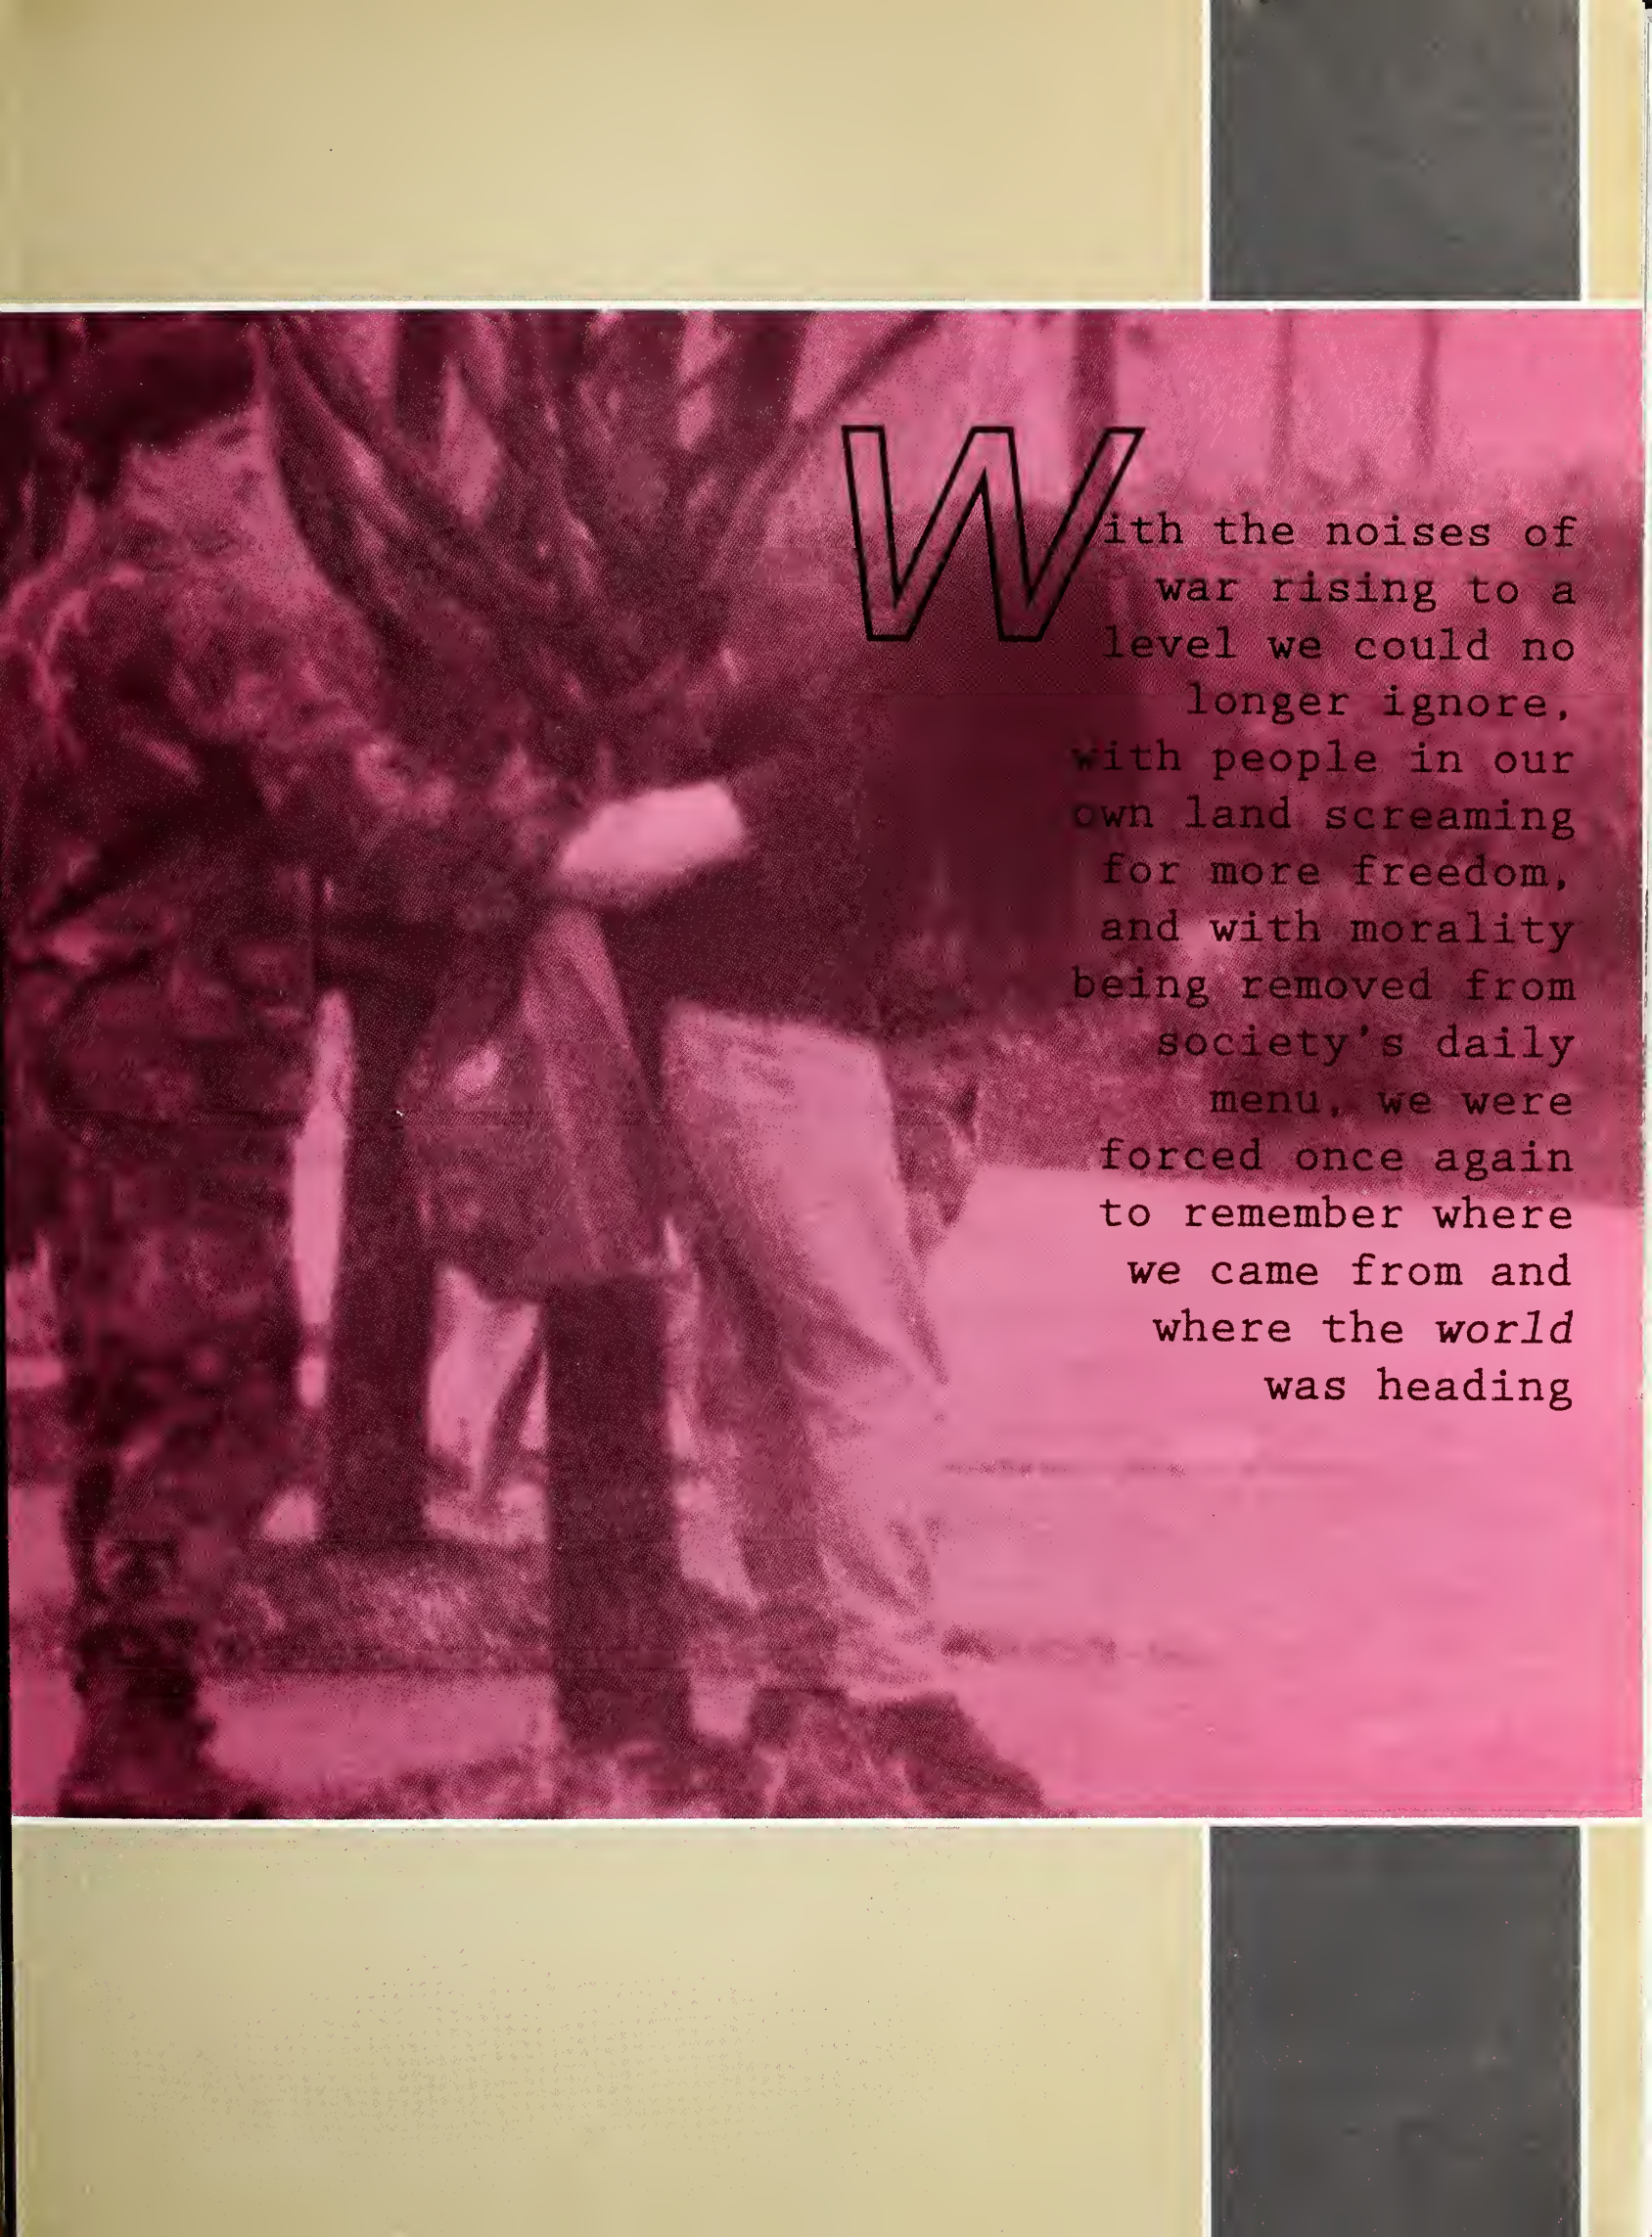

The background of the page is a black and white photograph of a crowded bleachers at a sports event. In the foreground, a person is visible holding a flag. The text is overlaid on the left side of the image.

The days just were not long enough sometimes. Class at eight, sneak breakfast on the way to your nine o'clock, type your paper between a trip to Taco Bell and your one o'clock class, then run to your room for a twenty minute nap or the 2:30 SportsCenter. Practice at three.

Then you were sweaty and tired and sore and you still hadn't read your World Masterpieces assignment. And you told some girl you would help her with her serve.

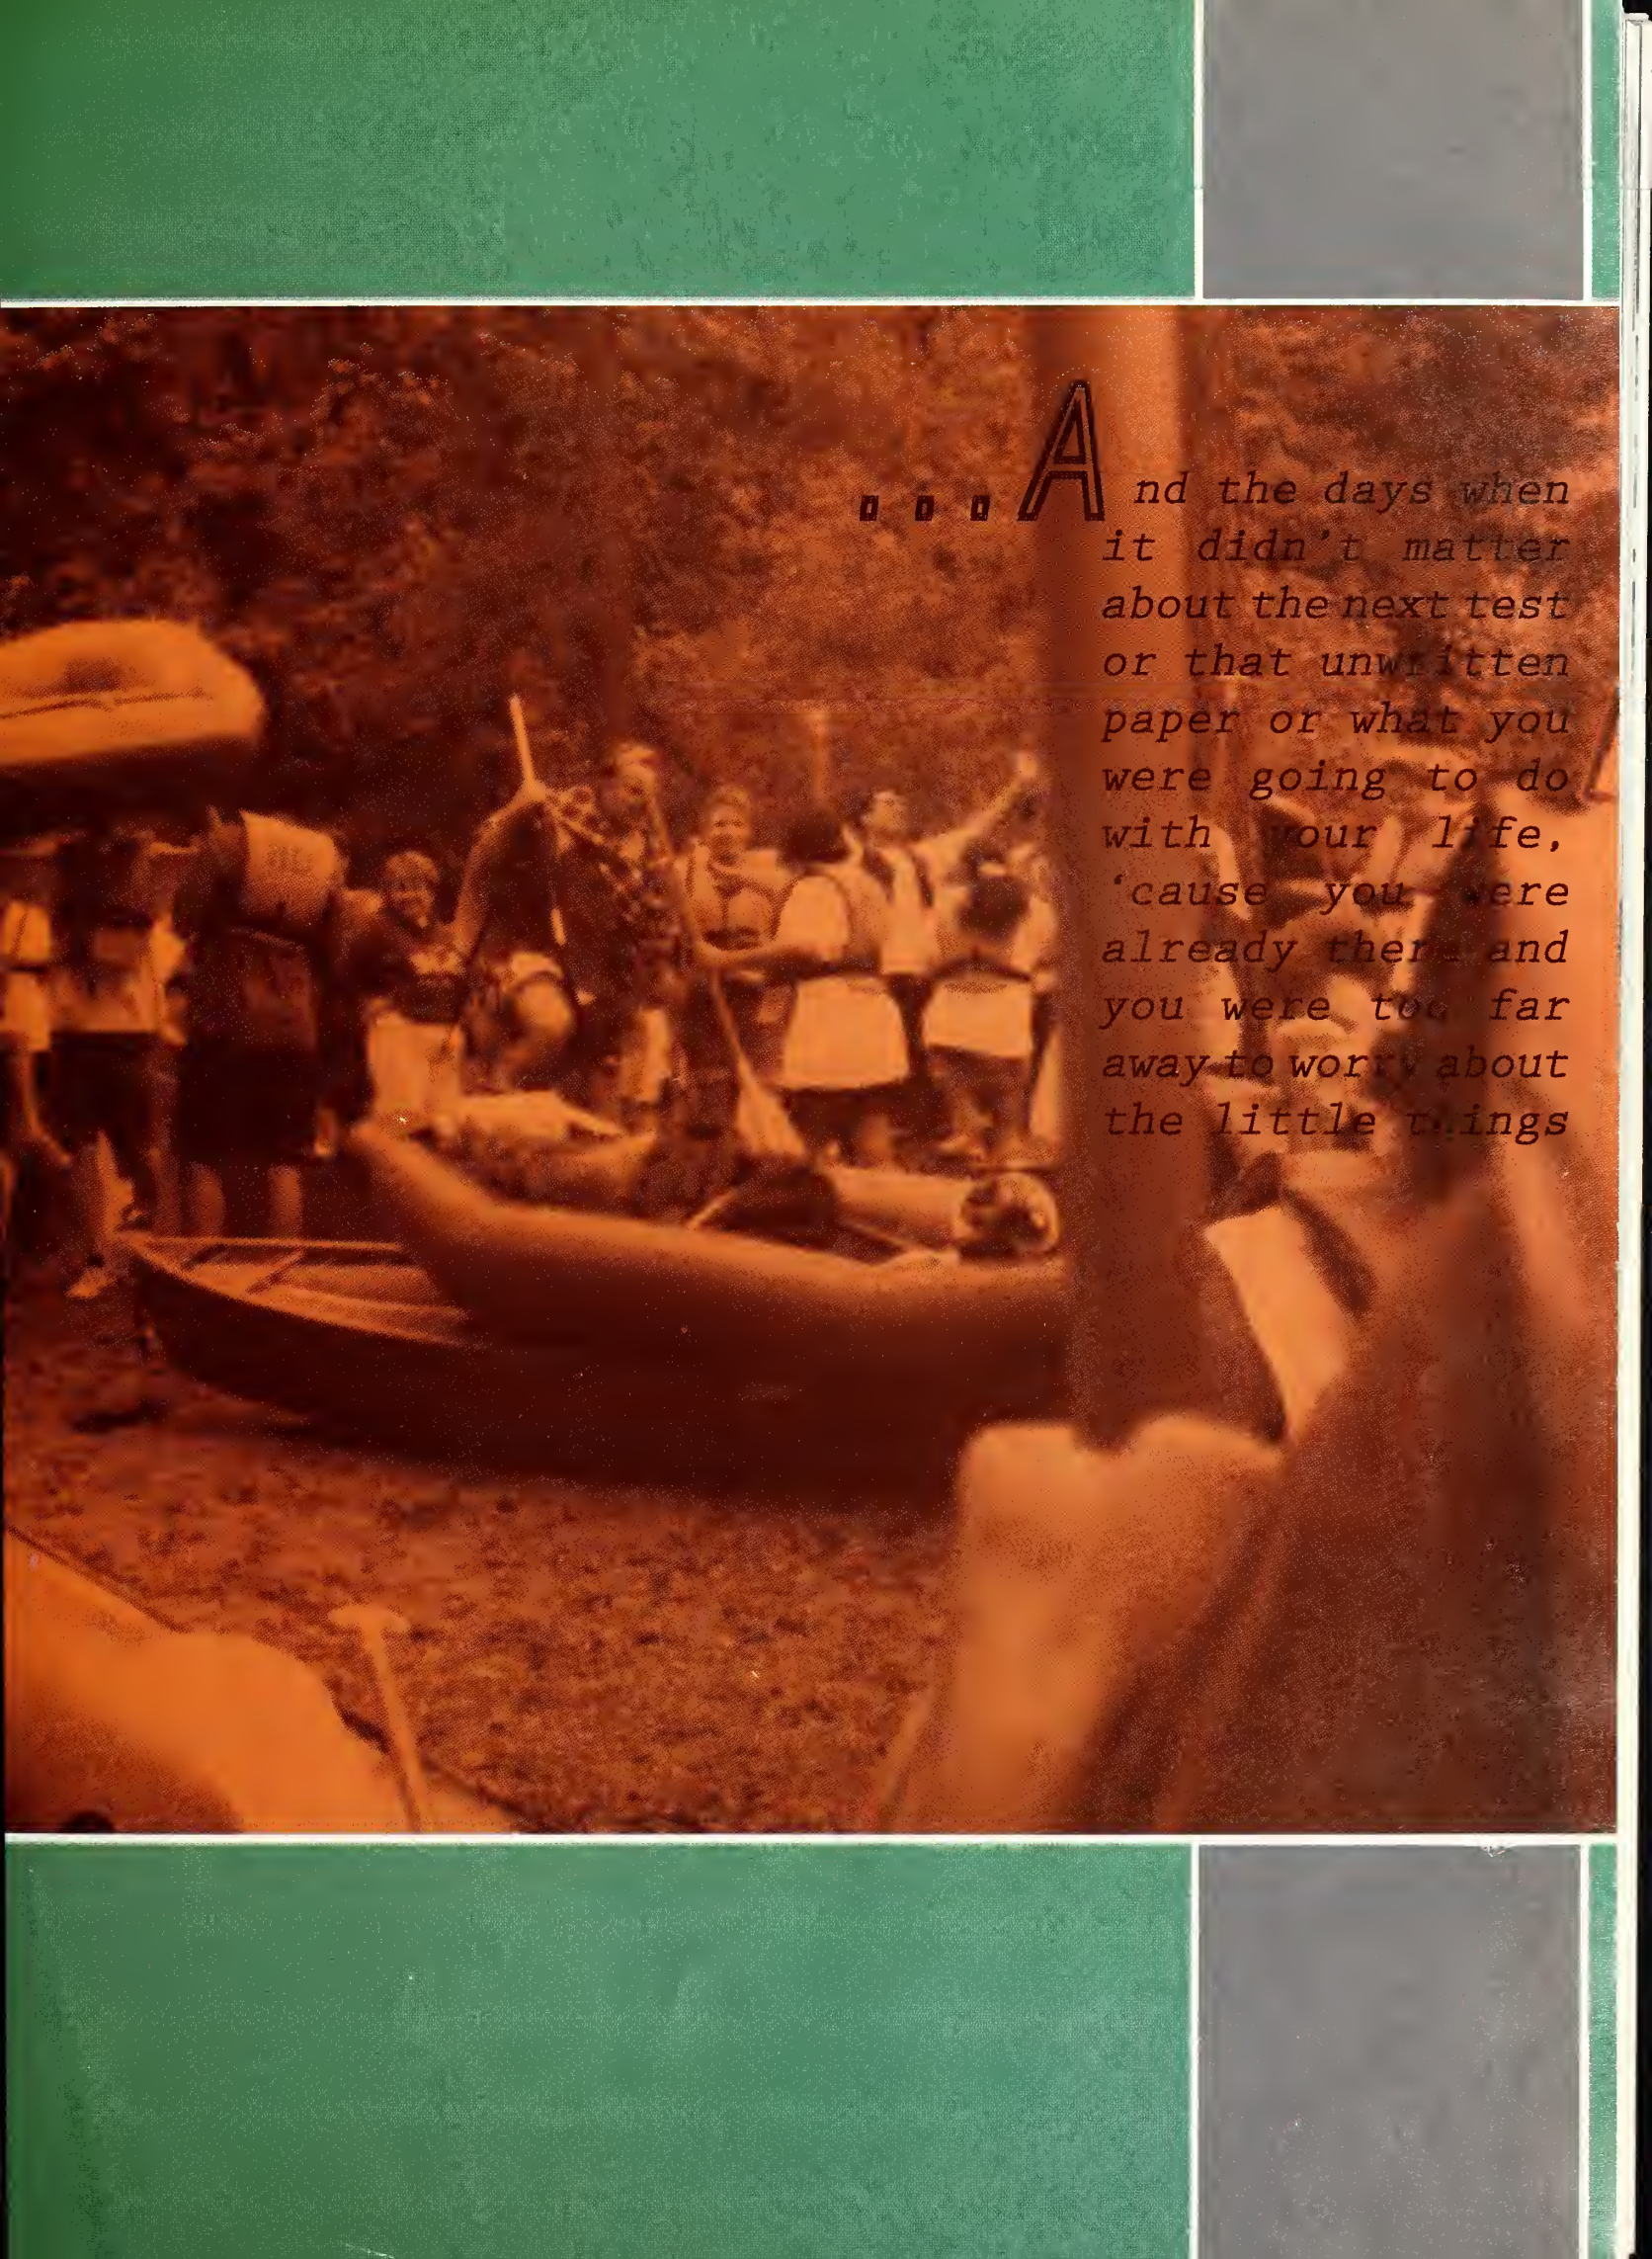

With the noises of war rising to a level we could no longer ignore, with people in our own land screaming for more freedom, and with morality being removed from society's daily menu, we were forced once again to remember where we came from and where the world was heading

A vintage, sepia-toned photograph of a group of people, likely a rowing team, in a long boat on a river. The people are wearing light-colored uniforms and are holding oars. The background shows a dense forest. The photograph is framed by a dark border. In the top right corner, there is a small, light-colored rectangular area. In the bottom right corner, there is a small, dark rectangular area. The text is overlaid on the right side of the photograph.

• • • A nd the days when it didn't matter about the next test or that unwritten paper or what you were going to do with your life,
'cause you were already there and you were too far away to worry about the little things

traditions

Some were just starting, others were founded in the richness of a long past

36

78 leaders

Some well known faces changed places

1996 Vindagua Doors

Academics

94 As the world moved, so did Lee as it continued to face the challenge of training people who could live in this world while constantly looking forward to another

30

Organizations

Although it was really more than retreats and cook-outs and knowing people to maybe study with or a way to meet dates, weren't those the best parts?

230

student life 130

when you have forgotten how bad the rules may have seemed or how long some teachers talked or how hard some tests were and quit complaining, remember . . .

272 SPORTS

. . . But, of course it is how you played the game that decided who won or lost.

ministries 246

Taking it back to where we came from, remembering the commission, and reaching out in our own backyard

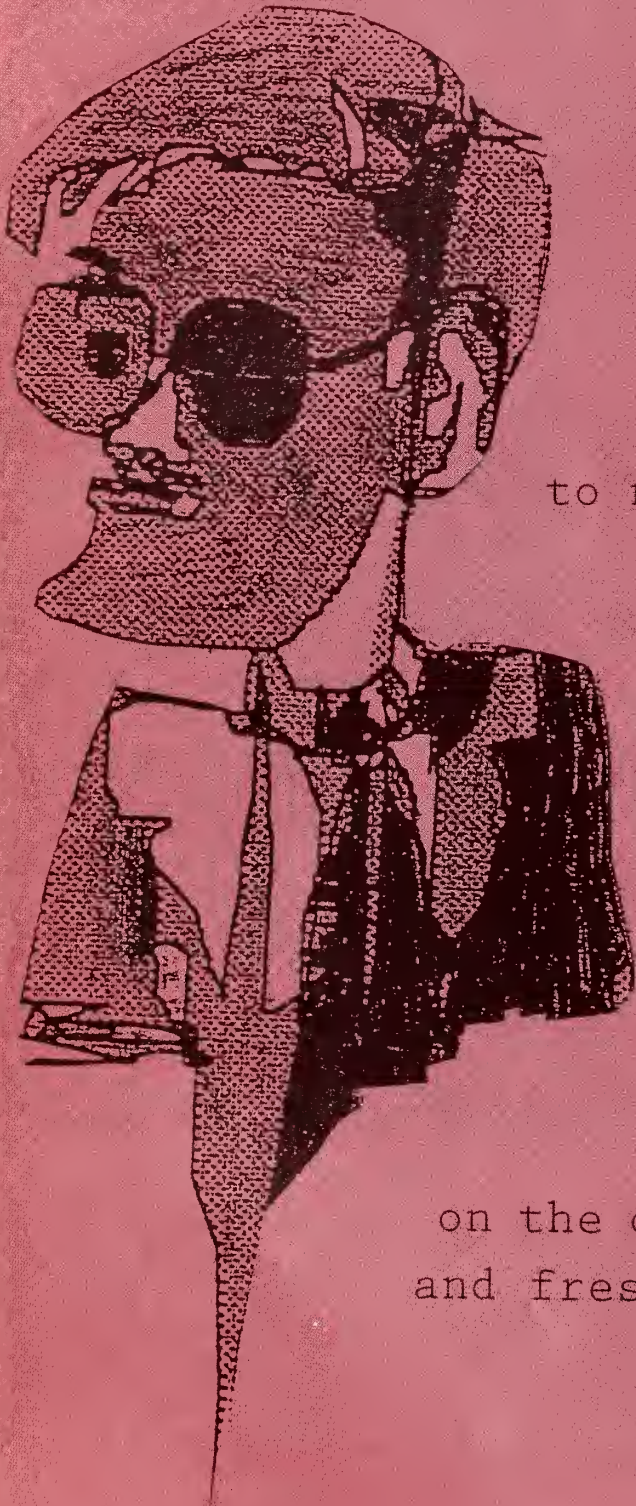

INTRAMURALS

maybe some did take it too serious, but they were usually the guys and girls who got the free t-shirts

302

" If we have the courage to step forward in the Lord to move through the open door—on the other side of that door is a new and fresh anointing, and great things in the Kingdom of God that we have never seen before or imagined."

Dr. Paul Conn

dôor, n. 1. movable partition for barring access.

A lot of doors at Lee College were opened this year. We became internationally recognized as an official Olympic Village for the 1996 summer games, a graduate program got off to a successful start this year, and Dr. Conn reached an unreachable star to follow in his father's footsteps as President of this college for a decade.

The improvements of this college have been made by opening doors and closing others, but the future of this college is going a different route. With Dr. Conn's kickoff of the Open Door Fund-raising Campaign he is beginning a new era of Lee College. This doesn't just involve new buildings; it involves graduate programs, expansion of recruitment, and credibility that could lead us to become Lee University.

It all begins by going Through a Different Door. . .

Sheila Massengill

Jennifer Hamilton

Sheila Massengill

It happens every year . . .

Some events come and go, but there are those that happen every year.

It's Not Just A Journey. . .

. . . it's an adVENTURE!

In August, dozens of new freshmen converged on the Lee College campus. These young men and women had no idea what would soon happen to them. After giving up all of their earthly possessions to a tiny room to live with a total stranger, they had that night to settle in and to relax. The next morning, these young people were divided into groups and given an in-depth look at the Lee College campus.

Not only did the students try to memorize all the buildings, they also sat through hours of informational classes. These classes told everything about Lee, and what to expect in the coming year. Some got it, and some didn't. Whoever sat in on those sessions, though, walked away with more knowledge than before.

Considering the "complexity" of Lee College, the freshmen had a slight advantage over those of previous years. Trying to comprehend all the changes that college would require did promote unity among the Freshmen class.

Passing the torch . . .

stories by Summer Joplin

Classes had not yet begun. The school year was just beginning. The freshmen felt at home. The adjustments were made. The freshmen had not been into full swing. The freshmen had not been officially taken in as part of the student body.

This matter was soon resolved at the Service of Dedication. The freshmen class was greeted by President Conn. Two current Lee students encouraged the new students with stories of their own experiences since coming to Lee. The overwhelming symbolic feature of the evening was the passing of the torch. Sophomore class President Tanner McFall passed the torch on to a representative group of freshmen sealing the joining of this freshman class to the rest of the Lee college student body. When all was said and done, we were all dedicated to work together and to be as one.

... and lighting new flames

"Bind Us Together," was the theme of the freshman vesper service. The recreation center served as the unlikely host to the event. The purpose of the service was to bring the freshman class together to worship and to serve as a reminder about how the freshmen need to bind together and lean on each other throughout the next few years. A choir composed of only freshmen provided the music for the evening, and Campus pastor Robert Shepherd delivered a message on unity and the importance of college friendships.

To cap off the evening, candles were distributed to all in attendance. While the students and faculty lit their candles, voices joined together to sing the theme song "Bind Us Together." The final event was a prayer in which they vowed to give all their cares to the Lord and trust completely in him—no matter where He may lead.

Convo Combo

by Josh Martin

The traditional eight convocation services were crammed into the span of one week. This year was different: the convocation services were spread over the span of two weeks. The first week was highlighted by the sermons of Loran Livingston, the pastor of Central Church of God in Charlotte, North Carolina. The second week, Donald Aultman taught us stirring Bible lessons during the four morning services. Loran Livingston's message consisted of one word: discovery. He suggested that an exploration of our soul be taken. We should take a hard look into ourselves and find out the things that separate us from having a relationship with God. Finding these "secret sins" is vital and is needed if we are to have an intimate friendship with God.

The second week of convocation was littered with life lessons from Dr. Donald Aultman. The theme of his messages was depending on God in every aspect of your life. We as humans cannot possibly do everything ourselves, and if we let go and let God have control we cannot foul up things.

With the stress of the jam-packed week of morning and evening chapel services, this year's way of dealing with the problem was refreshing. With the services being spread over two weeks it allowed the student body to be rested each day and be refreshed for each service.

"We've got to allow the light of Jesus Christ to shine into the dark caves of our being and explore those things that we've hidden from ourselves and let Him make us clean again."

Loran Livingston

Going North

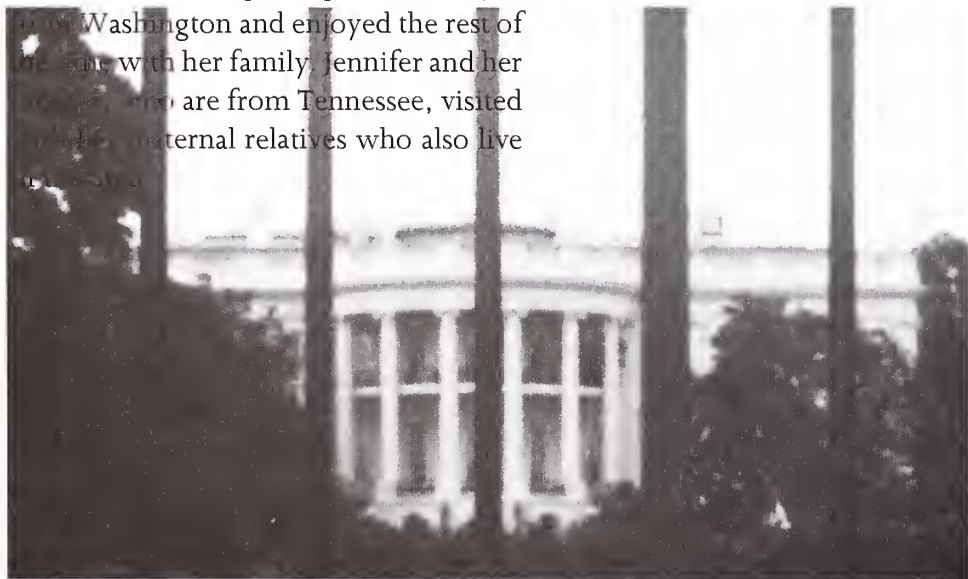

Since Fall Break lasts only five days, a lot of students do not trek home. They either hang out on the happening Lee campus, or travel somewhere local. This mold was broken by many Lee students during this particular break.

Chris Klicko ventured to New York City where he competed in a national Tai-Kwan-Doe competition. Although this sounds like it would be a full vacation, it wasn't for Chris. He and his mother visited Ellis Island and the famed Statue of Liberty. This was no ordinary sight seeing trip, though. Chris's mother went through immigration at Ellis Island as just a small child. It was a step back into his family history, and it was a moving experience for Chris and his mother.

Melody Williams and Jennifer Hamilton traveled to Washington, D.C. during their time off from school. A tour of the White House and other buildings and monuments made the trip complete. Melody is from Washington and enjoyed the rest of the trip with her family. Jennifer and her brother, who are from Tennessee, visited to see maternal relatives who also live in Washington.

Jennifer Hamilton

Homecoming '95

Q
U
E
E
N

Now I'm in Cleveland

For a relatively young school, we have developed many traditions, strong traditions. Some of them are as normal as going to class, and some happen just as frequently.

Homecoming is a given at just about every college in existence. But this year, as in many years past, our Homecoming was hampered by another Lee tradition.

Rain.

There was no day on the mall, that festival of lost friends and old crushes, bumping into people who knew you while looking for the people you knew.

It was awkward at times but tradition all the same. We managed by moving everything indoors, as we are so accustomed to doing, and everyone stayed dry.

Although it didn't turn out as planned, we overcame the elemental factors to create another memorial weekend.

Not In Our House

We may not have football, but we don't mess around on Homecoming weekend

Shawn "rang by Bell" Watters

It's too bad all season can't be Homecoming, 'cause we was bad on Homecoming! Not only did the men and the women take down King College in the annual game, now held at Bradley, but, meanwhile, back at the Walker, the ladies volleyball team was putting the TVAC championship trophy in the cabinet with all them others.

Although Paul Bell, in what appears to be becoming a tradition, once again missed an open dunk, the men made quick work of King. The women, who had played earlier, faired much the same. At halftime during the men's game, Stacey Bowden of Warner Robins, Georgia was crowned '95 Homecoming Queen.

photos by Shelia Massengill

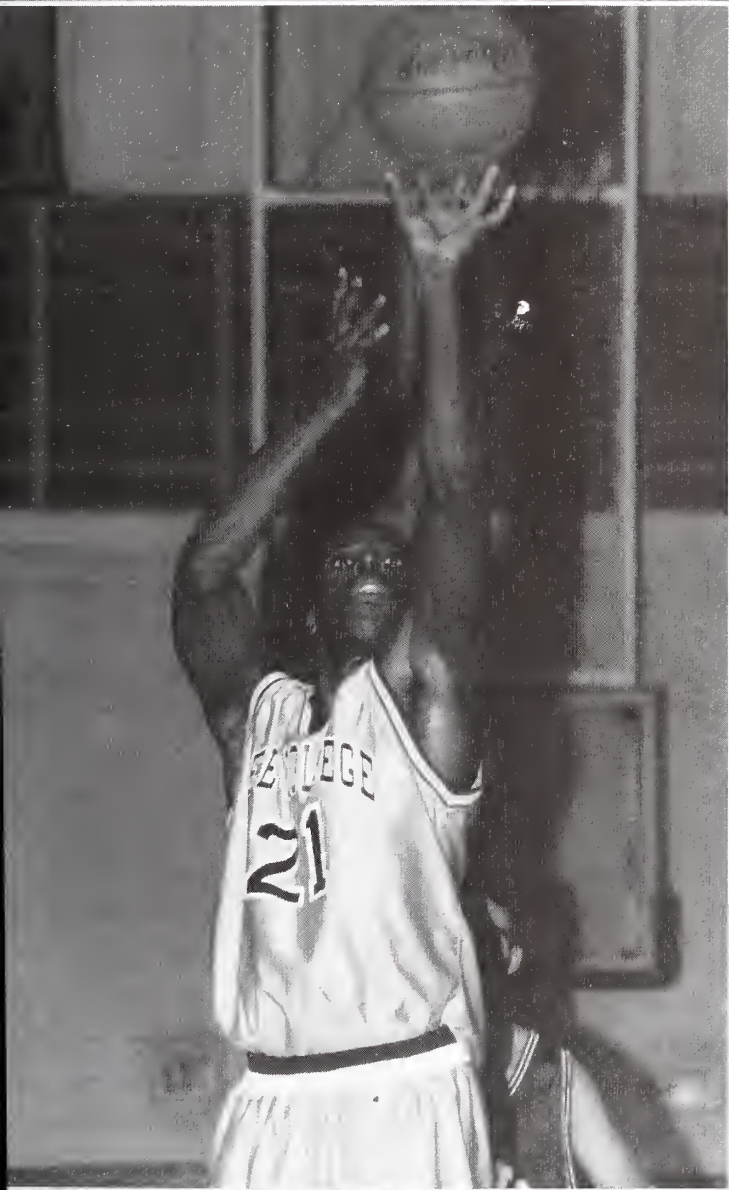

Found Faithful

The distinguished alumni of Lee once again showed themselves to be faithful to the mission of the school

A check for over $150,000 was presented to Dr. Conn and Lee College, showing once again the support and devotion of our alumni, who showed up in record numbers. Many of those who had not been able to come around in a few years were probably a little confused or maybe even felt lost. It was no doubt great to see what their alma mater was becoming. The new School of Music, housed in the magnificent Curtsinger Building, was certainly a highlight of the trip for all alumni.

Mark Harris '86, member and songwriter for 4Him, received the Distinguished Alumnus award, and Paul Duncan was made an Honorary Alumnus.

Early

Christmas

at "home" with friends

The men of Pi Kappa Pi decorated the mall in Christmas attire for their annual Early Christmas Event. There was plenty of hot chocolate as students gathered for their Christmas gala with friends. It is nice when everyone around you knows the true reason for the season-and thanks God for Him. The decorations were taken down and everyone headed home for the holidays, but they didn't forget their first official Christmas party of the year.

Sheila Massengill

Sheila Massengill

The Story of a Tree

just wouldn't have been Home Away From Home without an evergreen glinking in the living room

...secret. Did any of Banner front-page
...Christmas tree that was taken
...land Florist on Church Street
...returned after Christmas? Well,
...ents are nothing if not inven-
...d, when roommates Russell
...Scorum, Alabama and Jared
...ld of Birmingham realized their
...were insufficient to supply them
...h a tree for the yuletide, they set out
...find one. Even though the one they
...nd already had an owner, they were
...need and figured God had answered
...their prayer. After Christmas, they re-
...urned the tree.

"We never intended on keeping it," Bann later said, "but it just wasn't like Christmas without one, ya know?"

Notevan A. Mousse

Sheila Massengill

Jennifer Hamilton

Sheila Massengill

December

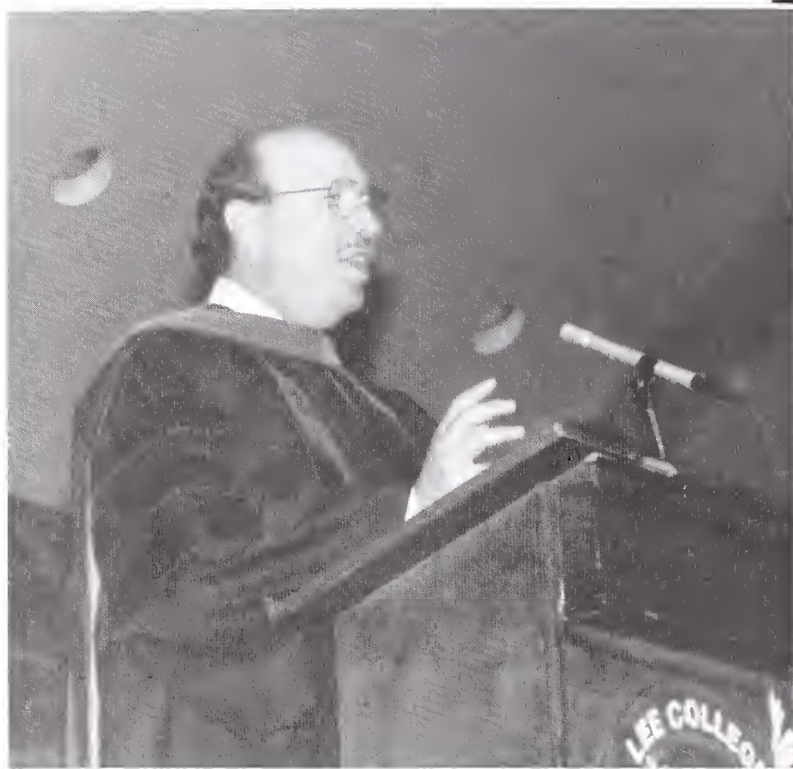

Jennifer Hamilton

Graduation

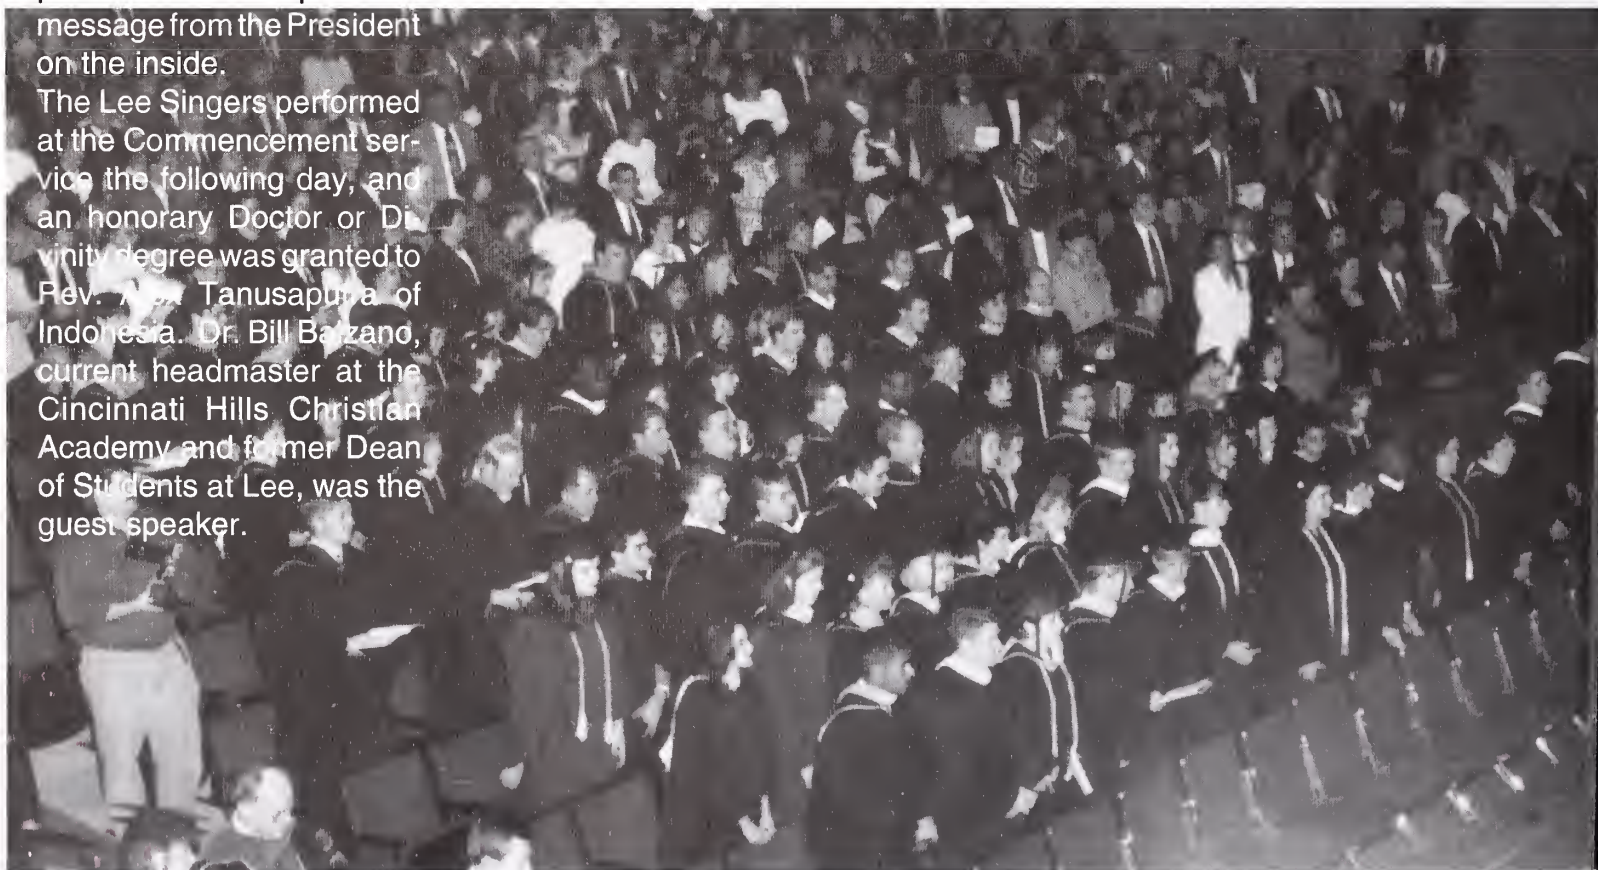

On December 8 and 9, the second December Commissioning and Commencement services took place at Lee College. Ninety-five students received bibles from Dr. Conn and diplomas from the school.

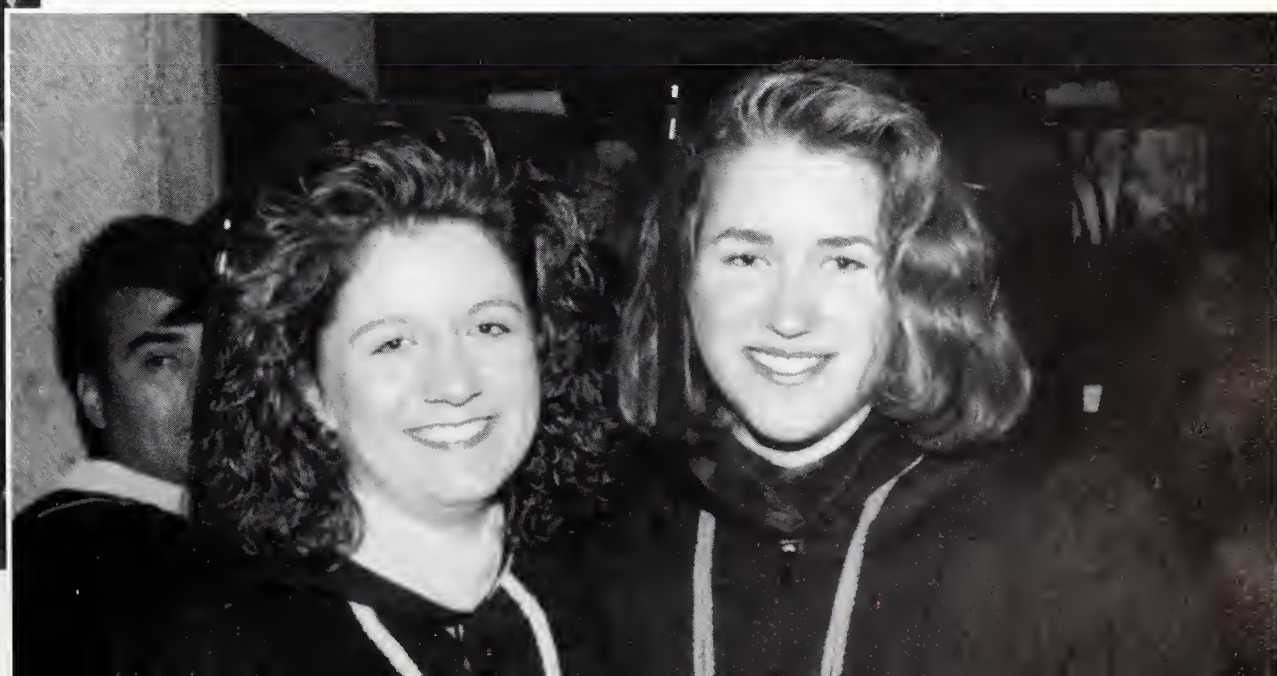

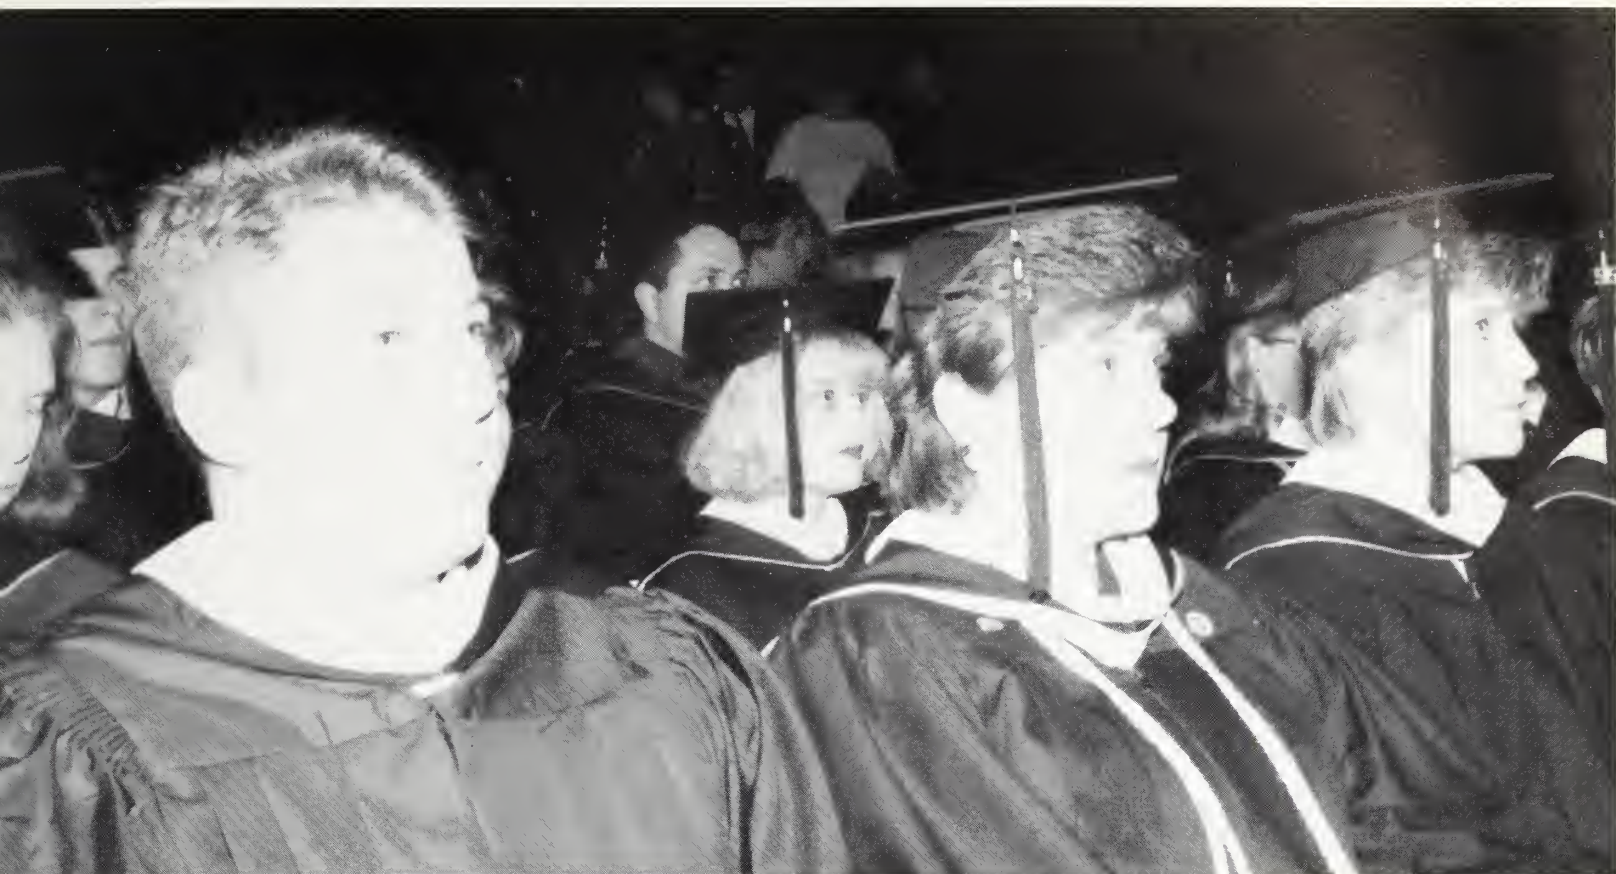

At the commissioning service, Faye Bodley, Romeo Ferguson, Leonard Garrison, Julie Fairchild, Eric Eledge, and Jennifer Winters shared their Lee College experiences, and Sharon Green provided the special music. Each student then received a New International Version of the Bible from Dr. Conn. It had each students' name imprinted on it and a personal message from the President on the inside.

The Lee Singers performed at the Commencement service the following day, and an honorary Doctor of Divinity degree was granted to Rev. A. Tanusaputra of Indonesia. Dr. Bill Balzano, current headmaster at the Cincinnati Hills Christian Academy and former Dean of Students at Lee, was the guest speaker.

All photos by Sheila Massengill

Hurrah for Holloway!

The Torch, Spring 1996

The traditional Parade of Favorites pageant went Hollywood this year and senior Emily Holloway, who represented Upsilon Xi, walked away with the title Miss POF 1996.

Emily is the daughter of Deryle and Martha Holloway of Cleveland, Tennessee, and this is the second year in a row a Cleveland resident won the title. She was crowned by last year's Miss POF and current Miss Cleveland Ester Wong. This year's pageant was the 34th annual event, and was held March 23, in Conn Center.

Shelia Massengill

Shelia Massengill

Shelia Massengill

Going

Directed by Vennia Francois, Parade of Favorites was in a Hollywood state of mind this year. With excellent choreography, the theme was beautifully carried throughout the program. Some of the contestants even got involved with Corrie Farina singing the theme from Goldeneye and Marika Jewell choreographing "Singin' in the Rain." It can definitely be said that the Parade of Favorites was a success and the choosing of Emily Holloway was truly logical. All the girls who competed proved that there are girls who possess a balance of beauty, academics, and talent.

Jennifer Hamilton

Master and Mistress of Ceremonies:
Kimberly Wheeler and Jerome Hammond

Marika Jewell, Student Government Association Escort: Matt Rogers

Candace Jones, Theta Delta Kappa Escort: Glen Williams

Stefanie Oppenheimer, Sigma Nu Sigma
Escort: Mark Shephard

Amanda Rapp, Epsilon Lambda Phi Escort: Eric Weekley

Deanna Smith, Alpha Gamma Chi Escort: Jon Rogers

First Runner Up:

Angela Shields, Delta Zeta Tau Escort: Billy Humphrey

Second Runner Up:

Christina Malone, Ladies of Lee Escort: Ken Lane

Other Contestants:

Corrie Farina, Lee Singers
Escort: Chad Hall

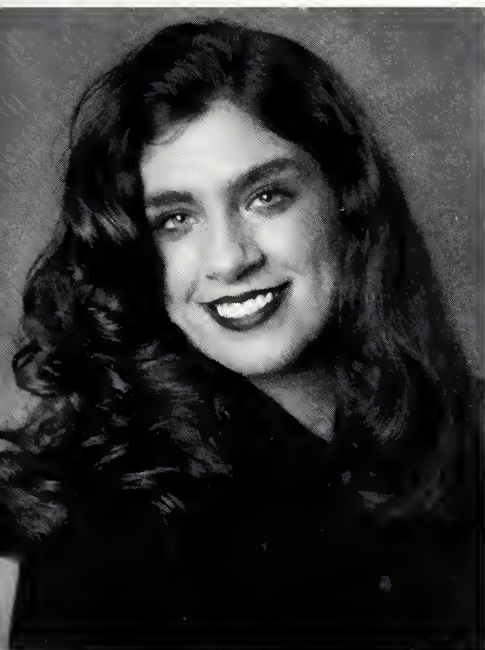

Angela George, Campus Choir
Escort: Trace Colson

Angela Goodale, Evangelistic Singers
Escort: Aser Robles

Emily Holloway, who was escorted by Tom Heeron, also won the Talent Award for her original monologue entitled, "The Phone Call"

Winter Convocation

Winter Convocation was one spiritual experience. The morning Bible training of Rev. Darrell Rice prepared our hearts for the spiritual outpouring that occurred during the evening services with Rev. Bill Lee.

We Pentecostals have always heard our grandparents speak about "the old days." They told stories of tent revivals and spiritual outpourings that made you wonder if God really moved like that anymore. Well, he does, and we experienced it. God's presence was strongly felt throughout Winter Convocation and it left us plenty of stories to tell our grandchildren.

If it's time for a break, it must be...

Spring Break!

Lee Day '96

Yes, we do want another enrollment record

Jennifer Hamilton

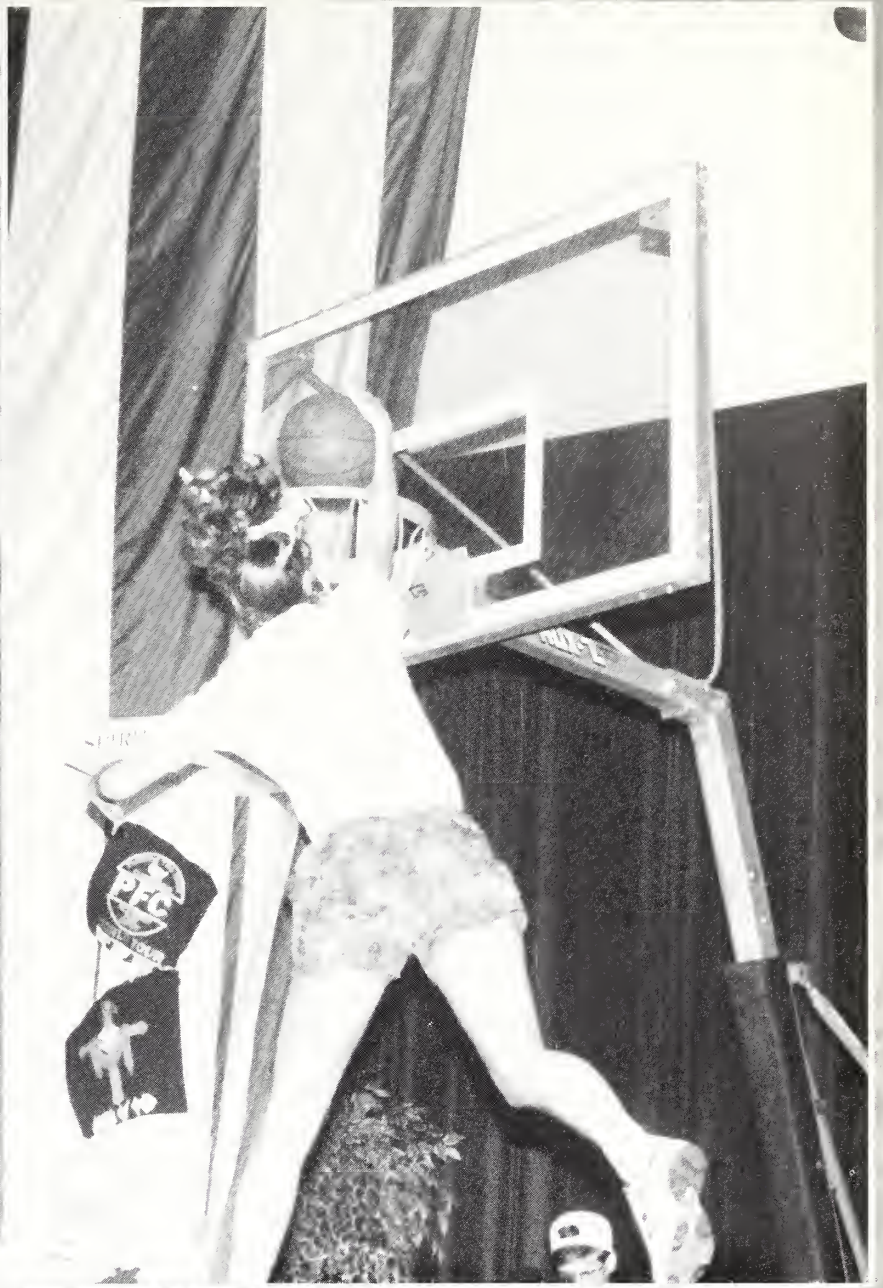

Lee College Day is the largest recruitment effort of the year. The whole weekend is designed around selling Lee. From the block party to the rally Saturday night, Lee Day was packed with events certain to keep all prospects busy. The highlight of the weekend was, as always, the Life at Lee production. Tony from Philly did his part for the improving of world relations by carrying the Olympic Torch. Then, a spoof of Up Close and Personal carried a news-like format for the rest of the show. Between the commercials about Lee and interviews with current Lee students, the future freshmen were very informed about Lee.

Did they get the right impression? With every Lee student being hauled off by Campus Safety and the prospect of having Tommy Boy for a roommate, it would seem to turn students away. That was not the lasting impression, though. Instead, it proved that Christians do know how to hang loose and have fun. That's what college is all about anyway, isn't it?

All photos by Sheila Massengill

HOME OF THE Flames

Julie Elder

Julie Elder

Studying Abroad

As part of Lee College's academic programs, students may choose to study abroad. There are many places that can become the classroom of the student through the Coalition for Christian Colleges and Universities. Lee students Kathy Foster, Charles Nelson, and Otto Elkins took advantage of the various programs offered and studied in Washington, DC, Sand Jose, Costa Rica, and Russia, respectively.

Lee offers a program in Cambridge, England where twenty two students studied such diverse topics as: British Culture, Shakespeare, C. S. Lewis, British History, or an Independent Study.

Julie Elder

Julie Elder

"Besides the normal activities at Cambridge, the group visited Windsor and saw the Queen Mother. They also dealt with bomb scares and 'strangers in the night.' These events, however, created a necessary closeness in the group that could never be replaced."

Stacey Isom

A truly successful man

Dr. Conn is certainly an exceptional person. Everyone knows it. No one debates it. How do you become an example for others? Dr. Conn gives a seven point sermon at the beginning of each year on how to succeed not only in college, but in life. The highlights of this message include seven statements that we should try to live up to. They include: We will study, worship together, accept discipline, stretch and grow, serve others, rely on the Holy Spirit, and accept one another. So, do they work? Can you really succeed if you follow these statements? I believe Dr. Conn is a living example of success, and he does follow his own advice:

1. He did/does study-Dr. Conn not only has a Ph.D. from Emory University, but two post-doctoral fellowships at Harvard University. You would think that his studying days were over, but his field of study, Psychology, requires continual study especially since he teaches approximately 200 students per year.

2. He does worship with others-With a wide variety of chapel services that include many different types of worship, Dr. Conn has brought in speakers and singers alike to keep chapel services alive and interesting. He also attends every chapel service and preaches on Sunday night, except when out of town.

3. He does accept discipline-There are rules at Lee College, and Dr. Conn does enforce them. He's not an overlord who pounds justice and punishes everyone to the max, but he is not a softy either. He and the disciplinary board use a unique balance of love and justice to carry out all disciplinary actions.

4. He does stretch and grow-No, this does not pertain to the physical. You know how this campus looks now and how it did ten years ago. This one is a given, I don't need to make a case for it.

5. He does serve others-Look at Lee College. It is bigger, better, and has a brighter future than it did before he came. The school has definitely become student-friendly and it's not because that's the way it turned out. Dr. Conn listens to every student and does try to accommodate them. A couple of examples include a new scoreboard for Walker Arena and clocks in every classroom. These were installed after students suggested them in one of Dr. Conn's question and answer sessions, which is another way he serves others. . .

6. He does rely on the Holy Spirit-God would not be blessing us so much if the college didn't have a purpose in the Kingdom of God. Dr. Conn and the administration make every decision after considering it first in prayer. And you thought it was money building those buildings. . .

7. He does accept others-Lee College is not only culturally diverse, it also has many study abroad programs. Dr. Conn has added four semester abroad programs in the last ten years. They include studies at Cambridge and in Germany, the Ukraine, and China.

So, what are the keys to success? Just ask the man who somehow manages to have a close family, be President of a rapidly growing college, also, being a teacher and regular chapel speaker at that same college, is highly educated, and also has time to read all letters, the good and bad, that come to him. Oh, I almost forgot-he is also an exceptional author.

God has truly blessed Dr. Conn, and he has blessed Lee College by sending him our way.

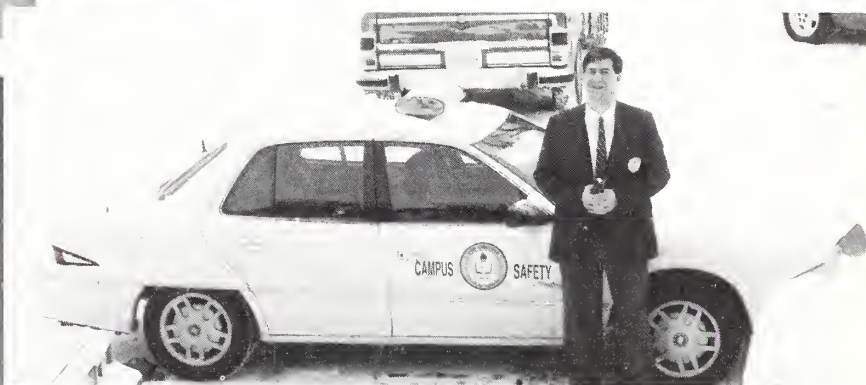

by: Jennifer Hamilton

Sheila Massengill

Tim Owens

Changing

The Way We Look At Lee

For the record, the following is a list of programs, buildings, and improvements that this campus has experienced under the leadership of Dr. Conn.

- Enrollment has increased by 150%
- Older buildings have been renovated
- 12 building projects have been completed
- Four study abroad programs have been added to the curriculum
- Recruitment has enhanced through such things as videos, A-Force, and a toll-free number
- 8 new intercollegiate sports have been added
- The Alumni Association has been reorganized
- Voices of Lee has been organized
- A graduate program has begun
- Four new social service clubs have been formed

There are countless other improvements that have been made to this campus during the last decade. There are more on the agenda including a student union building, a baseball team, and a men's apartment complex currently under instruction.

It can be said that during the Presidency of Dr. Conn, the campus has become world-class. Why else would Lee be chosen as the Olympic Village for the 1996 summer games?

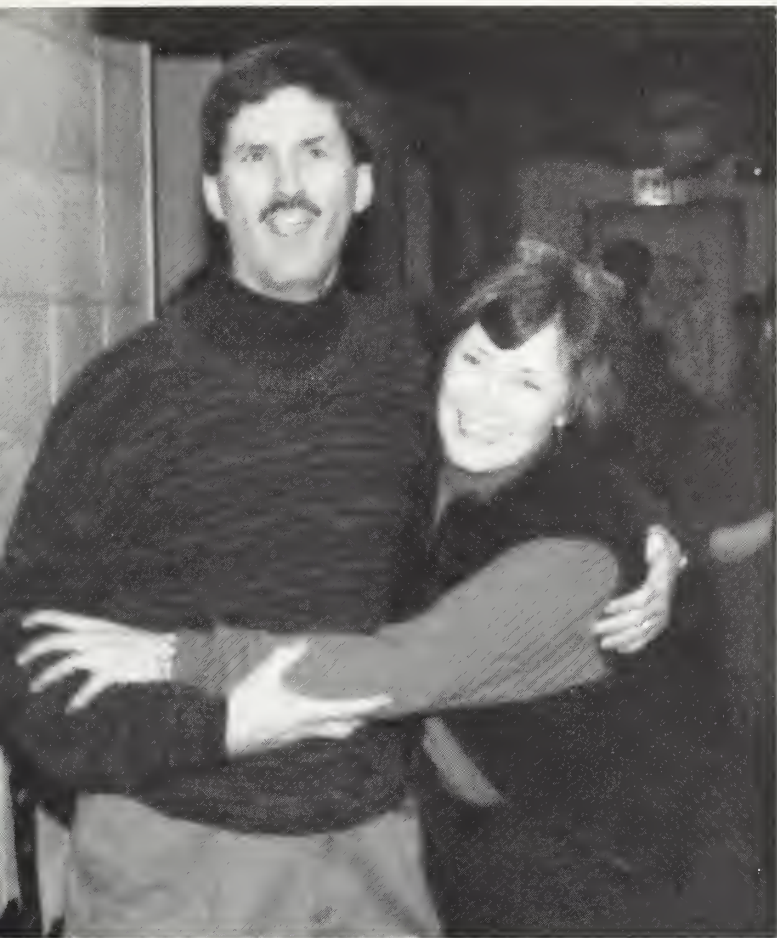

Sheila Masseng

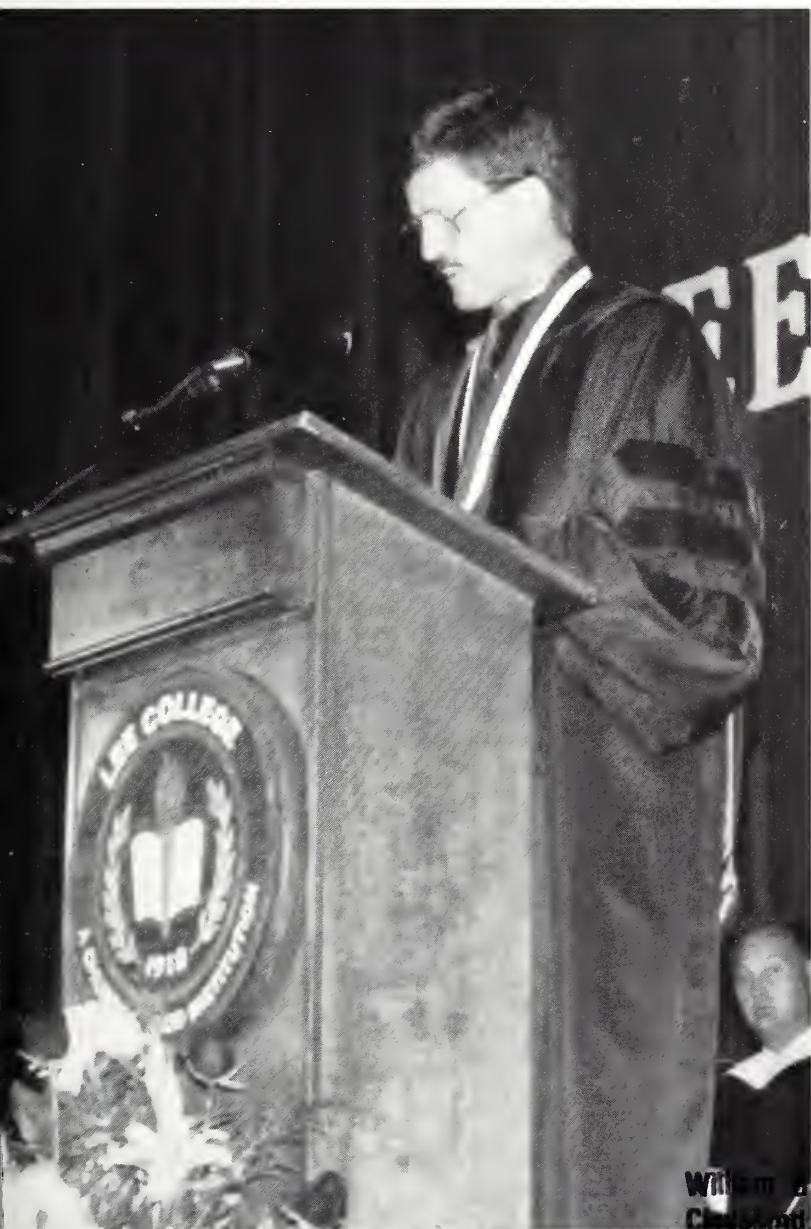

Dawn Atkins

Sheila Massengill

William A. Cleveland
Dawn Atkins

Shawn Watters

Shawn Watters

Commencement 1996:

A Family Affair

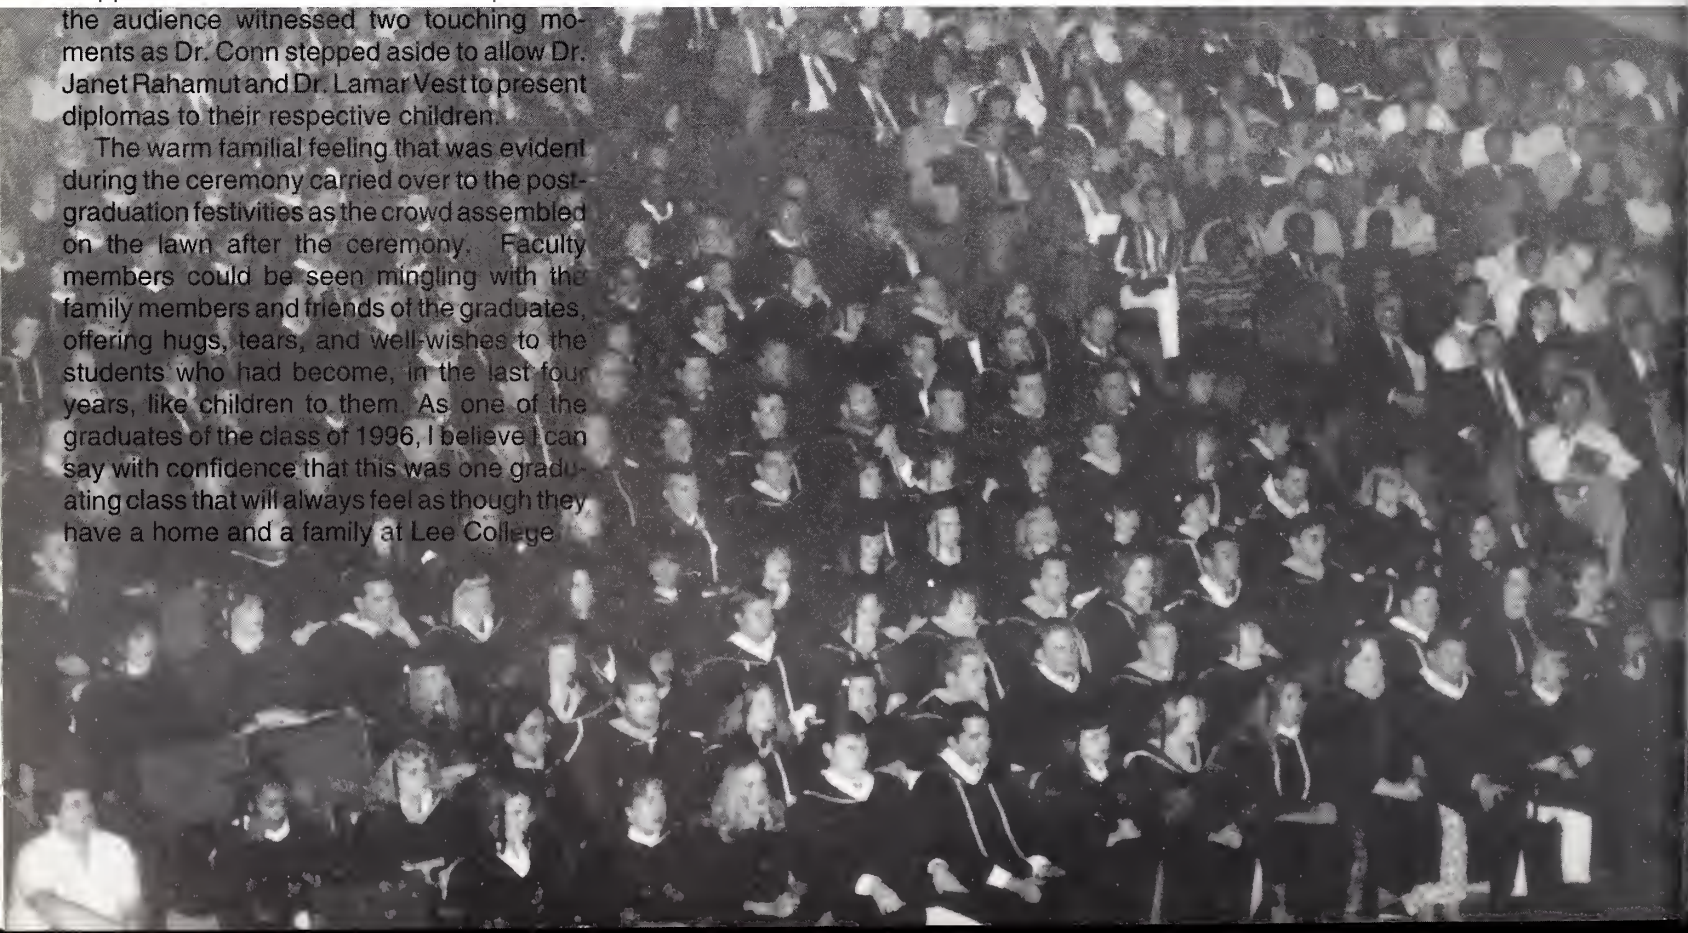

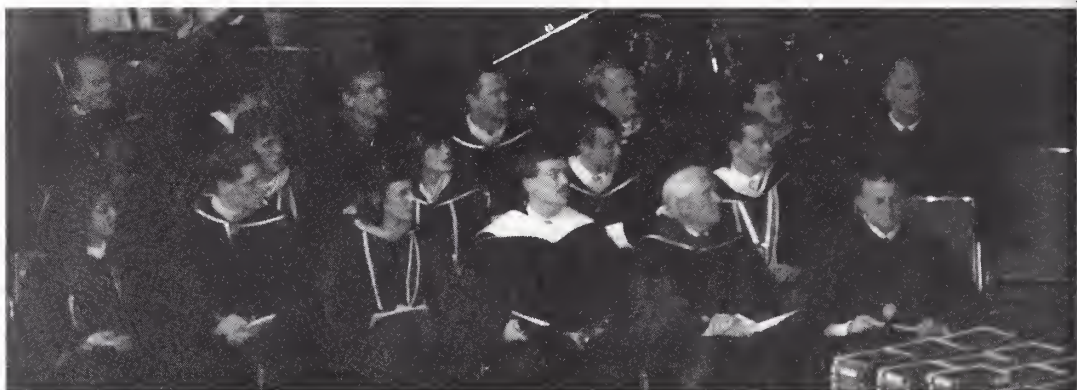

Debbie Mattso

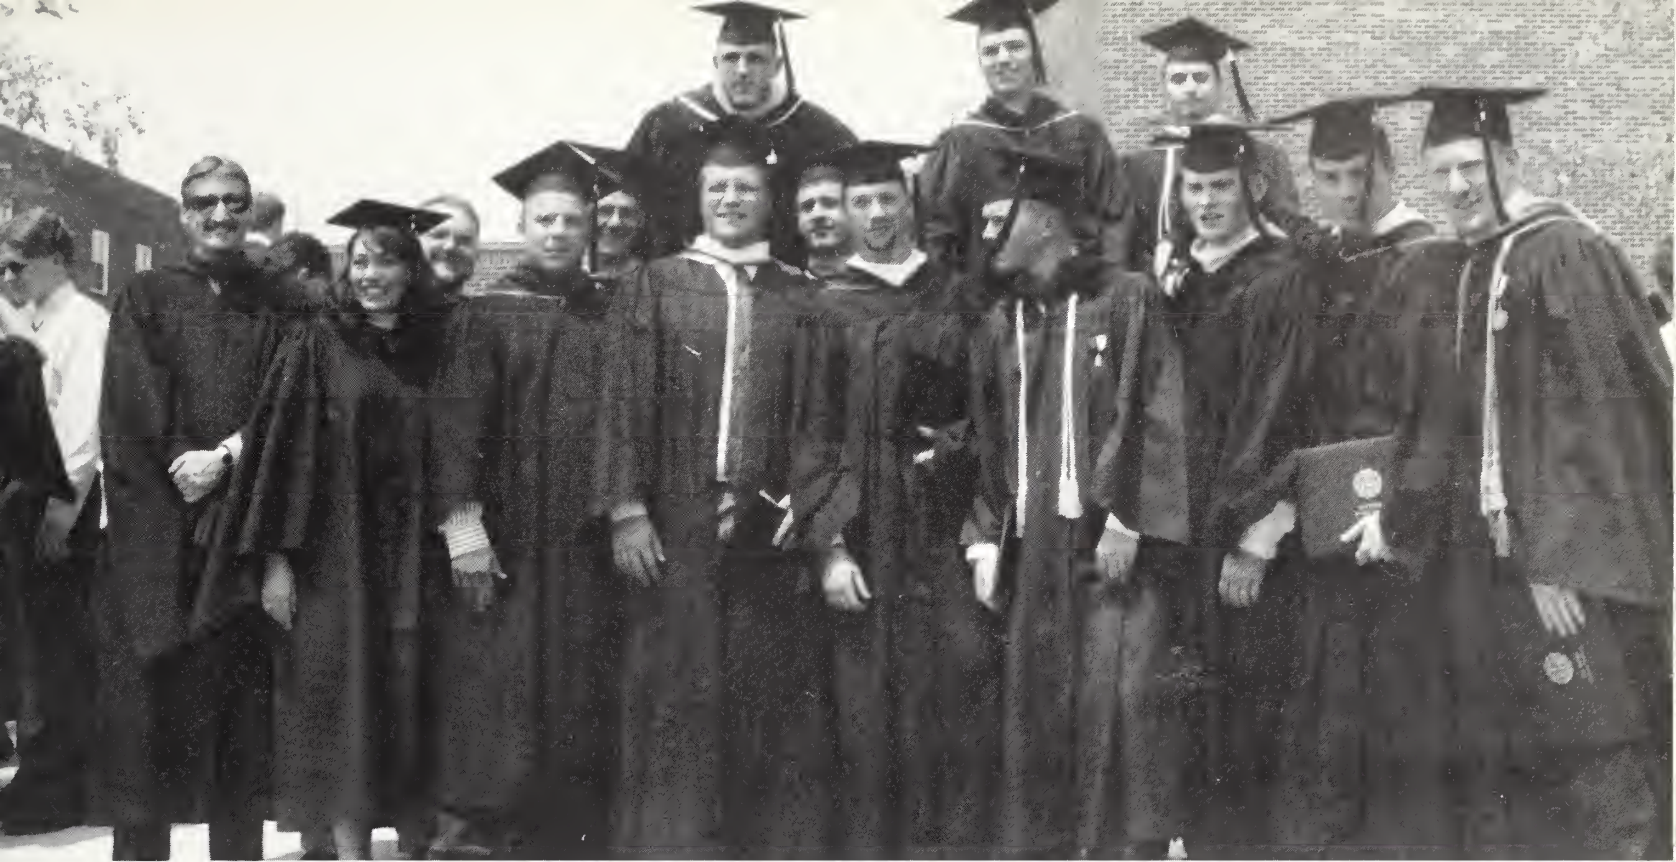

If one had to choose a theme for the May 1996 Lee College Commencement, it would undoubtedly be Paul Conn's coined phrase "We are family." From the Ellis Hall tragedy-turned triumph to Celebration '94, the class of 1996 weathered many changes on campus that only strengthened the familial bond that Lee students are known to share. From the beginning of the Commissioning service to the post-commencement picture-taking, there was a feeling that 191 degree-bearing birds were about to venture out of the nest.

In honor of Dr. Conn's 10th Anniversary as President of Lee College, he was joined at Commencement by brothers Jeff, Bruce, and Philip, and by their father Charles W. Conn. Dr. Philip Conn, president of Dickinson State University in North Dakota, received a special invitation by his brother to address the graduating class. He challenged the graduates to find a balance between "fitting in" and "standing out" in the world. Conn's address was received well by the packed crowd.

Due to the change last year of the Commencement's location from the Conn Center to the Paul Dana Walker Arena, the arena was overflowing with approximately ten family members and friends per graduating senior. The excitement of the crowd was evident as the graduates filed into the building. Family members and friends burst into enthusiastic applause at the sight of their loved ones, clad in regalia. As the graduates stepped forward to receive their diplomas, the audience witnessed two touching moments as Dr. Conn stepped aside to allow Dr. Janet Rahamut and Dr. Lamar Vest to present diplomas to their respective children.

The warm familial feeling that was evident during the ceremony carried over to the post-graduation festivities as the crowd assembled on the lawn after the ceremony. Faculty members could be seen mingling with the family members and friends of the graduates, offering hugs, tears, and well-wishes to the students who had become, in the last four years, like children to them. As one of the graduates of the class of 1996, I believe I can say with confidence that this was one graduating class that will always feel as though they have a home and a family at Lee College.

All photos by Sheila Massengill

Events

Having too much

Some say there are too many, some say there are not enough. Whatever your position is, though, there was something for everyone. From the Block Party to Graduation, EVENTS were happening everywhere, and at one point or another, you had to get involved. Whether your time was spent gettin' hitched or saying good-bye to all your friends, the EVENTS were a way to get to know people and become closer to ones you already knew.

fun

The New Outnumbered the Old, and It Was Standing Room Only at the Years Biggest Mixer

By Wil Wright

Wall to Wall on the Mall

it happens every year. After a grueling day of class changes and long lines and hasty greetings to old friends, it's Block Party time!

Time to catch up on the summer, and tell exaggerated stories about "summer love" and vacations while craning your neck left and right to see what's new on campus.

But when you got out there, it just wasn't as easy as it used to be to find those old friends, or to even find a place to stand!

With over a thousand new students arriving on the Lee College campus in the Fall, returning students suddenly found themselves to be the minority in the midst of a teeming mob of adolescence.

The crowd was strung out from the back of the stage to the Vest Building, rotating from the spectators area to the "sit and get acquainted" gallery in front of the student center. As Matt Brumlow, President of Upsilon Xi, called Freshmen to the front to make or break their college career, the returning students jockeyed for standing room.

Next Year, maybe there should be a guest list.

All Photos By Sheila Massengill

By Summer Joplin

Running on Empty. . .

Hanging Out With Friends was Never so Tiring

What happens when a bunch of college students get together and go skating? The men of Alpha Gamma Chi found that those energetic, lively students soon run out of steam.

When asked why he even came, alumni Matt Harrup said, "Hey, for two dollars, it's a lot cheaper than renting a comedy!"

It was a large crowd, and some even came to skate. The others just came to see what was going on. One thing is for sure, everyone that came out to the skating party came away with something. Those who stayed on their God-given feet left with their dignity intact. Those who vigorously threw themselves into skating came away with a few bruises, and a whole lot of sweat.

Festi-Ma-Ganza

Photos by: Sheila Massengill

SGA Rallied the Troops Again to Show Off Lee's Extra-Curricular Opportunities at

SGA officers worked fast and furious to get ready for Festiganza. With only two weeks to prepare after arriving at school, they had their hands full.

According to SGA president David Green, "We wanted to do something different this year, so we decided to mc the show ourselves."

The numerous skits presented by the various groups kept the crowd entertained and occasionally wondering what in the world just happened. In between the skits, masters of ceremony, David Green, Tanner McFall, and Bethany Ferriera let the crowd know just who their team was. DA FLAMES! And who was their favorite person? PAUL CONN!

Festiganza was the only place where New Kids On the Block could show up and actually have girls, above the age of ten, throw themselves at them.

Not only were there skits to fill the evening, SGA supplied various give-aways. At the end of the night, new students came away with a better understanding of why the upper classmen act so wierd. And the upperclassmen boasted of how this was all "old hat" to them.

Sheila Massengill

Pass The Leis

rough tradition- ally on alumni park, the Sigma Nu Sigma Luau became a casualty to the Cleveland weather. Con-caused the location to change, but one thing it did not change was it's popularity among students. Students came in droves transformed their indoor location into a hawaiian hideaway. The mood was set as students walked in the door and received their leis.

A live band played while students mingled in between songs by the group Babes. Later in the evening the real fun began with the date auction.

Carrie McGlamery and Matt Brumlow coaxed the ladies and gentlemen into bidding more on the guy or girl of their dreams. After a while McGlamery and Brumlow were blown away by their abilities of pursuation as the bids began to rise higher and higher.

After the date auction and give-aways, students gradually filtered out. Those who decided to mill around and chat were soon exposed to the Sigma clean up crew.

Sheila Massengill

David Boone

stant rain caused the luau to move the Devos Recreation Center. The rain may have to the rec center to experience a night of fun, hawaiian style. The Sigma ladies

Rollin' On The RIVER

The Southern Belle, scheduled for departure at exactly 7:07 for the annual Chi Cruise reopened her doors for the last formally clad couple sprinting down to the loading dock. Now that everyone was on board, the evening voyage began. The main dining area was comfortably crowded with a medley of chatter and laughter. Music, provided by the Voices of Lee band, filled the air as the dinner was waited on.

After devouring their chicken terraki, many of the guys found themselves looking for seconds. Some even headed upstairs after hearing rumors of prime rib.

After dinner, couples went for a stroll in the moonlit night. Downstairs, the Chi little sisters had a good ole table dancing in honor of their big brothers, and Teaster was sent to walk the plank.

As the voyage was coming to an end, many found themselves enjoying a dance to old familiarmelodies with a senior citizens group, who felt young again in our presence.

After it was all over, we said our good-byes and headed back to the big town of Cleveland.

by Sheila Massengill

Shannon Skipper

All other photos by
Sheila Massengill

The Outdoor Club defended their title as they set yet another river record, but everyone knew it was really all about being

First To The Trestle

Photos by Sheila Massengill

"Braving the rapids" is a phrase synonymous with rafting. The participants in this year's Raft Race, sponsored by the Student Government Association, found that to complete their course being brave was a must.

A crisp, sunny day in October set the stage for the big race as adrenaline charged students took to the water. Charging down the Hiwassee River, all of the participants found that in rafting there is no place for whimps.

In the end the Outdoor Club had, yet again, won the title of race champions. While they were enjoying their victory, another group found themselves lost down the wrong path. After finding their way back, they finished only an hour behind the winners. And after all was said and done what more could be done than to shower and sleep. The great raging river had been tamed and it was time to go home!

The pig was back,
the cider was sweet,
and the food was plenty. The men of Pi definitely had us...

Photos by Sheila Massengill

Chasin' huggin' and chompin'

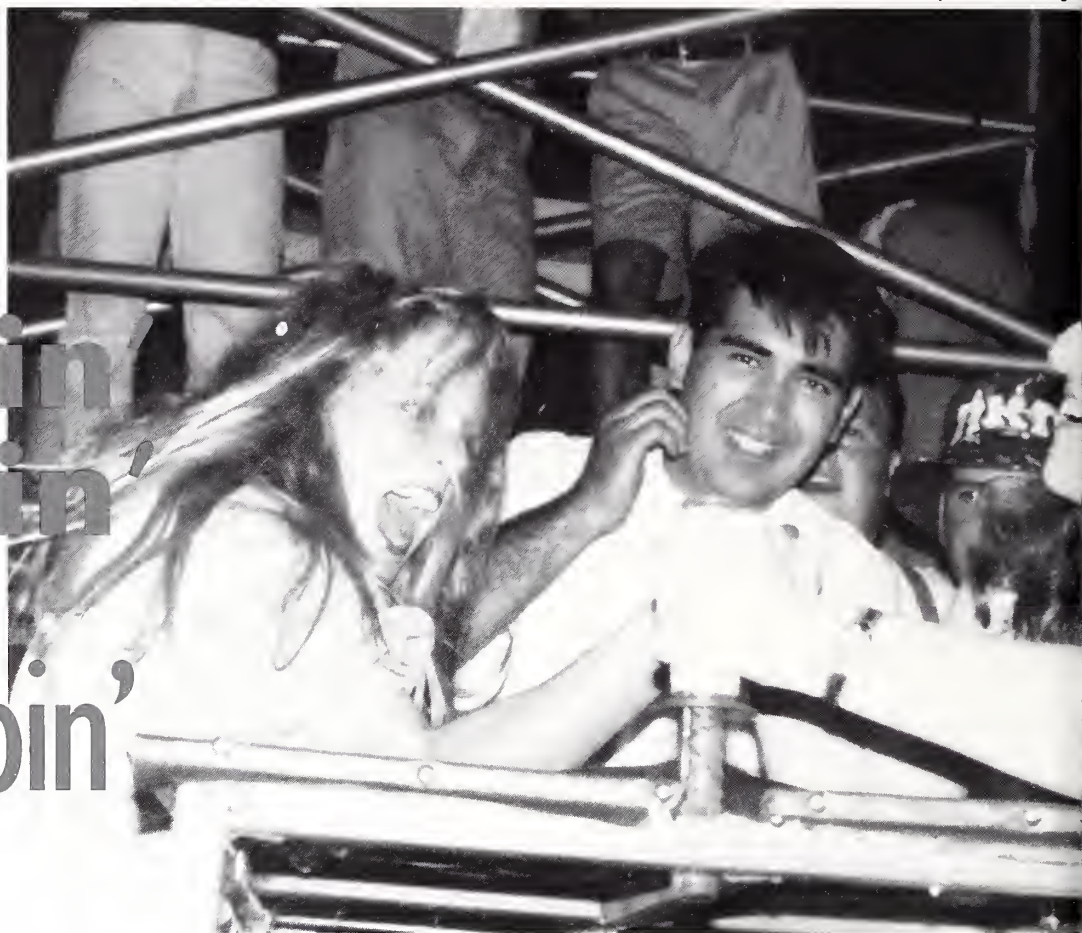

"I've got Canadian Bacon!"

It's not a disease or food. Canadian Bacon was the name of the much chased pig at Oktoberfest.

While some chased pigs others feasted on funnel cakes and Canadian Bacon's relatives: sausages! Not only was there plenty of fun, but food was abundant in alumni park. Where there is free food, Lee students are sure to flock. There was also a cider chugging contest and an arm wrestling competition.

The cider chugging contest surprised and excited students. Getting the cider in the fastest was their first goal. Once that was accomplished, keeping it down became the impossible task as cider flowed out of almost every imaginable crevice of some contestants.

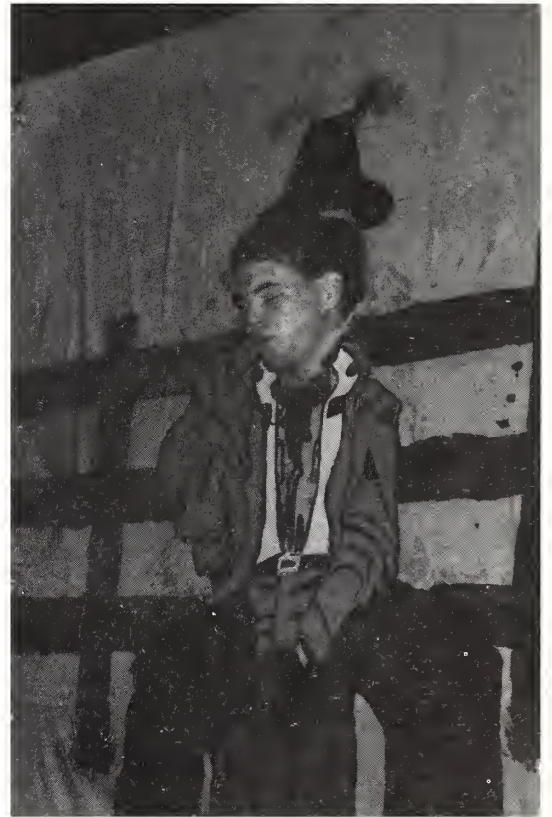

Finishing the night, the arm wrestling contest brought excitement and cheers. After numerous matches and endless restarts, the victors earned the illustrious titles of Oktoberfest Arm Wrestling Champs.

Happier than Dogs in Warm Dirt

Departing from the everyday flow of things on the Lee College campus, the ladies of ΔZT made everything "countrified." If you could sneak away from the sherrif long enough, Brother Bubba and Sister Sally helped you "tie the knot." Those who managed to stay out of food, give-aways and continuous entertainment. At the end of the night, everyone was reminded, "Come back now, ya'll hear!"

Approaching the hills of smoke and milling masses, the air filled with heavy blues and laid back drum beats, the images of a past you couldn't possibly remember . . .

and another farm . . .

Down At

O'Bannon's Farm

by Josh Martin

As tradition would have it, Upsilon Xi held its annual turn-around event, Sadies. A brisk fall evening was the backdrop for this year's festivities. Several hundred students attended this function, and it was an overall success. The event began the Friday before with "the chase." Girls frantically tried to pry the doll from their dates using "any means necessary" without causing harm, of course. That didn't mean the guy couldn't get a little messy, though. Girls went all out with ketchup, syrup, flour, and the like, and they sometimes ended up messier than the guy.

At the conclusion of this crazed event everyone got cleaned up and attended the real festivities. At O'Bannon's farm, fires were blazin', music was jammin', and the World series was playin'. Some people had fireside chats, while others just enjoying cuddling next to the fire. Hopefully we'll get to witness the Braves winning the Series again next year. Then again, they may just sweep and not have to play game 6.

All photos by Sheila Massengill

MASQUERADE

by Sheila Massengill

The masquerade was not exactly on the mall this year. Due to rain, the whole shin-dig had to be moved into the recreation center. The court was transformed into a sort of indoor pedestrian mall. The men and ladies of Epsilon were still on hand to sell fresh flowers and provide popcorn, cotton candy, and funnel cakes to all in attendance.

There were quite a few different costumes this year. Amongst them were a cellular phone and the bride of Frankenstein. Of course, the mimes were there handing out balloon animals and making faces at people causing a silent commotion.

Different performers found their way to the microphone to share a song-including Phantom of the Opera.

Though no one seemed to complain as they left with sticky fingers and popcorn breath, we all hope the Masquerade will be back on the mall next year.

Photos by Sheila Massengill

Freezeout!

Summer Joplin

Just when you thought you couldn't stand the cold anymore, it got colder! The men of Theta Delta Kappa found a way to make the most of cold weather. Their annual freezeout, which resembled a beach party, was their way of getting everyone out and active.

The evening, though literally freezing was filled with summer-time activities. Popsicle eating contests, balloon tosses and ice cream sundaes were the agenda. The most interesting contest was the "Ironman Icedwater Wading Contest." If you could withstand the ice cold water long enough you were deemed the Ironman. It was enough to make Health Services cringe. All in all, the men of Theta had us all California Dreamin'.

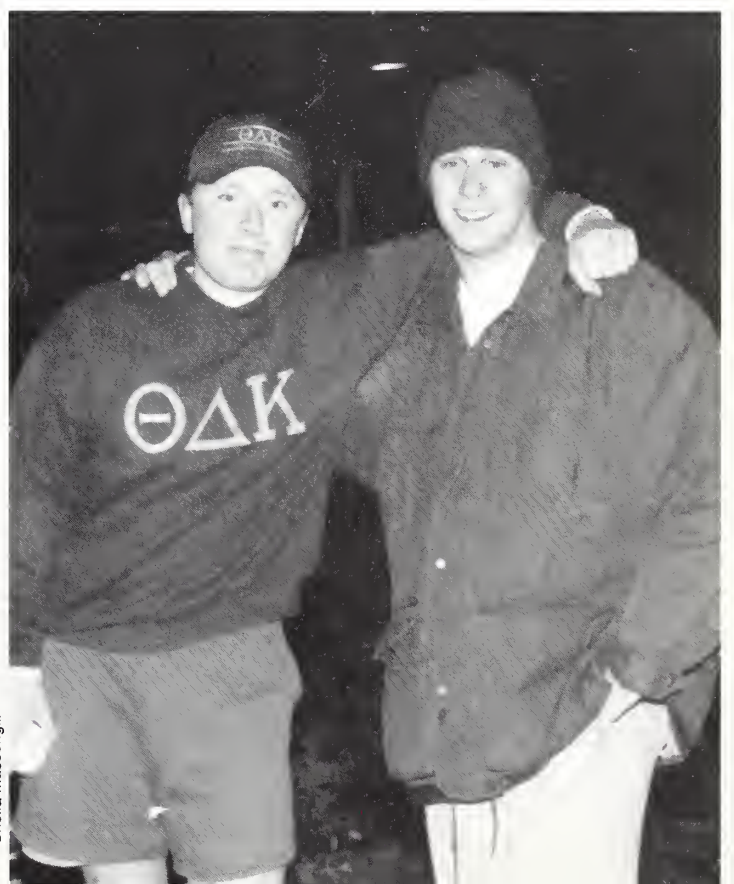

Shelia Massengill

Shelia Massengill

Shelia Massengill

Shelia Massengill

No garbage cans full of water and black T-shirts outside the dorms after curfew. No stealing showers curtains out of Hughes . . . There were lights, music and referees, but it was still

WAR

Shawn Watters

Over the years, an often unobserved and entirely non-sanctioned war has been raging between the dorms, the men's dorms for the largest part. At some point, one of the generals of some long past battle became a mature and responsible Lee employee, and moved their way into the Residential Life sector.

And an idea was born. A way to prove once and for all, or at least every year, who ruled the campus, which dorm housed the fastest, the hungriest, and the closest people.

In '96, the biggest and the baddest were Atkins-Ellis and Livingston Hall. Following an Olympic rendition of the lighting of the torch by Super Dave Tilley, the games were underway. The Walker exploded in cheers as the champions of each hall entered the arena to combat their neighboring foes. Although the scores were tight through much of the evening, the thoroughly stocked Atkins-Ellis was never intimidated, and they walked away smugly with another trophy. The new kids on Trunk Street, Livingston Hall, demonstrated the refinement of the all-upperclassmen dorm by dominating the events all the way to victory.

All photos by Jennifer Hamilton

The Love Boat

The Love Boat . . . promises something for everyone . . . come aboard we're expecting you

That was the theme of Delta Zeta Tau's annual Valentine's Party. With lots of free food, fun, and entertainment, the lovely ladies of ΔZT offered something for everyone on the Lee College campus.

After being greeted at the door by the ship's lovely hostess, students entered a cafeteria transformed into the ship's evening ball room. Glitz and glitter and tons of music from the 80s characterized the event.

Students were entertained by a variety of skits from old TV shows. They included the likes of Gilligan's Island and the Dukes of Hazard. The "Stay-Puff" Marshmallow Man even made a surprise visit and brought along the Ghostbusters, who soaked the crowd in the attempts to destroy him. Before the night was through, four ladies took us back to the 70s with their rendition of "Dancing Queen."

The night was finished off with a slide show. Songs such as "St. Elmo's Fire" were played in the background. After an evening of fun and lots of free food, students returned from the decade of the 80s and the Love Boat to their normal Lee lives.

Shelia Massengill

Cotton Club

Jason Robinson

As the lights were dimmed and couples continued to find their way to their seats, entertainment dazzled the audience to tunes and routines from an era in American History that still captivates eager eyes and ears. Once again, the men in navy and grey organized an event entitled "Evening at the Cotton Club" that will not easily be forgotten.

This year's event was held at the Read House Ballroom in Chattanooga with nothing but first class in mind.

The evening included fine dining, a live band, singers, and a dance routine depicting those that one might have seen in this bygone era.

One can only anticipate what next year's event will be like. Even though Theta Delta Kappa is the newest men's social service club on campus, it is no doubt that their "Cotton Club" has the potential to be a legacy among Lee College memories.

Green Day

St. Patrick's Day is a great excuse for the guys in green to show their stuff. Pi Kappa Pi hosts the St. Patty' Bash to celebrate the day that seems to be made for them. Between volley-beach ball and twister, there was plenty of food and entertainment. Everyone showed their green and the men of Pi showed their true colors with yet another successful bash.

Locking us up and

Throwing Away The Key

The only approved coed all-night party is hosted by the ladies of Kappa Psi Nu. Kappa carried their theme Toga, Toga throughout the night with various Olympic-like games.

There was plenty of food, pizza, basketball, and volleyball. Many stayed up all night, but there were a few who couldn't hack it. After the sun rose and everyone went home, it could truly be said that a good time was had by all.

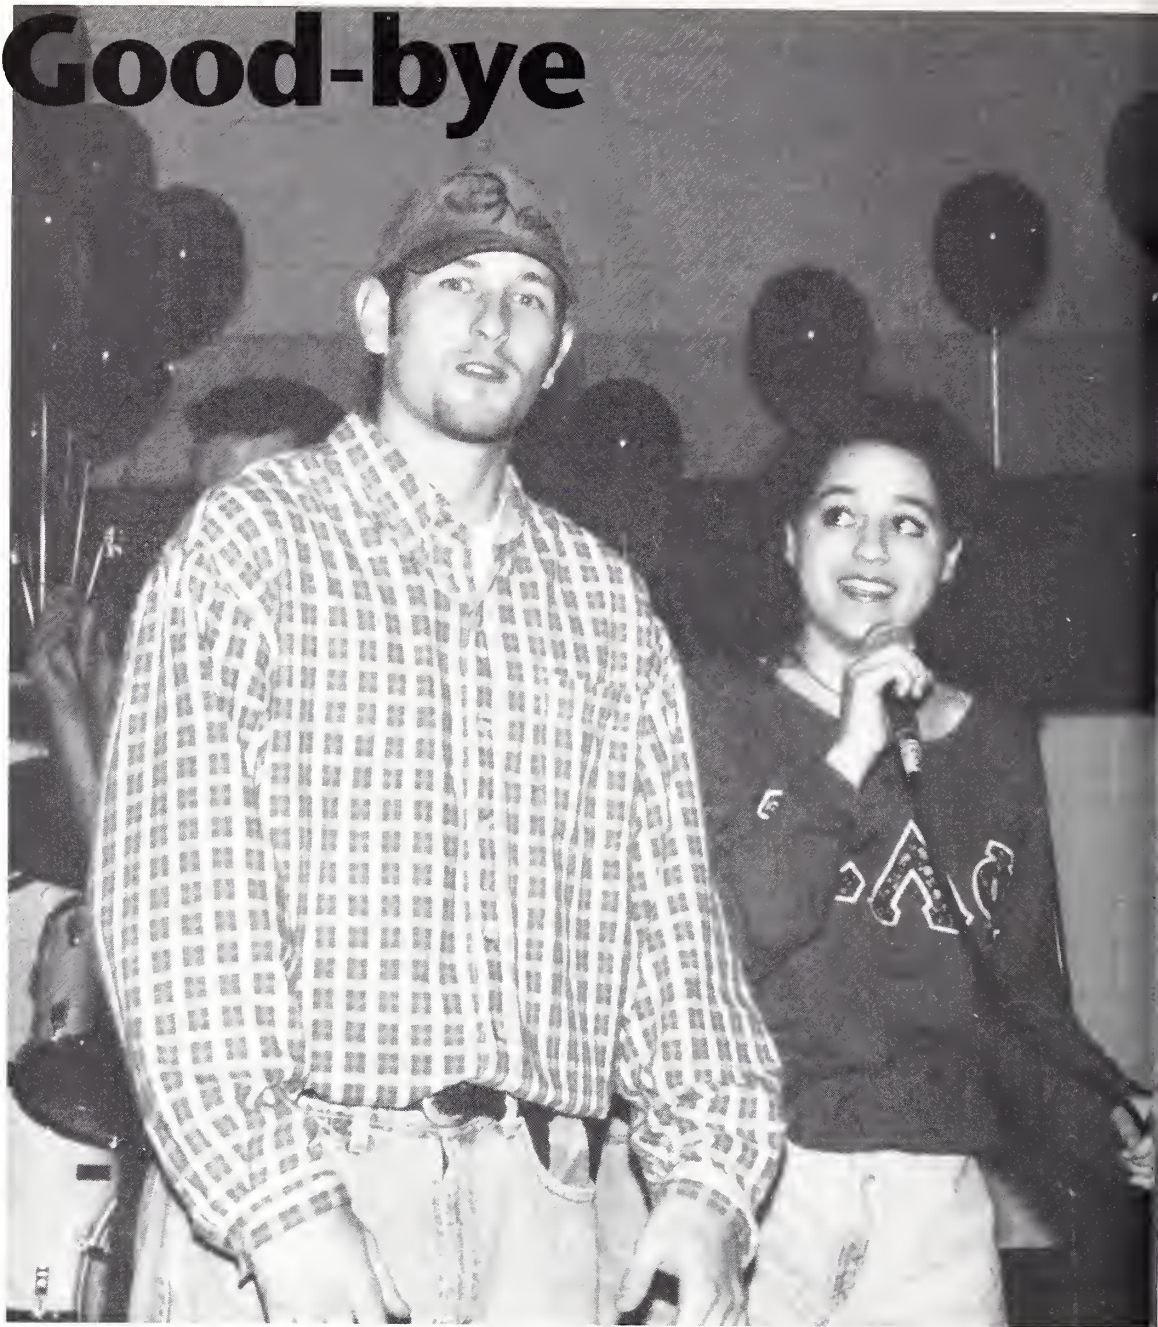

Saying Good-bye

it's never easy

Celebrating sisterhood and friendship, the ladies of Epsilon hosted their annual campus-wide Farewell Party. "Farewell" was a huge success with one of the largest turnouts ever. A video show of campus friends served as a tribute to lifelong friendship reminding us that "Good-byes Are Never Forever."

Rather than ending on a somber note, the Farewell Party concluded with a sing-a-long to the hit song "I'll Be There For You."

Getting it ALL In

Jennifer Hamilton

One of the first things students at Lee learn is how to cram as much stuff as possible into the smallest living space they've ever encountered. It is a true challenge. With the help of relatives and friends, a variety of things such as books, clothes, and of course those pictures of home, are stacked, filed, restacked, folded, and finally crammed into the small living quarters that will be affectionately called "home" for the next nine months.

The winners walk away with a room that looks neat and a true sense of accomplishment. They might even be inclined to share their stacking secrets with newfound friends. Even these tips do not help those who somehow believe that they will get everything out of that U-Haul and into the dorm. Whoever gave those freshmen the idea that their dorm would hold that much stuff should be ashamed. Well, at least we got a good laugh out of it.

Answering The Higher Call . . .

by: Jennifer Hamilton

Lee received saddening news during the fall semester of this year. Pastor Sheppard was resigning from his position to accept the pastorate position of a Church of God in Athens, GA.

Pastor Sheppard had served the campus since 1987 and was loved by all. He will certainly be missed and we want to wish him the best of luck in his new position.

Even though God's will removes people from our lives from time to time, it is important to always remember what memories were left behind. Pastor Sheppard left behind some great ones, and I am sure that the Lee family is something that he will always remember with the warmest thoughts.

• and Filling The Gap

Pastor Sheppard left a void that needed immediate filling. Rev. Terry Harris, pastor of the East Ridge Church of God, filled that gap until a new pastor was appointed. During winter convocation, Rev. R. Wendell Smith was named our new shepherd.

Smith was pastoring a Church of God in Monroe, GA when he was asked by Dr. Conn to take on the responsibility. He accepted and was welcomed heartily by the Lee campus.

In his opening greeting, Rev. Smith said "Life has a lot of surprises, but it also has its rewards. I relish traveling down those paths with you." We look forward to it, too.

Phil Driscoll: Promoting Lee College

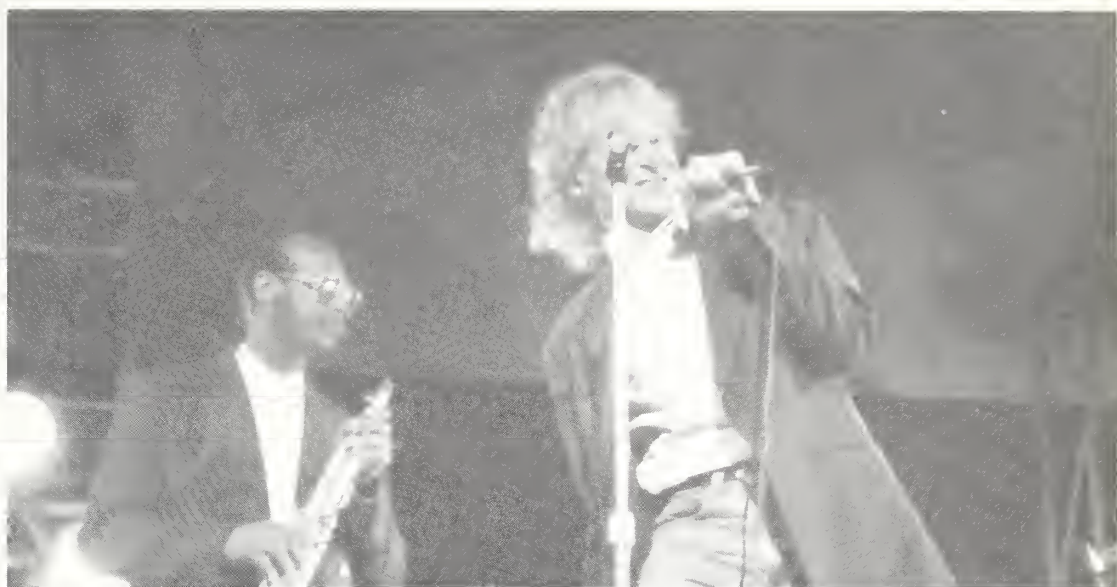

Jennifer Hamilton

Phil Driscoll rocked the Conn Center in two ways in September. First, the obvious way, he performed an excellent concert. Second, he announced his plans to become a goodwill ambassador for the college.

The concert was packed with songs, that awesome trumpet, and the Word of God. Driscoll certainly did not come by for a few blaring solos (although they were a definite highlight) but announced his view on Lee and what he planned to do about it. It is a huge boost in the public relations of the college, and it also proves that we are on the right track.

Having an artist as talented as Phil Driscoll saying Lee College is the greatest Christian college in America makes you believe that you are in the right place at the right time.

East to West: Going North

Neal Coomer and Jay DeMarcus are familiar faces to Lee. They graduated about five years ago and since had two #1 hits. Now they have graduated to the next level and released their second album North of the Sky. With the huge success of their first album, it is understandable that the second album was challenging. Not for East to West. They easily carried over their inspiring lyrics and music to make this album have the potential to supersede the success of their self-titled release.

Co-writing nine of the ten songs on North of the Sky, Neal and Jay have proved to be here to stay. They performed during one of our fall chapel services and put on a great show.

The ministry of East to West is reaching far and wide, and we are sure glad that they carry Lee College with them everywhere they go.

Jennifer Hamilton

All photos by Sheila Massengill

The Chosen Author Lectures

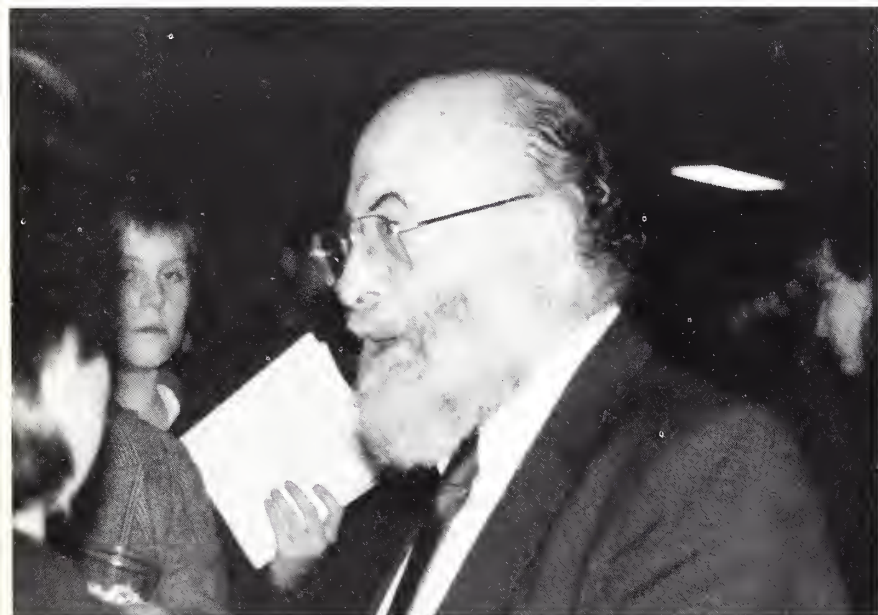

Dr. Chaim Potok spoke at Lee College as part of the Presidential Concert series. Dr. Potok is the author of the book The Chosen which was a required text for all LC101 students. The book is a story about Jewish-Americans growing up in New York. During his presentation, Dr. Potok spoke not only of The Chosen but about his life as an author.

Dr. Potok is a world-renowned author who has written eight other books, one about his life as an Army chaplain in Korea titled I Am The Clay.

Sheila Massengill

Sheila Massengill

Sheila Massengill

Courtesy of the Collegian Staff

A Melody and Song

The Dubberlys proved themselves to be a dynamic duo while performing at Lee College. While Mr. Stephen Dubberly tickled the ivories, Mrs. Elizabeth Dubberly sang like there was no tomorrow.

The Dubberlys both have impressive backgrounds and currently teach at the University of Tennessee at Knoxville. Mrs. Dubberly is also Co-Coordinator of the Knoxville Opera Company's Apprentice Program while her husband is serving as Music Director of the Opera Theatre and heads the Accompanying Program at UTK.

All photos by Sheila Massengill

Everyone Went Wild Over Fabio

Lee Collegian
October 27, 1995

A packed house of music enthusiasts attended the concert of world renowned pianist Fabio Bidini, the first performance of the 1995-96 Presidential Concert Series.

"I love the music," Bidini told the Lee Collegian in an interview prior to his concert. "I'm crazy about it."

"Playing music gives you energy. It's quite competitive. When I'm on the stage I think only about the music, the colors, the images. But no notes," he said.

Bidini made his North American debut in 1993 with the Atlanta Symphony Orchestra. Some of his more noted performances were with the American Symphony Orchestra, the Warsaw Philharmonic, the London Philharmonic, the London Symphony Orchestra, and the Atlanta Symphony Orchestra.

Bidini's credibility as an extraordinary pianist has been proved time and time again by his winnings of first prize in eleven of Italy's most prestigious national piano competitions.

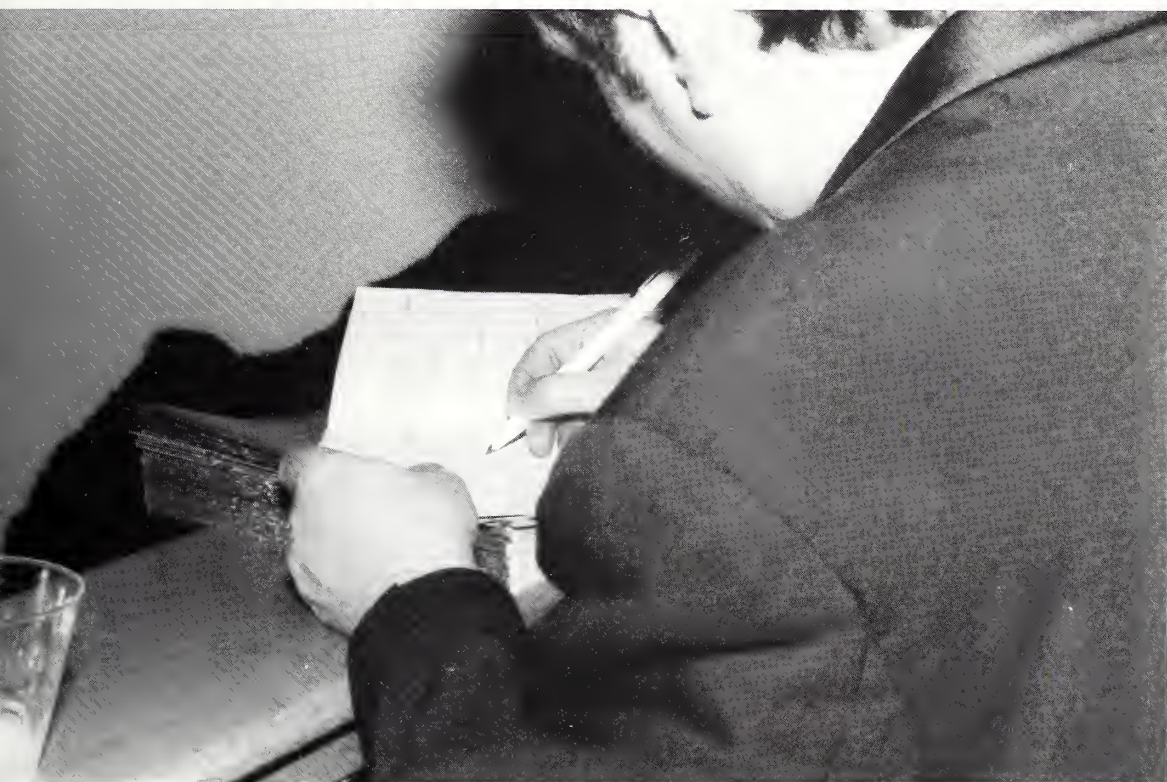

Muir String Quartet

Part of Dr. Conn's Tenth Anniversary Celebration was the performance of the Muir String Quartet. The Quartet have performed over 1,000 times together in such places as Lincoln Center, Kennedy Center and Canada's Ford Centre for the Performing Arts.

The members of the Muir String Quartet are all graduates of the Curtis Institute of Music where they studied chamber music with Felix Galimir and members of the Guarneri Quartet.

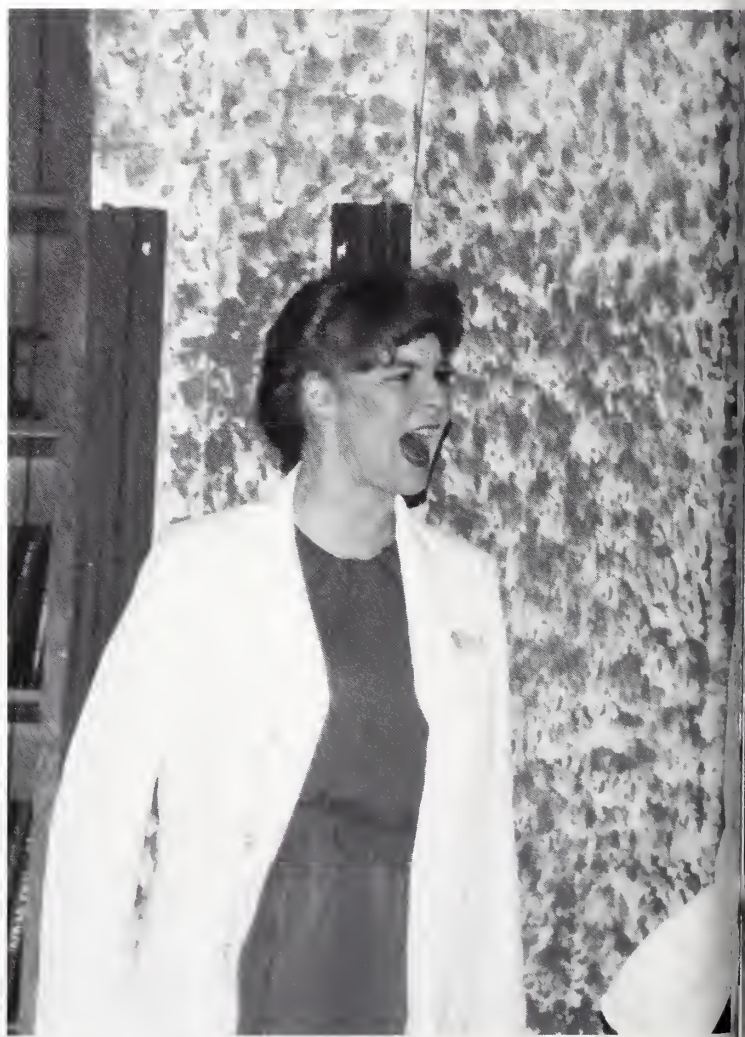

The Curious Savage

Courtesy of the Lee Collegian
November 9, 1995

The Lee College Theatre Company produced another winner. This time, the talented crew of actors and actresses tackled the highly acclaimed comedy "The Curious Savage."

The result was a production seasoned with humorous dialogue, great physical comedy, and thought provoking statements about the modern world. The cast included Amanda C. Bury, Romeo Ferguson, Jr., Alysia Taylor, John Lancaster, Monica Lynn Collins, Adam Macchi, David Sosby, Stefanie Oppenheimer, Ondria Renee Johnson, Cresta Willingham, and James Havener.

The play involved a woman who was sent to a home by her children after she announced plans to give away her late husband's fortune. Along the way she encountered a number of eccentric personalities with a lot of humor.

Annie

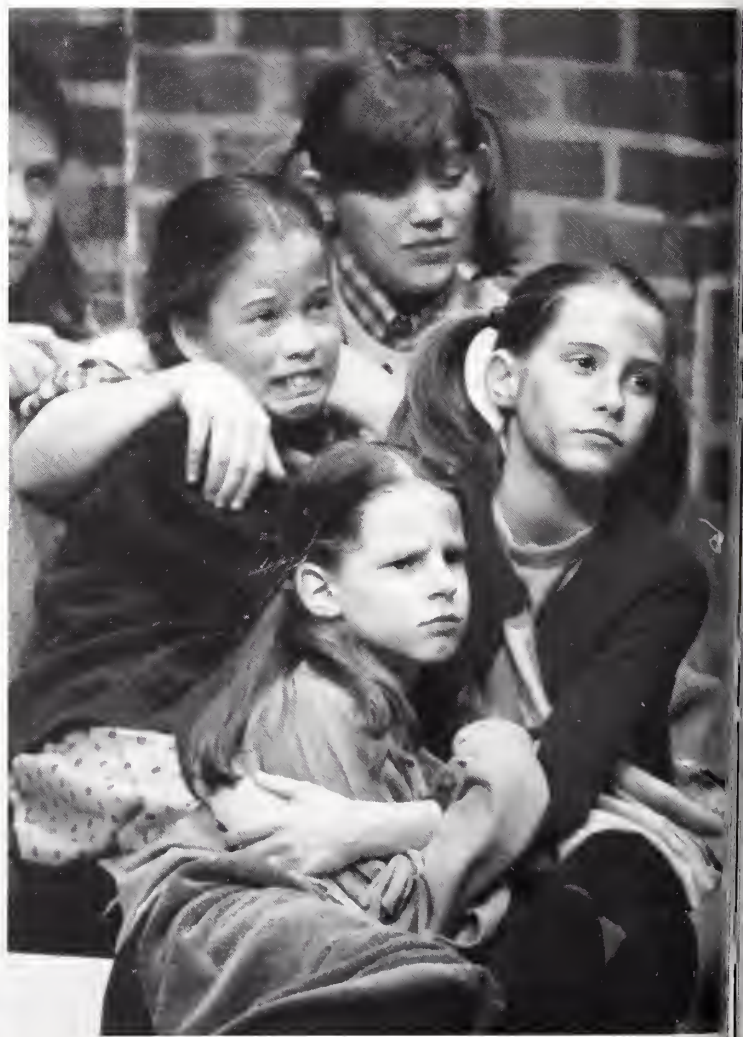

Annie, starring Sabrina Joyner, was a huge success for the Lee College Drama Department. The play was shown throughout the Lee Day weekend with each performance being sold out.

Annie had a huge cast and, as a result, the actors and actresses had to work well into the night to make sure they were ready for the opening production.

Their hard work and dedication paid off with smooth performances and standing ovations. With a live dog and so many area kids being a part of the production, it seems as if there would have been a struggle to keep control of the entire cast. Not so, though. In fact, the kids were better behaved than their college counterparts.

All photos courtesy of the Lee Collegian

Catacombs

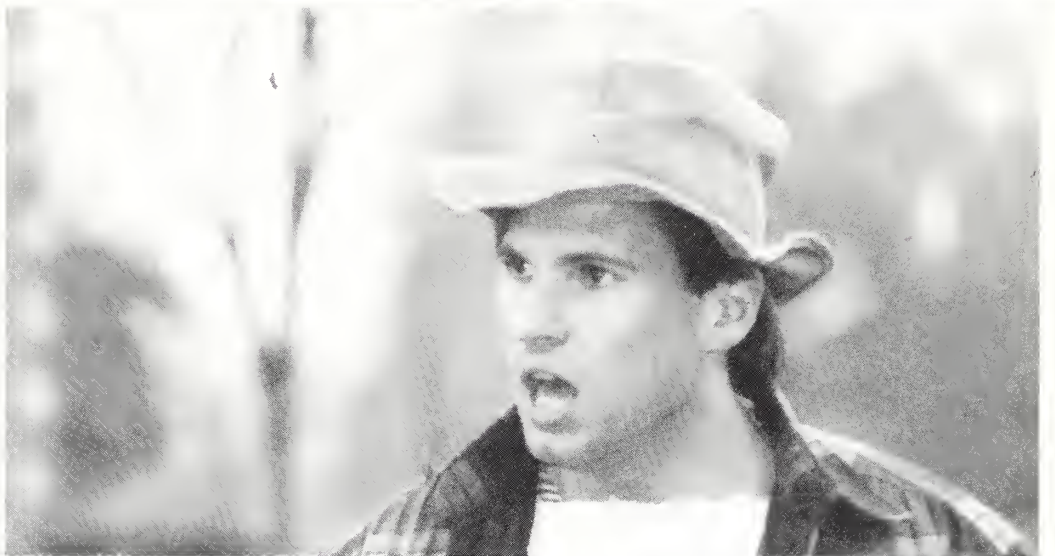

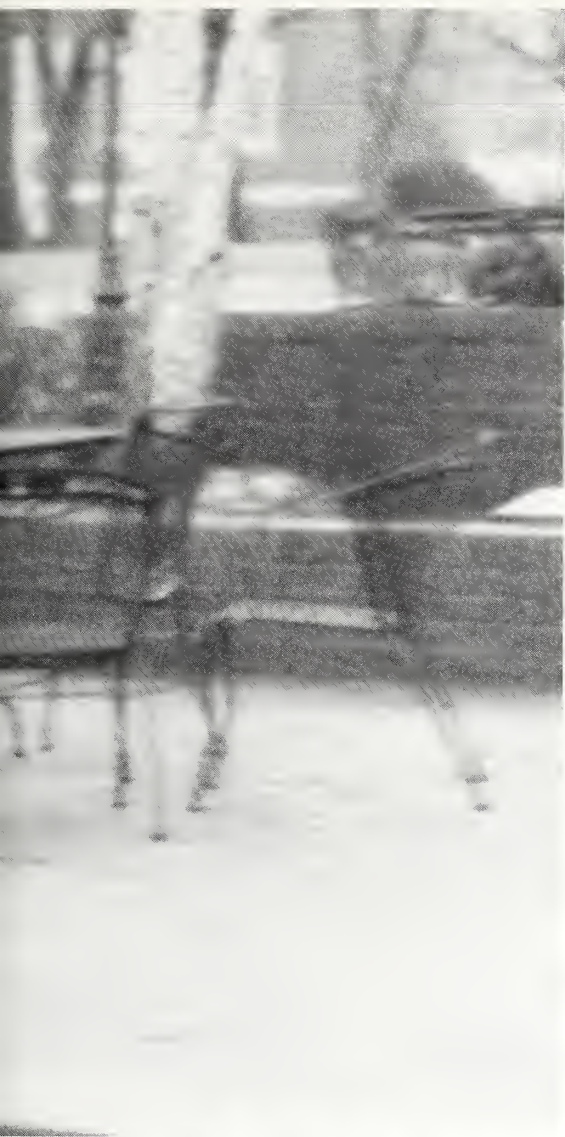

Tracie Payne

The lights die down, the attention of the crowd turns toward the stage, and Catacombs begins. The effect of this play could change the lives of the viewers.

The cast of thirteen worked many hard hours to put this play on. They worked diligently to put thoughts in the audiences' minds. The faith of Sam, played by Rob Alderman, kept the play going, while the doubts of Sloan, played by Jeremy Tallent, kept the audience on the edge.

Catacombs ended with a shock to the audience, but the impression it made was lasting. "It was a sad play, yet it was an awakening," stated one student.

Library

By Patty Tomalewski/Lee Collegian

This year Lee College students had a useful research tool in the Internet, according to John Dixon, Director of Information Systems.

When Amy Woodfin needed French contacts regarding art, she began her research at the Pentecostal Resource Center (PRC).

"I had a difficult time finding information that was current in the available reference books," she said. "Let's face it, the PRC doesn't always have what you're looking for, but on the Internet, I just typed in 'french art' and it listed a ton of resources."

Ms. Woodfin was not alone. Students all over the Lee College campus were finding the Internet helpful.

"It's a computer network which spans the globe allowing information to transfer between computers anywhere in the world," said Chris Stephenson, of Chattanooga Online.

More than just a tool for research, the Internet had many uses that appealed to students.

Many students considered purchasing access to the Internet for their own personal computers.

The office of Computer Information Services made this option open to students.

When asked about Lee's future plans for the Internet, Dixon commented on the possibility of a full campus network.

"I would like to see every room equipped for a computer, and a student network separate from faculty networking, but with access to both," Dixon said.

Surfing the Net

By Rachel L. Jackson/Lee Collegian

A new branch of education was added to the Pentecostal Resource Center on May 31, 1995 when the college officially hooked up to the Internet. It had already played a vital role in the education and services to Lee College, the School of the Theology, and the community.

This semester the library upgraded their system in several areas. First, public access to the Internet was available at one of the workstations in the Reference area.

The campus network was connected through fiber optics to the library, which had enhanced the on-line system.

The system supported on-line catalog, circulation, acquisitions, and cataloging functions.

Future plans include the employment of a coordinator for the multimedia systems.

"I am very excited about this new system," said David Roebuck, reference assistant. "Since technology is changing, we have a wider variety of audio and visual materials to help students work more efficiently."

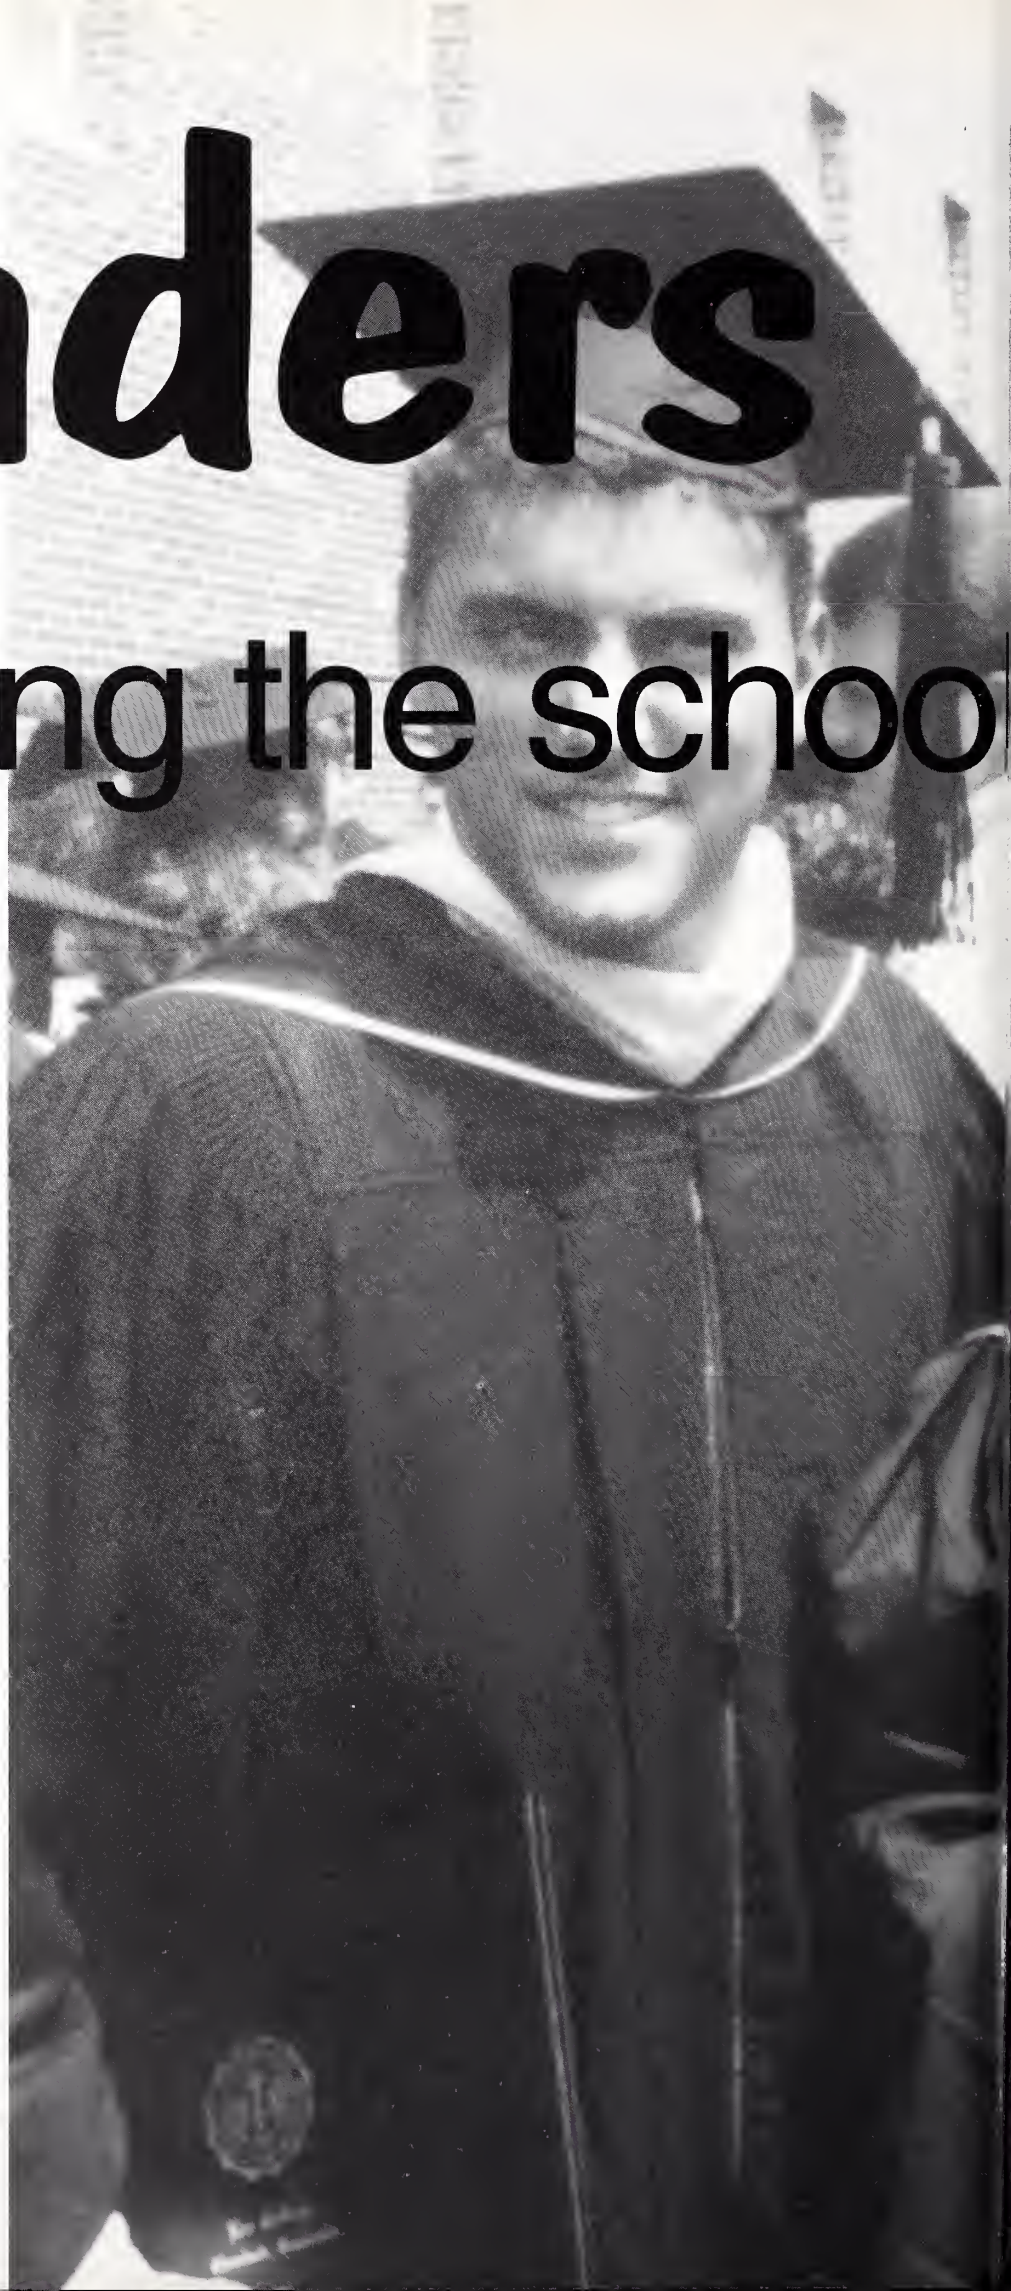

Francis Arrington

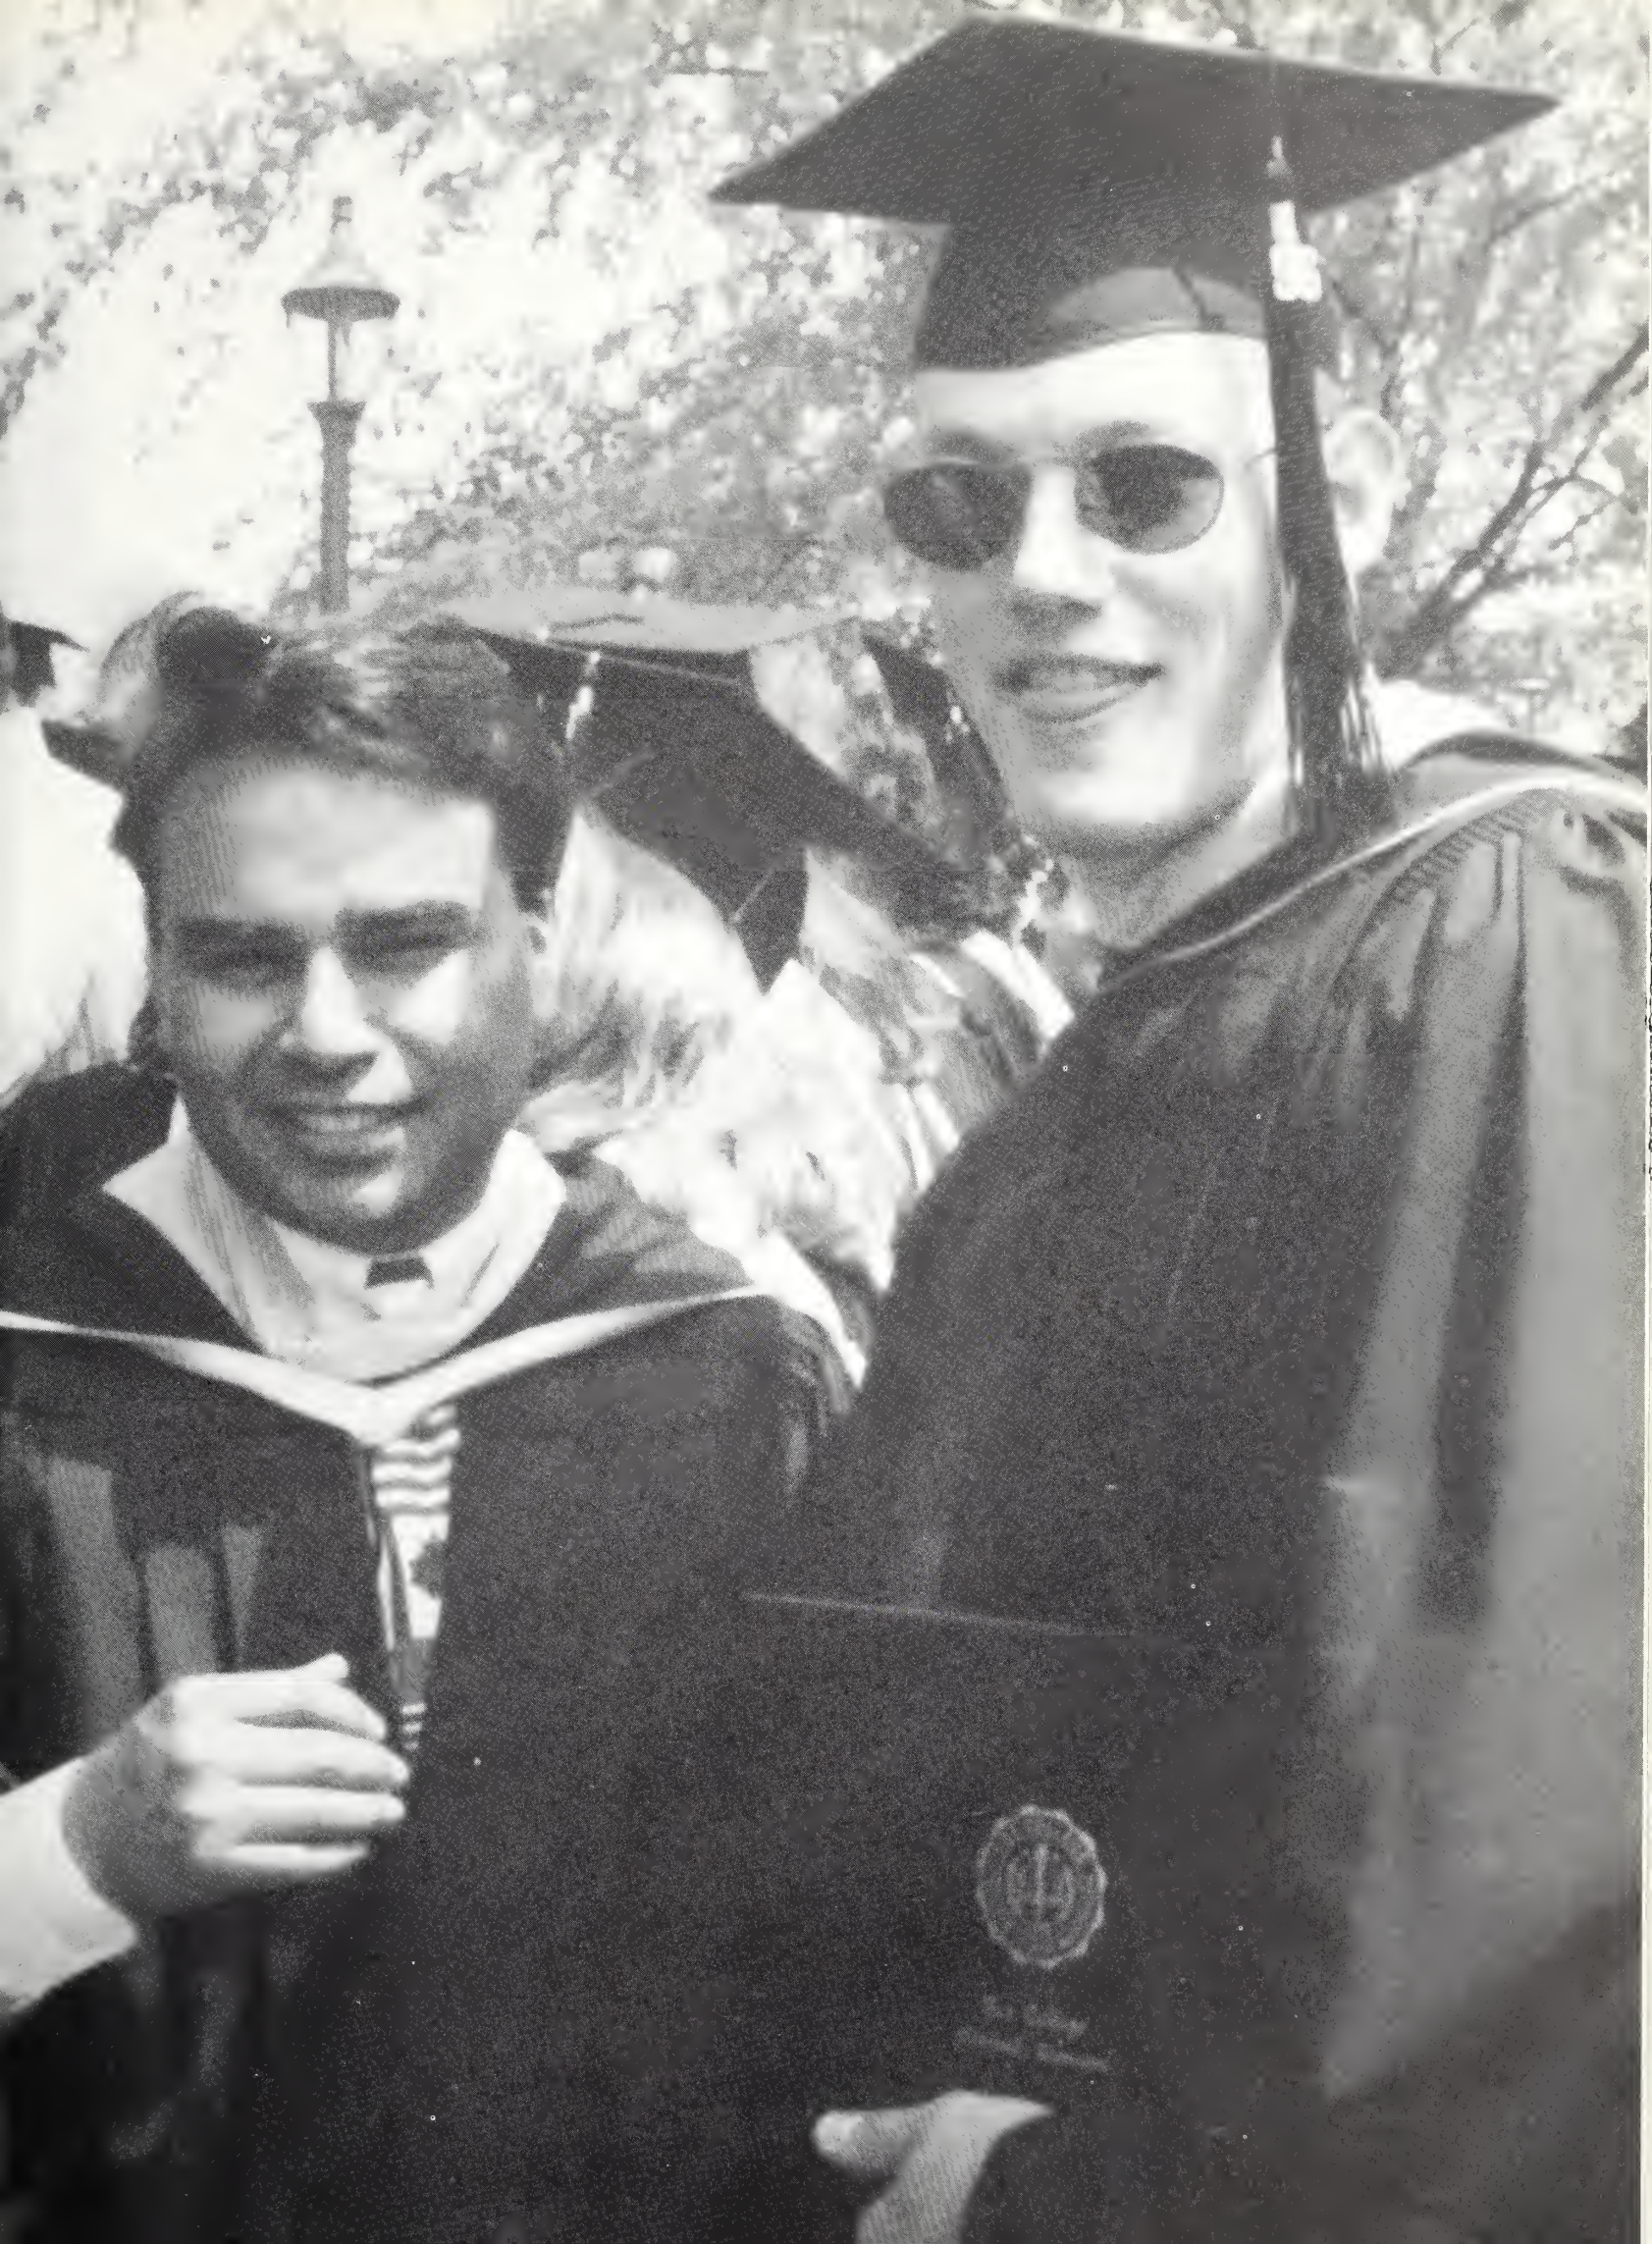

Director

Leaders

Running the school

Finances, recruitment, study abroad programs, and just basically making sure that the school is running smoothly are the jobs of the LEADERS of Lee College. Everything from Homecoming to the scheduling of classes falls under one of the Vice-President's heads. Without strong LEADERS, Lee would not be what it is today.

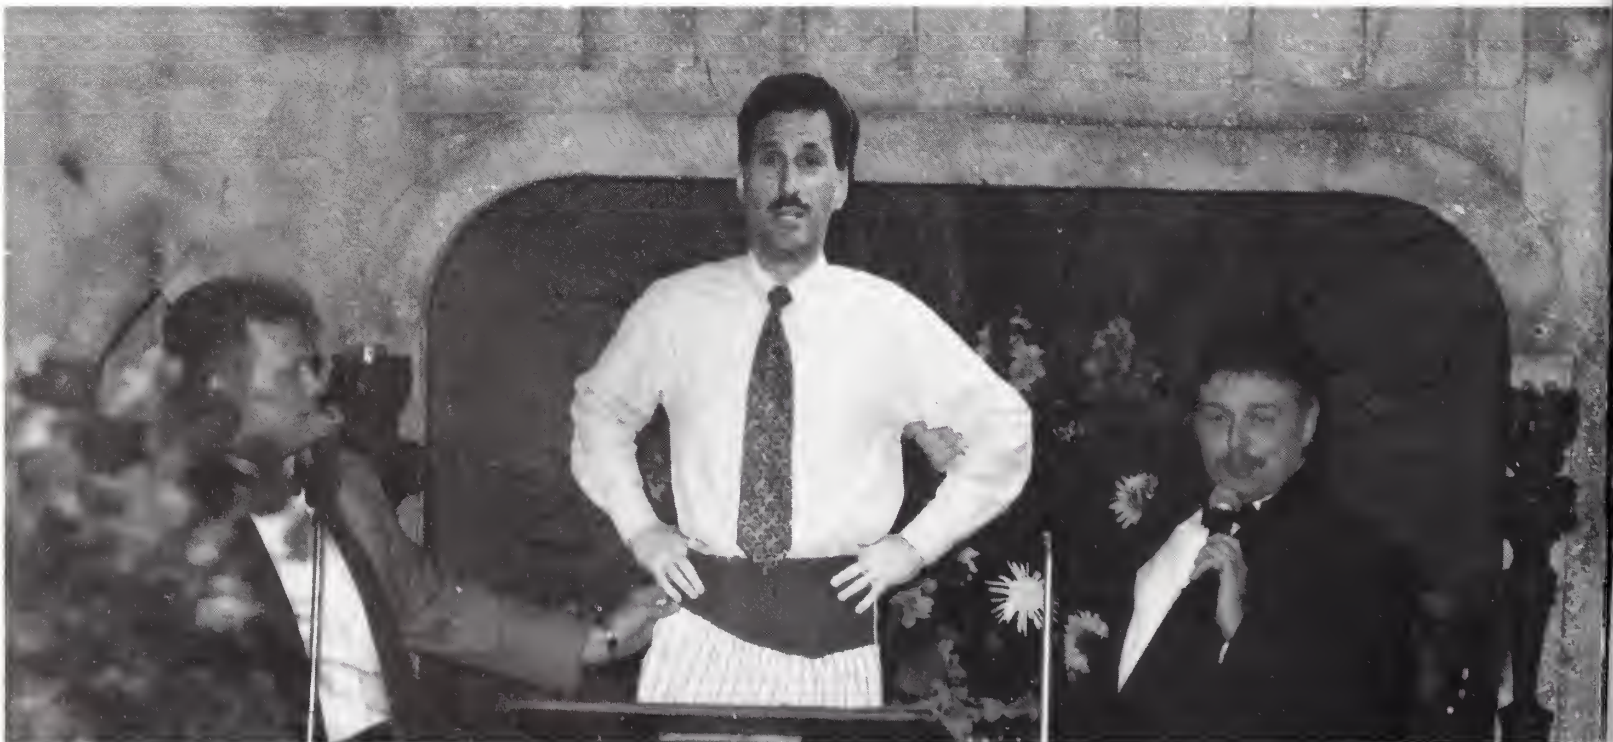

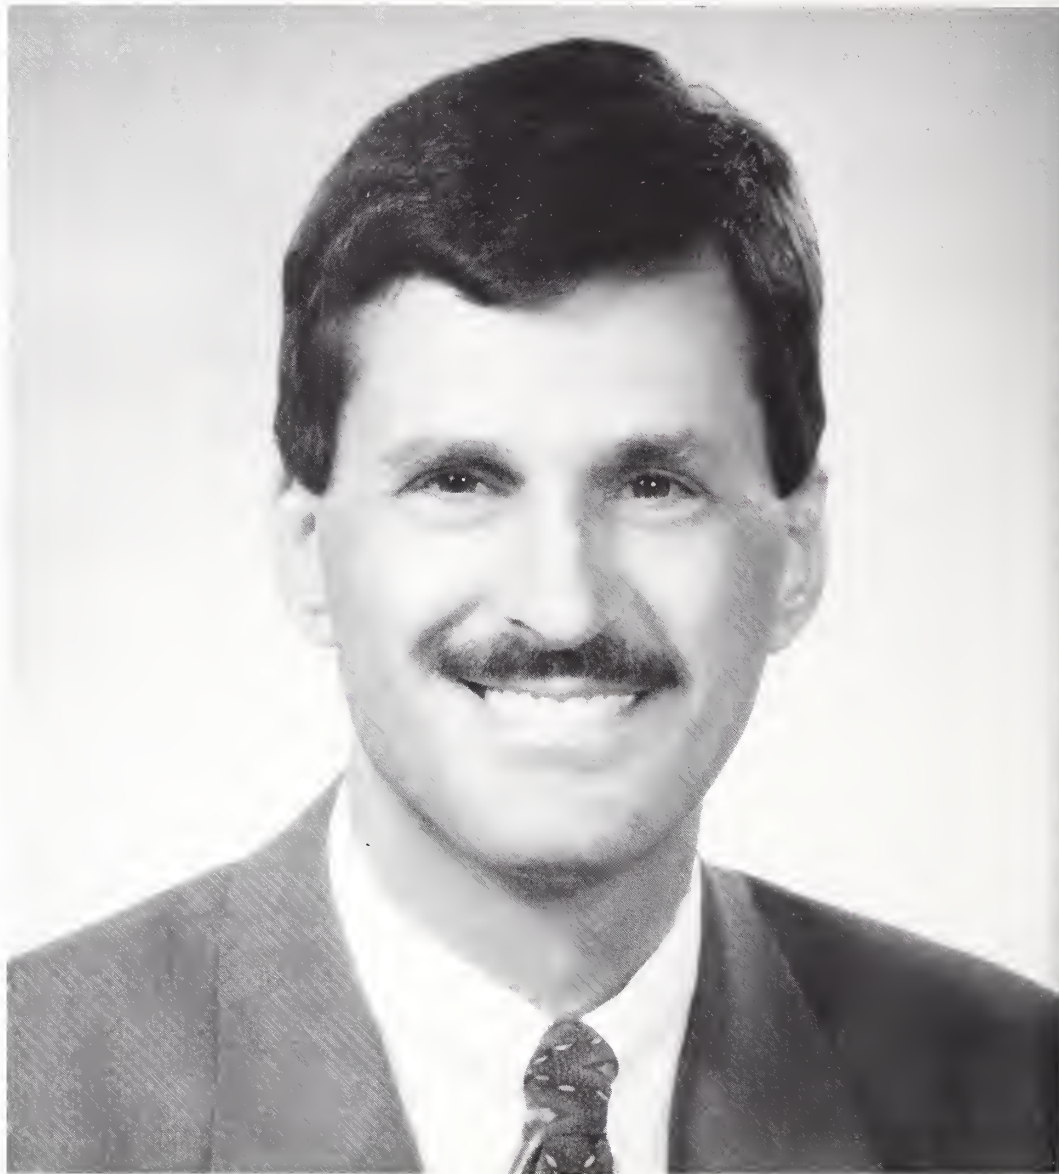

The President

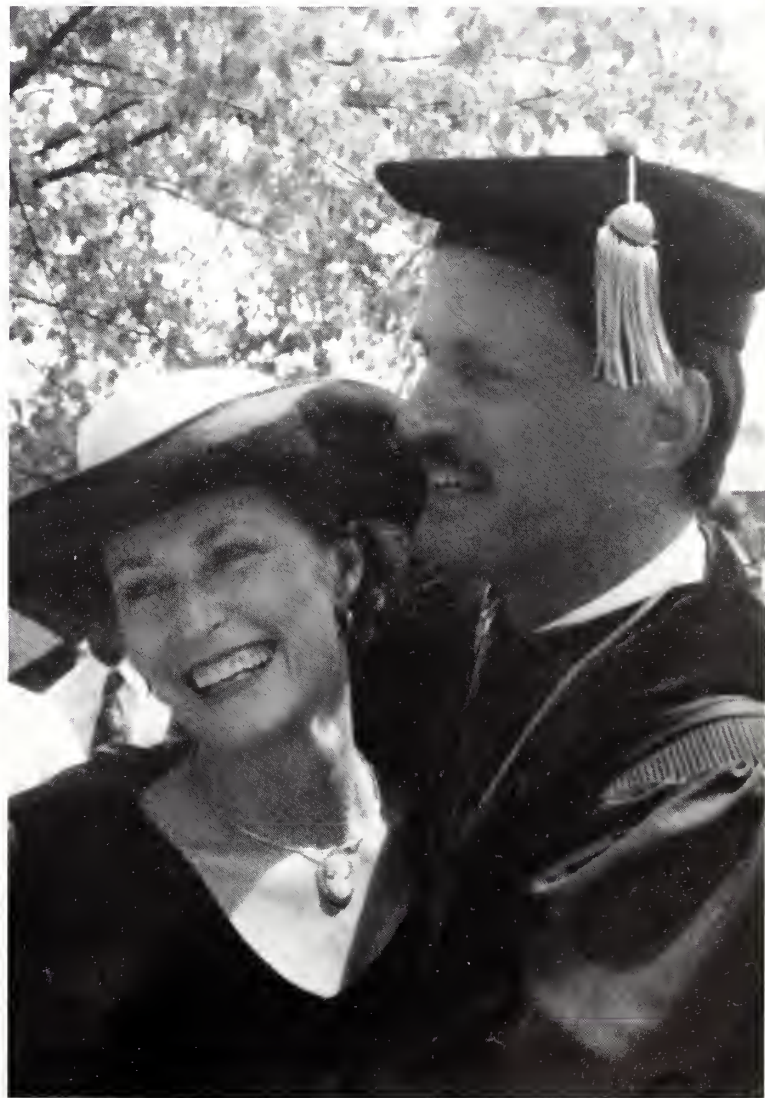

Charles Paul Conn

For ten years, Dr. Conn has been our fearless leader. Through thick and thin he has proudly worn the title of President of Lee College. Lee celebrated the tenth year of Dr. Conn's administration with various student and community recognition. The school, so the celebration of his "Decade of Distinction" is one way we are showing our gratitude for the vision and personal sacrifice that have characterized this leadership.

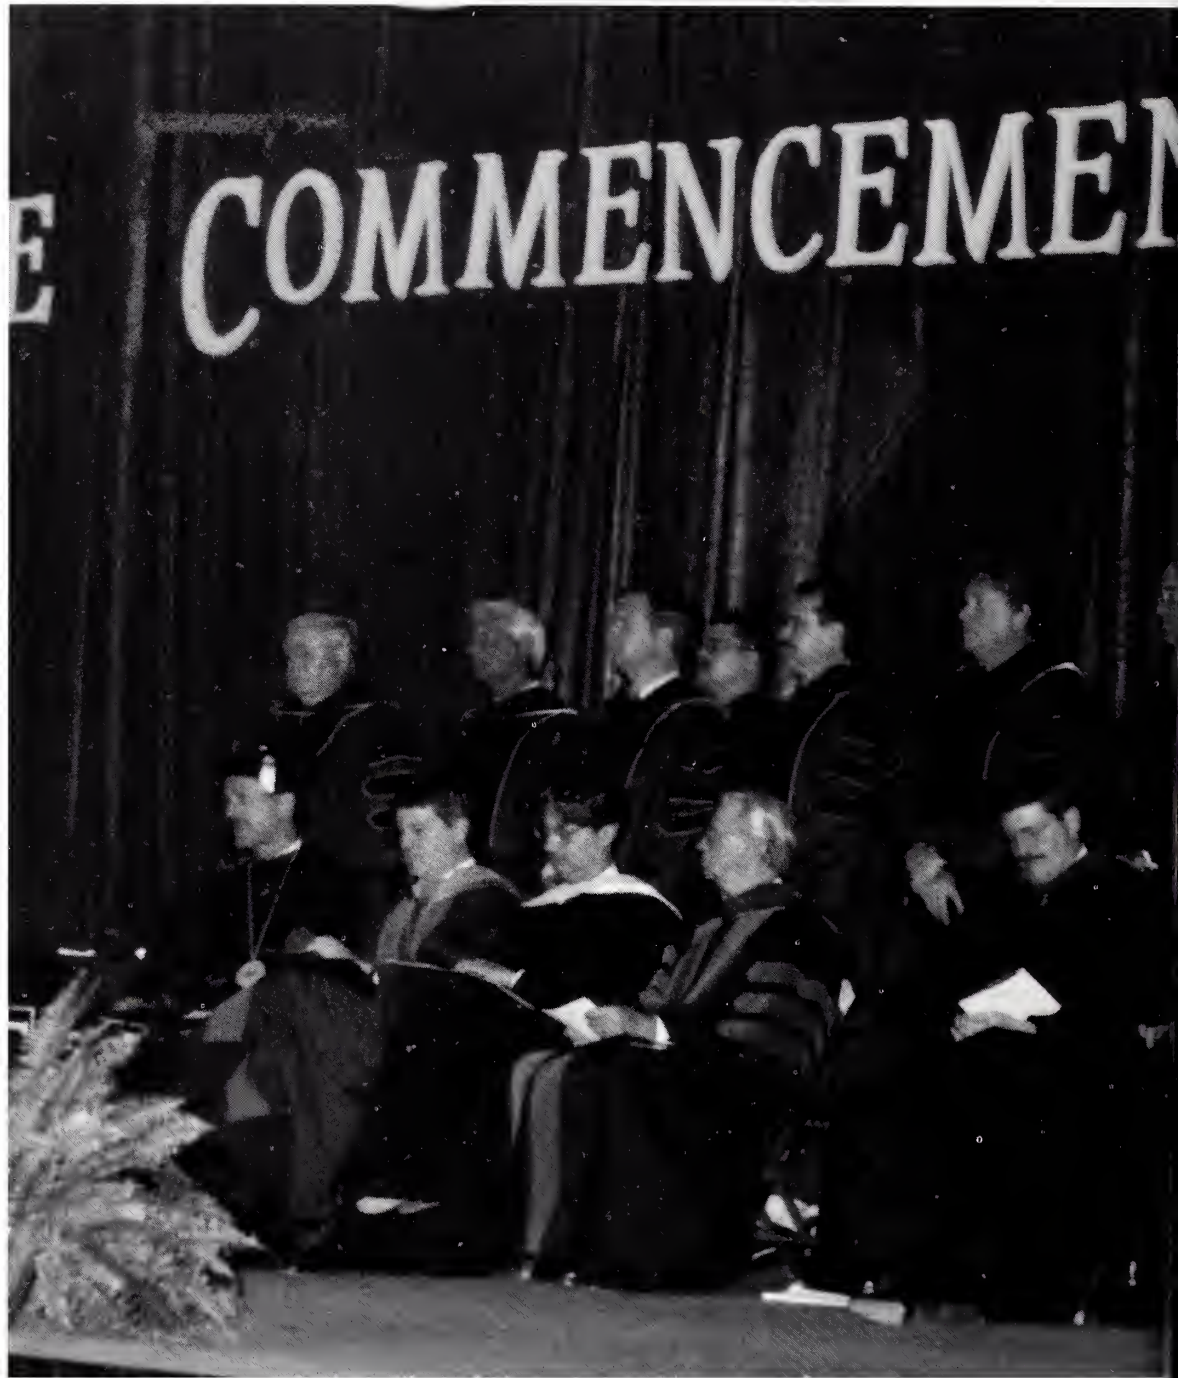

Since Dr. Conn was inaugurated as President, he has had a true vision and goal for the college, and we were along for the ride. Every year of his Presidency has provided Lee with bigger and better buildings, programs, and athletic opportunities.

Dr. Conn's enthusiasm and dedication to the college has proven that with God all things are possible. Reflecting on the past is an important part of our future, and what a bright one it is.

Keepers of the flame

1995-96

Board of Directors

Vice President of Academics

Ollie J. Lee

Vice President of Executive Assistant

Robert Herron

Vice President of

Business & Finance

David M. Painter

Business & Finance

Staff members

Summer Honors

In ten years of offering the Lee College Summer Honors program, this statement, taken from an evaluation form of a 1986 participant, is a typical, non-coerced synopsis of the Lee College Summer Honors program. Since 1986, Lee has been providing this two-week "excursion" into college life for academically-talented high school juniors and seniors, who come away with an enlightened vision for their future, a head start on college life and on many occasions, a spiritual awakening.

Originally conceived by Dr. Paul Conn in the days when he was vice president, he envisioned a program that would be more than just a recruitment tool for students with higher ACT or SAT scores. This was to be a time when students could discover themselves, make lasting friendships and of course -- earn some college credit. The two weeks would award the diligent scholars with a six hour head start on their college career and get them acquainted with juggling classroom, dorm and social priorities.

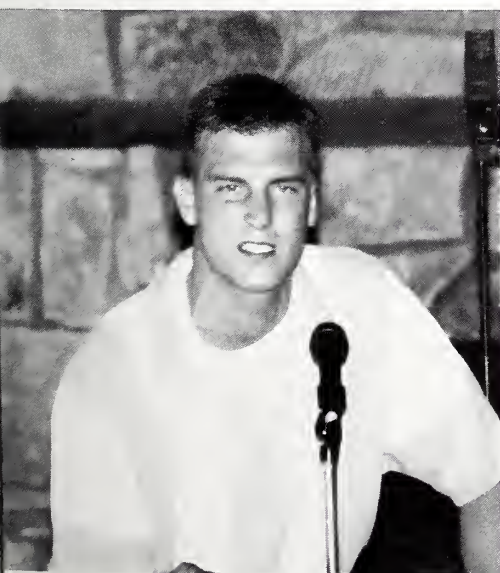

Of that first Summer Honors class several have gone on to successful careers and higher degrees.

"Summer Honors gave me a jump start over the other incoming freshmen, both socially and academically," said Chad Carter, director of human resources for Brentwood Music, Inc. of Nashville. "We had already developed relationships, and that's important. I remember Summer Honors as a very academic experience and I was particularly impressed by the thoroughness of Dr. Bowdle's class. It was a definite advantage to meet and get to know the faculty ahead of time." Chad and his wife Sherry Daniels Carter recently became first time parents.

"Summer Honors presented a good microcosm of what you're going to get at Lee," Hansen said. "When I enrolled that fall, it was like I was coming back home to my friends rather than leaving home for the first time. There was a real sense of comfort in that." Other graduates in the class included Lee's first Centennial Scholar, Stacey Alldredge of Birmingham; Brian Beard, now a dentist with a family practice and Angie Duncan Rogers, a teacher in the Birmingham school system.

The success of the Summer Honors program is reflected in those who have participated. Many of them become the leaders at Lee after they enroll, exuding confidence that is gained during the program. For several it cemented their choice to attend Lee. Other have been able to complete their studies in less time, allowing them to pursue careers and further educational goals.

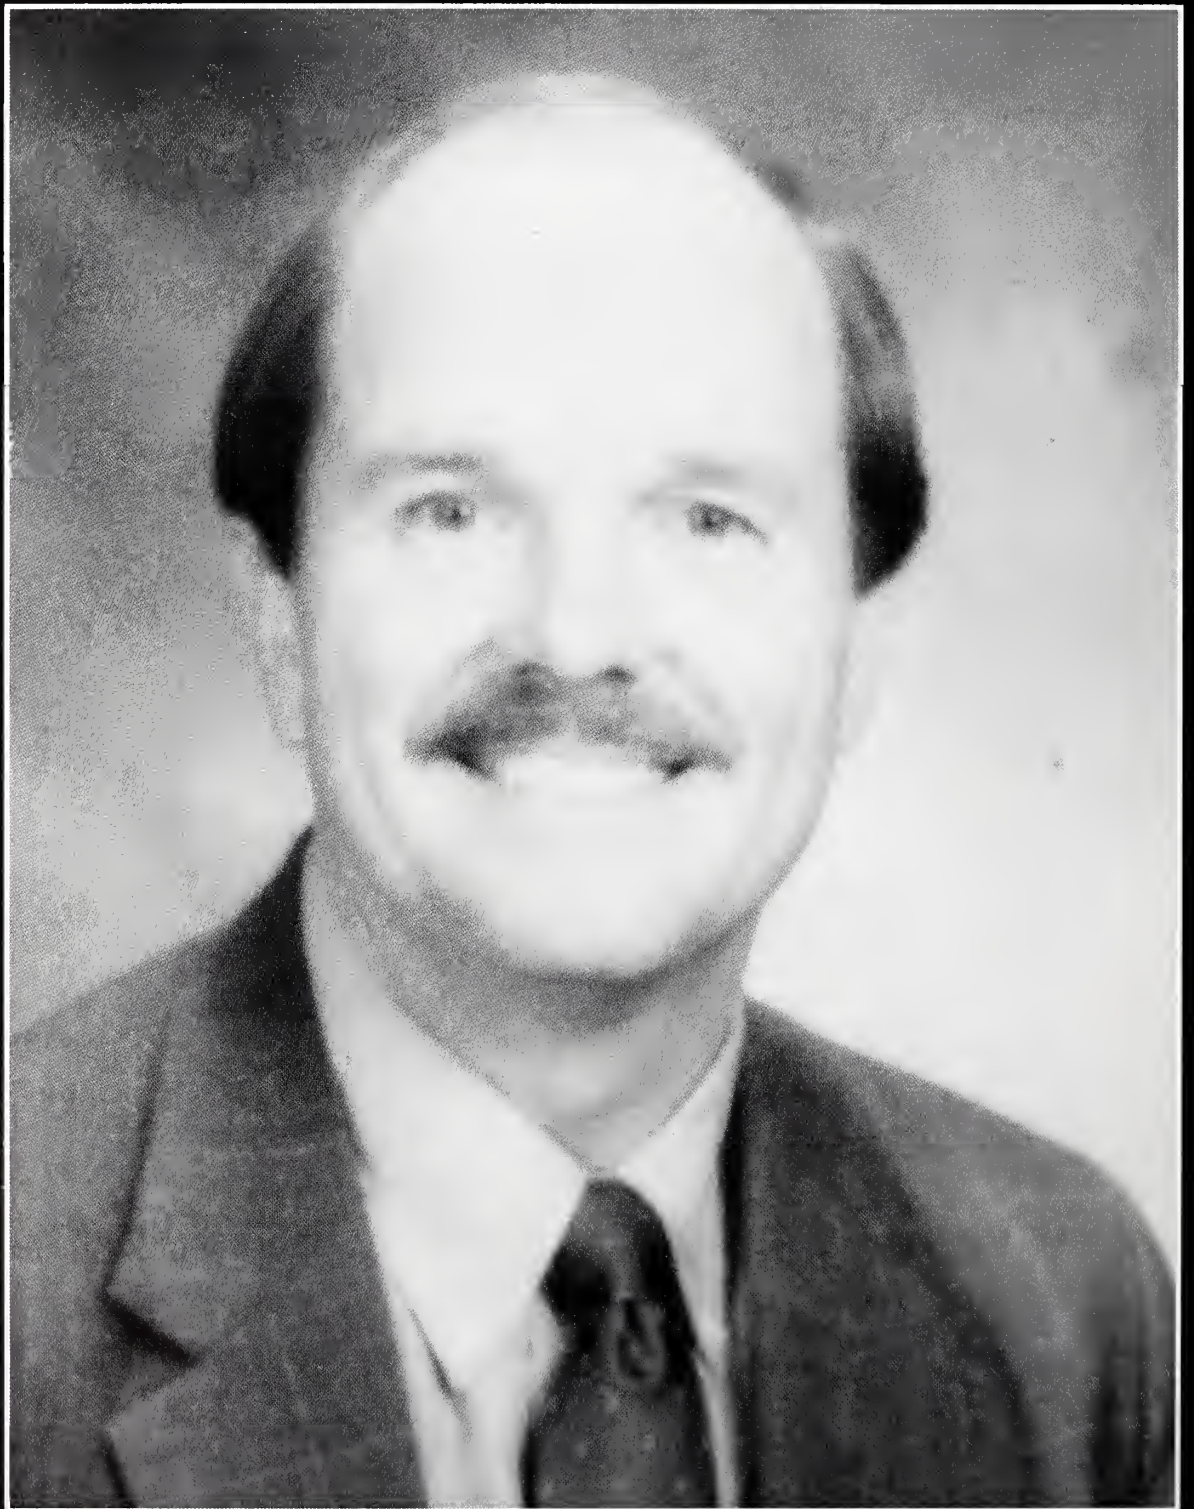

Whatever the value for the individual participant, the benefit for Lee College and those who have helped produce it through the years, Summer Honors is a program well worth the investment of another ten years.

Vice President of

Institutional Advancement

Dale Goff

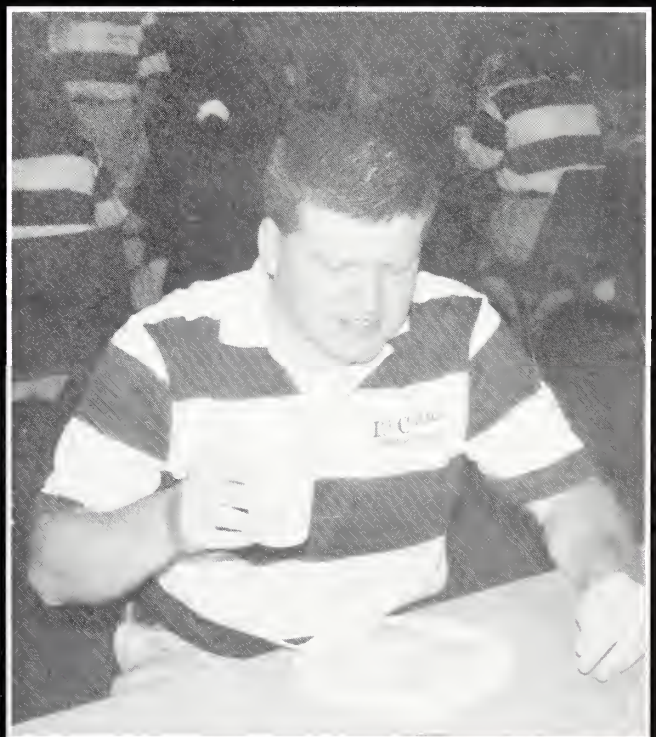

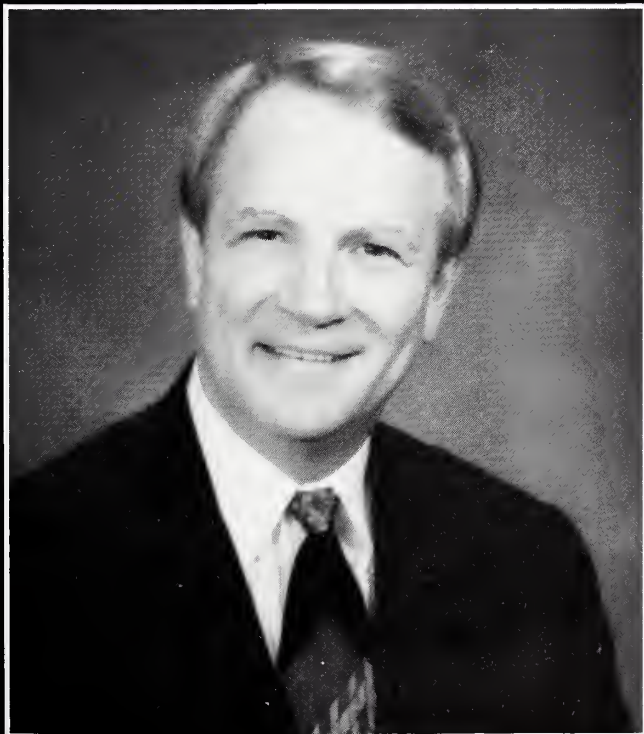

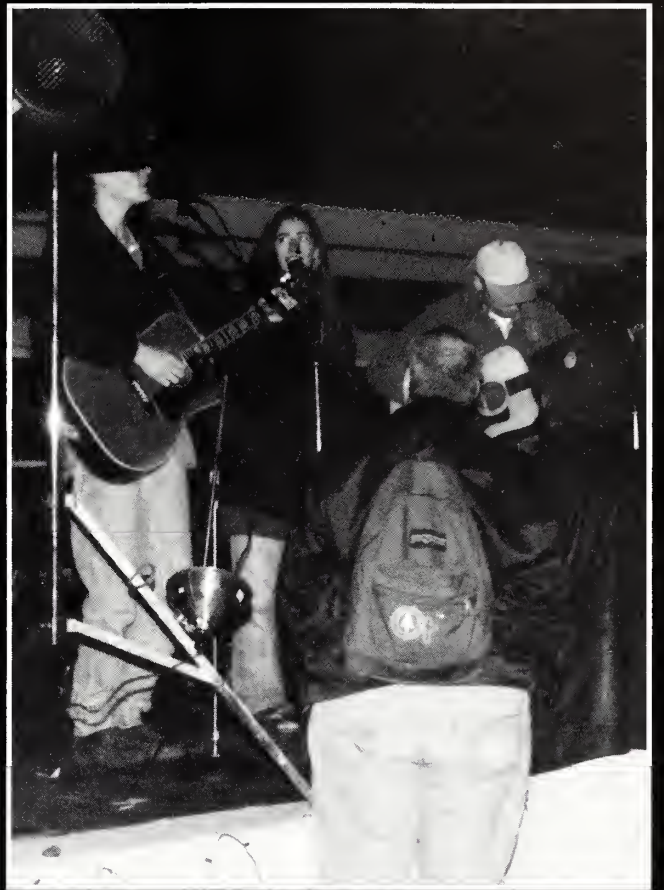

Vice President of

Student Life

David Tilley

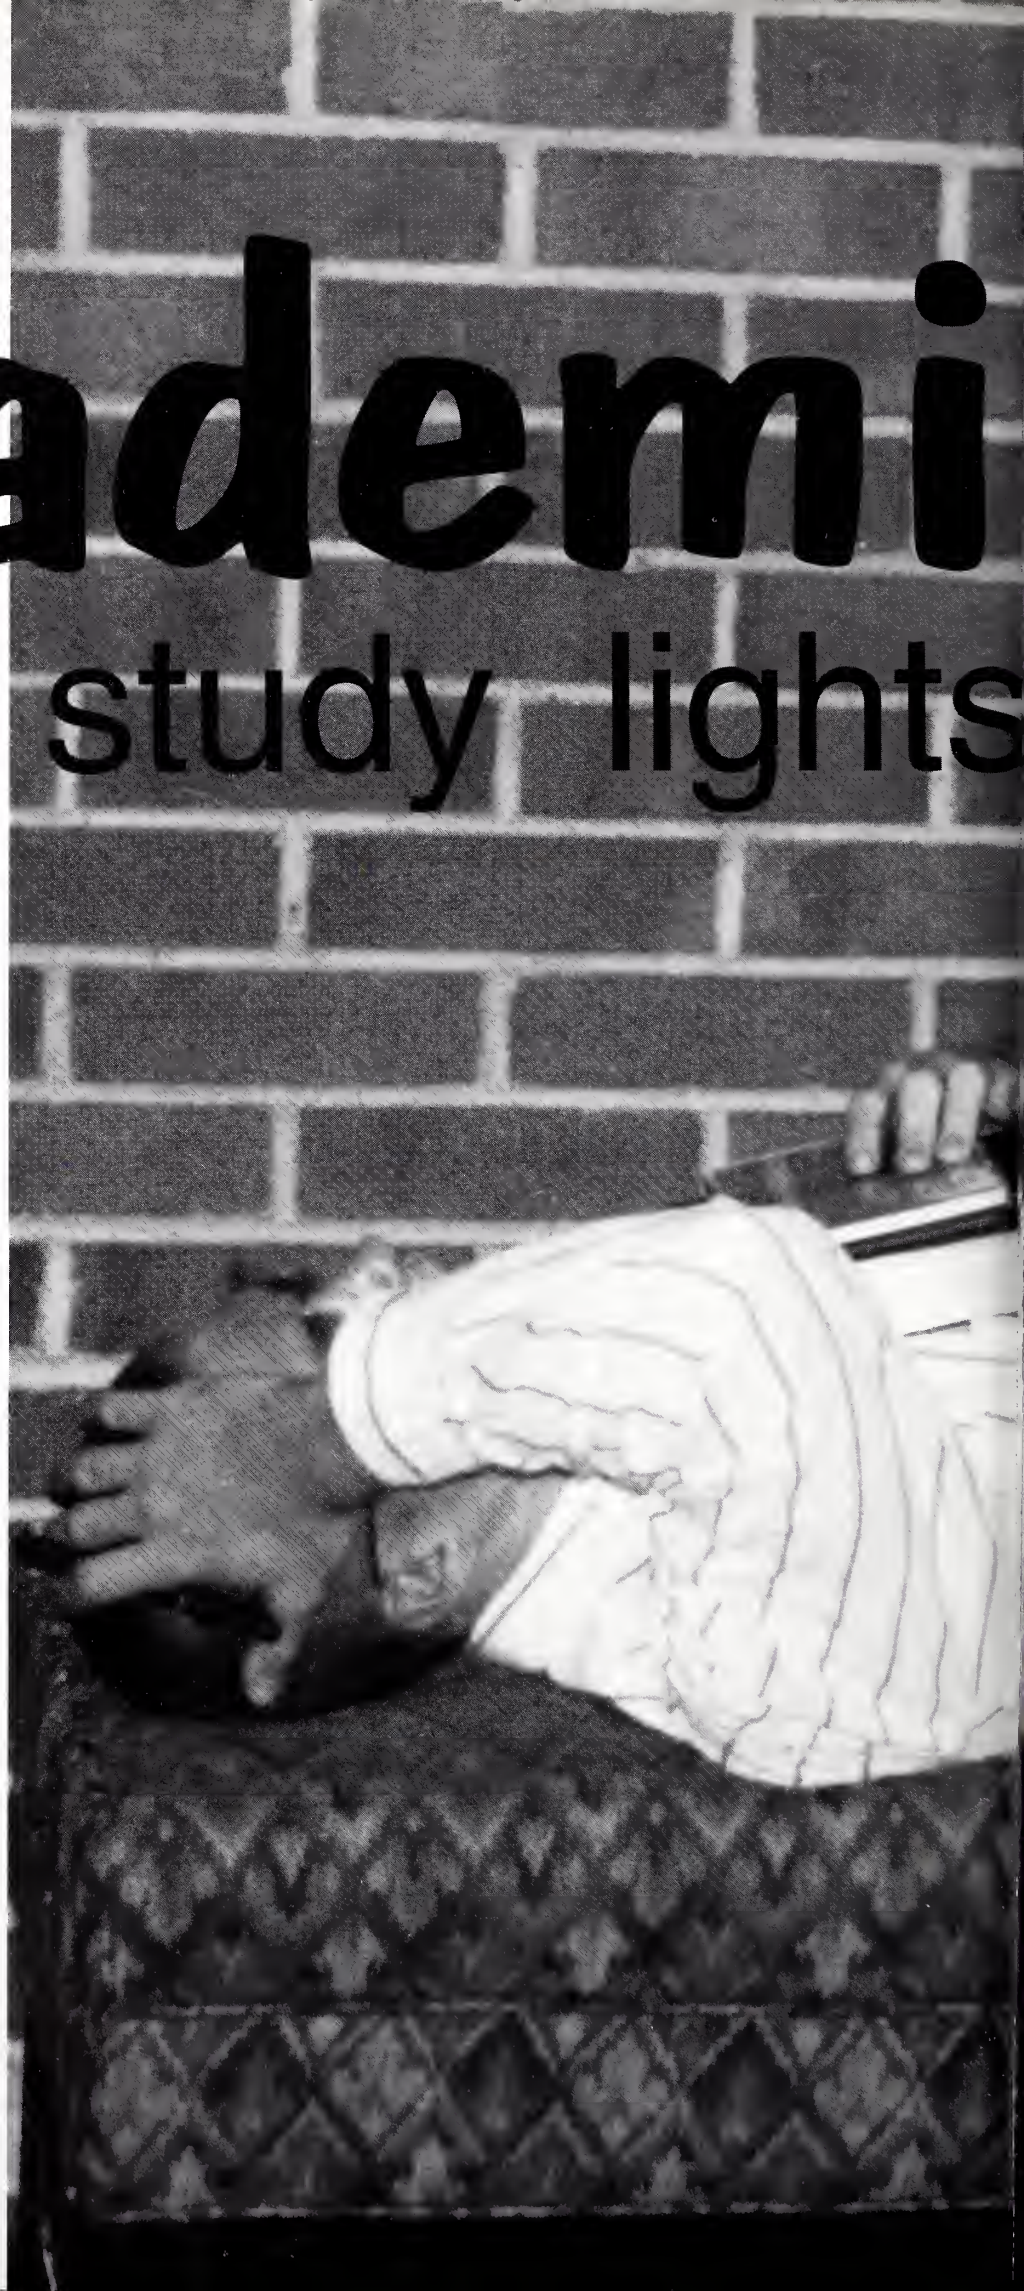

Academi

The study lights

Believe it or not, even the most socially active Lee College student must hit the books every now and then. Academic life at Lee has become a source of pride for many students. Our top-notch faculty challenges students with intense lectures and thought-provoking assignments. The result has been a well-rounded education for the Lee student. Our faculty excels while incorporating the Christian world-view into everything from mathematics to world literature.

CS

burn bright

Serving

GOD

In

ALBANIA

Last summer, a group of Lee students ministered in Albania. The group was led by Alan and Patricia McClung, along with their daughter Alex. The team traveled to the capital city of Tirana where they prepared to travel into the remote mountain villages of the country to share Jesus with the Muslims.

Only God knows what was accomplished in the hearts of the Albanians but if there is a change in the students' lives is any indication, the Lord moved mountains in Albania.

"By this shall all men know that you are my disciples, if you have love for one another. - John 13:35

By Jason Robins

It's a busy day at Lee

it's more than a golf caRT

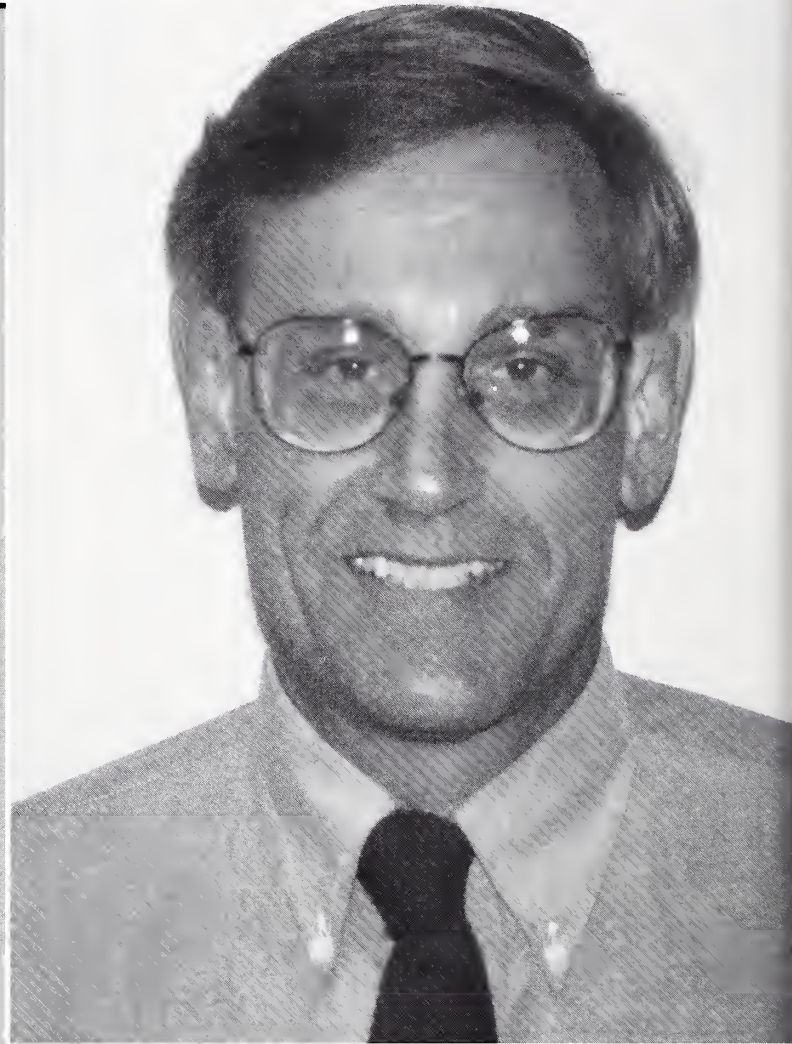

Coach Larry Carpenter and Campus Safety Director Virgil Clark enjoy an afternoon resting in the ever-present campus golf carts during the NCCAA National Softball Tournament. The golf carts have been used to carry everything from Dr. Conn to food from the dining hall.

Behavioral & Social Sciences

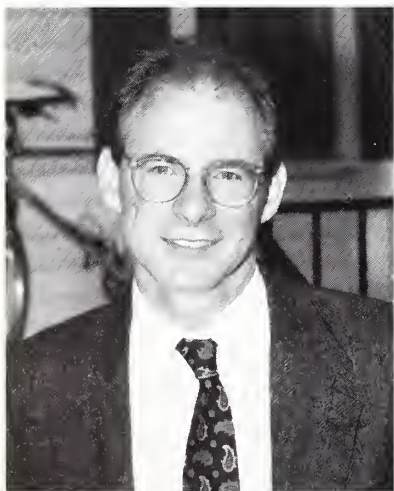

At Lee, you can prepare for careers such as counseling, teaching, social work, law, research, criminology, cross-cultural ministry and many others in the Department of Behavioral and Social Sciences. This, the largest department on campus, provides majors in Psychology, Sociology, History, and Human Development.

The department's motto is "Doing Unto Others" and each major program focuses on integrating Christian faith and service with academic excellence. Ninety percent of the Behavioral and Social Sciences faculty hold doctoral degrees, and they are among the most popular lecturers on campus. Four have won the faculty's highest honor, the Excellence in Teaching Award, and three have earned the award for Excellence in Scholarship.

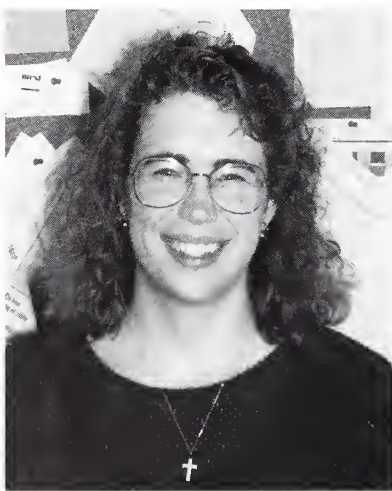

The department faculty are currently developing a Master's degree program in Professional Counseling which would include internships for on-site training at primarily Christian-based agencies.

Chairperson Murl Dirksen, Ph.D.
Professor of Anthropology and Sociology

Bob Barnett
Associate Professor of History

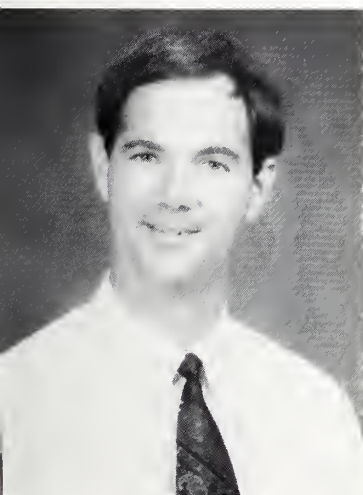

Ruth Ediger, Ph.D.
Asst. Professor in Political Science

A. J. Faulkner, Jr., Ph.D.
Asst. Professor of Psychology

Robert Fisher, Ph.D.
Asst. Professor of Psychology

Daniel Hoffman, Ph.D.
Asst. Professor of History

Karen Mundy, Ph.D.
Asst. Professor of Sociology

Dani Smith, M.A.
Asst. Professor of Sociology

William Snell, Ph.D.
Professor of History

Sociology Club

AKA

The Sociology Honor Society' purpose is to award and intellectually stimulate those sociology majors who are above average students. They do this through group discussions and fellowship centered on current social problems. They then discuss ways to solve these problems from a Christian perspective.

The Sociology Club's main event during the year is the Hunger Banquet.

History Club KAI

The goal of the History Club is to promote a Awareness of the importance of History, to stud the relationship of History to life, and to achieve better understanding of human institutions and th world at large.

The club sponsored the appearance of D Yamauchi, a professor of History at Miami Unive sity. Dr. Yamauchi spoke on Recent Biblical archeo logical discoveries.

Psi Chi

Psi Chi is the Lee College Chapter of the National Honor Society in Psychology. Its purpose is to encourage, stimulate, and maintain excellence in scholarship of the individual members in all fields, particularly in psychology, and to advance the science of psychology.

This year, Psi Chi has striven to promote excellence in others by sponsoring two of its annual programs: Graduate Symposium and Learning to Learn Seminar.

Psi Chi continued to fulfill its purpose by honoring those individuals in the psychology department for their excellence in scholarship. Psi Chi induction services were held in both the Fall and Spring semester, in which 14 new members were newly inducted into the local chapter.

President: Jason DeLaLuz

Vice-President: Jason Airman

Secretary: Daniela Filip

Treasurer: Kristina Cobb

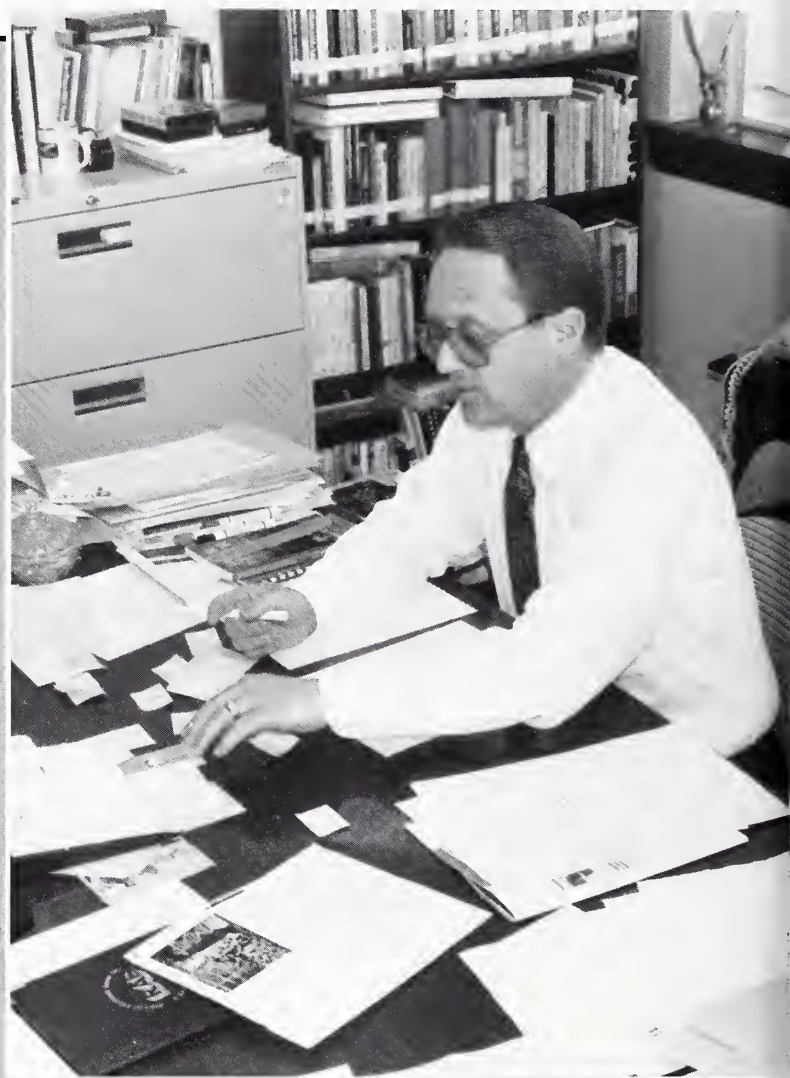

Bible & Christian Ministries

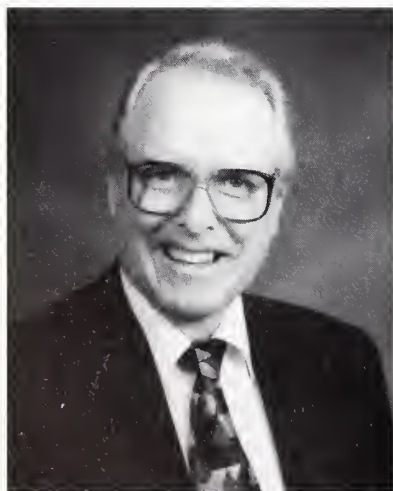

From New Testament Survey to Christian Thought, the Bible and Christian Ministries Department made sure the Lee College student did not stray from their spiritual roots.

The Department provides a clear and thought-provoking spiritual education to every student on campus. In the process, many students develop a better understanding of the scriptures.

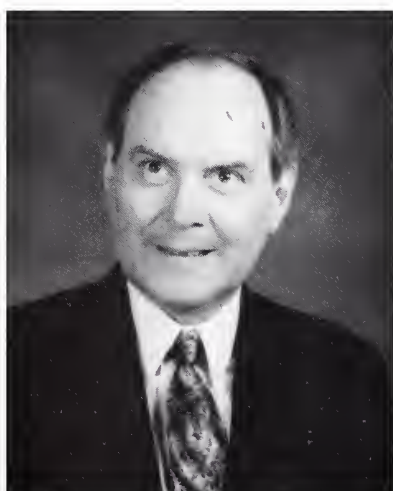

The Department has seen great success under the leadership of Dr. Jerald Daffe. Many of the professors were published in books and other periodicals.

Jerald Daffe, D. Min.
Asst. Professor in Pastoral Ministries

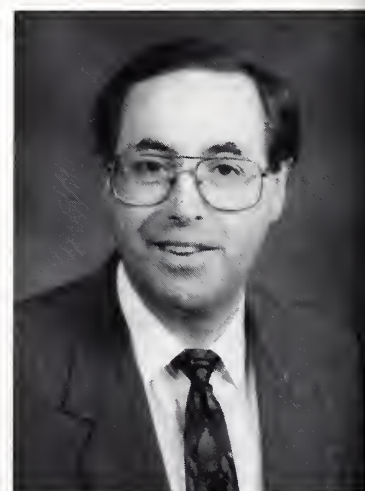

J. Martin Baldree, Ed. D.
Senior Adjunct Professor of Christian Education

Don Bowdle, Th.D.
Professor of History and Religion

Andrew Blackmon, M.C.E.
Asst. Professor of Christian Education

R. Jerome Boone, D. Min.
Asst. Professor of Religion

John Sims, Ph.D.
Professor of Religion and History

Hector Comacho, D.Min.
Asst. Professor of Intercultural Studies

Bob Bayles, M.Div.
Instructor in Christian Education

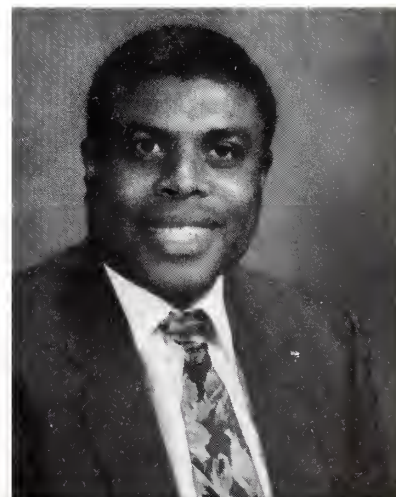

William Simmons, Ph.D.
Asst. Professor of New Testament

Terry Johns, M. Div.
Instructor in Biblical Studies

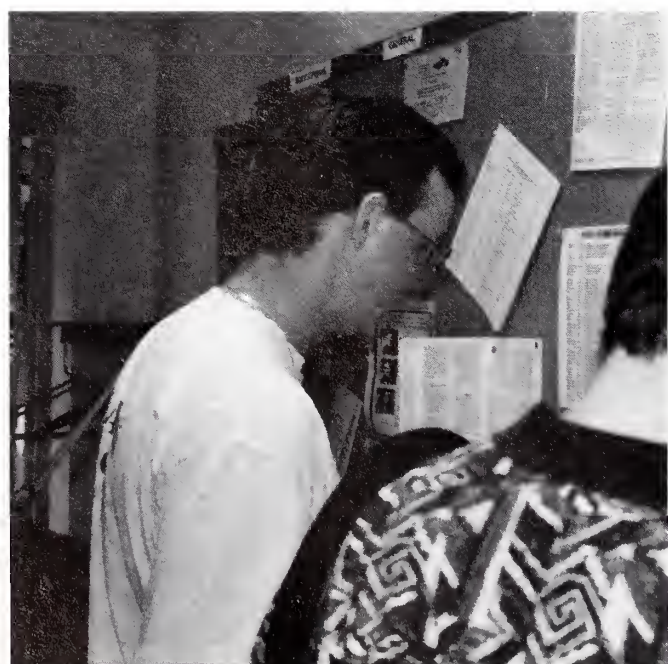

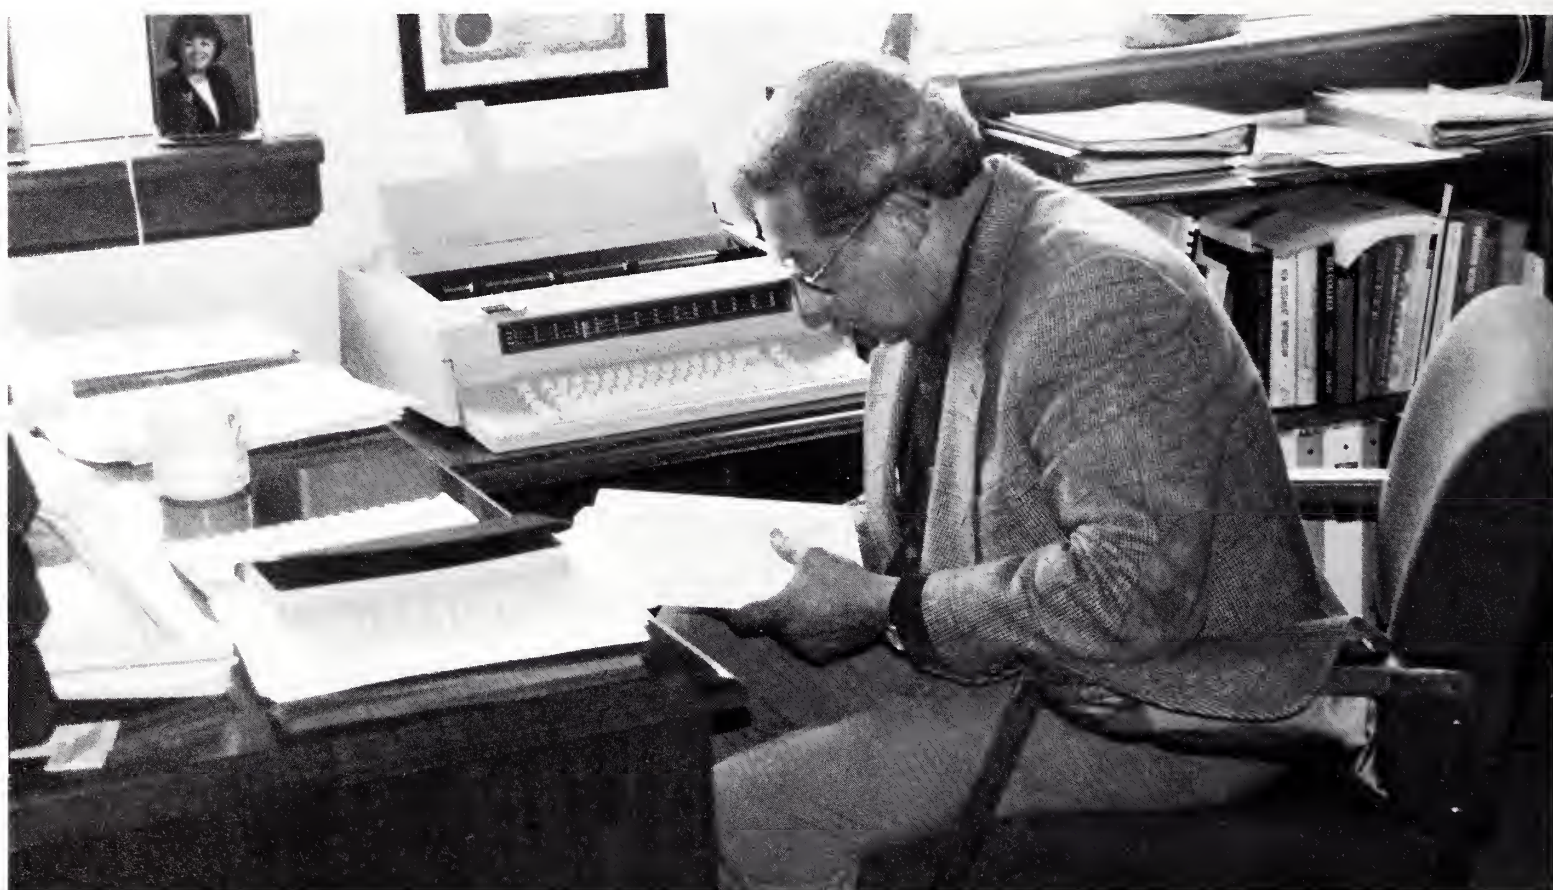

Henry Smith, D. Min.
Asst. Professor of Pastoral Studies

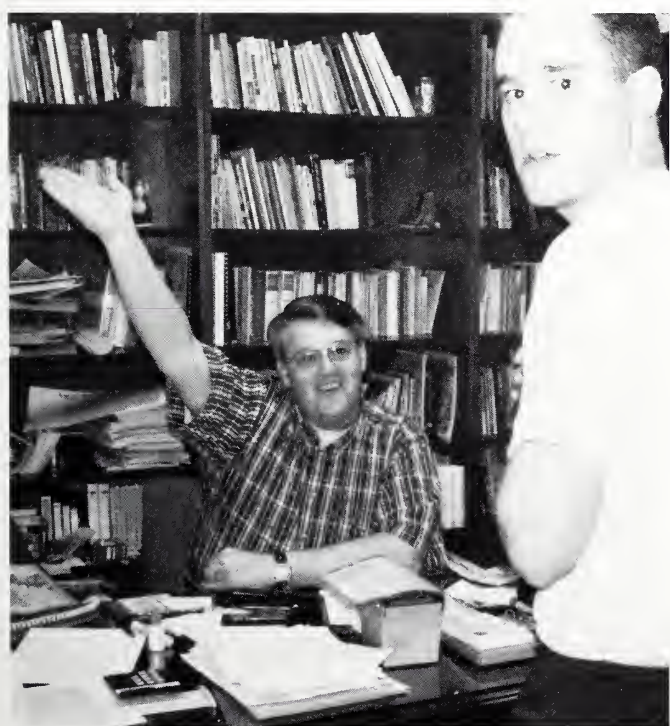

Ridley Usherwood, M. Div.
Asst. Professor of Intercultural Studies

Bible and Christian Ministries

Pi Delta Omicron

Business Department

Phi Beta Lambda wins awards

From the Lee Collegian

The Department of Business earned local and statewide recognition this year through a series of contests and special campus events.

The Lee College chapter of Phi Beta Lambda was the grand prize winner at the state Phi Beta Lambda competition held in Gatlinburg on March 22-23.

The 28 students representing Lee College won seven first place awards, five second place awards and six third place awards. Dr. Evaline Echols, chairperson of the Department of Business, said she was very proud of the students and their achievements.

Students winning first were Tim Shaw, Tim Corbin, Candi Lankford, business decision making; Kelvin Tarukwasha, economics; Sam Clough, management; Vanessa Fauk, marketing; Amy Woodfin, computer programming; Karen Firestone, Ms. Future Business Executive; Michelle Peterson, Ms. Future Business Teacher.

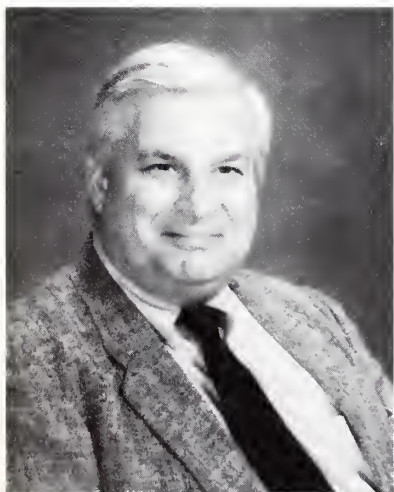

Second place winners were Dallas Howard, Lauren Hart, John Bliss, Patty Tomalewski, Jimmy Martin.

Third place awards were given to Elizabeth Green, Katherine Shriver, Noemi Muniz-Colon, Forrest Knight, Holly Howard, Jennifer Brooks.

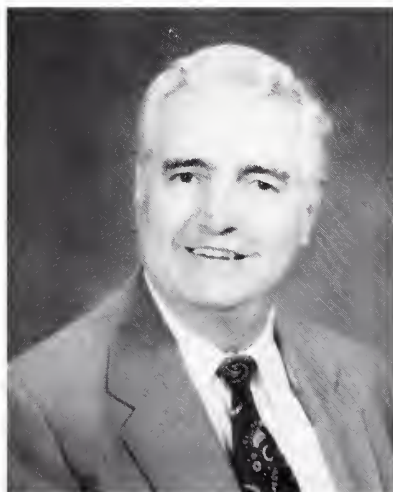

Who's Who awards were given to Rick Youngkin, Karen Firestone and Michael Livingston.

Chairperson Evaline Echols, Ph.D.
Asst. Professor of Business Education

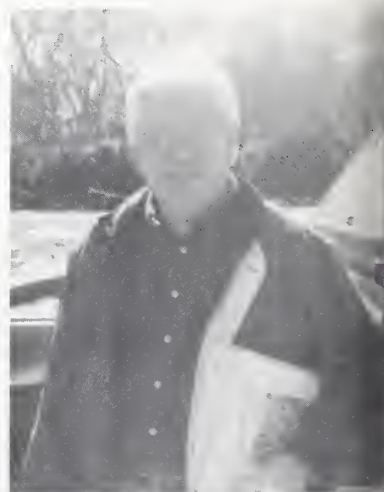

Alan Burns, M.B.A.
Asst. Professor of Business

J. Wenell Harris, M.S.
Asst. Professor Computer Information Systems

Hermilio Jasso, M.B.A.
Asst. Professor of Business

Jerry Flowers, MBA
Instructor in Business &
Computer Information Systems

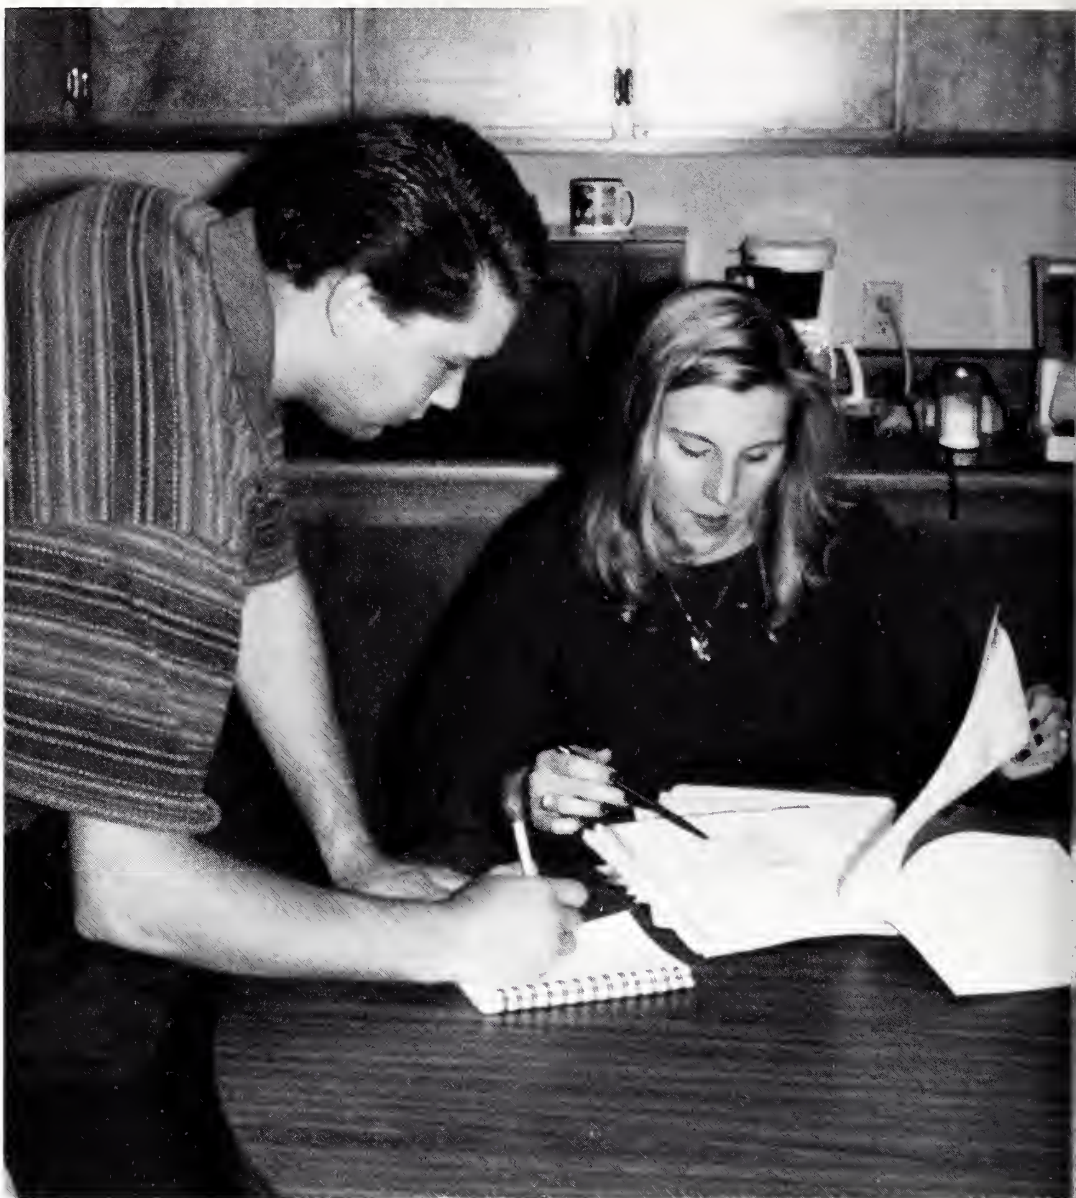

Business Dept. brings home honors

From the Lee Collegian

Hope Wright, a senior double major in accounting and computer information systems, was the recipient of the 1996 Business Department Award. Miss Wright distinguished herself both in the classroom and in her internship at Blue Cross-Blue Shield where she will assume a fulltime position upon graduation.

Miss Wright held offices in Phi Beta Lambda, Alpha Chi National Honor Society, and the Data Management Association. She plans to attend law school in the future. Other students winning business awards included Esther Anderson, the accounting award. Miss Anderson is from Jacksonville, Florida. Michelle Peterson won the National Business Education Association's Award of Merit. She was the first Lee student to win the award.

Tim Shaw was awarded the Cletus Benton Memorial Scholarship. He is president of the Cleveland Jaycees.

Education Department

Moving beyond the ABC's

From The Torch

It was a great year for the Department of Education as it continued to move beyond the Lee College campus and establish itself in the Cleveland-Bradley County area.

Department Chairperson Dr. Deborah Murray said the Education Department has been involved in a number of projects, including preparing for a Master's degree in Education in Classroom Teaching.

"We firmly believe our philosophy needs to be shared at this level," said Carlanna Gill, a member of the Education faculty. The newest campus trend is majoring in Human Development. Currently the largest major on campus, nearly 250 students are studying this new version of the old elementary education major.

Special Education was also introduced as a fully-developed major with focus on teaching the mildly and moderately disabled.

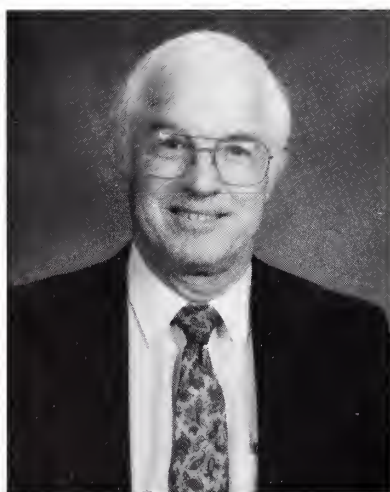

In the future the department dreams of a new education building, more masters programs, and an experimental campus lab school with preschool facilities.

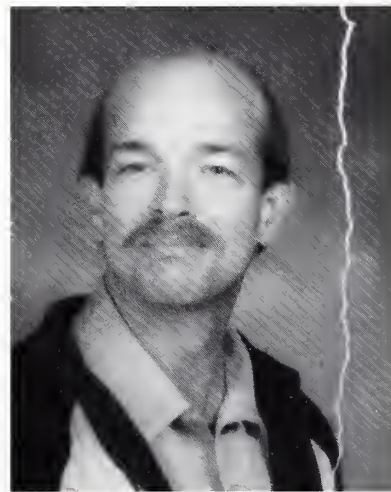

Chairperson Deborah Murray, Ed.D.
Asst. Professor of Education

Gary Baldwin, M.A.T.
Asst. Professor of Physical Education

Jimmy Bilbo, Ph.D.
Professor of Education

John Bratcher, D.A.
Asst. Professor of Physical Education

Pamela Browning, Ph.D.
Asst. Professor of Education

Carlanna Gill, M.Ed.
Asst. Professor of Education

Andrea Orr, M.Ed.
Instructor in Physical Education

Gary Riggins, M.Ed.
Asst. Professor of Education

Cliff Schimmels, Ph.D.
Professor of Education

Pi Delta Gamma

The Education Club (Pi Delta Gamma) is an organization for all education majors. The club met once a month to discuss issues going on in schools, introduce new programs, and get involved with local schools.

The first meeting of the year featured Mrs. Carlanna Gill and Dr. Nadine McHugh as they introduced the new major for students interested in special education. The club also set up a booth for Lee Day to recruit new members and salute Dr. Conn for his tenth anniversary.

Officers for Pi Delta Gamma included Angela Pereira, president; Christi Colston, vice president; Mincy Clem, treasurer; DeAnna Palmatary, secretary.

Members included Jennifer Begley, Alyssa Boyd, Jessica Duncan, Katherine Ely, Jay Hooper, Jennifer Lundy, and David Icard. Sponsors were Dr. Pamela Browning and Mrs. Sonia Griffey.

Lee hosts Goals 2000

From the Lee Collegian

Hundreds of educators from across the state of Tennessee converged on the campus of Lee College during Fall Break for the annual Goals 2000 conference on education.

U.S. Secretary of Education Richard Riley was the featured speaker for the event and he not only encouraged, but entertained educators with his dry wit and his knowledge of educational affairs.

The day-long event gave Lee College a chance to show off its state of the art facilities, including a satellite-fed program featuring Vice President Al Gore. Oscar Blum and the dining hall staff served a delicious banquet to the hundreds of teachers and educators.

Also in attendance were Cleveland Mayor Tom Rowland and Dr. Jane Walters, the commissioner of education for the Tennessee Department of Education.

Language Arts Department

by John Mattson

In keeping pace with the institution-wide trend of unprecedented growth and change, the Department of Language Arts increased its offering of degree programs to fifteen and its number of student majors to over 250 in 1996. Although each of the disciplines which fall under the language arts umbrella experienced significant expansion this year, the increase in English majors was particularly noteworthy due to the fact that the number of students specializing in the field reached 100 for the first time in the department's history. Four additional, full-time faculty members were hired as a result.

In the area of curriculum streamlining, the Communication faculty developed a four-track approach which enables students to specialize in either telecommunications, journalism, communication studies, or public relations. This summer a group of 22 students, led by Jose Minay, gained valuable knowledge in Quito, Ecuador at the Summer Spanish Institute. Several faculty won various awards including Dr. Janet Rahamut, Excellence in Advising Award; and Professors Summerlin, Coulter, Vargas and Lindsey presented papers at academic conferences.

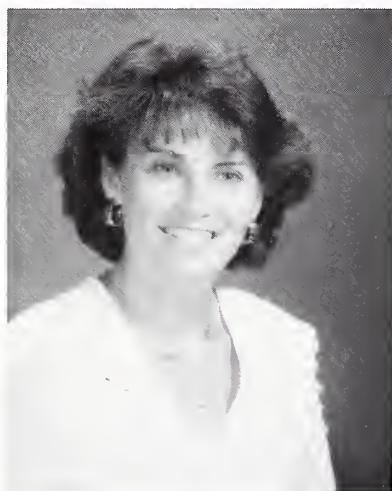

Matt Brumlow won the F.J. Lee Award; Debbie Mattson, outstanding senior; Sarah Engh, English Award; Lynn Sutherland, Modern Foreign Languages Award; Micah Voraritskul, Student Teaching; Esther Wong, Communication; and Lori Veatch, the Departmental Award from the Education Department.

Dr. Carolyn Dirksen
Department Chairperson

Dr. Dora Vargas

Angie Green

Dr. Sabord Woods

Jose Minay

Not pictured are Dr. Joel Kailing, Jim Veenstra, Paul Putt, and Dr. Sharon Carbaugh.

Dr. Donna Summerlin

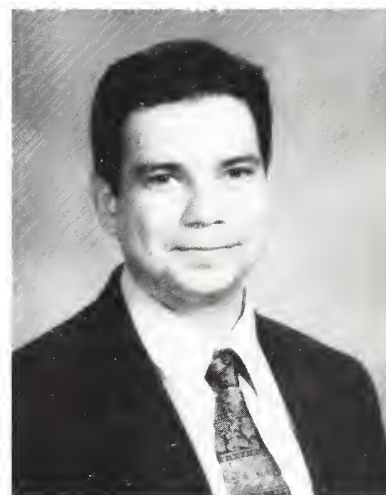

Ruth Lindsey

Michael Laney

Dr. Jean Eledge

Dr. Matthew Melton

Dr. Chris Coulter

Gloria Brownlee

Dr. Janet Rahamut

Ron Gilbert

Amigos Unidos

Amigos Unidos, formerly the Spanish Club, is a club that has recently been revived on the Lee College campus. It is a club that emphasizes three basic principles: excellence in Spanish scholarship, a clearer understanding of Hispanic culture, and spiritual opportunities in the Spanish-speaking world.

Amigos Unidos sponsors at least one monthly activity, including Hispanic Food Night, Spanish Movie Night, Poetry Night, and others. Amigos Unidos receives support from many local organizations including La Iglesia de Dios. The organization is sponsored by Dora Vargas and Jose Minay.

Officers include Jeremiah Johnson, president; Mano Ruiz, vice president; Rachel Hall, secretary; Jennifer Hannah, treasurer; and Sid Salcido, chaplain.

Reaching the World... the Language Arts

Natural Science & Mathematics

Faculty earn awards and further their education

by Eric Parks

In the pursuit of excellence, two faculty members of the Natural Sciences and Mathematics Department received awards for their contributions. Dr. Milton Riley received the Excellence in Scholarship Award for his contributions to research. He also had several articles published in national scientific journals. Penny Mauldin received the Excellence in Teaching award. As one person was heard to say, "She is the next Lois Beach."

For the third consecutive year, the department has offered its summer mission trip to Central America. The trip gives students an excellent opportunity to minister and to get hands-on experience in medical situations.

In other department news, Dr. John Azvedo joined the faculty. Dr. Azvedo came from the University of California at Berkeley. He is an instructor of advanced biology courses, including microbiology and cell biology.

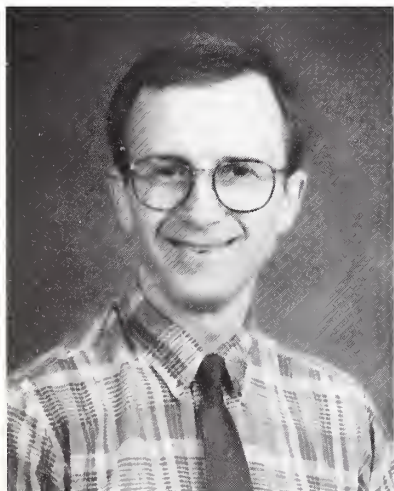

Now fulfilling the requirements for her doctoral program is Penny Mauldin. She currently has an Ed.D with an emphasis in Chemistry.

Taking a leave from the college is Dr. Jeri Veenstra. Dr. Veenstra will be fulfilling the requirements for a Ph.D. in health sciences at UTK.

Dr. Charles White, who has served as a mentor and friend to many Lee students, will be leaving the school. He will be greatly missed by his former students and fellow faculty members.

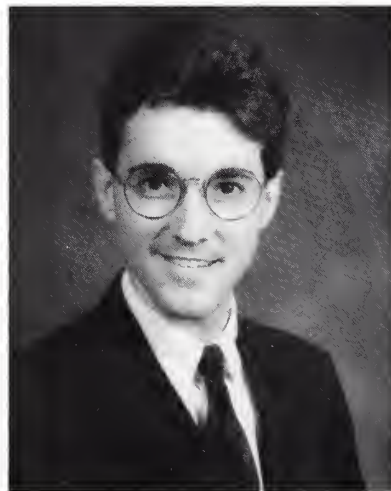

Dr. Milton Riley and Dr. Penny Mauldin

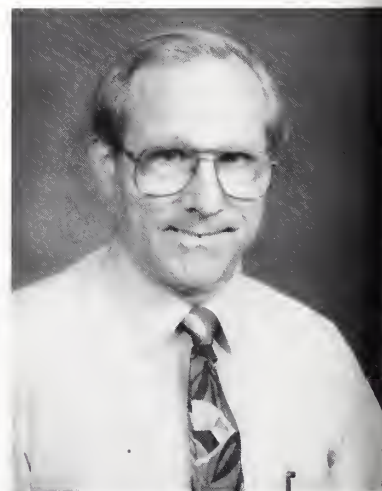

Dr. Robert West

Dr. Mary Walkins

Gregory Bruton

Ronald Harris

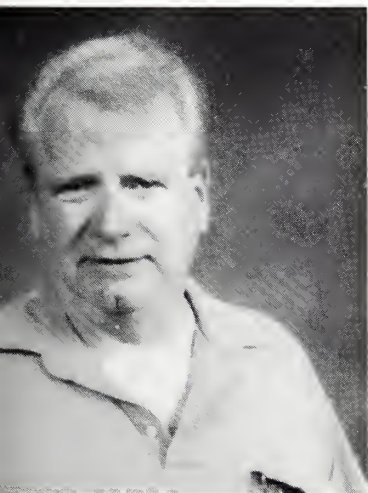

2 + 2 = FUN

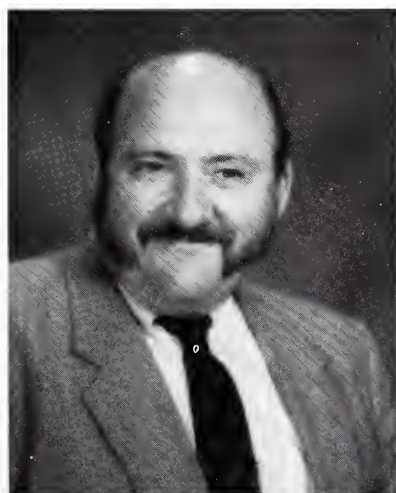

The purpose of the Math club includes providing an arena for math majors and others interested in math to get to know each other.

Meetings and special seminars, such as the one given by Ms. Jewell, a math specialist, inform students of career opportunities in mathematics.

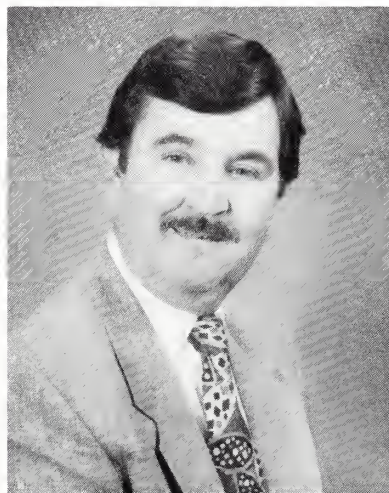

Officers for the 1995-96 year included Chad Higgins, fall president; Jennifer McLeod, fall vice president and spring president; Natasha Montgomery, secretary-treasurer; and Kelly Blay, chaplain.

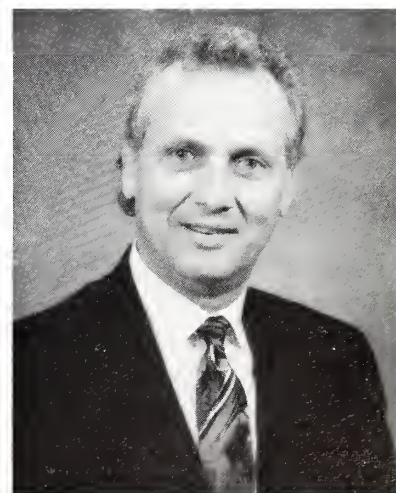

Paul Elbert

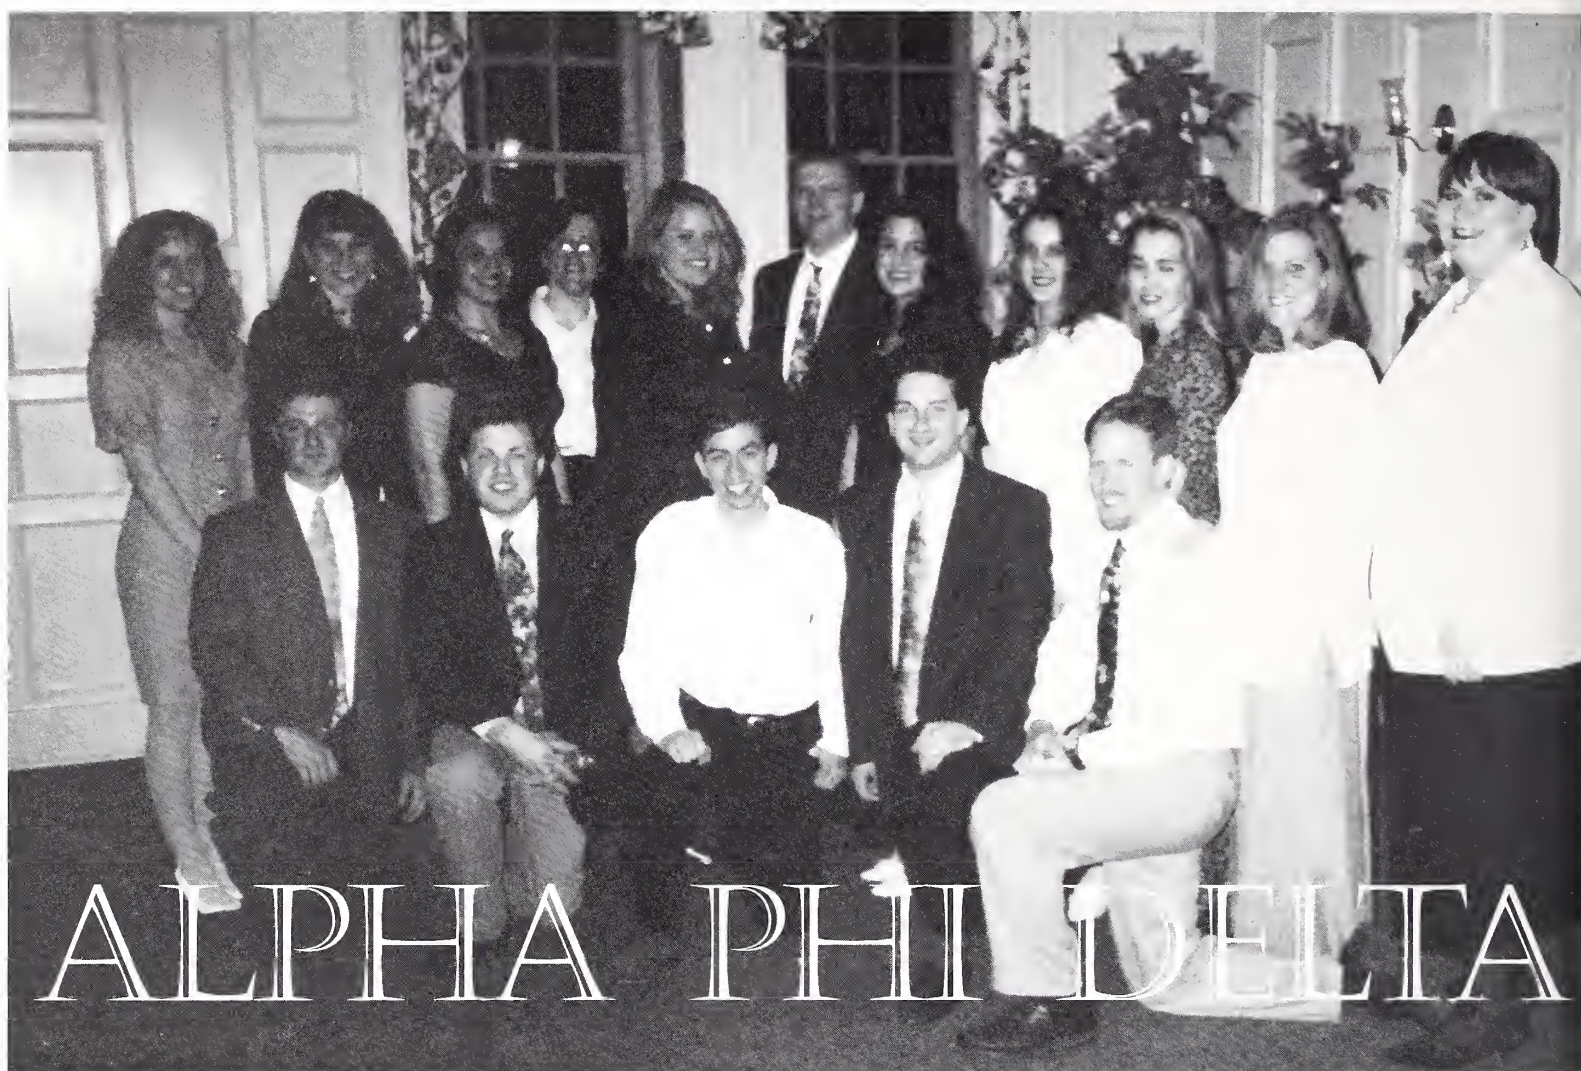

Dr. Robert O'Bannon

Dr. Charles White

Dr. Ray Hughes, Jr.

ALPHA PHI DELTA

Remembering to give love, care, compassion and hope in medical service

Dr. Jerry Adams

The Pre-Medical and Allied Health Honor Society (Alpha Phi Delta) was established on March 27, 1980, with sponsors Dr. Lois U. Beach and Dr. Robert H. O'Bannon. Six charter members worked hard in connection with the national organization to form a society that would benefit Lee College. The letters Alpha Phi Delta, meaning Truth I Pursue, were incorporated in 1988.

On February 22, 1996, Alpha Phi Delta adopted a club scripture, Matthew 9:12. "On hearing this, Jesus said, 'It is not the healthy who need a doctor, but the sick.'"

Charter members of Alpha Phi were Phillip Bell, Ronnie Burton, Keith Jeffords, Thomas Oakley, Cheryl Searce, and Susan Walker.

Officers were Kevin Barber, president; Matt Mondy, vice president; Jennifer Lynn, secretary; Nicole Gust, treasurer; Heather Wilson, historian; Chris Paul, alumni correspondent; and Charlene Garrett, chaplain.

Believe in yourself and in your dreams though impossible things may seem.
Someday, somehow you'll get through to the goal you have in view. Mountains fall and seas divide before the one in whom his stride takes a hard road day by day sweeping obstacles away. Believe in yourself and in your plan.
Say not - I cannot - but, I can. The prizes of life we fail to win because we doubt the power to win.

Alpha Phi Delta

Music & Fine Arts Department

The year musical dreams came true

Why do students attend Lee College and choose to major in music? The reasons are obvious.

Standing on the Lee College campus is a new and impressive state-of-the-art music building, the Curtsinger Music Building. This facility houses all music classes and also serves the campus for classrooms and meetings of all types.

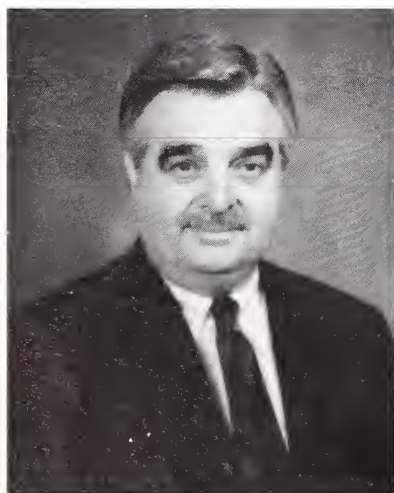

The Department is also fully accredited by the National Association of Schools of Music. Under the tenure of Dr. Lonnie McCalister, the department chair, the number of music students has more than doubled.

Music now holds the distinction of being the first department to add a masters degree. With 16 students in its first semester of operation, the Master of Church Music program is off to a very successful start under Dr. Walt Mauldin, director of graduate studies in music.

The purpose of the Lee College Music Department is to train musicians for the kingdom of God. All those who graduate from the program will use their talents to sing and play musical instruments to His glory!

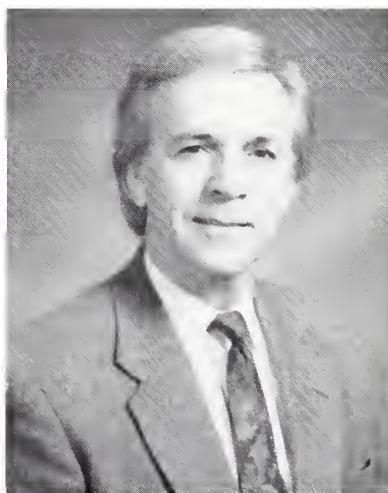

Dr. Lonnie McCalister
Chairman

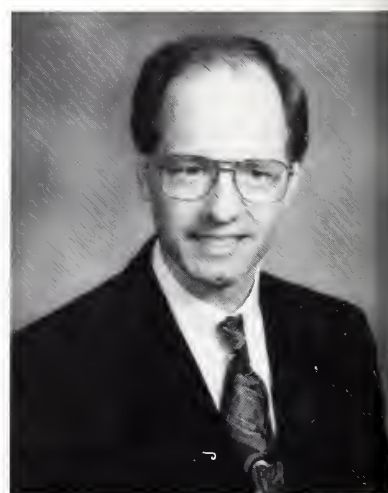

David Horton

Michael Brownlee

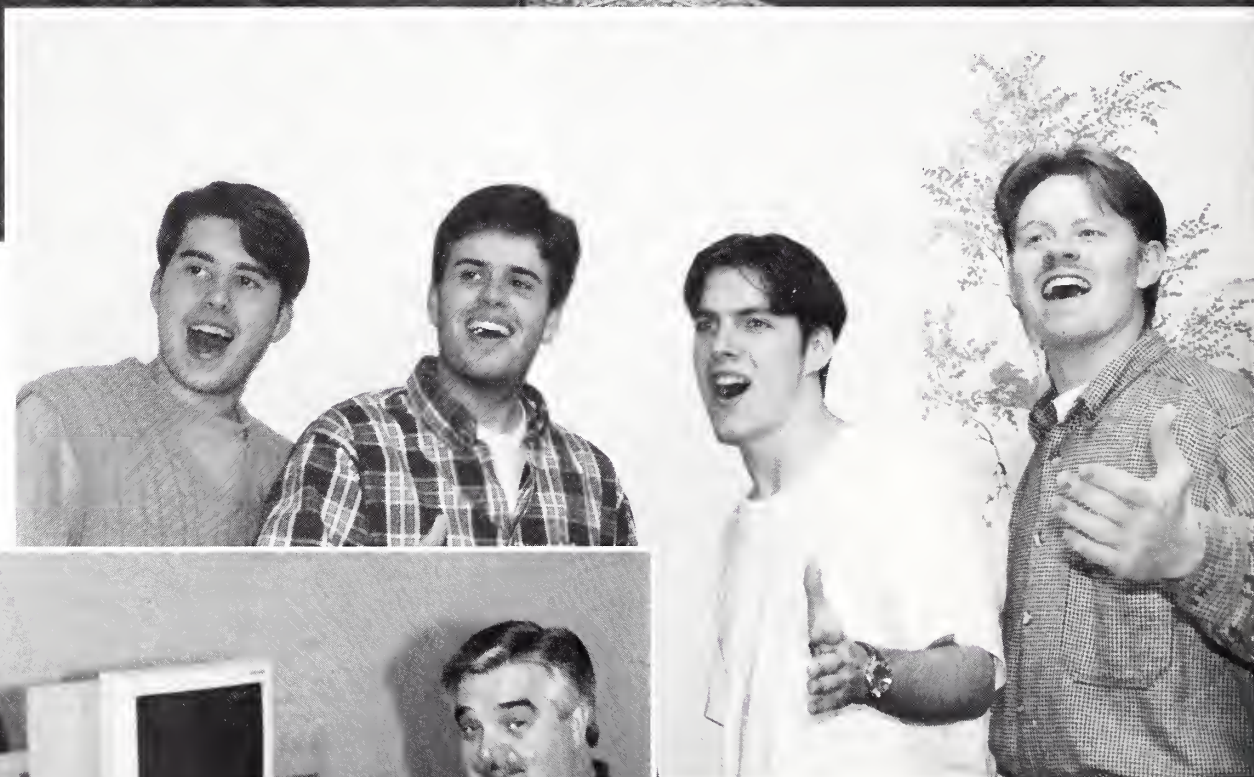

Dr. Jim W. Burns

Phil Thomas

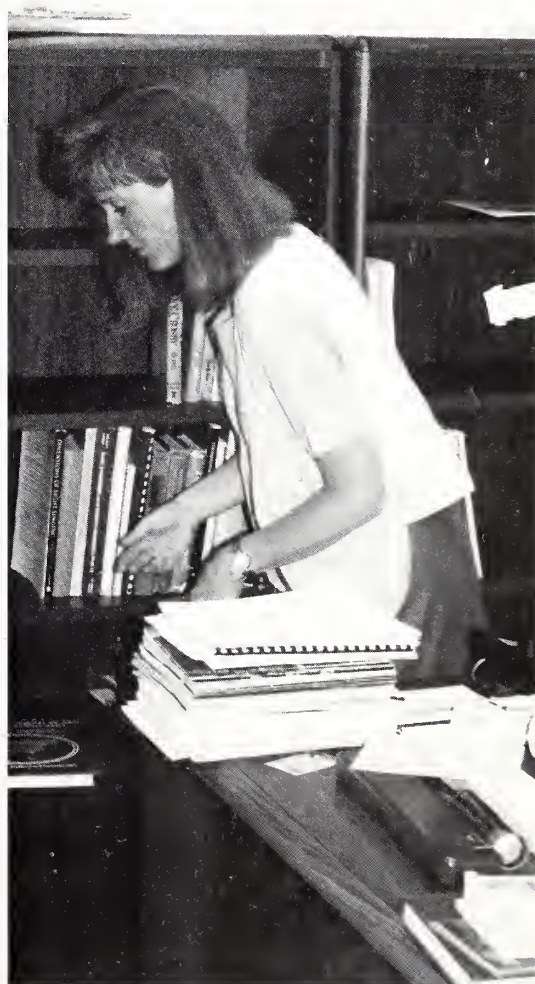

A Master's for the Master

Lee College has embarked on a new chapter in the field of Christian higher education as the first class of graduate students enrolled at Lee this fall.

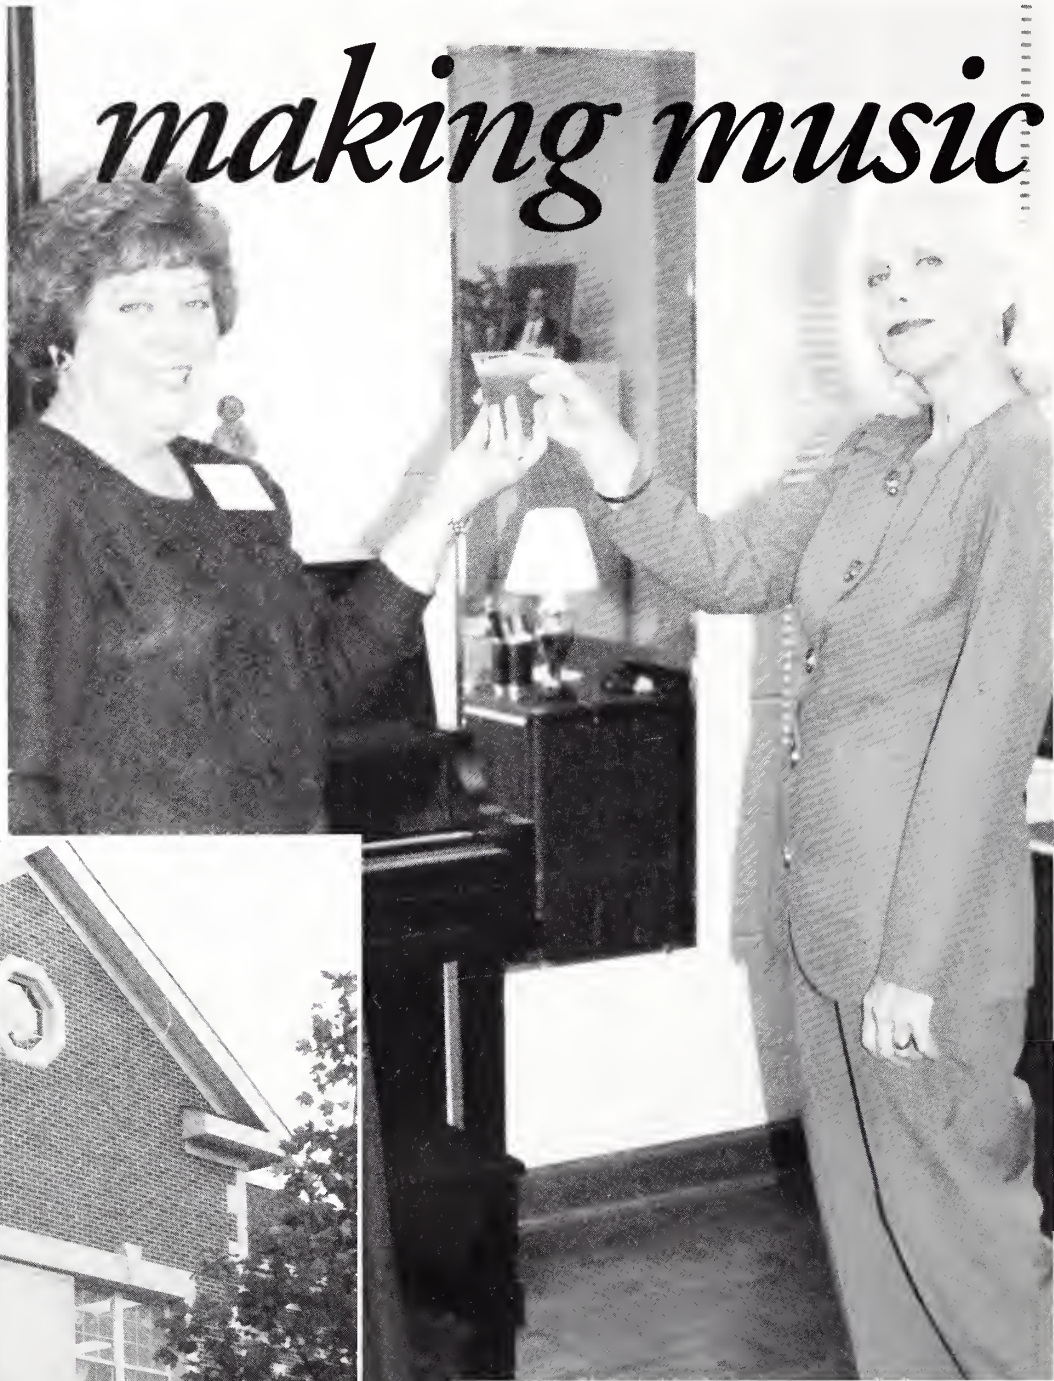

Meeting in the new Curtsinger Music Building, 16 students began classes in the Master of Church Music degree program on August 24.

The graduate program is the only one in the area, with the closest being at Samford University in Alabama.

Dr. Conn told the graduate students he was excited about the new doors opened by the program. "We want to offer programs that are unique; programs that we can claim a niche...as far as the Evangelical/Pentecostal realm of Church music is concerned, I don't see why, in a few years, we can't have a Master's of church music degree program that is better than anyone else's in the world. We have the heritage, resources and experienced faculty," Dr. Conn said.

Mastering the art of making music

It was called the Year of Music and the melody was certainly joyful as the Lee College family entered its new music building.

The Curtsinger Music Building was officially dedicated in 1995 and the new 34,000 square-foot music and arts complex has already become a shining jewel on Parker Street.

The $4 million facility is five times as large as its predecessor, which met a timely demise over the Christmas break. In addition to breath-taking architecture, the Curtsinger Building houses an 1864 antique, Civil War era, Steinway square grand piano.

"This is simply an incredible building," said Mark Bailey, director of the school's symphonic band. "The only thing that's better is when we die and go to heaven."

For Dr. Jim Burns the new building meant a different set of problems. "I'm rattling around up here," he said. "Every now and then I have to reach over and feel the wall. My biggest problem is trying to figure out where my office is."

Now, one of the nation's top schools for Christian music is housed in the Southeast's finest School of Music.

-From the Lee Collegian

Student

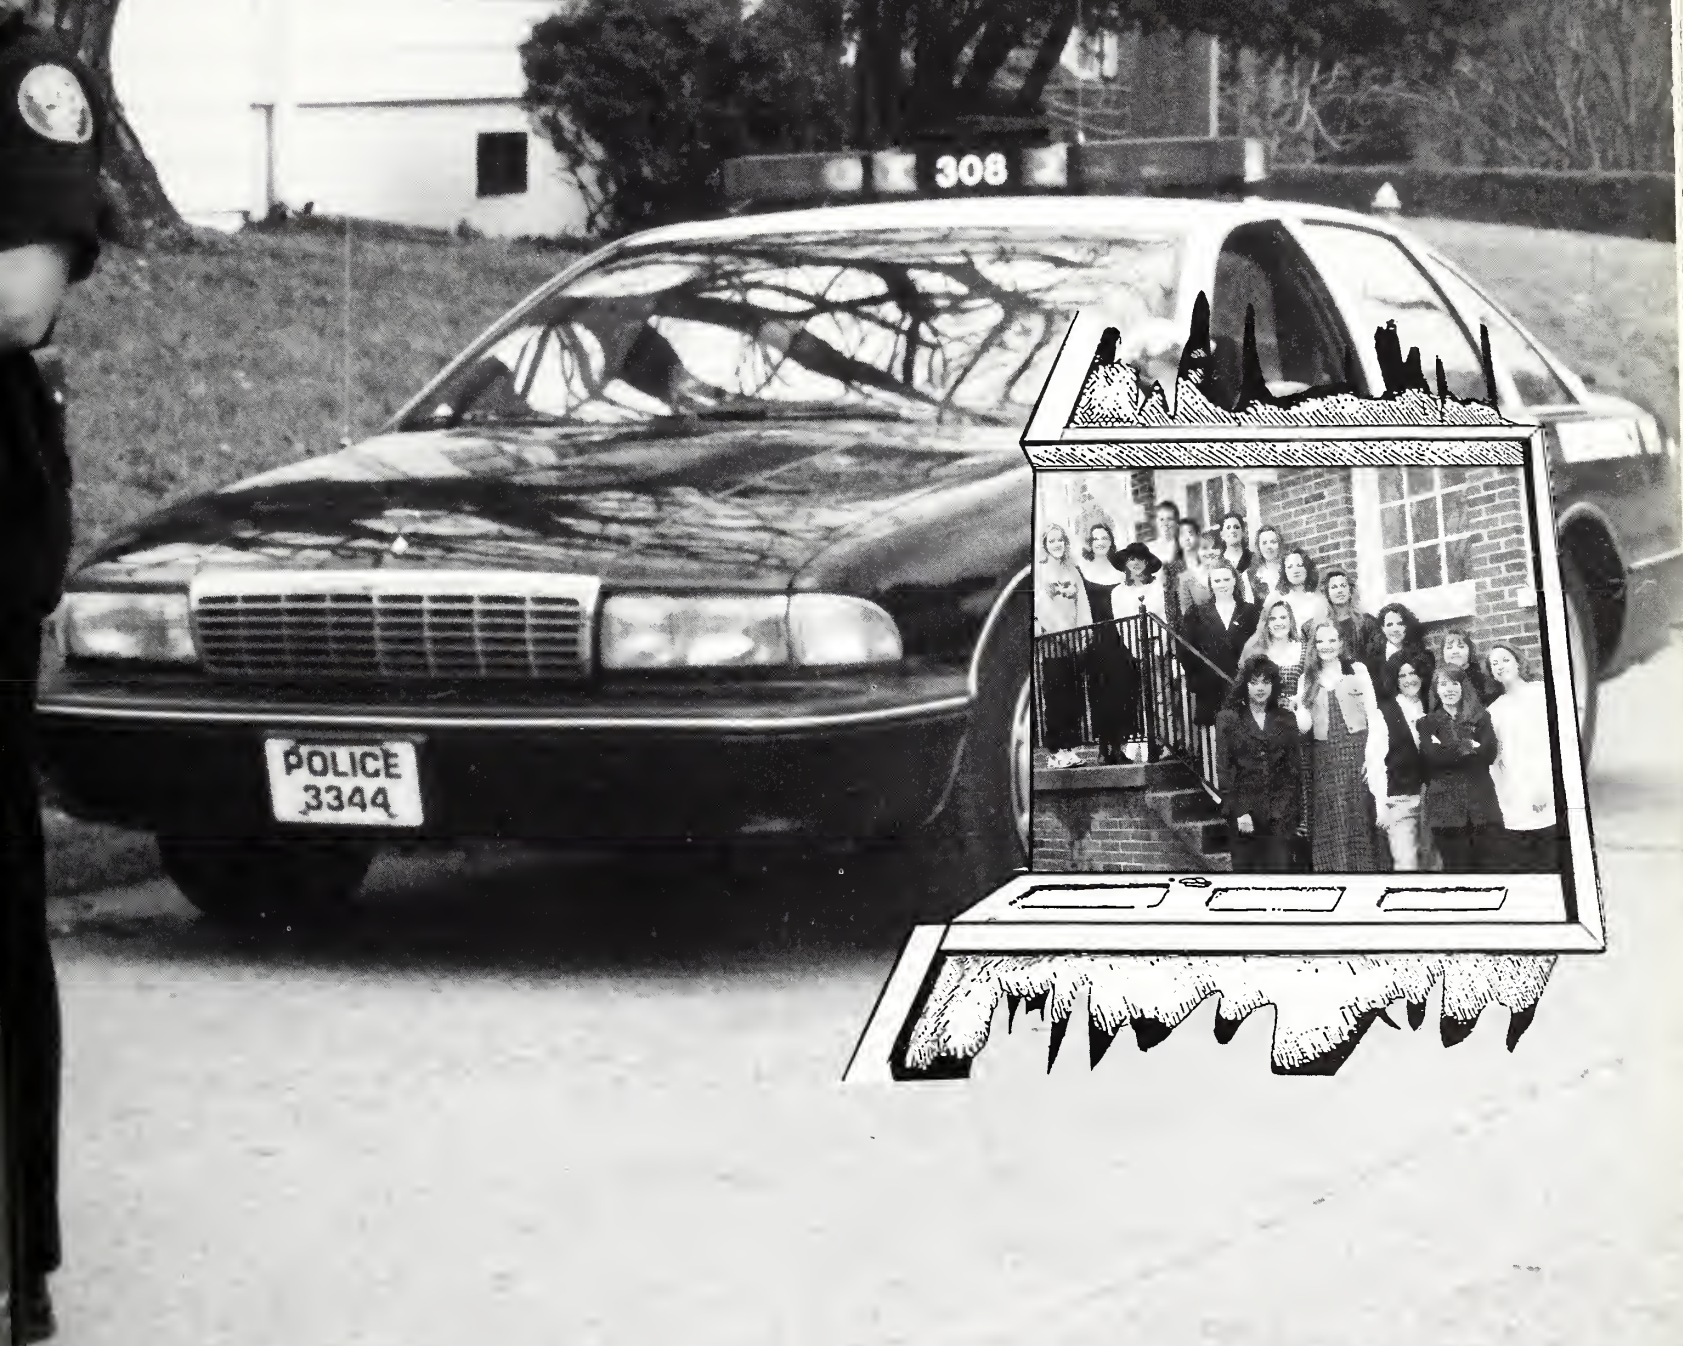

Expecting the Une

There are some things that happen that we have no control over. Getting sick, Dr. Conn visiting your dorm, or having to eat in the gymnasium are just a few examples. That's life, though, and this is life as we know it.

Lee has gotten to the size where things can happen that everyone doesn't know about. Hopefully, this will be a good reminder of what you did know about and don't want to forget.

Life Expected

Eloa Adams
Lisa Adkins
Jason Airman
Brian Alderman
Alyesha Ali
Phillip Allen
Nolan Allen
Esther Anderson
Sondra Anderson

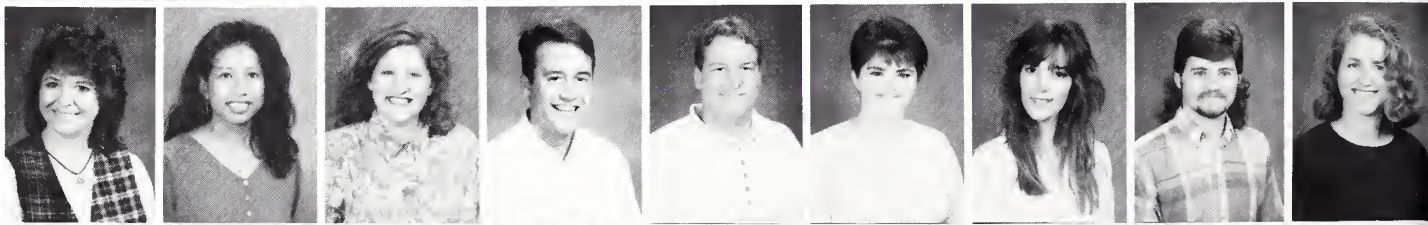

Teresa Anderson
Toby Anderson
Yvonne Anderson
Micah Andrews
Frank Aprea
Jeff Abrandt
Noemi Atiles
J. Dan Ayers
Melinda Baker

Stacie Baker
Michelle Baker
Deborah Barber
Kevin Barber
Jenni Barnette
Sandy Barrentine
William Bates III
Holly Beck
Galen Bell

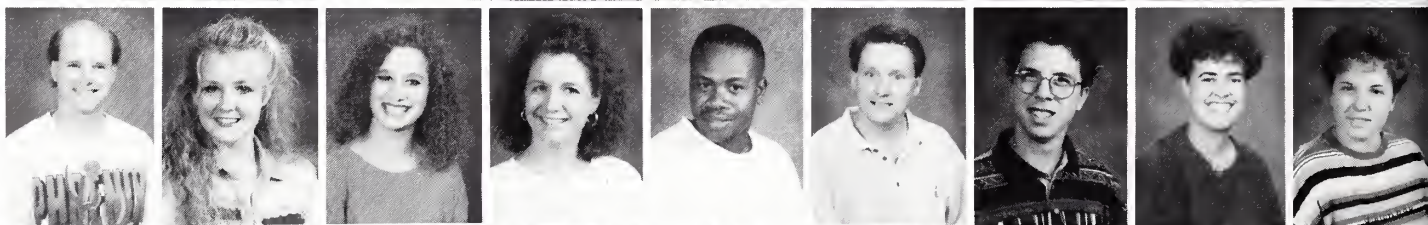

Cheri Bentley
Tessie Biazon
Faith Ann Billings
Jeff Black
Joshua Black
Charity Blackburn
Dana Boatwright
Jonathan Boatwright
Faye Bodley

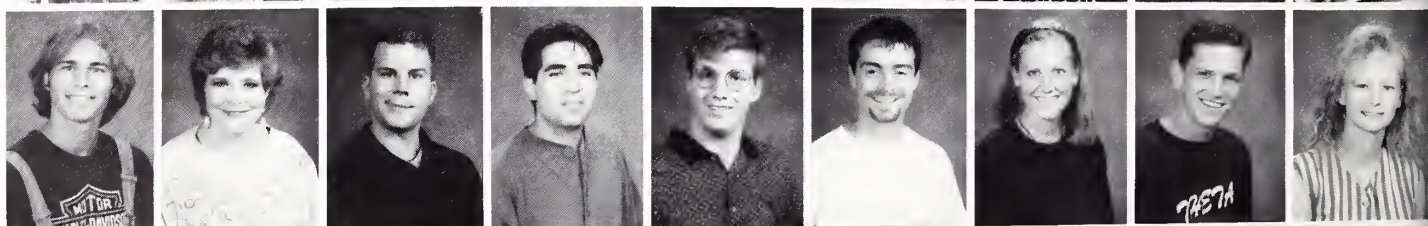

Robert Bodley
Ken Bolin
Anthony Boling
Paul Boone
Ruth Bordeaux
Shanda Borne
Stacy Bowden
Jonathan Bradford
Shauna Brantley

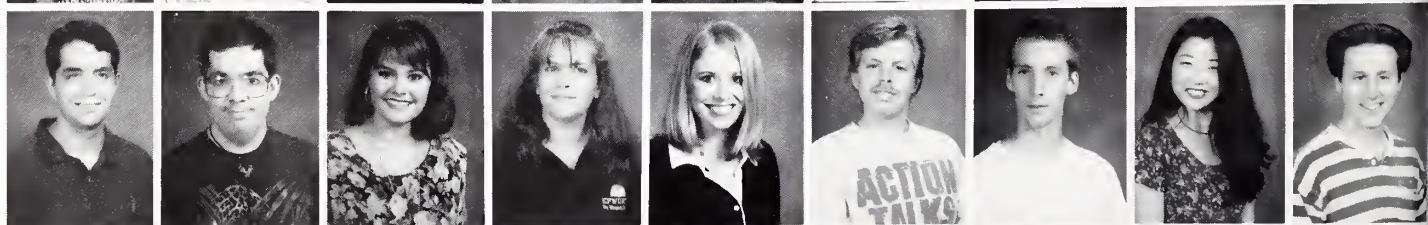

Bill Breland
Sharon Brewer
Lesley Brock
Tonya Brown
Dervin Brown
Darren Brown
Jason Brown
Tonya Browning
Sarah Browning

Matthew Brumlow
Glenda Bryan
Chad Buckner
Travis Bumgardner
Tim Burton
Shannon Burton
Kelley Byrd Chris Caldwell
Sinjia Caldwell

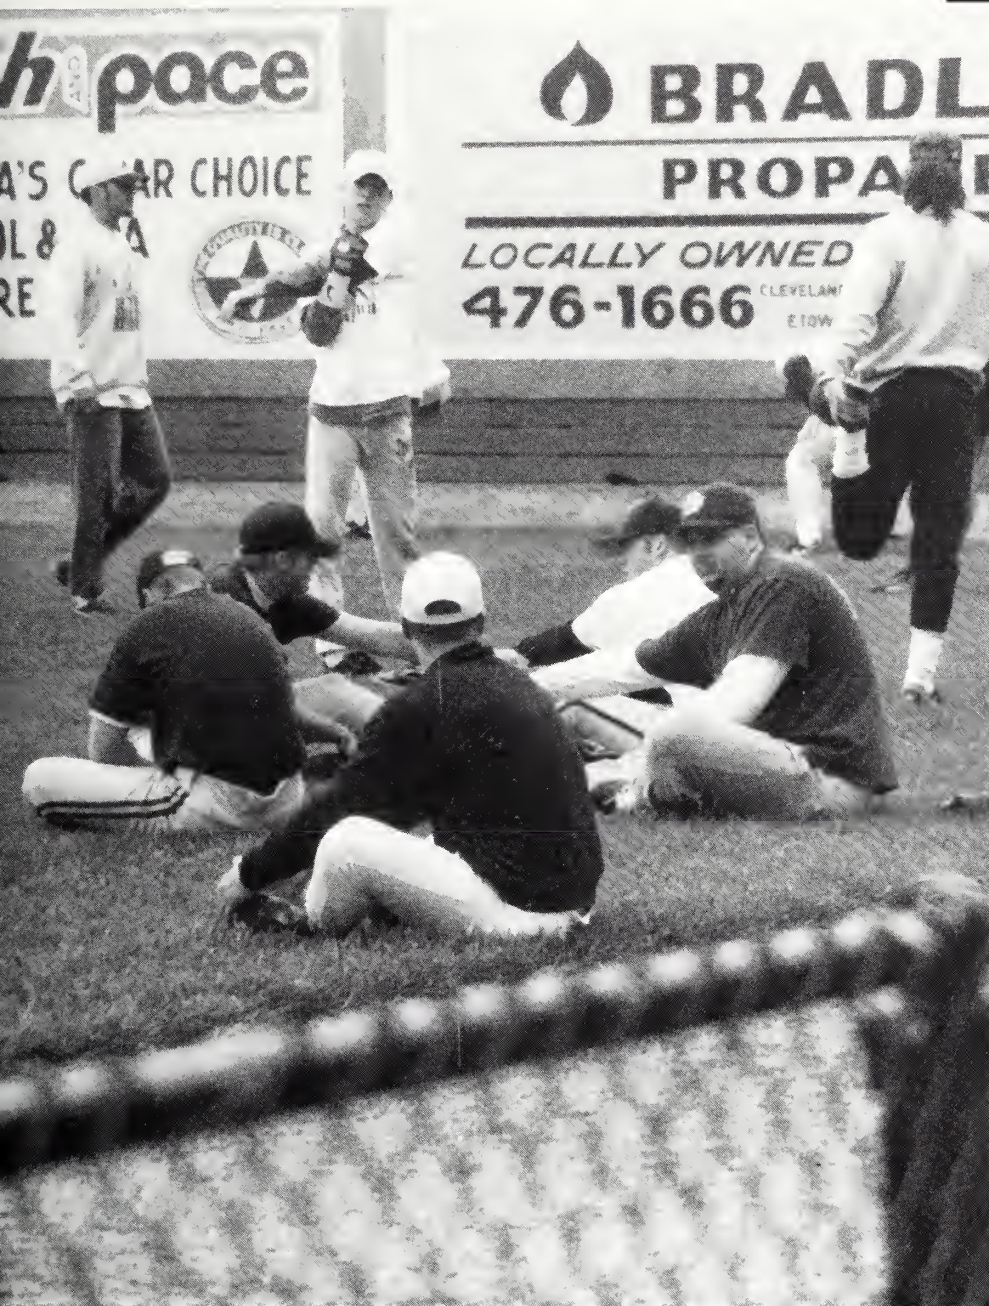

Brad Campbell
Virgil Carmen
Christy Carroll
Karren Cate
Jennifer Chamber
Jerry Chess
Ernest Christiansen
Mincy Clem
Jonathan Cline

Kristina Cobb
Tressa Coffelt
Felicia Coleman
Lashoa Colson
Brian Conn
Jonathan Cook
Christian Coomer
James Coulter
Ken Cox

Conn says: PLAY Ball

September 25, 1995 cover story in the Lee Collegian

The Lee College Baseball program is back in business following an announcement by President Paul Conn that an agreement has been reached with the Bradley County School Board and the college to lease the old baseball field at the junior high school.

The announcement is considered to be a major milestone in the history of Lee College athletics, according to Larry Carpenter, the school's athletic director. According to Coach Carpenter, Lee College is going to field a top-notch team; that's why the decision was made to begin competitive action in the spring of 1997.

The NAIA is loaded with some of baseball's heavy hitters including Tennessee Wesleyan, David Lipscomb, and Birmingham-Southern.

The reinstatement of baseball came after nearly four years of work. "It's been a long process," Coach Carpenter said. "We were trying to find a place that was close to campus because we want baseball to be a spectator sport. We want students to enjoy the game."

"...we want baseball to be a spectator sport. We want students to enjoy the game."

Coach Larry Carpenter Athletic Director

Stuff YOUR Face

October 27, 1995 edition of the
Lee Collegian

The Lee Collegian sponsored its first annual "Stuff Your Face" contest on Tuesday, October 10. With plenty of food and fun, the event took place on the pedestrian mall and offered Lee students a break from studying.

"We wanted to sponsor an event that would hit students where it really counts . . . their stomachs."

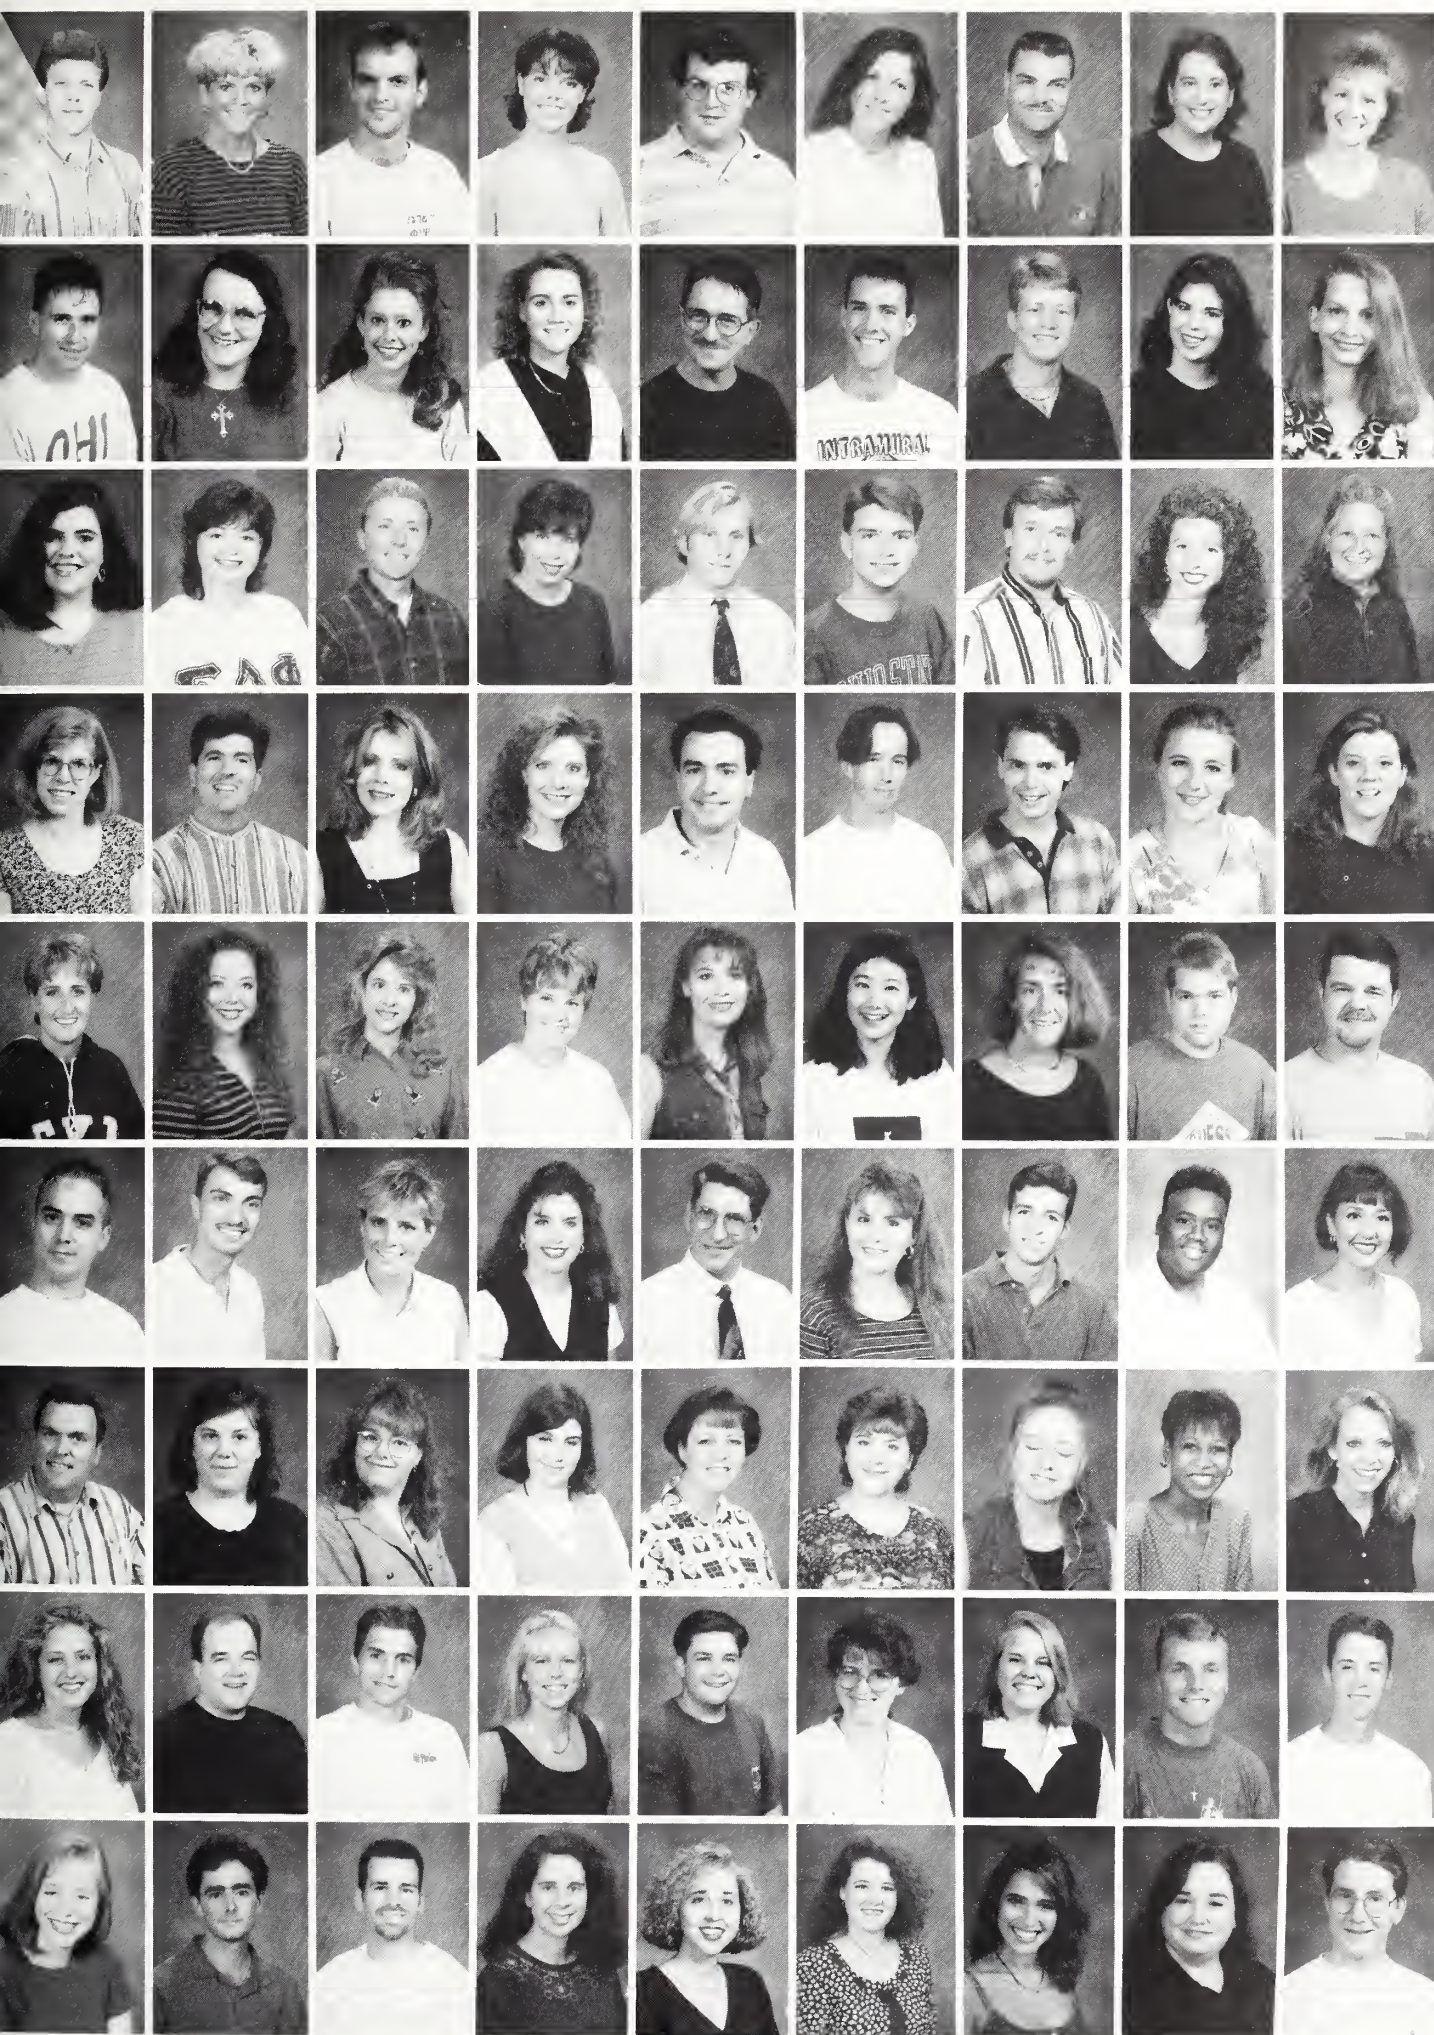

The competition, which was centered around eating lots of pizza, was catered by Dominos, Papa John's, Little Caesar's, Pizza Hut and Lando's Sports Deli, who provided all the buffalo wings.

The events, organized by Lee Collegian staff, included a pizza box relay, a chicken-wing toss, a root beer chug and a "wing-on-a-string" contest. The name-sake Stuff Your Face competition involved individual students vying to be the first to devour an entire pizza alone.

When the dust had cleared and the empty pizza boxes had been discarded, the Lee Collegian judges tallied the scores. The Freshman class took first place. Second place went to the faculty team. The senior class placed third, the juniors were fourth, and the sophomores placed fifth.

"We wanted to sponsor an event that would hit students where it really counts . . . their stomachs"

Lorne Crabtree
Kelli Crawford
Glenn Crider
Carla Cummins
Thomas Currie
Amy Cushman
Darren Danner
Tina Darden
Carrie Dasher

Todd Davenport
Amy Davis
Yaunette Davies
Shelly Davis
Terry Davis
Eric Deaton
Jeremy Deck
Danelle Dekonty Janine Dion

Amy Disbrow
Christy Dishman
Daryl Dixon
Jennafer Dixon
Christopher Doan
James Dobben
Darrin Douglas Jessica Duncan
Jackie Dunlap

Leslie Durham
Patrick Eakins
Amber Easton
Sherry Easton
Randy Eaton
Christopher Edwards
Eskiel Edwards
Karla Elder
Nicki Elliott

Jera Ellis
Greta Ellis
Keranza Elrod
Sarah Engh
April England
Tomomi Esaki
Jennifer Estes
Larry Evans
John Evans II

Frank Evaro
Kevin Fairris
Julie Fairchild
Corrie Farina
Michael Faughn
Vanessa Fauk
Michael Feil
Romeo Ferguson
Karen Firestone

Terry Fletcher
Rosemary Flynn
Kathleen Foote
Vivian Forrest
Kim Fort
Christina Foster
Kathy Foster
Vennia Francois
Kelli Fred

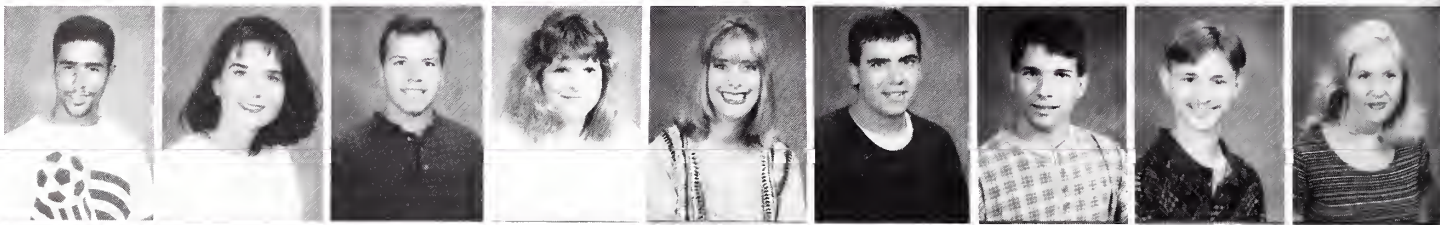

Kara Freeman
Stephen Frost
Joshua Fulford
Amber Gager
Russ Gann
Bridget Garland
Charlene Garrett Lenny Garrison
Keith Garrison

Angela George
Lance Giannone
Tony Giannouakis
Lori Gibson
Emily Giddens
Shannon Glass
Lara Glasscock
Karen Glover
John Gluck

Roselyn Gonzalez
Angela Goodale
Natalie Gorman
David Graham
David Gray
Melanie Grundy
Todd Gunderson
Kevin Gunter
Nicole Gust

Anthony Gutierrez
Shawna Gwaltney
Robert Haines
Barbara Hale
Gretchen Hall
Scott Hall
Dwight Hamilton
Troy Hamilton
Dale Hammond

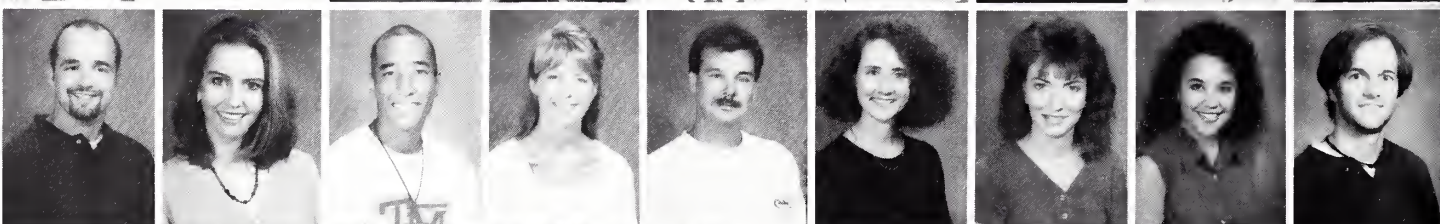

Melody Hammontree
Stacy Hancock
Stephanie Haney
Matt Hanrahan
Christie Hanson
Michael Harmon
Loyd Harp
Lucinda Harris
Kimberly Hatfield

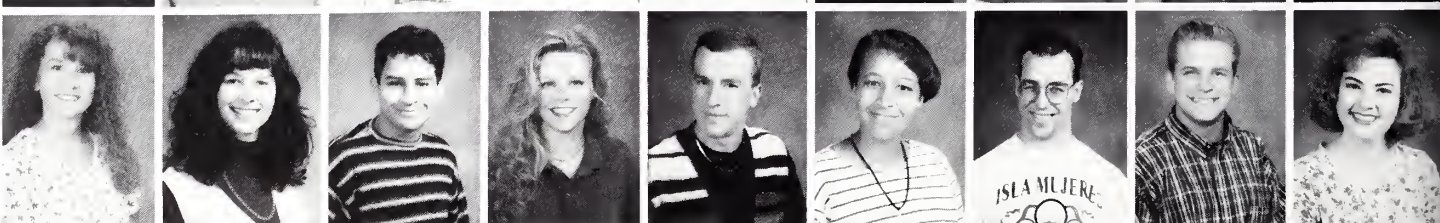

Jeremy Hatfield
Kimberly Heineman
Bryan Henry
Anna Hersman
Dennis Hicks, Jr.
Chad Higgins
Jennifer Hodo
Paul Hollifield
Emily Holloway

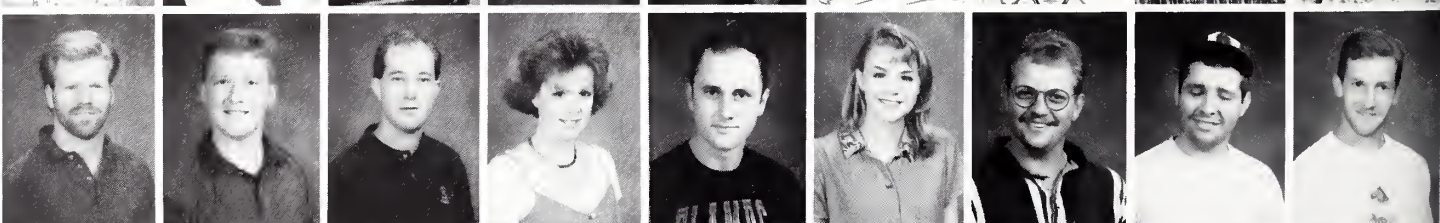

Jeremy Holt
Jeannie Holt
Andrew Hoo-Mook
Karen Hopper
Jay Hooper
Vanessa Howard
Patricia Howell
Sarah Akioan Howell
Terry Huey

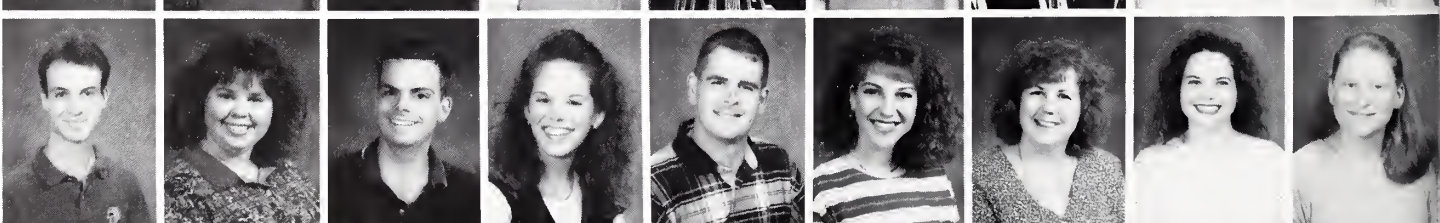

Stephanie Hurt
Starla Hutto
Daniel Inchautequiz
Mary Isenhour
Greg Isaacs
Grace Jackson
Mark Jackson
Richard Jackson
Shannon Jackson

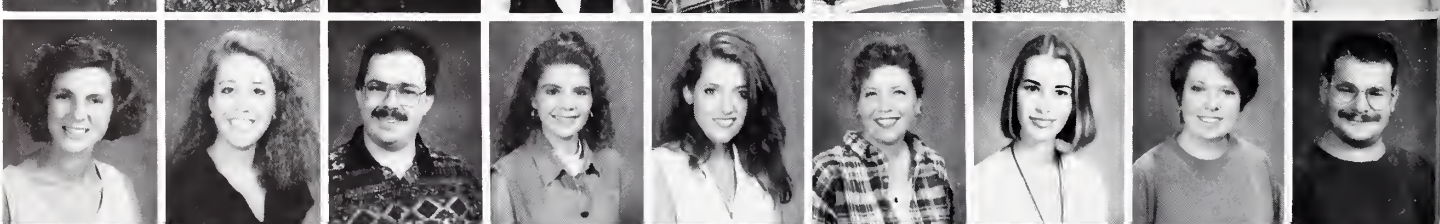

William Jenkins
Christopher Jenkins
Andrew Jernigan
Cuba Jeter
Matthew Jett
Candace Jones
Jeffrey Jones
Chad Kaylor
David Kelber

Eston Keller
Kelee Kelly
William Kemerling
Sandra Kennard
Jim Kibler
Christina Kile
Patricia King
Kelly Kinser
Kathy Knebel

Monica Knight
Kasey Knight
Steven Lacy
Lacy Laman
Jami Lancaster
Christy Landers
Sarah Lane
Candida Lankford
Preston Lawrence

Breakfast AT Midnight

Jennifer Hamilton

Finals are a stressful time for everyone. Students, teachers, and administrators alike try to find a way to get away from the stress, if only for an hour or so. Some succeed, most fail, but after seven days of studying and tests, everyone goes home for a much-deserved break.

Lee College is sensitive to the needs of its students, and those wonderful people in the Student Life Sector have organized a much needed break during the final crunch. It's name: Midnight Breakfast. It's purpose: to give the students enough energy to maintain a state of awareness until their 8:00 a. m. final.

There are some great things about the midnight breakfast. (1) It's free. (2) The residential life people serve you. (3) It's free. (4) For about an hour, you don't look at books or notes, you just swap horror stories with your friends. This is actually an uplifting experience because you realize that you are not the only one who is going to fail every class of the semester.

The only bad thing about the meal is the wait. You have to get in line early so you can get a seat. In the winter this involves standing in near-freezing temperatures. This is not the insane part, though. What's scary is the fact that we're standing in line for cafeteria food.

White AFTER Christmas

Shawn D. Watters

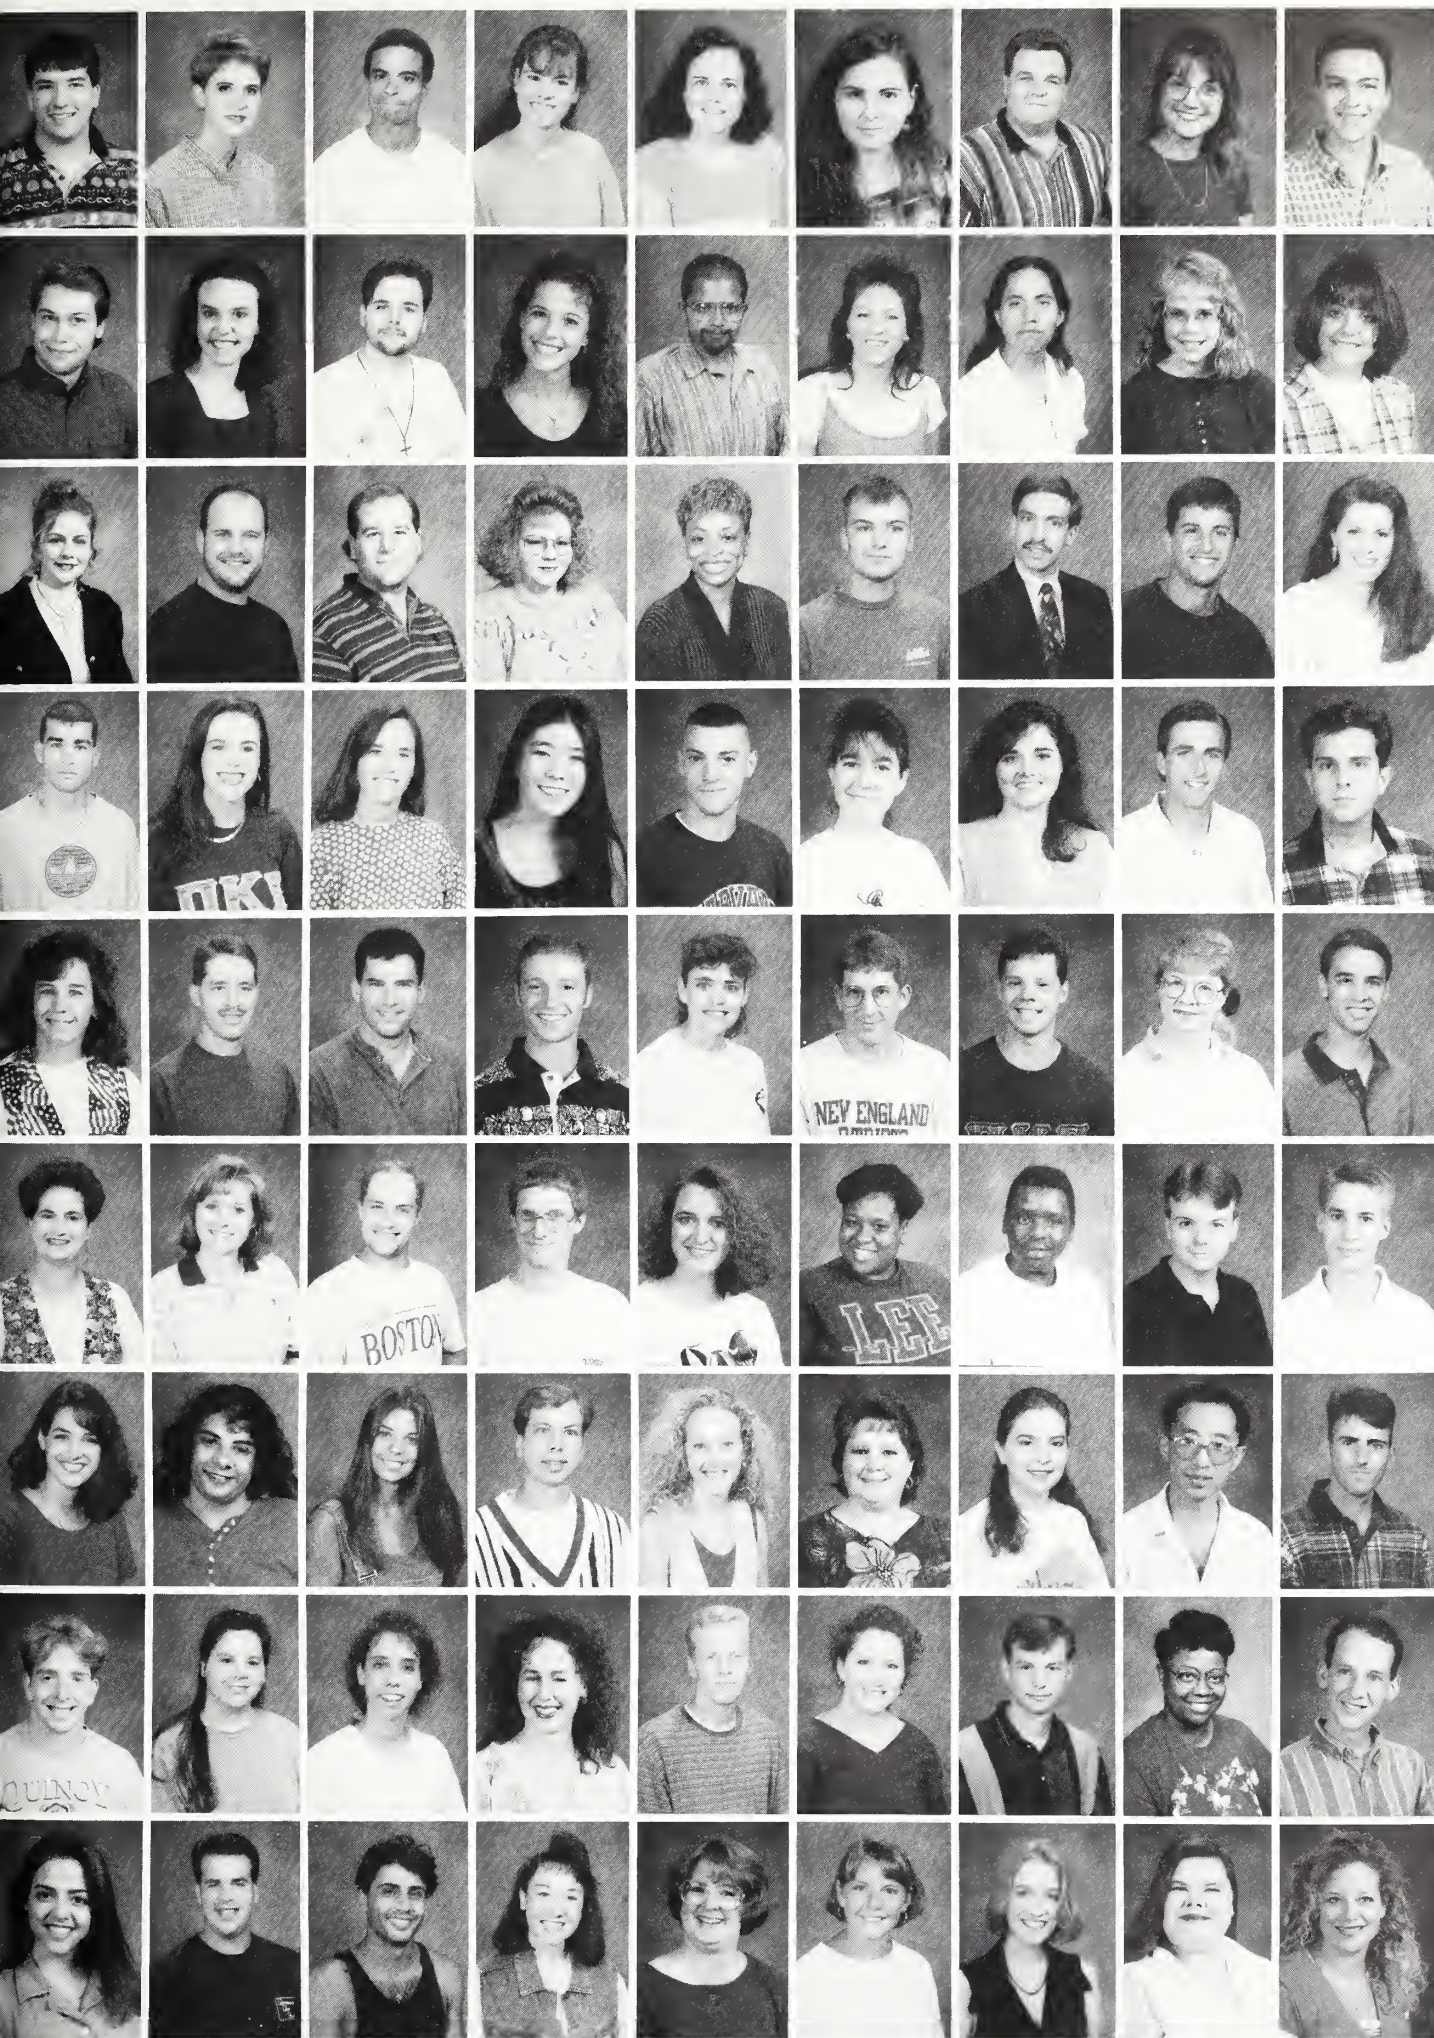

Whether you were dreading school starting back or eagerly awaiting the challenge of new classes and new academic adventures, the weather had the last say in the Spring of '96. Yet another Blizzard, as us unaccustomed Southerners are so quick to tag them, raged through the better Cleveland area and shut down everything except a few 24 hour grocers.

For the next 20 some odd days, snow storms hit sporadically making it almost impossible to get into the swing of classes. Even after the roads and sidewalks were cleared, it was hard to walk to class without packing a snowball for an unaware friend or enemy.

Snowmen littered campus, sitting calmly at park benches or standing on the softball field. Grown men and women ran up slippery hills to pile onto inner-tubes, trash can lids, or whatever they had found to turn into a sled. Then, they flew carefree down the slopes all around Cleveland. Several nights, the main campus turned into a free-for-all as hundreds of students gathered to pummel each other with nature's nerf weapon.

After the muscles had stopped aching and the snow balls in the fridge were all thrown, piles of snow could still be seen here and there. Perhaps they were the remnants of someone's powdery creation in the midst of the Blizzard Of '96.

Scott Lawry
Deidra Lawson
Greg Lee
Carisa Leek
Sherry Lemons
Patricia Link
Michael Livingston Tricia Loftis
Maria Lozano

George Lucke
Jennifer Lundy
Rob Maggard
Christina Malom
James Malone
Constance Manley
August Martin
Bethany Martin
Theresa Marvin

Sheila Massengill
Darren Massey
John Mattson
Deborah Mattson
Grace Maxwell
Brett Mayes
Robert McCall
Monty McClure
Angela McFann

Malcolm McGehee
Michelle McGuire
Deann McHam
Michelle McHugh
Aaron McKenzie
Jennifer McLeod
Kimberly McMinn
Sam McMinn
Michael McMullin

Darla Miller
John Miller
Robert Miskowski
Matthew Mond
Elizabeth Moore
Ivan Moore
Jason Moore
Elizabeth Morgan
James Moses

Melanie Murken
Leah Neeley
Dan Nelson
Drew Nelson
Tara Nelson
Devonia Netcliff
Simon Ngure
Craig Nichols
Jeff Obranovich

Cassandra Ogle
Lisa Olson
Stephanie Oppenheimer
Deane Osner
Teresa Ost
Carla Ottinger
Dawn Palesch
Ke Pan
Mike Parker

Aaron Paul
Brandi Phelps
Jennifer Pickens
Vanessa Poekert
Lance Powers
Julianne Prescott
Charlie Prescott
Tonya Propst
Arthur Pugh

Rita Puig
Douglas Pyxzka
Rafal Qumsiel
Susan Raines
Carla Ramos
Brandi Read
Michelle Renegar
Sharon Rentz
Holly Richard

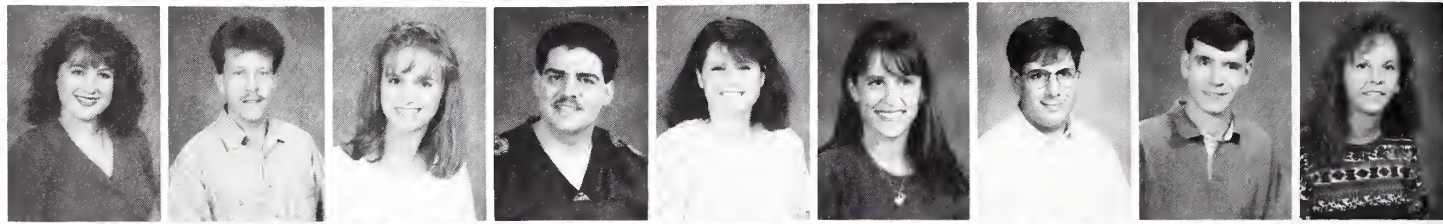

Christina Richardson
 Sherrie Richardson
 Christine Riddles
 Faith Robinson
 Jason Robinson
 Bobbi Robinson
 Asher Robles
 Christophe Rogers
 Jonathan Rogers

Daneen Rooks
 Hilary Rouse
 Jennifer Rowsey
 Jeff Russell
 James Sanders
 Mike Sanger
 Angel Santiago
 Jacqueline Sausville
 Gerald Scarbrough

Michelle Schane
 Michael Schmidt
 Jennifer Schreiber
 Franklin Scott
 Kimberly Seay
 Elizabeth Serviss
 James Severs
 Ben Sexton
 Marleen Shannon

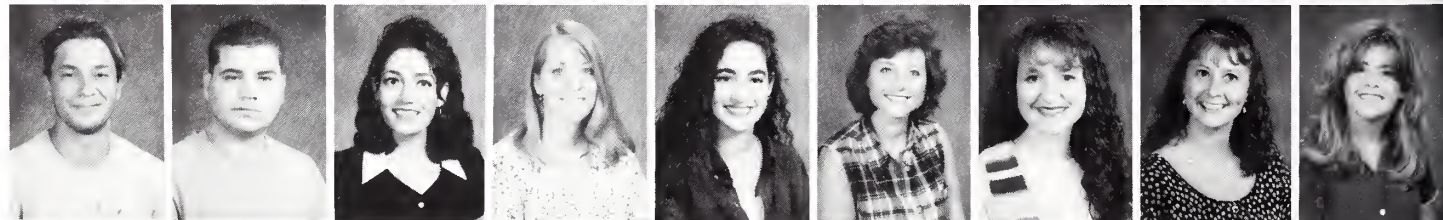

Ira Shaw
 Tim Shaw
 Rich Shelton
 Katherine Shiver
 Christophe Shore
 Karla Shrewsbury
 Teresa Shull
 Diantha Siders
 Robert Sides

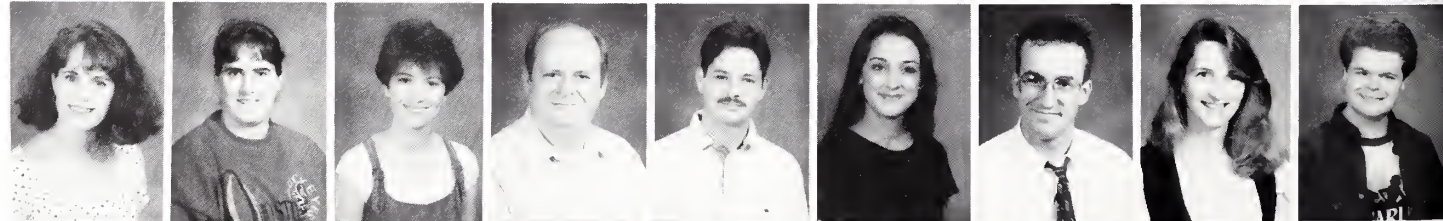

Joseph Simmons
 Sharon Simmons
 Meredith Smith
 Kimberly Sines
 Shannon Sines
 Shannon Skipper
 Robert Slocumb
 S. Jill Sluss
 Steven Smartt

Michael Smelser
 Craig Smith
 Deanna Smith
 Melissa Smith
 Tracy Smith
 Rebecca Somers
 Carissa Souders
 Sharon Spencer
 Leigh Anne Spinks

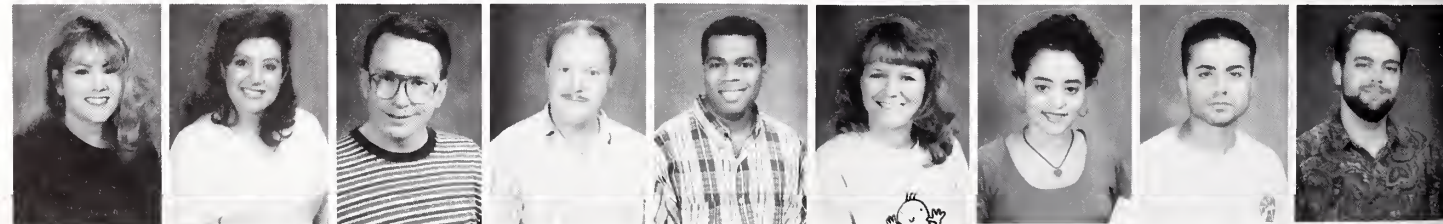

Kate Spring
 Kathleen Spring
 Dawn Stansberry
 Gregory Stauffer
 Randall Stephens
 Chyela Stewart
 Todd Still Jayne Stoll
 Timothy Storey

Deborah Stroud
 Melissa Stubbs
 Julie Suggs
 Debbie Suhm
 Bobbie Sutherland
 Susan Sutphin
 Jill Swafford
 Scott Swain
 Ann Talley

Stephanie Taylor
 Sunshine Tejada
 Bryan Thompson
 Maxwell Thompson
 Mitch Tikoinakau
 Dana Toole
 Melodia Torres
 Israel Torres
 Jared Treadway

Lee COLLEGE: Closed

Jennifer Hamilton

There is one thing that is a given at Lee College: no matter what happens, we will have classes. It's the eleventh commandment. We were the only school opened within a 300 mile radius during the Blizzard of '93, and we also trudged to classes while the Ice Storm of '94 was wrecking havoc as far south as Florida.

This year was different, though. For the first time in a decade, Lee College's name appeared across the bottom of the television indicating that it was closed. Most students had to see it for themselves, and when they did, the celebration began.

Most people just hung out on campus making snowmen and joining in snowball fights. Others ventured out to local businesses to cure their cabin fever. Some found the nearest hill and went soaring down it on anything from inner-tubes to trash can lids. Whatever your pleasure, the time off was thoroughly enjoyed.

Will Lee's classes ever be closed again? With the growing number of people living off-campus and in auxiliary housing, it may happen before the turn of the century. Then again, the rapture may take place first.

Glen Williams

Eating IN Disorder

On this campus, we are not strangers to change. In fact, it seems as if every semester something is going up or coming down. It has hardly had an effect on the student body because it usually happens on the outskirts of the campus.

The new campus renovations hit into the heart of the student body during the spring semester: their stomachs. The new cafeteria was being constructed, and we had to live through it. From the false wall that received Lee's own "wallpaper" to the final stage of eating in the gymnasium, we underwent it all.

One thing never changed, though. No matter what, we were fed. This was the most important thing.

Though it was a rough semester, the rewards will be great. For now on, there will be no need to rush to the cafeteria after chapel to retain a seat.

Kimberly Treadway
Michael Trent
Adam Tripp
Lloyd Turner
Troy Turner
Ryan Ulrich
Diane Vanderveen
Scott Varner
Lori Veatch

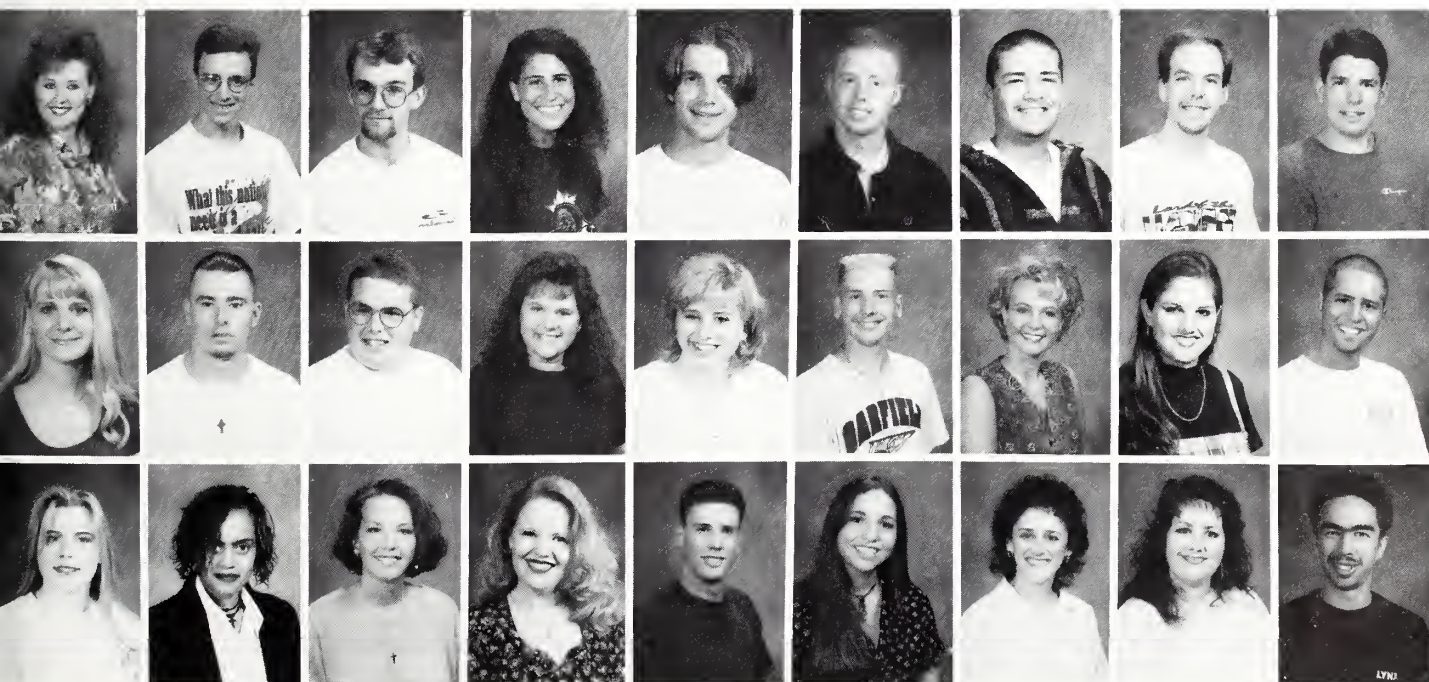

Stephanie Venable
Kristy Verdel
Jason Viviano
Micah Voraritskul
Mark Vos
Angela Waddell
Angella Walden
Daniel Walker
Deana Walker

Rebecca Wanamaker
Mary Ellen Warren
Larry Waters
Tonia Watson
Brian Webb
David Webb
Sherry Webb
Seth Wenger
Sandra Wert

Mary West
Jill Whitaker
Byron Wilkes
Autumn Willemson
Renee Williams
Nikki Williams
Felicia Willingham
Amanda Wilson
Kellie Wilson

Jennifer Winters
William Witte
Tom Wolverton
Christophe Wright
Andrew Wright
Abby Xu
Rick Youngkin
Jason Younker
Nansy Zamora

Underclassmen

Darla Abbey
Darcy Abbott
Samuel Abbott
Brenda Abbuhl
Jason Abernathy
Johnny Abernathy
Hector Acosta, Jr.
Jason Adams
Jason Adams

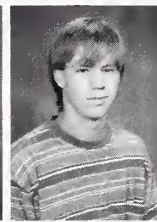

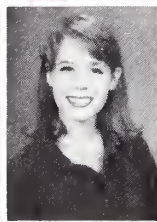

Joel Adams
Jonas Adams
Kevin Adams
Susan Addair
Dawn Adkins
Nathan Adkins
Kellie Akers
Renee Albert
Marc Albrecht

Amanda Albritton
Monique Albury
Cindy Alderson
Lesley Alford
Tedman Allen
April Almogabar
Shelley Aloï
Danna Amerman
Clifford Anderson

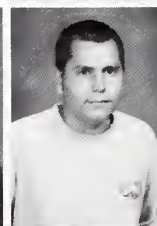

Dana Anderson
Garold Anderson
Jennifer Anderson
Misty Anderson
Sherra Anderson
Jennifer Andreson
Andrea Antwine Bret Antwine
Scott Antwine

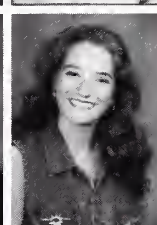

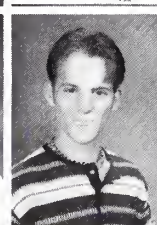

Maribel Aquirre
Sallie Ard
Lee Arledge
Gregory Arnold
Selina Arnold
Charles Arnold
Jennie Arnold
Cory Arp
E. Paolg Arriola

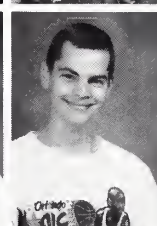

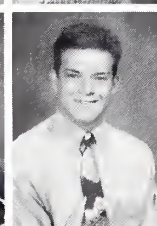

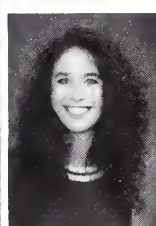

Emily Asbeck
Alisha Ash
Audie Ash
Courtney Ashley
Robert Ashley
Kristi Atha
Jon Aultman
Daniel Austin
Jamie Avery

Melissa Avery
John Azevedo
Sarah Babcock
Ben Bahnsen
Bryce Bailey
Shannon Bailey
Tara Bailey
Brooke Bailey
Kellie Baker

Carrie Baker
Angela Baldasaro
Julie Baldwin
Stephanie Baldwin
Brian Bales
Randall Ball
Travis Ballinger
Jason Bamberg
Jason Barber

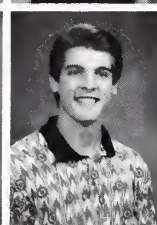

Jamie Barbour
Charity Barchers
Nikol Barchers
Steven Barfield
Kristopher Barger
Adam Barker
Julie Barker
Robin Barker
Aaron Barnes

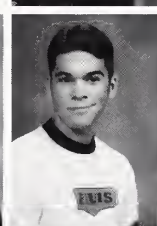

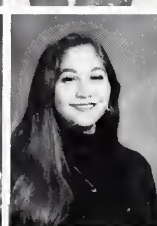

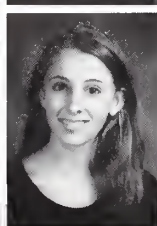

Stephanie Barnett
Steve Barr
Doyle Barrentine
Tarissa Barrett
Cynthia Barrett Faith Barrett
Jeff Bartels
Rana Barnwell
Shannon Basford

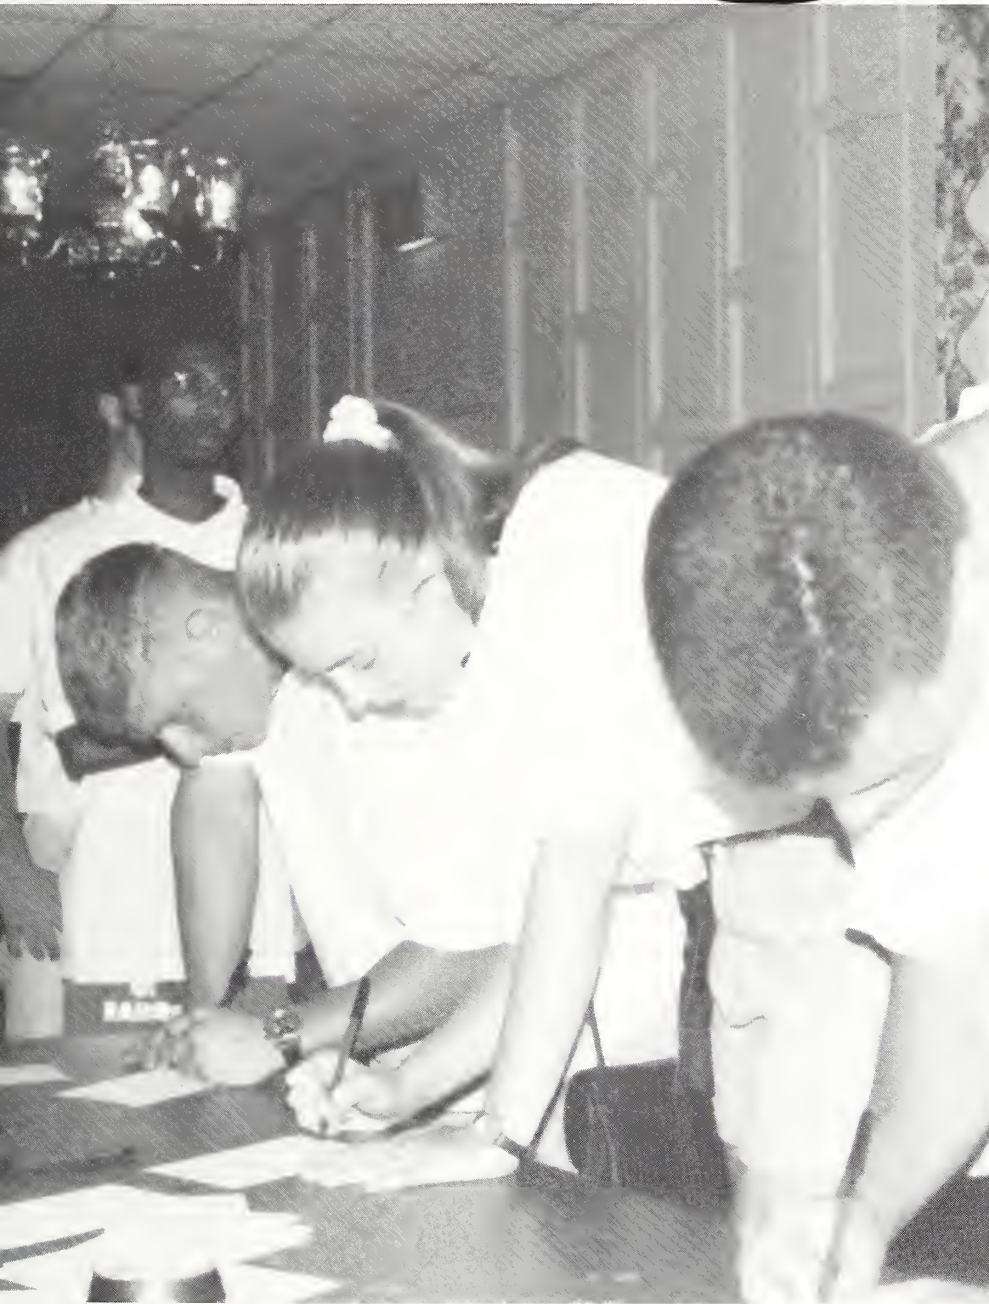

Gene Batten
Melanie Battle
Eric Baumann
Kimberly Baurber
Jeffery Beach
Jamie Beard
Rachel Beardsley
Joshua Beardsley
Russell Beasley

Oral Beason
Jillian Beatty
Gina Beaty
Robby Beaver
Heather Beaver Melisa Becker
Junes Beene
Danielle Beene
Kayci Beeson

Chaos BEFORE Classes

Tracie Payne

After moving in, getting acquainted, and learning your way around campus, there is only one thing left--registration. Returning students expect to spend the entire day waiting in lines and moving up one seat at a time. For freshmen or transfer students, however, it is a time of disbelief and chaos.

When you arrive early in the morning, the line is already starting to curve and twist. Then you walk from room to room, filling out various forms and giving out all kinds of information about yourself. Right when you get to the last door you think, "Wow, I'm just about finished!" You are then told that it's time to pay. You drudge down the steps to find people hanging out doors making chains of the lines. Finally, you get to the chairs to move up one at a time, only to hear the ladies announce, "Lunch time! Please come back in an hour."

After coming back and moving up chair by chair, you decide: next year, I'll definitely have early billing.

Being YOUR OWN Man

There is a point in almost every Lee student's life when the inevitable will occur: moving out on your own. Becoming an adult, taking care of your own bills, cooking your own meals . . .

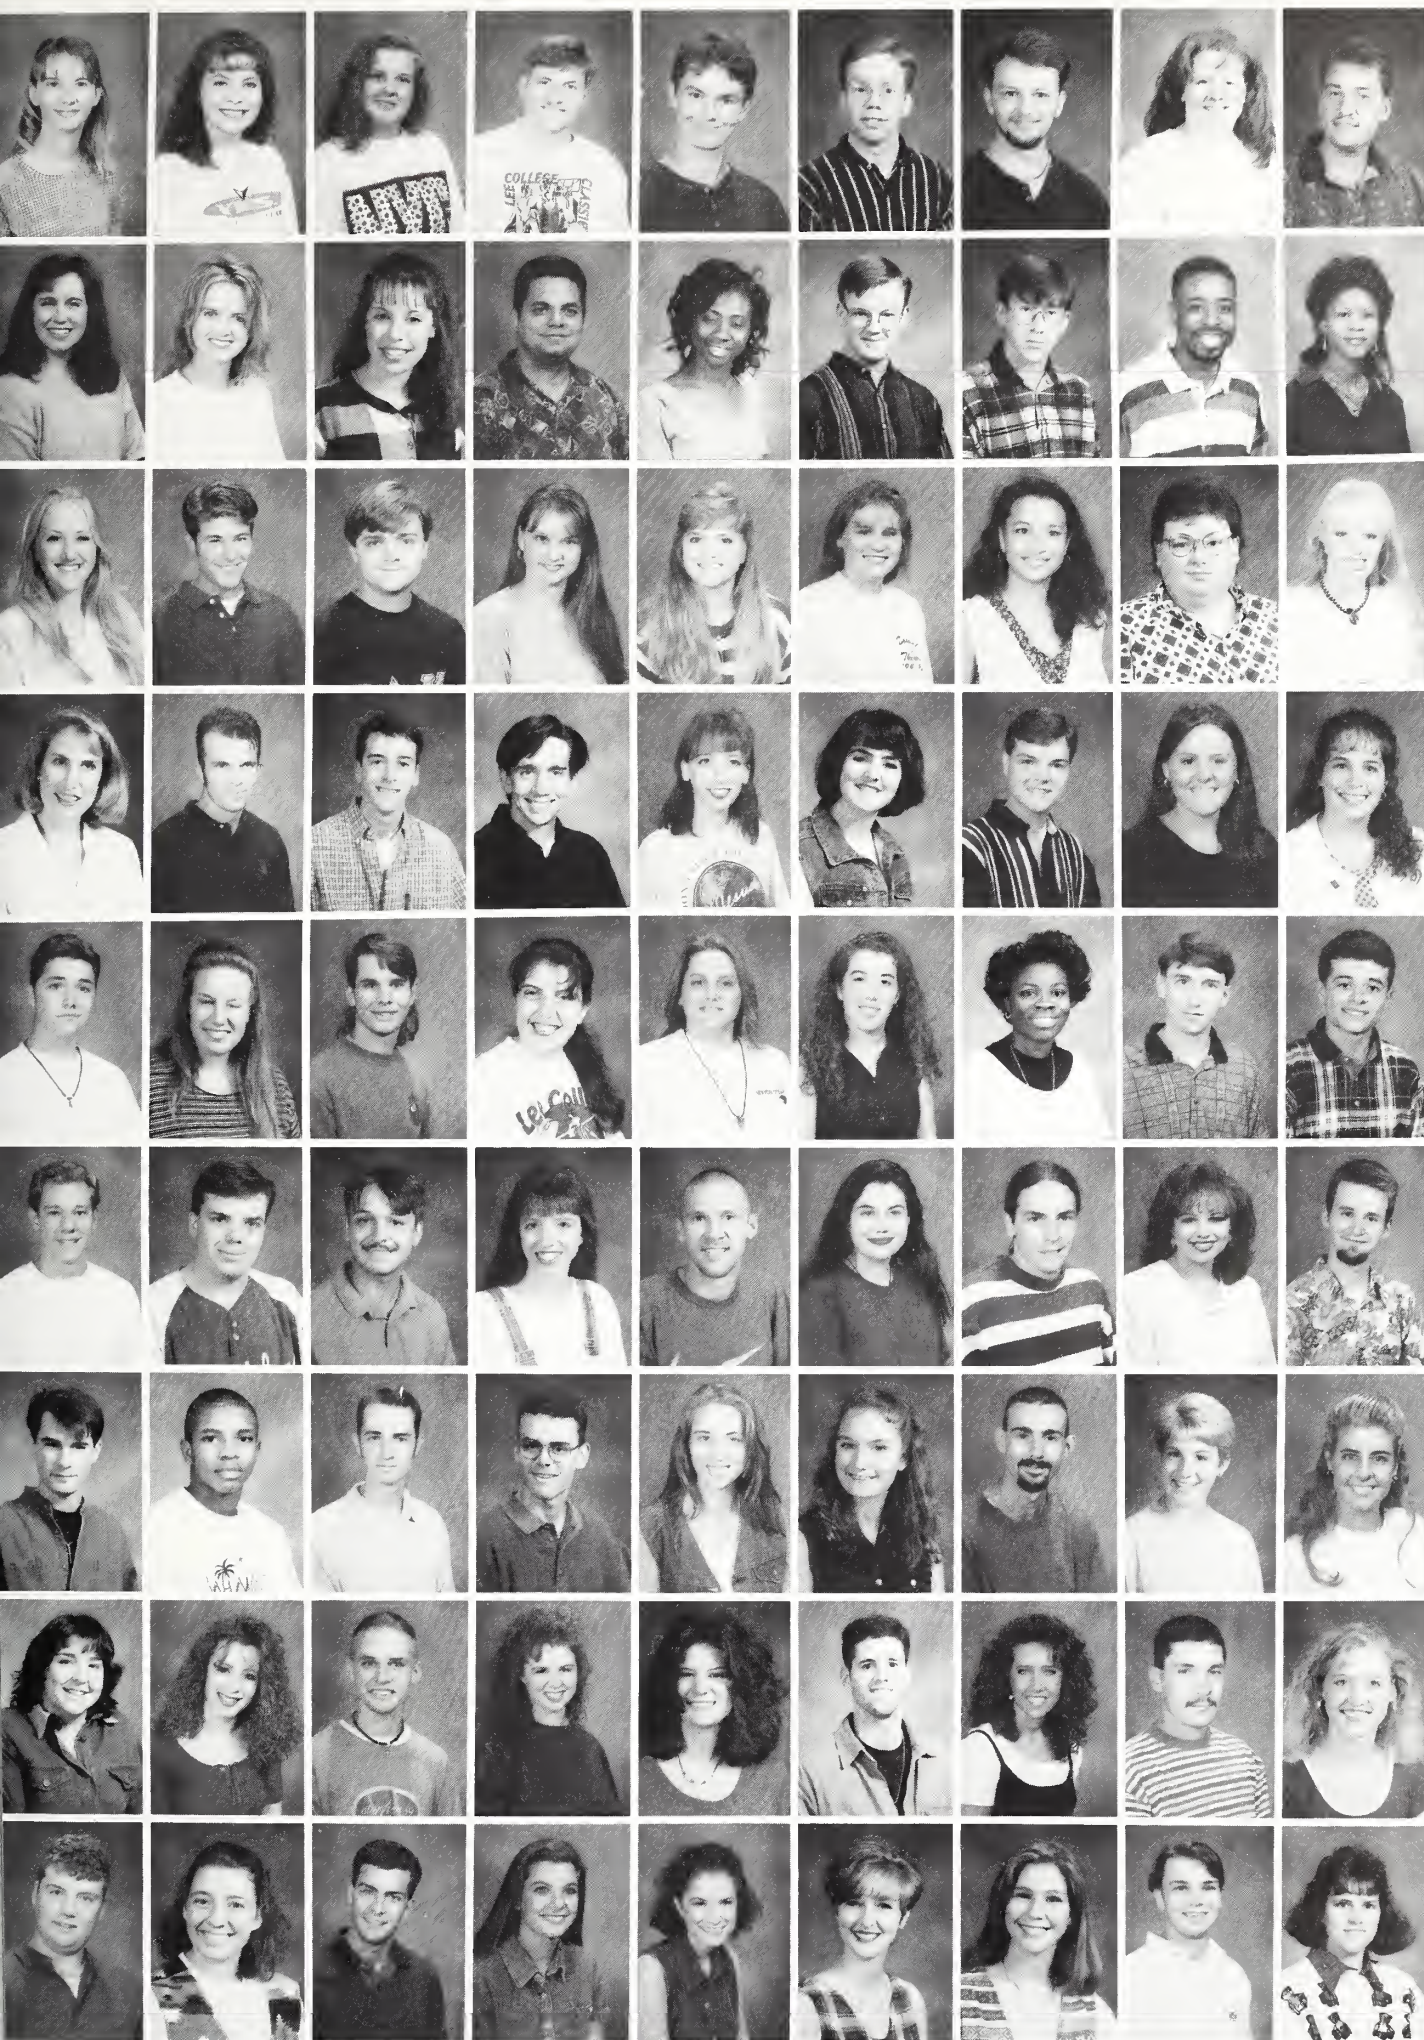

OK, so that does not necessarily follow getting your own place. In fact, what usually occurs is actually the opposite. No longer are your parents paying for your room and board, so they are constantly hit on for money. Lines such as "Dad, can you pay my rent this month?" are heard by parents often. If not by parents, friends are asked for money because basically, you don't have ANY.

Forget the home cooked meals, too. Even though you might believe you are actually going to cook, you will pass through that phase after a week. Taco Bell becomes your main nutrition, and you really start to like frozen dinners. Cafeteria food even becomes desirable. At least it's already prepared, and you can socialize while you eat.

The adult thing is assumed, also. The mere fact that you pay rent, deposit, and (for the "wealthy") cable, doesn't actually mean you are an adult. This is an assumption often believed by all. You're the same person you were before. Now, though, you're broke.

Living off campus is great, but don't consider it unless you know for sure you won't be packing back into Sharp-Davis after a month of bills.

Tina Bell
Rebecca Bell
Gail Bell
Paul Bell
Blanton Bendall
Prescott Benson
Richard Bennett
Sherie Bennett
Quincey Bentley

Holly Benton
Jennifer Begley
Kelly Beil
Todd Bernier
Antoinette Berry
Joshua Berryman
Timothy Beshears
Nathan Best
Sophia Bethel

Darla Betzer
Winfield Bevins
Chad Biannan
Kristi Biedenback
Amanda Bigham
Jennifer Bigham
Melinda Bigham
Chris Binion
Krystal Bird

Heather Bishop
Howard Black Jeremy Black
Robert Blackaby
April Blackburn
Roberta Blackburn
Brad Blackmon
Anne Blair
Carla Blaiser

Duane Blakey
Lisa Blankenship
Mark Blanton
Kelly Blay
Lori Blevins
Jacqueline Blum
Stacy Boddie
Daniel Boggs
Caleb Bolanos

Jason Bolin
Jonathan Boling
Shawn Bonine
Ruth Bonds
Michael Bonnett
Carrie Booher
David Boone
Aimee Born
Jordan Boston

Jason Boudreau
Dorien Bowe
Derek Bowden
William Bowden Cathy Bowen
Crystal Bowlby
Todd Bowser
Jennifer Bowyer
Jacklyn Boyd

Paige Boyd
Alyssa Boyd
Daryl Boyer
Melissa Braasch
Tawnya Bradnick
Nathan Bradfield
Mandy Brady
Russell Branhanan Rachel Branson

Richard Branson
April Brantley
Joshua Brasscaux
Laurin Brasseaux
Regina Brasseaux
Karen Braun
Misty Bray
Kenneth Brazell, Jr.
Sarah Breth

Better

LATE THAN

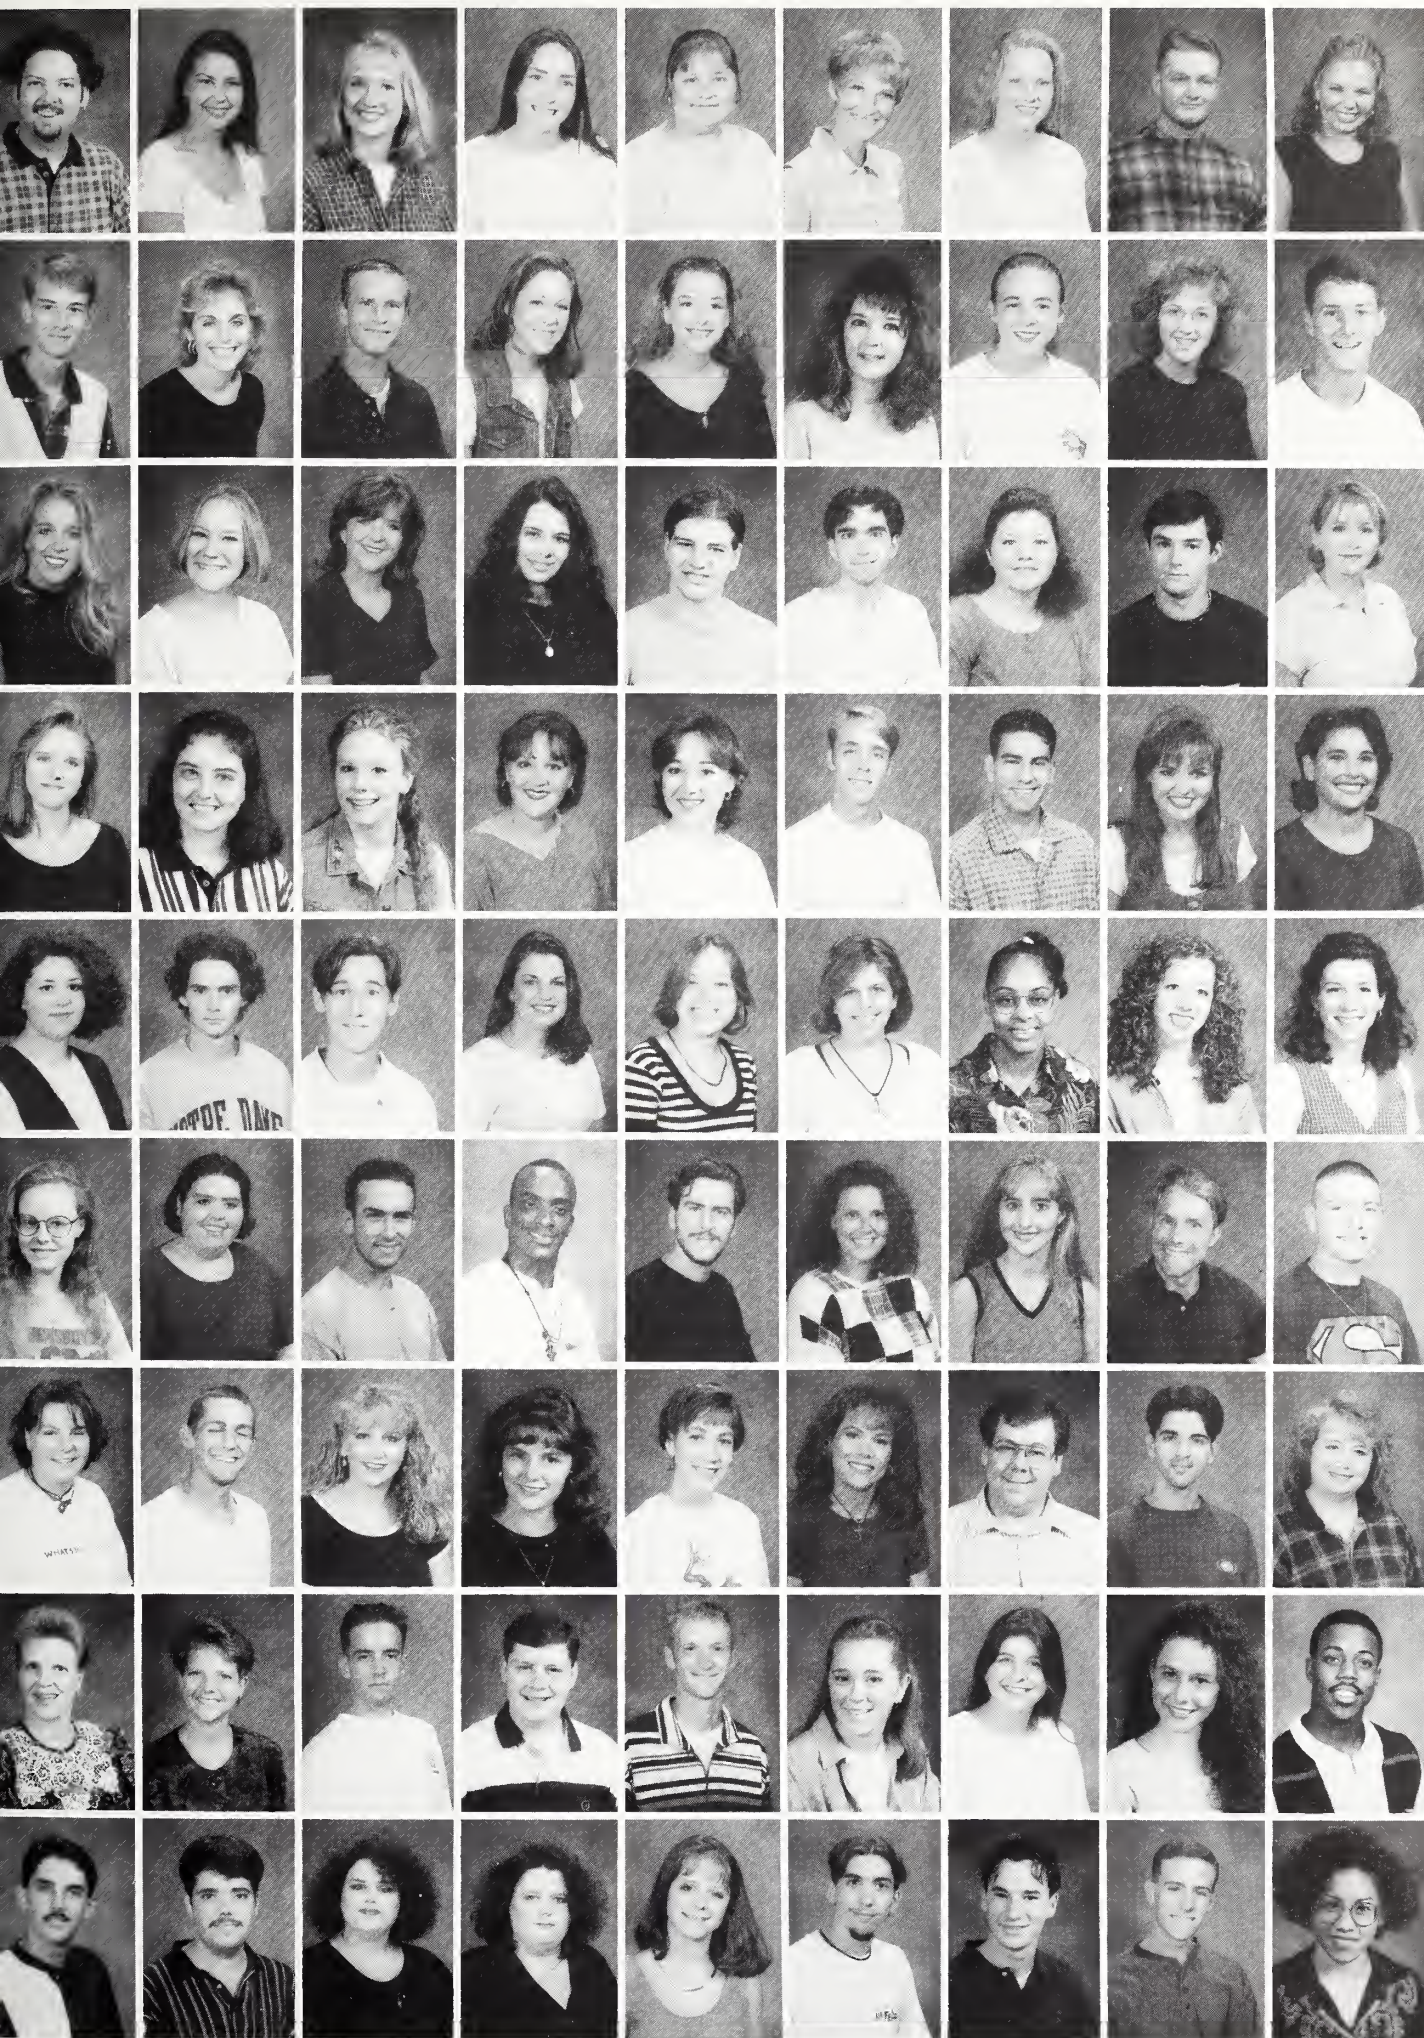

Never

There was something missing from the registration line this fall. The Vindagua. Where was it? No one really knows. See, its a mystery of life.

We can claim it was stolen by aliens who wanted to know more about Christians. No one would believe it, though. How about the story that it was accidentally sent to Temple who, upon being reminded that it was Lee who kept them from advancing in the NCCAA tourney, held it for ransom until we promised that we would let them beat us not one, but two times this year?

There are an abundance of stories that can be told, but the fact is, it was late. There is nothing that we can do to change that, but it was a cool way to remember a year you thought was forgotten, huh? Besides, twenty years down the road, when you do pull it out to show your children, they will probably wrinkle their faces and introduce you to their yearbook: a fully interactive C-ROM.

James Brewer
Kristen Brewer
April Britt
Carrie Brittain
Angela Brooke
Debra Brooking
Jennifer Brooks
Boyce Broome
Jennifer Brothers

Anthony Brown
Autumn Brown
D. Mark Brow
Emily Brown
Kimberly Brown
Rhonda Brown
Staci Brown
Heidi Browning
Jason Browning

Joni Browning
Naomi Browning
Teresa Browning
Elizabeth Brozozog
Dominic Brummett
Joseph Brunswick
Margarita Bryant
Todd Bryant
Nicole Buchner

Kimberly Budley
Tricia Buetow
Holly Bullock
Melanie Bunce
Lisa Burdett
Mike Burgess
Peter bBurk
Charity Burkhead
Christie Burley

Megan Burnette
Cameron Burnette
Andrew Burnight
Andrea Burns
Amy Burton
Lawanda Burton
Monica Burton
Amanda Bury Alexandria Bush

Darlana Buttram
Amy Cabaniss
Jeremy Caddell
Wyatt Cadogan
Jeremy Cain
Rachel Cain
Lynde Calhoun Jeremy Calkins
Ryan Camp

Addie Campbell
Jason Campbell
Melissa Campbell
Christy Cannon
Kristina Canossa
Diana Cantero
Jimmy Cantrell
Robbie Cape
Dana Capps

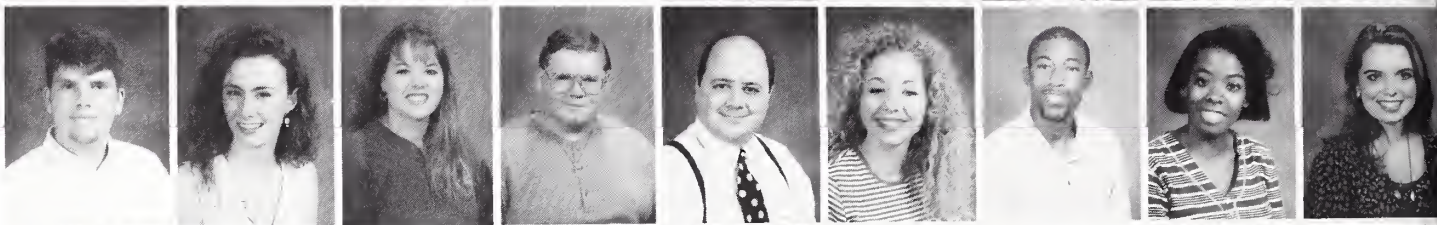

Sharon Carbaugh
Tracey Carlson
Brian Carmen
Ryan Carnes
Ryan Carnett
Kristiana Carns
Kathy Carrasco
Aprile Carroll
Bernard Carter

Chadwick Carter
Jeremy Carter
Kim Carter
Melanie Carter
Erica Caruthers
Christophre Case
Chad Cashion
Seth Caskey
Karla Castillo

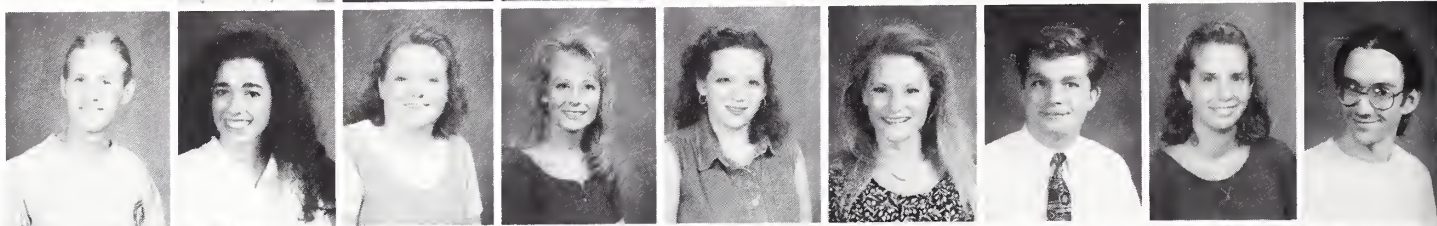

Victor Castillo
Rachel Cauley
Kelly Cervone
Patrick Chai
Jeff Chamberlin
Stacey Chambers
Summer Chambers
Jeff Chandler
Richard Chapman

Shannon Chapman
Cheryl Chastain
Sharlinda Chatfield
Thomas Chatfield
Tom Chavis
Ginna Cherry
Lee Chery
Janine Chery
Jessica Childers

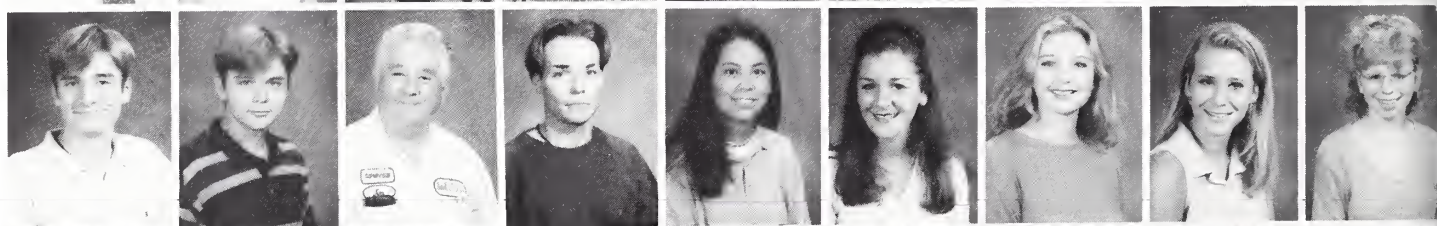

Daniel Chord
Carrie Christmas
Amy Chunn
Jennifer Chunn
Melissa Churchey
Dianna Chytil
Trent Clagg
Adelia Clark
David Clarkson

Matt Clayton
Amy Cleckner
Carter Click
Craig Clifton
Jessica Cline
Jason Cloninger
Samuel Clough
Pamela Cobb
Tiffany Cobb

Ariel Cocian
Emanuel Cocian
Jim Coffey
Kris Colasacco
Kimmy Cole
Kaci Coley
Christine Collins
Jamie Collins
Monica Collins

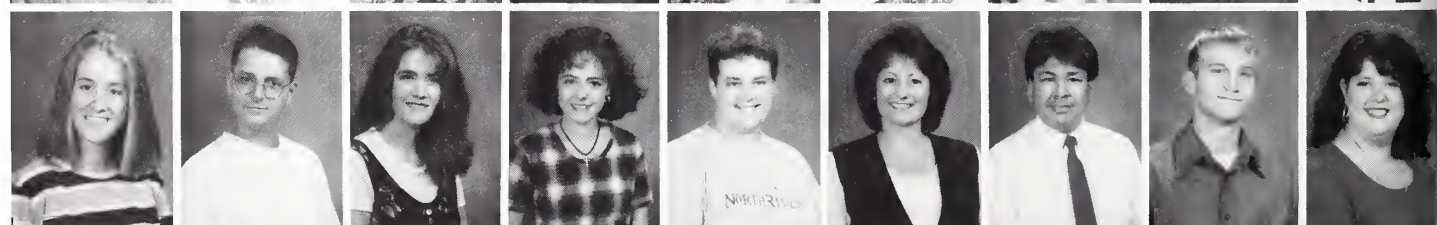

Montez Collins
Tom Collins
Trace Colson
Stephanie Colston
Amy Colvin
Matthew Comley
Amanda Condo
Gretchen Conley
Kelly Conn

Jeromy Conn
Anthony Connor
Angela Cook
Joseph Cook
Rebecca Cook
Tim Cook
Dianna Cooley
Joel Coovert
Anthony Copley

Jennifer Coshow
Frank Cottone
Kimberly Coursey
Lacy Covert
Stanley Covert
Paula Cowdell
Timothy Cowdell
Matthew Cowherd
Tammi Cox

Kris Crank
Kevin Crawford
Kristin Crawford
Lisa Crawford
Jamie Creekmore
Jamison Creel
William Crepenbaker
Gary Crider
Brian Cripe

Scott Crisp
 Jay Critz
 Melissa Crosby
 Mary Crosby
 Christen Cross
 Jennifer Cullen
 Andrea Dacus
 Julie Dalton
 Reshawn Damewood

Amanda Danforth
 Dana Daniel
 Suzanne Daniel
 Jason Dashe
 Joshua Dasher
 Missy Dasher
 Rachel Dasher
 Karen Daugherty
 Michael Dauphinee

Casey Davis
 Chris Davis
 Clay Davis
 Jennifer Davis
 Jonathan Davis
 Karen Davis
 Paige Davis
 Sharon Davis
 Wednesday Dawson

Paula Day
 Elizabeth Dean
 Jonathan Deans
 Janet Debeausaert
 Nicole Delk
 Christopher Dekle
 Jason Delaluz
 Laura Delorenzo
 Derrick Denham

David Denison
 Shane Denney
 Dana Dennis
 Kevin Dennis
 Micah Dennison
 J. Hope Denny
 Glenn Derr
 Danny Deuell
 Gregory Deuell

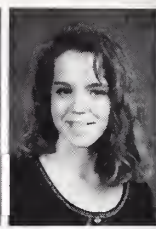

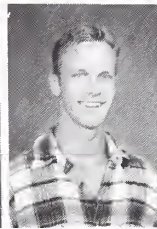

Jennifer Dewitt
 Scott Dicesar
 Lisa Dietz
 Thomas Dill
 Jennings Dillard
 Danny Dillon
 Katie Dingman
 Rebekah Dipastena
 Marbi Dipastena

Kevin Divers
 Aaron Doan
 Jered Dodd
 Melissa Dodson
 Christina Doig
 Katy Doig
 Eric Doise
 Dacia Dorough
 Barbara Dotson

Azure Doughty
 Craig Douglas Kathi Douglas Ronnie Douglas Amber Douglass
 Carie Drake
 Elizabeth Dromeshauser
 Shannon Drury
 Devin Duggins

Jason Duncan
 Keith Duncan
 Michele Duncan
 Holly Dunford
 Amy Dunlap
 Paul Dunlap
 Jared Dupert
 April Durand
 Angela Durham

April Durham
Susan Dwan
Bethany Dykes
Tiffany Dyson
David Eason
Justin Easton
Deana Eaton
Bonnie Eckert
Lisa Eddy

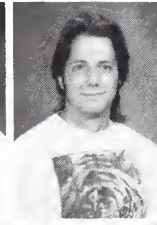

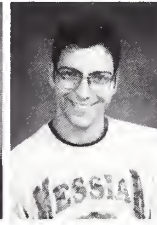

Elizabeth Edwards
Leah Edwards
Holly Eklund
Paul Elbert
Stacy Eldridge
Branden Elkins
Cristil Elkins
Otto Elkins, Jr.
Anna Ellis

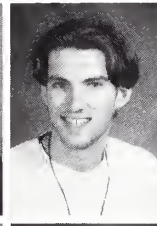

Gina Ellis
Kristia Ellis
Mary Ellis
Michael Ellis
Jennifer Ely
Amanda Embry
Elizabeth Emerson
Shoco Engel
Steven England

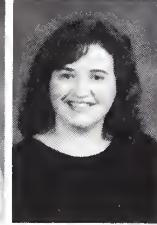

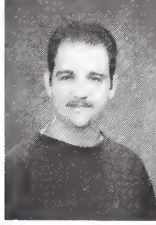

Anthony Epperson
Lee Escobar
Timothy Estes
Jeffrey Evans
Aaron Evans
Kaycee Fabre
Melanie Fangman
Michelle Fannin
Matthew Farmer

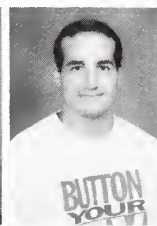

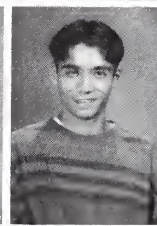

Jamie Farrell
Chasity Faucett
Lisa Favazza
Steve Fee
Sheniqua Ferguson
Teresa Ferguson
Bertram Ferrell
Bethany Ferriera
Mike Ferris

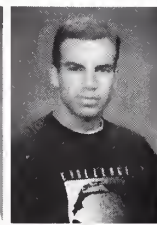

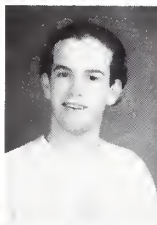

Lorraine Fickett
Richard Field III
Crystal Fieldler
Ginger Fillers
Melinda Filman
Wesley Finchum
Denisa Fischer
Amber Fisher
Jerry Ferson

Joy Fleming
Melody Flowers
Rebecca Flynn
Stephanie Foerman
Christopher Foltz
Jonathan Fontaine
Betsy Ford
Laura Ford
Bridget Forkin

Aaron Foshee
Mary Ann Francois
Robert Franklin
Brian Franks
Luoma Franks
Chip Frazier
Eddie Frazier
Lisa Frazier
Mindy Frazier

Jason Freeman
Ashley Freer
Paul Freet, Jr.
Jayme Freitas
Melissa French
Adam Frye
Jenny Fulkerson
Katie Fuller
Kendell Fungerson

Free AT Last

commentary by SDWatters

photos by Shawn Watters

Where Were You when they gave the verdict? It was bordering on insulting to the memory of such events as the Space Shuttle explosion or, for the older crowd, the Assassination of John F. Kennedy. Of course, the entire drawn-out, overdone, hype and media-based drama that unfolded live and was re-recorded and magazines and newspapers and on the radio and on talk shows and in stand-up comics' routines had already bludgeoned our levels of taste and intelligence and even entertainment for nine months; and it was obvious that nothing, nothing was sacred. Everyone even remotely involved in the circus that was, for a short time, a trial, was badgered, accused and belittled, but often to the benefit of their careers (yeah, Kato, you got those acting offers based on your talent). The lives of the dead, Nicole and Ronald, were drug through every form of metaphorical mud imaginable. OJ was deified by some and burned in effigy by others.

But after nine months of litanies on racism and spousal abuse and glove sizes, it took only three hours for the jury to bring back their verdict. And at one o'clock on October 3, in the matter of CASE # BA9728011, in violation of penal code 187, that verdict stopped traffic and typing and lunches and classes and tennis matches and intelligent conversations all over this country.

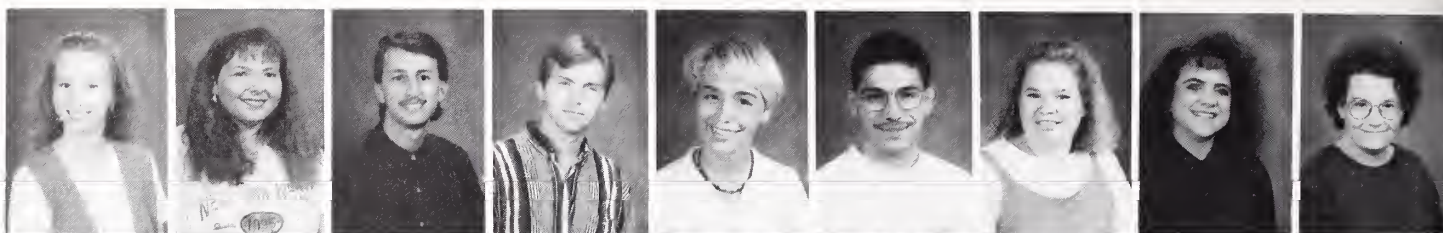

Roommates Michael Turner, Micah Andrews and Shannon Skipper sit anxiously awaiting the verdict. Michael followed the entire proceedings, and was rather pleased with the outcome. "I know he's guilty, but I've been saying all along he would walk, so if he hadn't, I would have been wrong, and I hate being wrong."

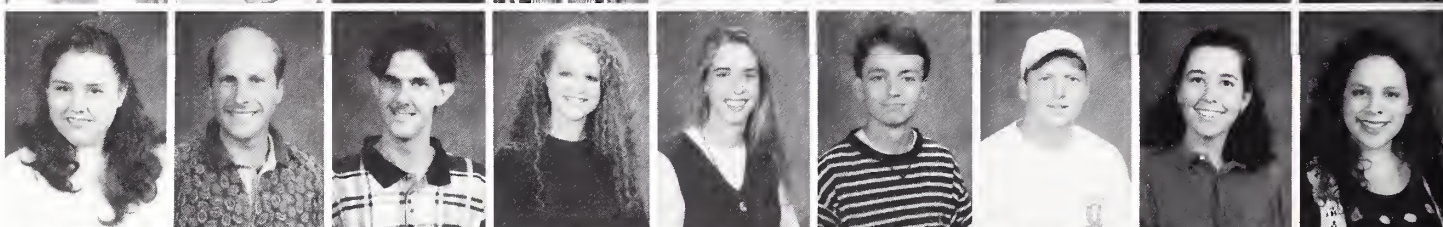

"OJ had too much of a cult of personality for there to be a level plane. And I am not surprised, despite the evidence, at the outcome. I think this trial is a good indication just where we're at as far as white people and citizen of the

Amy Fuson
Malena Gabhart
David Galloway
Nathan Gasaway
Leah Garberich
Gilbert Garcia
Angela Garland
Sandy Garrard
Ellen Garrett

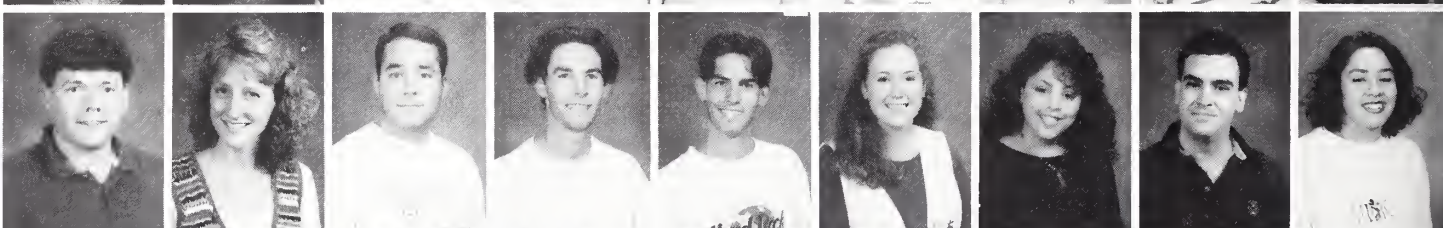

Esther Gay
Andrew Georgal
Tony George
Mary Gerken
Jennifer Gienger
Noel Gilliam
Jason Gilstrap
Sonia Gilstrap
Linda Giron

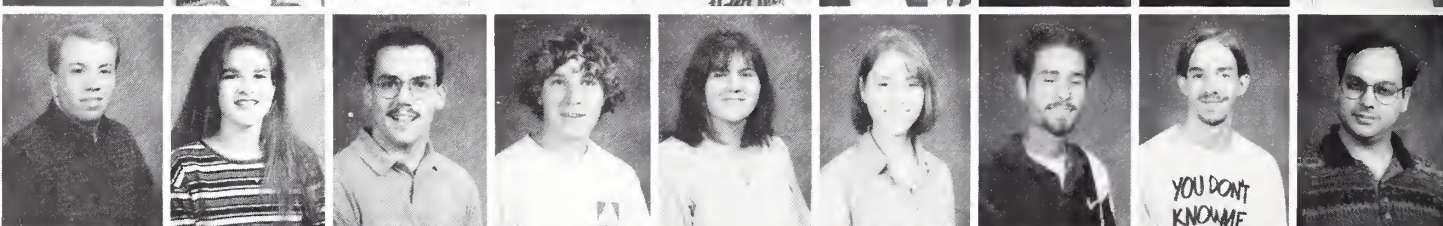

Marta Giron
Paula Giron
Kevin Glagan
Ann Glass
Chad Glass
Erica Glave
Ivana Glaze
Eric Gleaton
Janine Glover

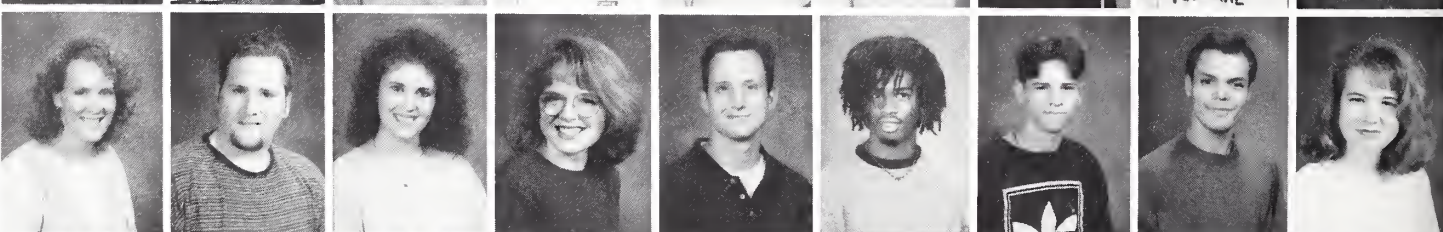

Mark Glover
Rachel Goble
Chris Godsey
David Goff
Duane Goff
Lacy Goins
Dorcas Gonzalez
Edward Gonzalez
Emma Gonzalez

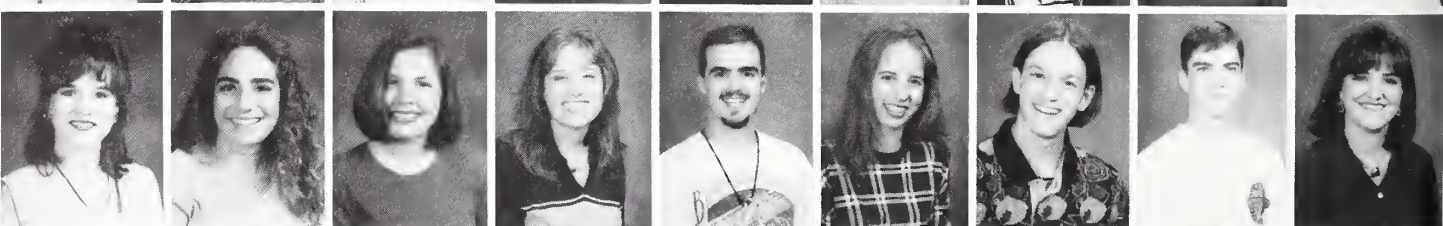

Jason Gooden
Stephanie Goodrich
Travis Gore
Aaron Gould
Sarah Gould
Holly Grady
Jeremy Grady
Charles Graham
Ralph Granadas

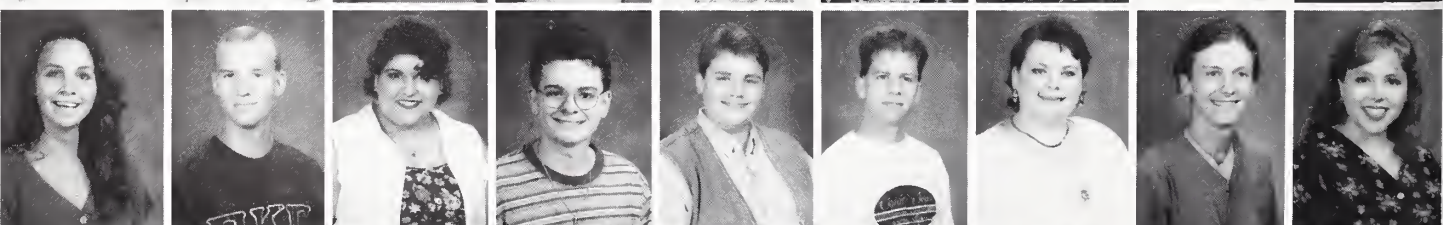

Pamela Grant
Paul Grant
Jamie Graves
Carren Green
David Green
Eric Green
Jason Green
Kyle Green
S. Elizabeth Green

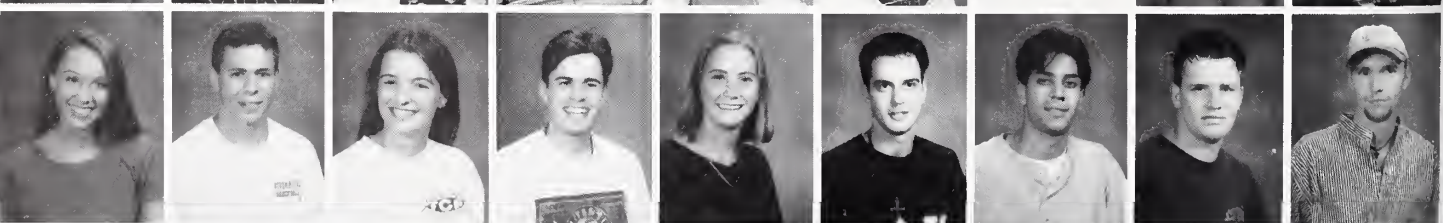

Sharon Green
Tricia Greeson
Karrie Gregg
Shannon Greijack
Brian Griffen
Jennifer Griffin
Jeremy Griffin
Michael Griffis
Stephanie Griffis

Christie Griffith
Shane Griffith
Windra Griffith
Bradley Grigg
Jeffery Grigg
Jory Grizzle
Wendy Grubb
Dewayne Gruber
Shannon Gunnells

Allyson Gurley
Rob Gurry
Alyssa Guy
James Guyton
Sarah Habermas
Doug Hadaway
Ryan Hadrak
Kevin Hagy
Harold Hahn

Moving in THE RIGHT Direction

Jennifer Hamilton

Third Day, Jars of Clay, Audio Adrenaline, DC Talk, Newsboys, Big Tent Revival . . . Who are these groups? Well, unless you were in a closet for the entire school year you know that the previously mentioned groups headlined the Christian mainstream with smashing debuts or record breaking releases.

This year, the Dove awards proved that the Christian music industry took an about face. In a usual year, Point of Grace would have won Artist of the Year, and Jonathan Pierce would be the New Artist of the Year. This year was different, though. It was revolutionary. DC Talk, with their new alternative/grunge sound, definitely became truly developed artists. They became the best in the eyes of the Christian music industry taking home the two most coveted Doves: Song of the Year (Jesus Freak) and Song of the Year.

It wasn't just DC Talk, a group that has been around for 7+ years. Jars of Clay became the New Artist of the Year, beating out Jonathan Pierce, who sings with none other than the Gaither Vocal Band. Fairly new artist Audio Adrenaline received the Dove for Video of the Year: Long Play over groups such as Four Him.

The "alternative" to the standard that Christian music has been going by for the past decade proves to definitely be a move in the right direction, and everyone is noticing it.

Toward the end of the school year, Rob Nicewarmer signed with Truth and began touring with them immediately.

Learning TO Walk

Shawn D. Watters

"Sometimes it really hasn't hit me. I almost died, . . . it seems like a dream."

The Fall semester had just begun. The leaves on the trees lining the pedestrian mall were just beginning to fade around the tips. Classes were just getting under way. Richard Sines, assistant history professor, was working as usual when he began to feel sick. "I didn't want to go to the hospital, so I tried all the household remedies like crackers, aspirin and Pepto Bismol," he said later. It was to no avail. He finally went to the Bradley ER, where he was discharged three hours later with some antibiotics and a prescription. The next day, he still did not feel well, so he headed over to Health Services. He was told he had a 102 degree temperature and was rushed to Bradley by Campus Safety.

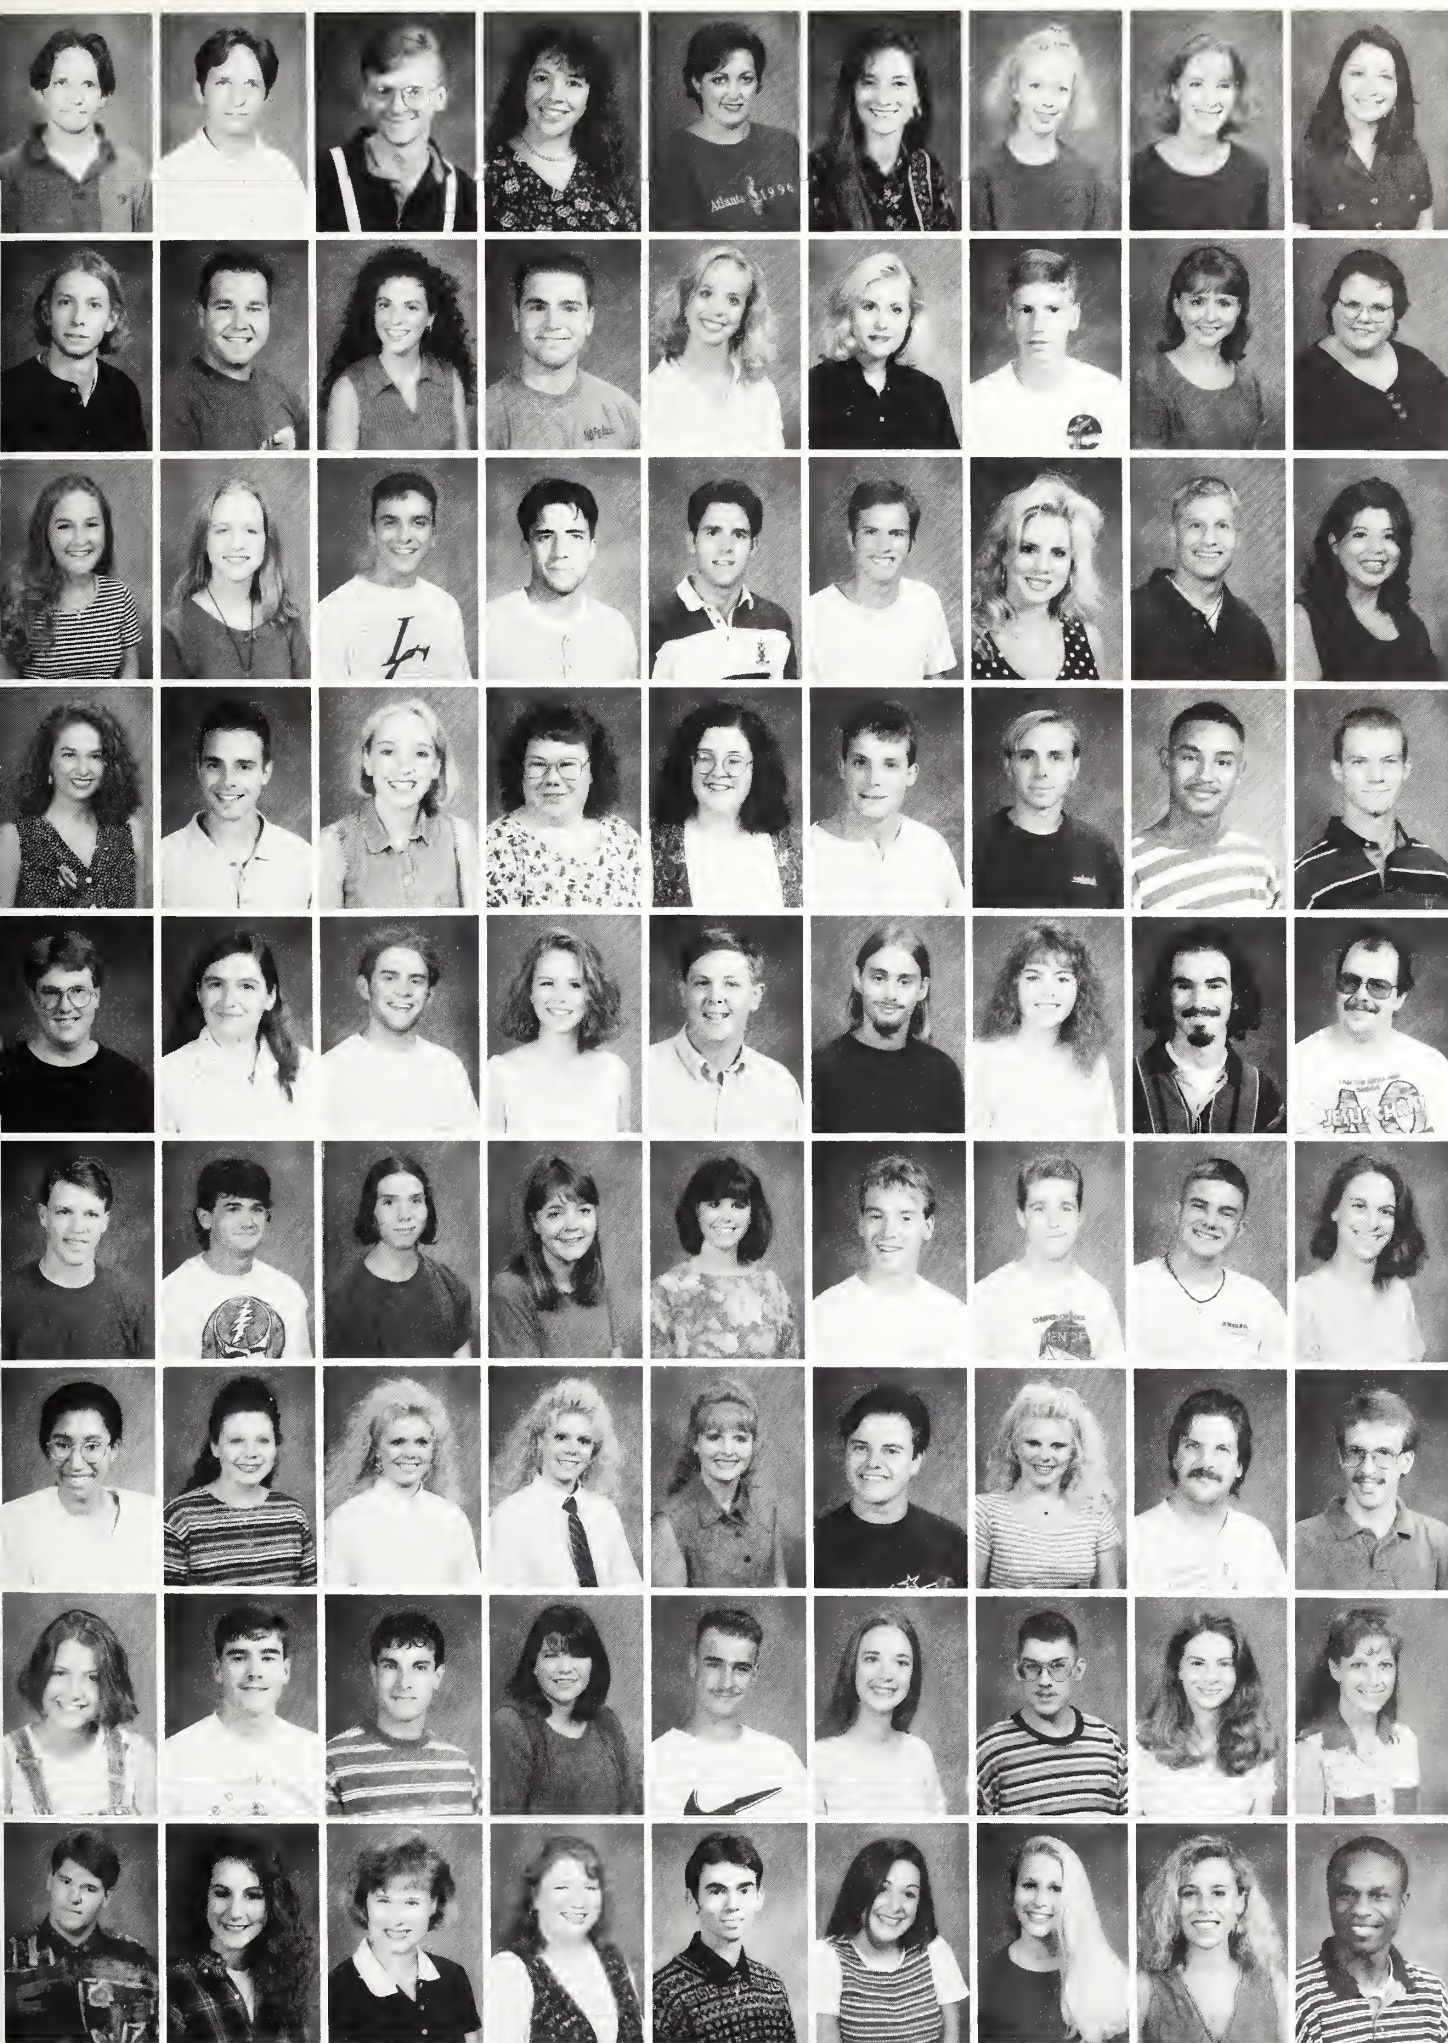

At Bradley again, he was given a spinal tap and a brain scan. "The next four days," Sines admitted, "are a lost period of my life."

Mr. Sines was diagnosed with viral meningitis, and the doctors were already confronting his family with the cold hard facts. He could die, and if he didn't, he may never walk again.

"I always wanted Christianity to be a practical part of my life. Then this happened. I wanted to give up." He was miserable, worrying about his classes and wondering more than once "why?"

"Then the miracles started," Richard grinned. Between his dad receiving grants and God's love and provision, Richard fully recovered and taught classes at Lee in the Spring. God worked a miracle, but half of it was Richard Sines' determination to let go and let God do the work in him.

Michael Haight
Steven Haight
Reginald Hall
Rachel Hall
Heather Hall
Tami Hall
Amy Hall
Stephanie Hall
Jennifer Hallman

Frederick Halton
Josh Hames
Lindsay Hamilton
Sherwin Hamlett
Regina Hammond
Denise Hammond
Douglas Hamons
Lori Hancock
Janice Haney

Tara Hanley
Jennifer Hannah
Jeremy Hanrahan
Aaron Harding
Chris Hardy
Justin Harley
Bridgett Harned
Joshua Harowitz
Heather Harper

Misty Harper
Ron Harris
Casey Harris
Kimberly Harris
Mary Harrison
Bryon Hart
Ted Hart
Joseph Hart
James Hartgraves

Michael Hartschenko
Anjenet Hartzler
Joseph Hatch
Christina Hatcher
Gregory Hatchett
John Htatfield
Allissa Hatt
James Havener
Jim Hawkins

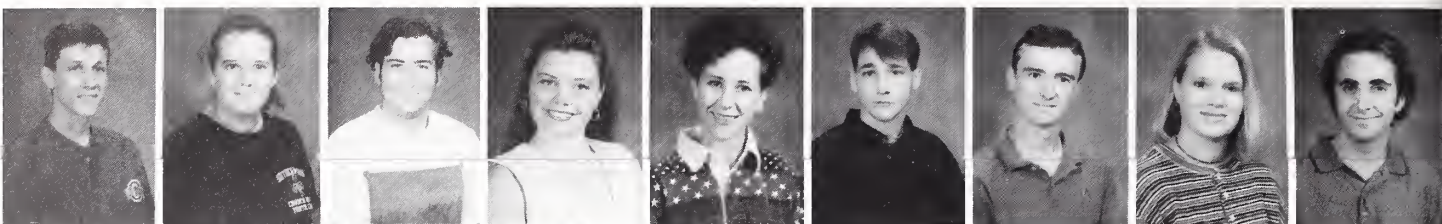

Robbie Hay
Andrew Hays
Wade Hays
Kristel Haynes
Angela Hazelwood
Thomas Heeren
Paul Heid
Todd Heilig
Cecily Heiser

Williams Helen Lisa Heller
Natalie Heller
Stephanie Heller
Christel Helm
R. Eric Helms
Amanda Helton
Randall Helton
Chris Hemphill

Hilary Hendrix
Adam Hennessee
Shannon Henry Fonda Henson
James Hernandez
Rebekah Herron
Ryan Herron
Alisha Hersey
Barbara Hess

Jason Hess
Lew Hetherington
Amy Hibbard
Brittany Hicks
Michael Hieft
Kate Hightower
Bethany Hill
Tiffany Hindman
Hartley Hinds

Matthew Hines
Tiffany Hines
Wade Hinson
James Hitte
Michelle Hock
Chris Hodge
David Hodge
Megan Hodge
Michael Hodges

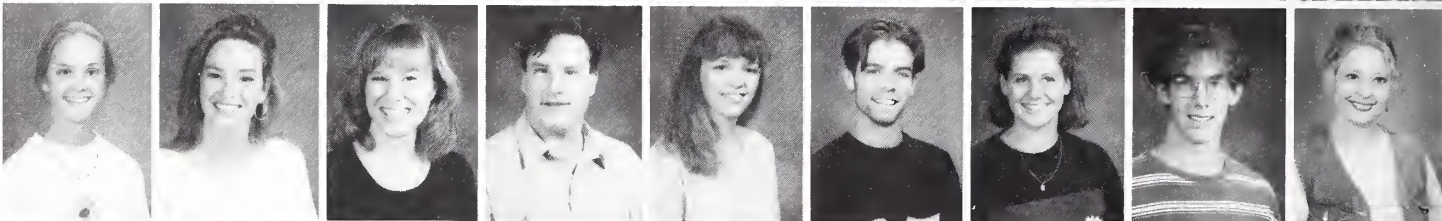

Scott Hodges
Ronald Hodges
Melanie Hogan
Stephanie Hogshead
James Hogsten
Kyle Hogue
Jeremy Hohn
Kenneth Holder
Matthew Holiday

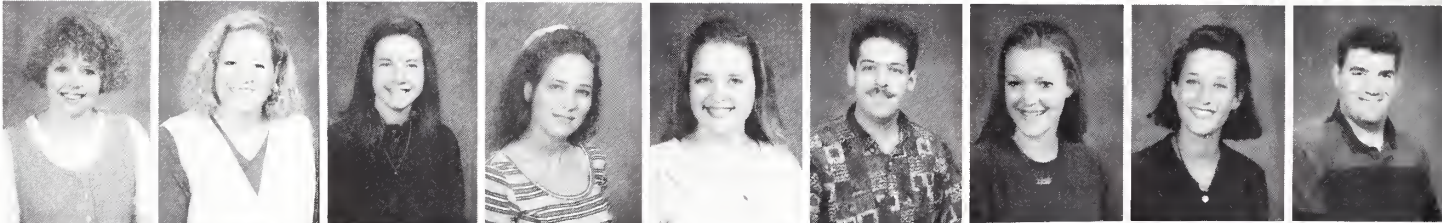

Daron Holland
Heather Holland
Christy Holler
Ladana Holloman
Corry Hollingsworth
David Holmes
Melissa Holmes
Matthew Holmes
Abigail Holt

Dawn Holt
Forrest Holt
Jill Honeycutt
Kurt Hooper
Rachell Hopper
Jason Hopkins
Shari Hopkins
Andrew Hopper
Jennifer Hooter

Johanna Hooter
Christi Hord
Amy Horn
Tijannia Horn
Angela Horn
Rogers Hornsby
Jennifer Horton
Rhea Horton
Robert Horton

Dallas Howard
Holly Howard
Jamie Howell
Kevin Howell
Amy Howlett
Amber Hubbard
Brian Hubbard
Paul Hudson
Christina Hudson

Andy Hughes
Raiford Hughes
Jeremy Hughes
Elliott Hulsey
Kathryn Hunter
Brian Hunter
Denis Hurm
Christa Hurst
Kendra Hussey

Trent Hutchison
Michael Hutchinson
Ron Hutchison
Michaelia Hyatt
Brandon Hyde
Barry Hyden
David Icard
Ginger Isom
Stacey Isom

Vicki Ison
Jason Isaacs
Kathy Isaacs
Koichiro Ito
Rachel Jackson
Heather Jackson
Stephen Jacobs
Rosilyn James
Sonia Jammes

Studying REALLY Hard

How often do you study? Once a week? Twice? The day before a test? Well, if you were a student in the Freshman Honors class at Lee, you studied hard, really hard.

So many students complain about not having enough time to do anything. Well, imagine a class that is worth seven hours a semester. In this class, you are taught by three teachers: Dr. Summerlin, Dr. Hoffman, and Mr. Thomas. They each teach one subject: World Masterpieces, Western Civilization, and Art Appreciation (respectively). The class meets every day for two hours. Can you imagine that?

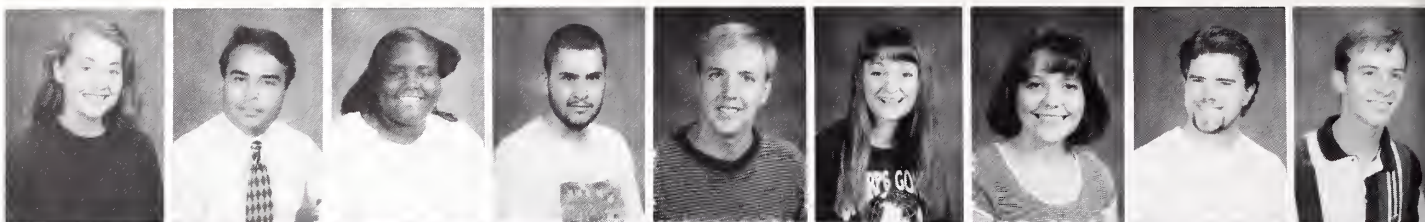

Well, about 25 freshmen decide to embark on this journey and although the workload is a lot, the benefits are more. Not only do they become very close as a group, they come out of the program more focused on academics, and a .5 curve on their grade for the course.

But the benefits are worth the extra work to many students who enjoy the activities and the close fellowship of such a group.

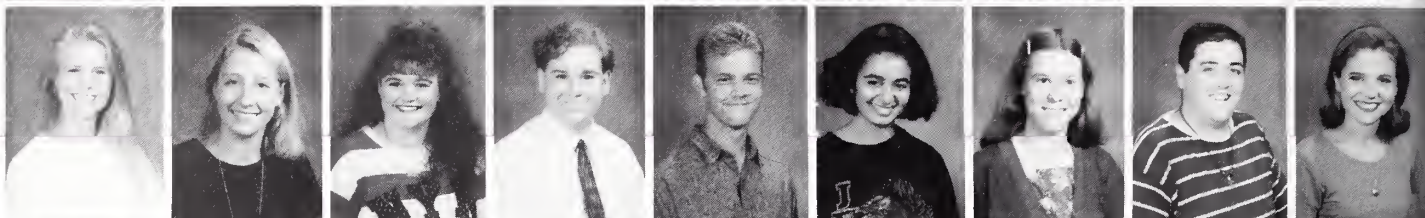

This year's activities ranged from rafting down the Hiwassee to a weekend trip to the Shakespeare Festival in Montgomery, AL.

Surprisingly enough most students say they are glad they decided to get involved with the Freshmen Honor Corps Program. After all, NO PAIN NO GAIN. Right?

Jan Harris
Hermilo Jasso
April Jefferson
James Jenkins
Matthew Jenkins
Jenkins Josie
Alicia Jenkins
Michael Jennings
Jason Jeter

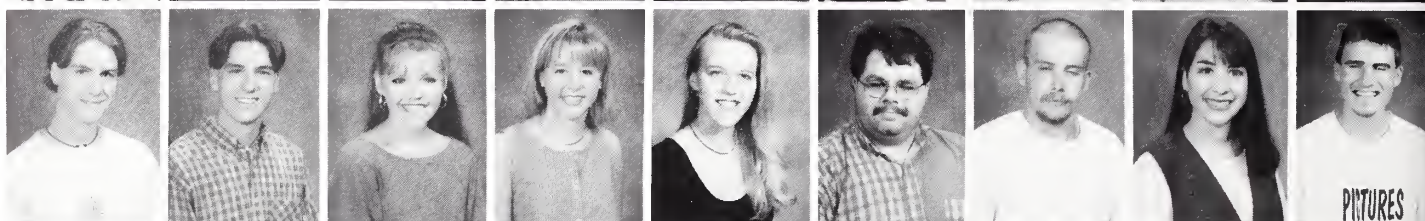

Marika Jewell
Alethea Johns
Jennifer Johnson
Jeremiah Johnson
Philip Johnson
Bianca Johnson
Julie Johnson
John Johnson
Niki Johnson

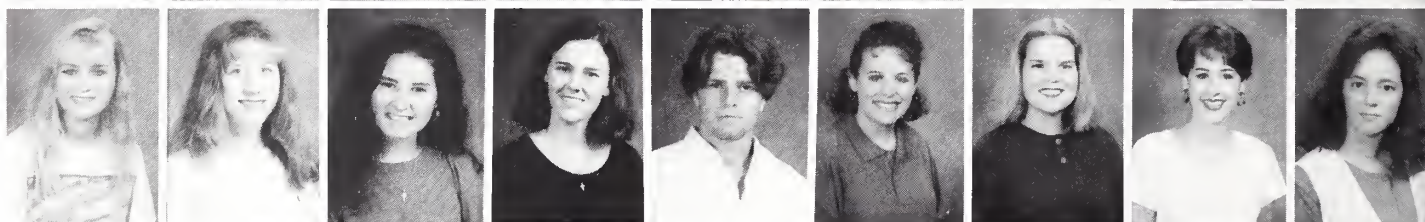

Jason Johnson
Eric Johnson
Mary Johnson
Yvonne Johnson
Paul Johnson
Wendell Johnson
Ondria Johnson
Angela Jones
Angela Jones

Steven Jones
Brian Jones
Pam Jones
Stephanie Jones
Jeannette Jones
Gary Jones
Millard Jones
J. Angelin Jones
Ross Jones

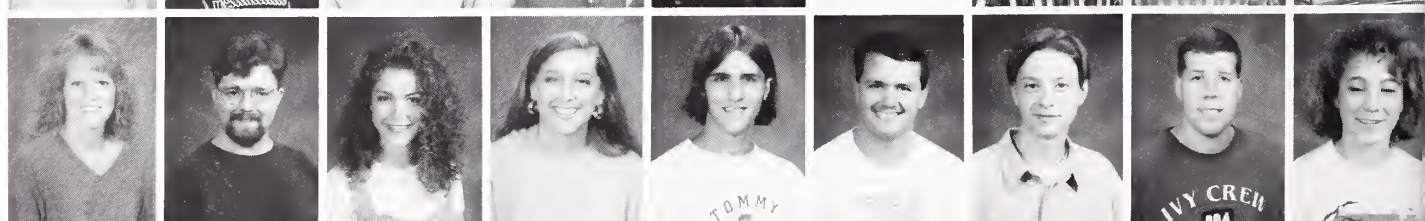

Jennifer Jones
Kristeena Jones
Regina Jones
Anita Jones
Brian Jones
Summer Joplin
Melissa Jordan
Heather Jowersd
Amy Justice

Sabrina Joyner
Ali Kadiri
Michael Kahrs
Tera Karick
Chad Kaylor
David Keen
Daniel Keene
John Kelly
Denise Kemp

Stacie Kemper
Brian Kennedy
Heidi Kennedy
Michelle Kent
Ryan Kertesz
David Kile
Kris Kilgore
Robery King
Hadassah King

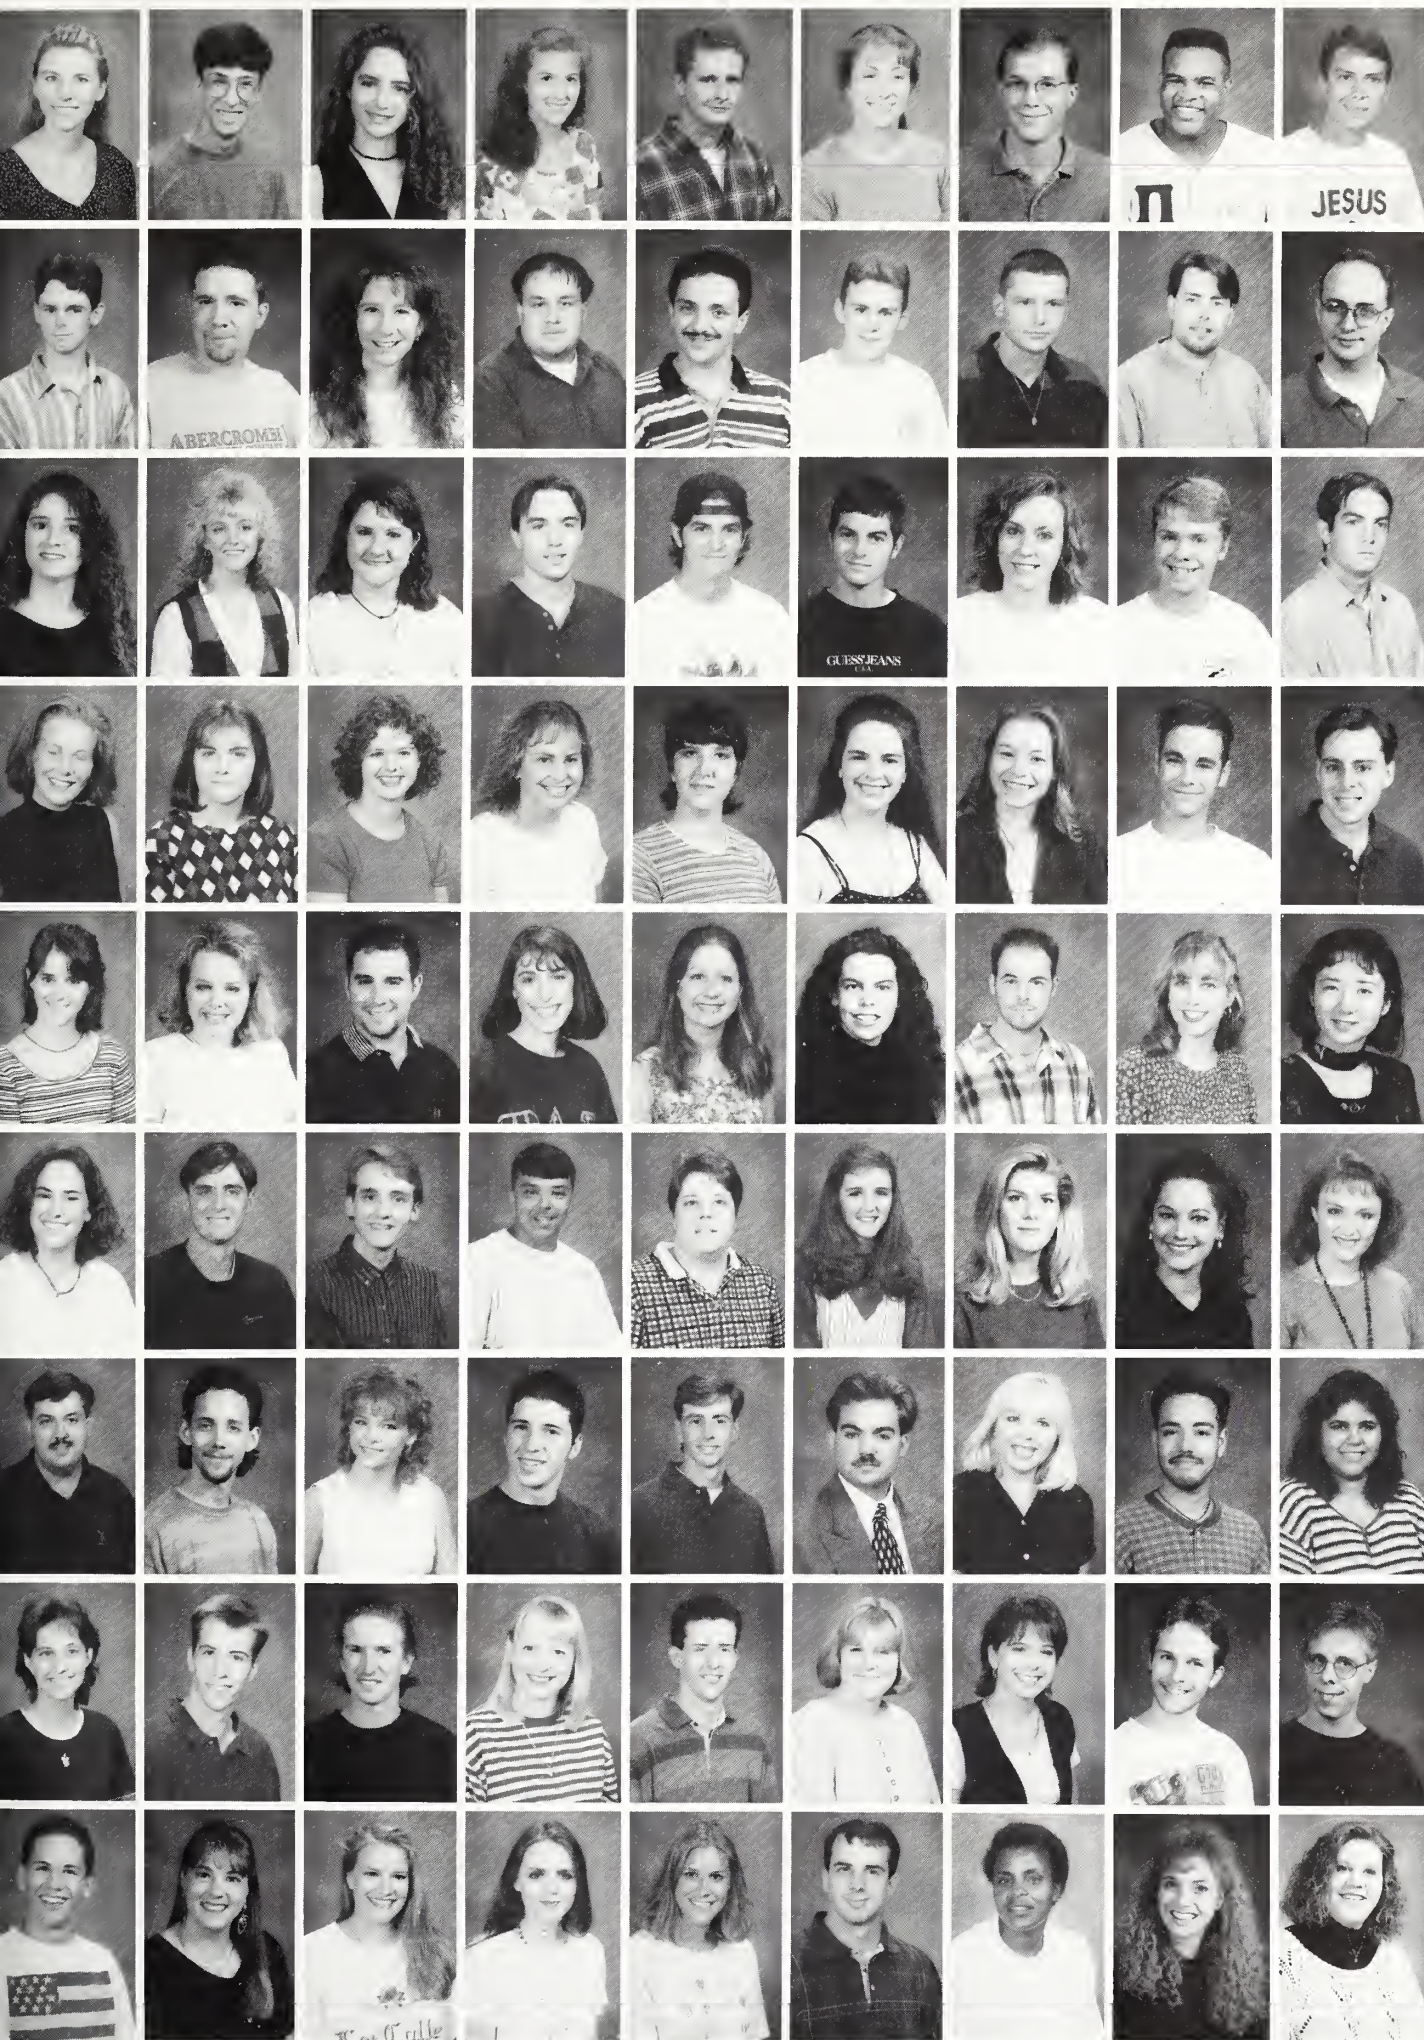

Robin King
Michael King
Steven Kinzer
Jason Kirkland
Chris Klicko
Chris Knipp
Vanessa Knowles
Gerald Knowles
Hoyt Knox

John Knohl Jr
Ryan Kramer
Karin Kramer
David Kratz
Amanda Kreider
Heather Kreis
Michelle Kreuzer
Natalie Lacara
Mathew Lafontaine

Gina Lakins
Mark Lamagna
Misty Lamb
Sharon Lambert
John Lancaster
Alanna Land
Eric Landers
Kenneth Lane
Nathan Lane

James Lane
Brian Lang
Lori Lang
Mark Langdon
Billy Langley
Timothy Lantrip
Bill Lantrp
Brandon Larson
Charles Lawhon

Crystal Lawrence
Jennifer Lawrence
Heather Lawry
Aaron Lawson
Derek Lawson
Eric Lawson
Erin Lawson
Chris Lawson
Jeff Laughlin

Kristen Laughlin
Kelly Layne
Cora Leblanc
Brittney Ledford
Becky Lee
Julie Lee
Kerrie Lee
Dustin Lee
Jimmy Leek

B. J. Lefler
Tara Lemons
Jason Leonard
Michelle Lester
Rachel Levy
Dallas Lewis
William Lewis
Lorinda Lewis
Jiyoung Lim

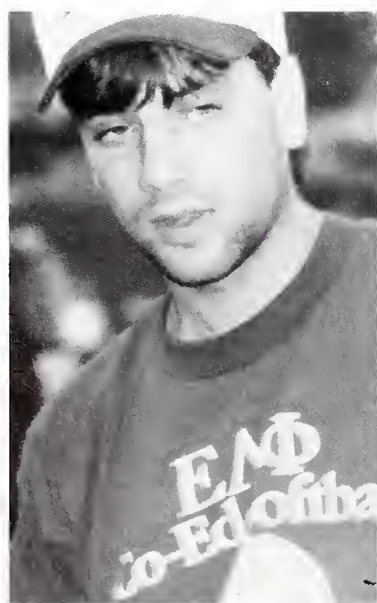

Tara Lindahl
Ryan Linnemann
John Liner
Jody Lingerfelt
Stephanie Link
Chasity Lipp
Stephanie Livingston
Anna Livingston
Audra Little

Keith Little Brandon Little Trista Lloyd
Tim Lockemy
Robert Lockerman
William Lofton
April Lopez
David Lopez
Allison Logan

Abbi Lovelace
Jake Lovelace
Kenneth Loveless
Michelle Lovins
Jason Lowe
Aimee Lowery
Lori Lowry
Jeremy Loyd
Steven Lucas

Brandon Lunsford
Jennifer Lynn
Tera Lynn
Maggie Mabie
Lori Maciak
Steve Mahaffey
Hannah Maharie
Kristi Maitlen
Kelly Malone

A Look BACK AT Intramurals

Tally Mandi
Christian Mann
Eugene Mares
Figueroa Mariceli
Jason Marion
Johnna Marks
Katrina Marshall
James Marshall
Michelle Marshall

David Marshall Jr
Bethany Martin
Charles Martin
Hannah Martin
Hauns Martin
Heidi Martin
Jimmy Martin
Joni Martin
Joshua Martin

Ruth Martin
Shannon Martin
Stephen Martin
Stephen Martin
Julia Mason
Amanda Massey
James Matchalk
David Mathis
Lisa Mathis

Jason Matthews
Jeremy Mauldin
Julie Mauley
William Mayden
Olivia Mayeux
Dwayne Maynard
Jennifer Maynard
Charity Maynard
Matt Maynor

Melanie Mayo
Deanna Maze
Kathryn Maze
Erin Mcchesney
Josh Mcclam
Kristy Mcclanahan
Shelly Mcclanahan
Eric McCleery
Matt Mcclung

Dale McClure
Mary Mcconwell
Bobbi Mccowan
Rose Mccoy
Timothy Mccrary
Jennifer Mccrary
Megan Mccurry
Shawn Mccutchan
Phil Mccutchan

Kris Mcdaniel
Melvin Mcelrath
Tanner Mcfall
Mark Mcgee
Michael McGinnis Dawn McGowan
Christy McGrew
Amy McGuffy
Elizabeth McGuire

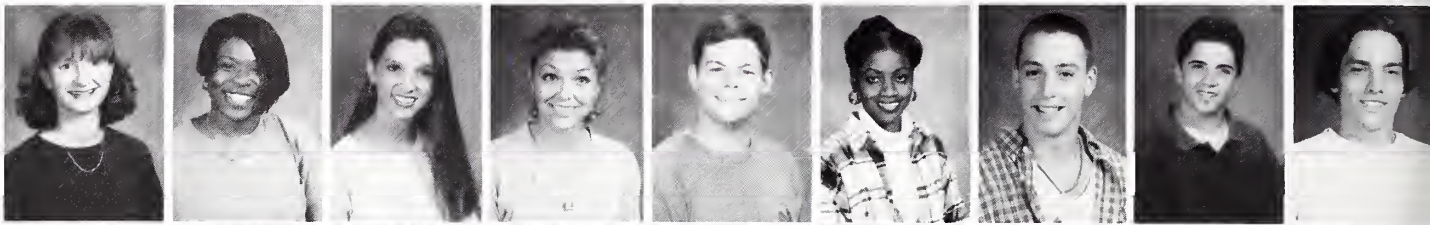

Mary McGuire
Kristi Mchugh
Holly McIntosh
Wesley Mckenzie
Calvin McKinley
David McKinnie
Joshua Mcknight
Rachel McLaughlin
Tara McLendon

Allison McLuhan
Catherine McMullin
Elayne Mchaughton
Audrey Mcqueen
Kevin Mechwart
Heather Medley
Amy Medlin
Clark Medlin
Sharon Melton

Tim Melton
 Benjamin Menk
 Zachary Meredith
 Clint Messer
 Tammie Metcalf
 Jeremy Meyers
 Leah Miklos
 Gretchen Miles Jessica Miles

Regina Miles
 A. Catina Miller
 Candace Miller
 Cheree Miller
 Clay Miller
 Deidre Miller
 Joel Miller
 Louis Miller
 Nathan Miller

Toni Miller Dwight Millsaps
 Jason Millwood
 Beverly Milner
 Michael Mink
 Angelic Mitchell
 Charles Mitchell
 Heather Mitchell
 James Mitchell

Robert Mitchell
 Thomas Mitchell
 Valerie Mitchell
 Jillian Modise
 Brian Mohn
 Aaron Moncrief
 Micah Monroe
 Heather Montgomery
 Natsha Montgonmery

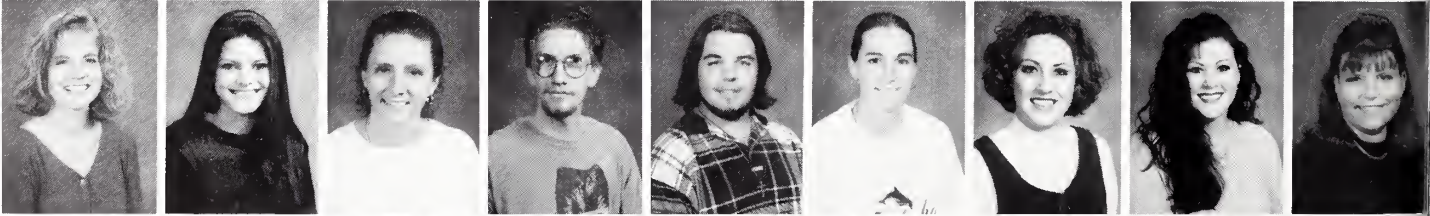

Nicole Montgomery
 Tara Montgomery
 Deborah Moodley
 Carla Moody
 Greg Moody
 Brent Moore
 Christa Moore
 Jeanine Moore
 Jennifer Moore

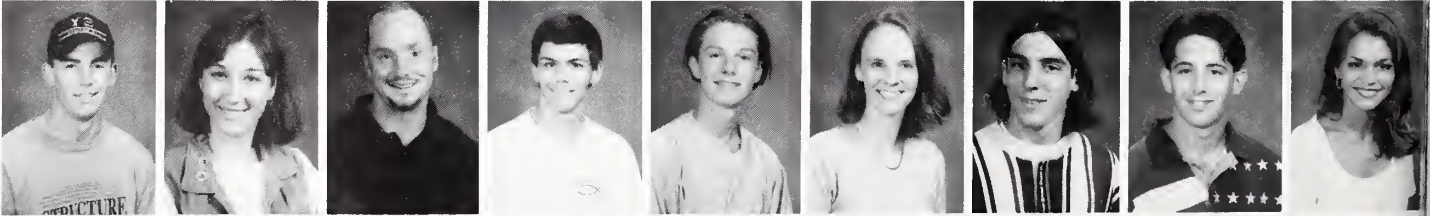

Ernest Morales
 Kelly Moran
 Brandy Morgan
 Lawrence Morgan
 Louis Morgan
 Michelle Morgan
 Alesia Moraney
 Deanna Morris Derek Morris

Jana Morris
 Tamara Morris
 Brittany Morrison
 Scott Morrison Chris Moser
 Lea Moss
 Amy Mott
 Elisa Mott
 Amy Mottley

Richie Mullis
 Jenny Mulner
 Sean Mulvihill
 Chad Muncy
 James Mundy
 Julie Murphy
 Brent Murray
 Chad Murray
 Kristen Murray

Melissa Murray
 Sarah Murray
 Melanie Myers
 Terry Nations
 Jamie Neaton
 Aaron Neely
 Charles Nelson
 Cynthia Nelson
 Jay Nelson

Wear A Hard Hat

Hard Hats almost became a part of our wardrobe this year as buildings continued to go up left and right. Along with new apartment buildings, the new music building went up while the old one came tumbling down. And of course, the much-anticipated, long-awaited addition to the student dining hall, made walking on the pedestrian mall rather interesting.

Being HEALTH Conscious

From the Lee Collegian

Lee College Health Services planned a number of exciting and innovative activities for students during Health Week 1995, which was held on September 25, 1995. According to Arlette Robinson, the director of the college facility.

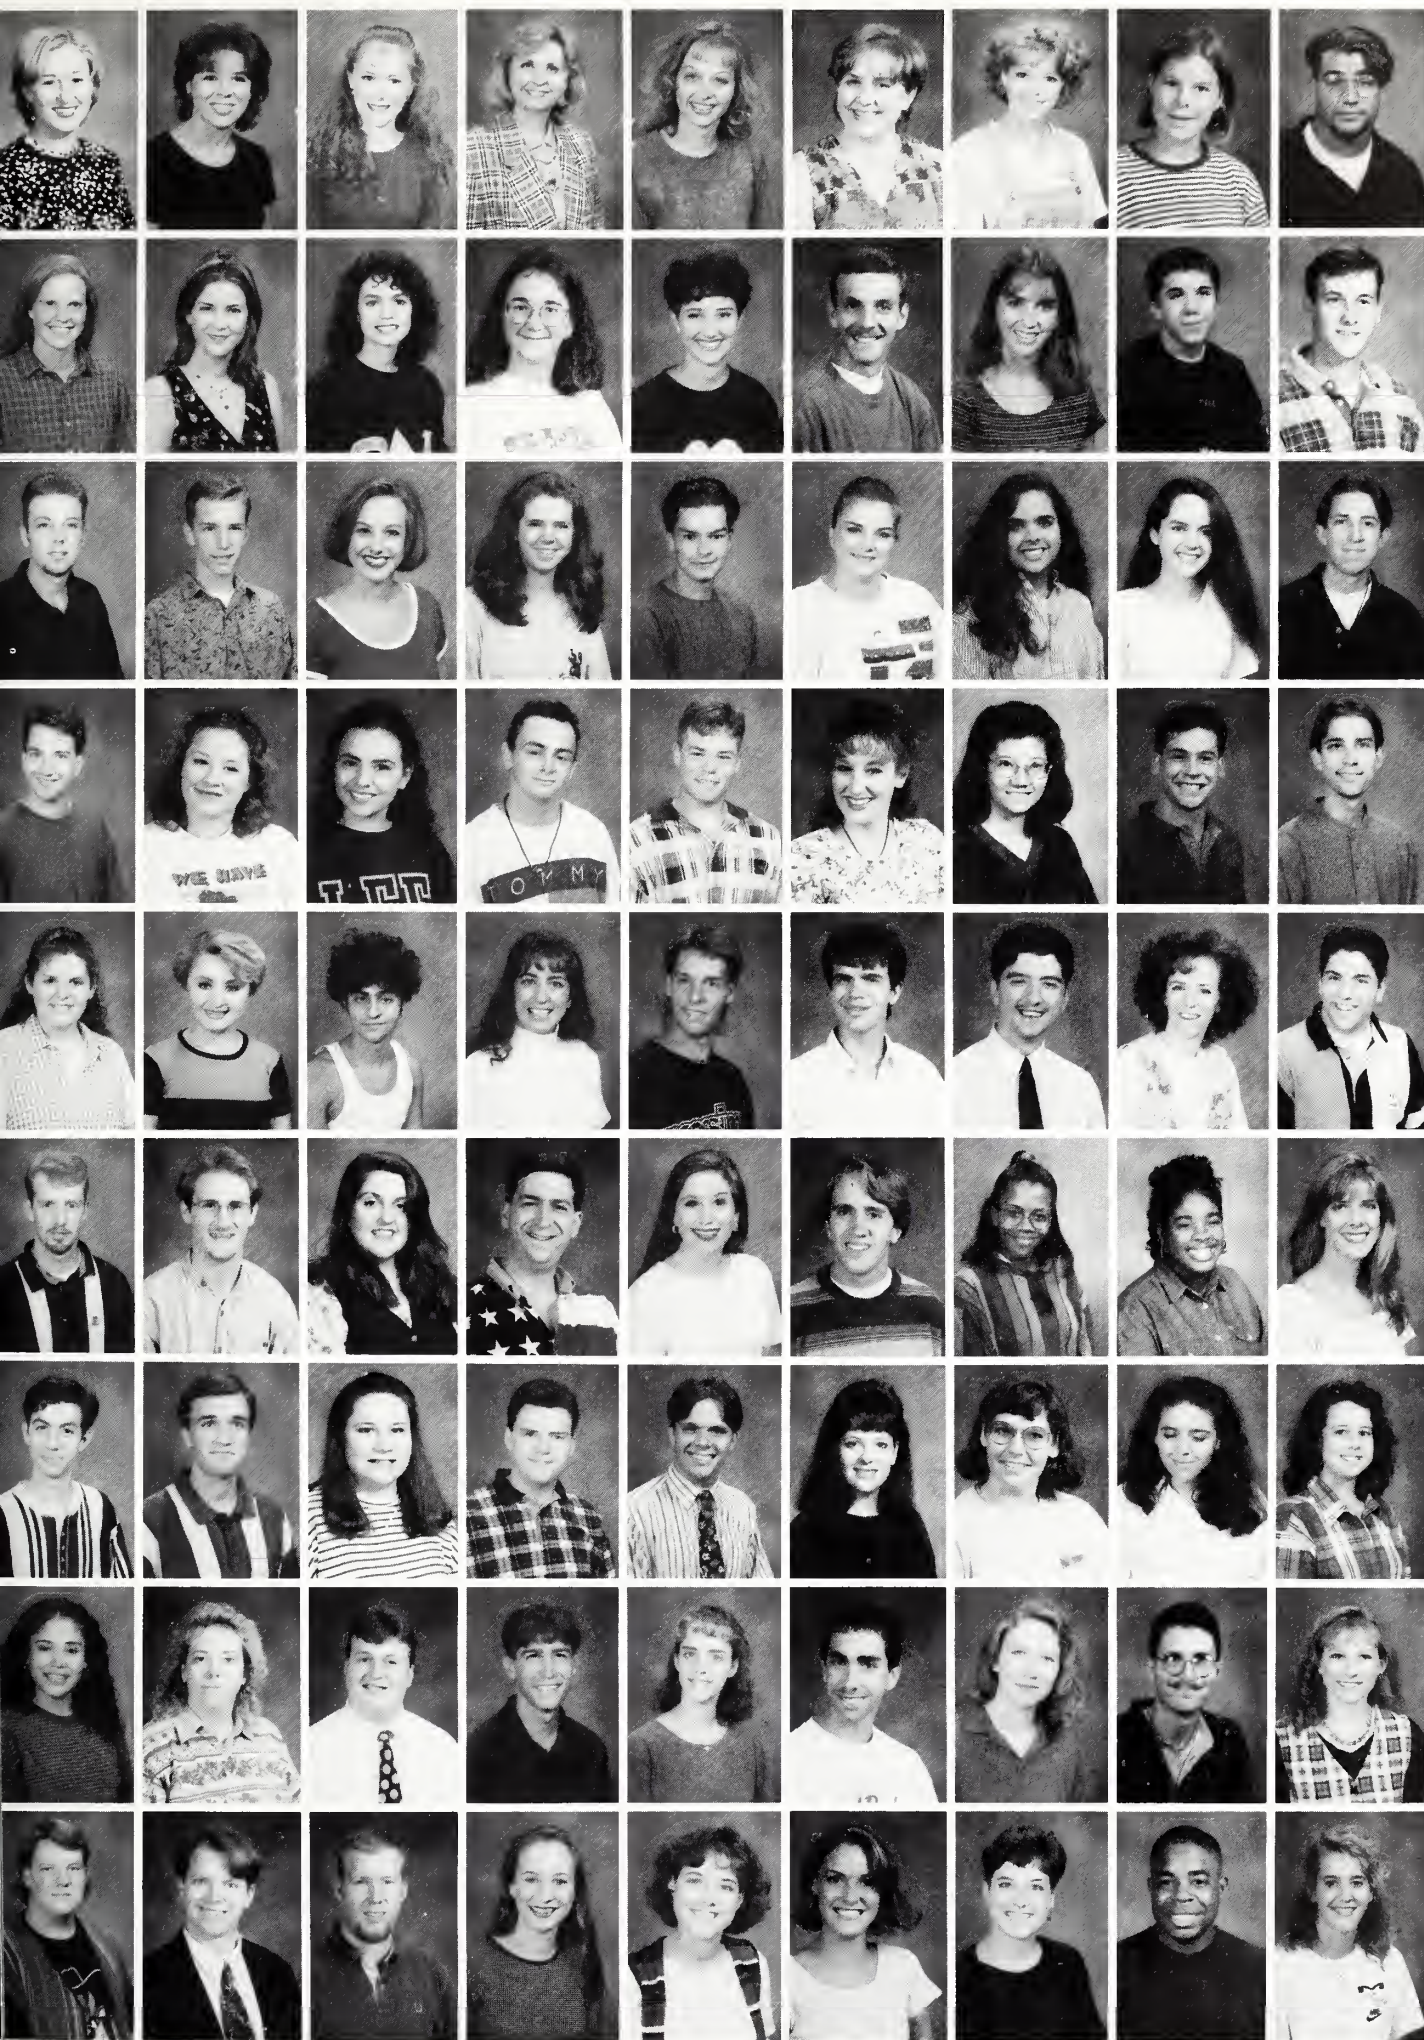

"We had a very large number of students and faculty to be involved in all of our activities. There was a lot going on around campus that week," Ms. Robinson said.

Health Week 1995 was held in the DeVos Recreation Center. The festivities centered around a three-day blood drive as well as the annual Health Fall Festival.

T-shirts were be given to all students and faculty who donated blood for the cause. On September 27, 1995, over 40 area hospitals, physicians and other health-related organizations were on campus to display the latest technologies as well as to administer free health tests. Ms. Robinson said Body Dynamics was on campus to give free head and neck massages to students and faculty. In addition, free blood pressure and cholesterol levels were administered.

An added event was the Food Bank Walk-A-Thon on September 28, 1995. The person who raised the most money received $50.

This marks the second consecutive year that Health Services has sponsored Health Week.

Jennifer Nelson
Alicia Newburn
Melissa Newton
Patsy Nichile
Amanda Nichols
Lombard Niki
Brenda Nolan
Cynthia Nolen
Patrick Norris

Sarah Norsworthy
Robin Northcutt
Elizabeth Nuckles
Meghan Obrien
Christy Odom
Jason Odom
Jennifer Odom
Sean Odonelli
Ryan Ogden

Joseph Olberg
Stephen Oleary
Misto Oliver
Rebecca Oman
Jeremy Ormsby
Angela Orr
Amanda Osborne
April Osborne
Chad Osborne

Pete Osterbauer
Paula Otero
Nicole Owens
Spencer Owens
Timothy Owens
Amanda Ownby
Ethel Paanno
Joshua Padgett
Brent Page

Deanna Palmatary
Carey Palmer
Jason Palmer
Heather Parham
Brandon Parker
Brent Parker
Walter Parker Jr
Karen Parkison
Eric Parks

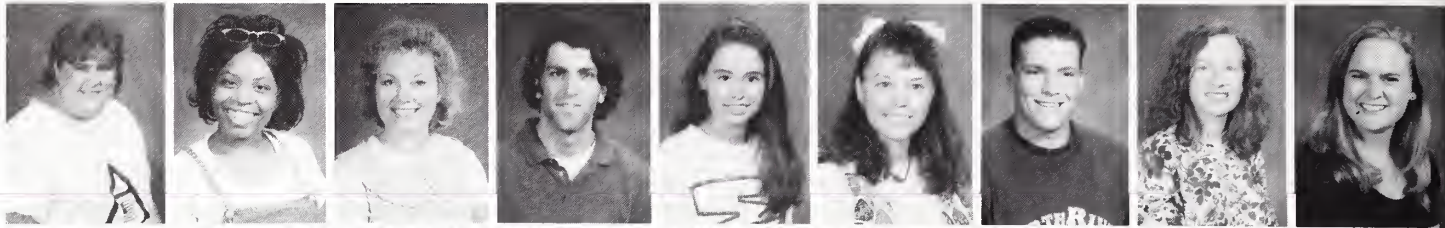

Danny Parnell
Kayle Parr
Susan Parrish
Bradley Pass
Amanda Patterson
Brian Patterson
Kimberly Patterson
Tanash Patterson
Merica Patton

Chris Paul
Christopher Payne
Angela Peacock
Dennis Peacock
Brian Pearson
Darlene Pedersen
Kristen Peebles
Deborah Perdomo
Angela Pereira

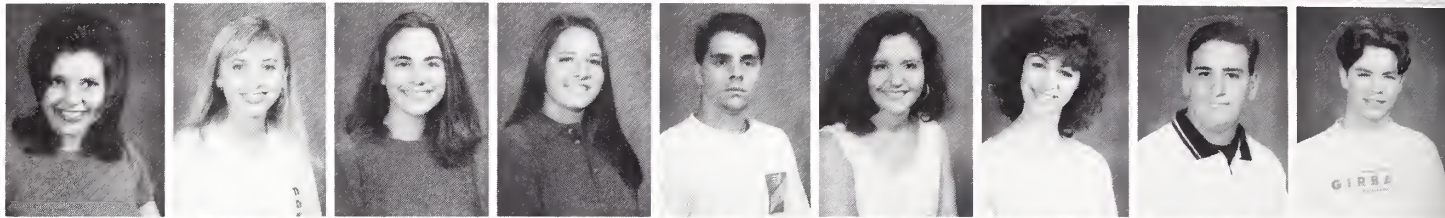

Tanya Perez
Sheila Perrine
Jamie Perry
Lance Perry
Meg Perry
David Petersen
Cara Peterson
Dale Peterson
Michelle Peterson

Adam Phelps
Daniel Phelps
Eric Phillips
Jessica Phillips
Laura Phillips
Lora Phillips
Lynn Phillips
Quinn Phillips
Shelley Phillips

Stacie Phillips
Tanean Phillips
Susan Phipps
Ronnie Pieper
Amie Pierce
Anna Pinti
Peter Piotrowski
Katherine Pitts
Lorita Plachek

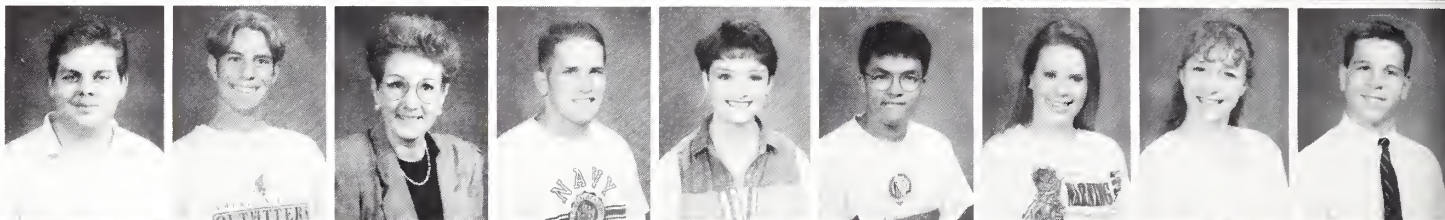

Dawn Pletcher
Svetlana Ponomaryov
Lisette Popejoy
Elisabeth Popkie
Brandon Porter
Jennifer Potter
Laurie Potter
Charles Powell
Matt Poyner

Jason Prentice
Addy Prescott
Christina Pressley
Craig Pressley
Gina Price
Laura Price
Phillip Price
Scott Price
Tiffany Prince

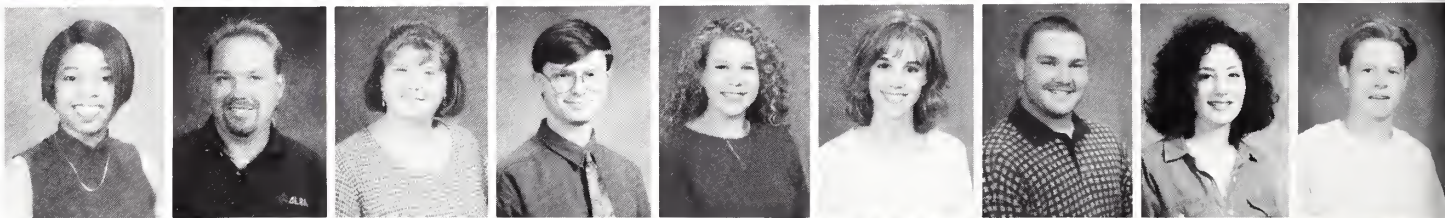

Shawn Pritchett
Glenn Propst
Carol Prudhome
Joshua Puhr
Kelli Pyeatt
Stephen Pyle
Sabrina Quillen
Amye Quinn
Christopher Quinn

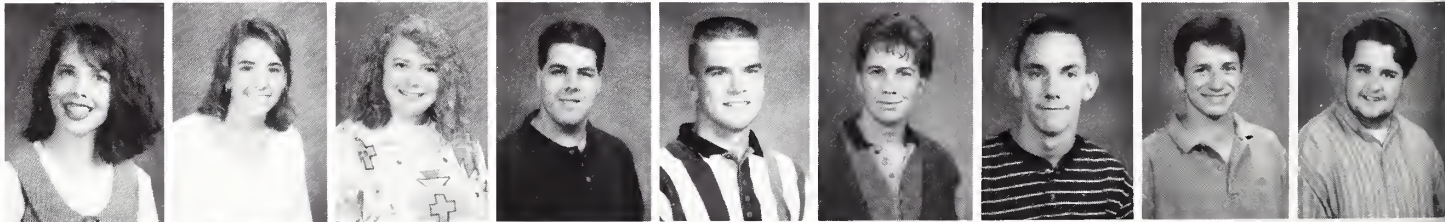

Lakeef Quinn
Earl Rabstatt
Michael Raburn
Melanie Radcliff
Daniel Rahamut
Brent Rains
Chanda Ramsey
Sonya Ramsey Teresa Ramsey

Dedrian Rance
Michael Randall
Julianne Raney
Chad Range
Amanda Rapp
Stacey Ratliff
Shane Rawlins
Tiffany Re
Lester Rector

Melinda Redman Heather Reed
Somer Reed
Robert Reid
Warren Reid
David Reish
Edward Renfro
Lucas Respondek
Matthew Reynolds

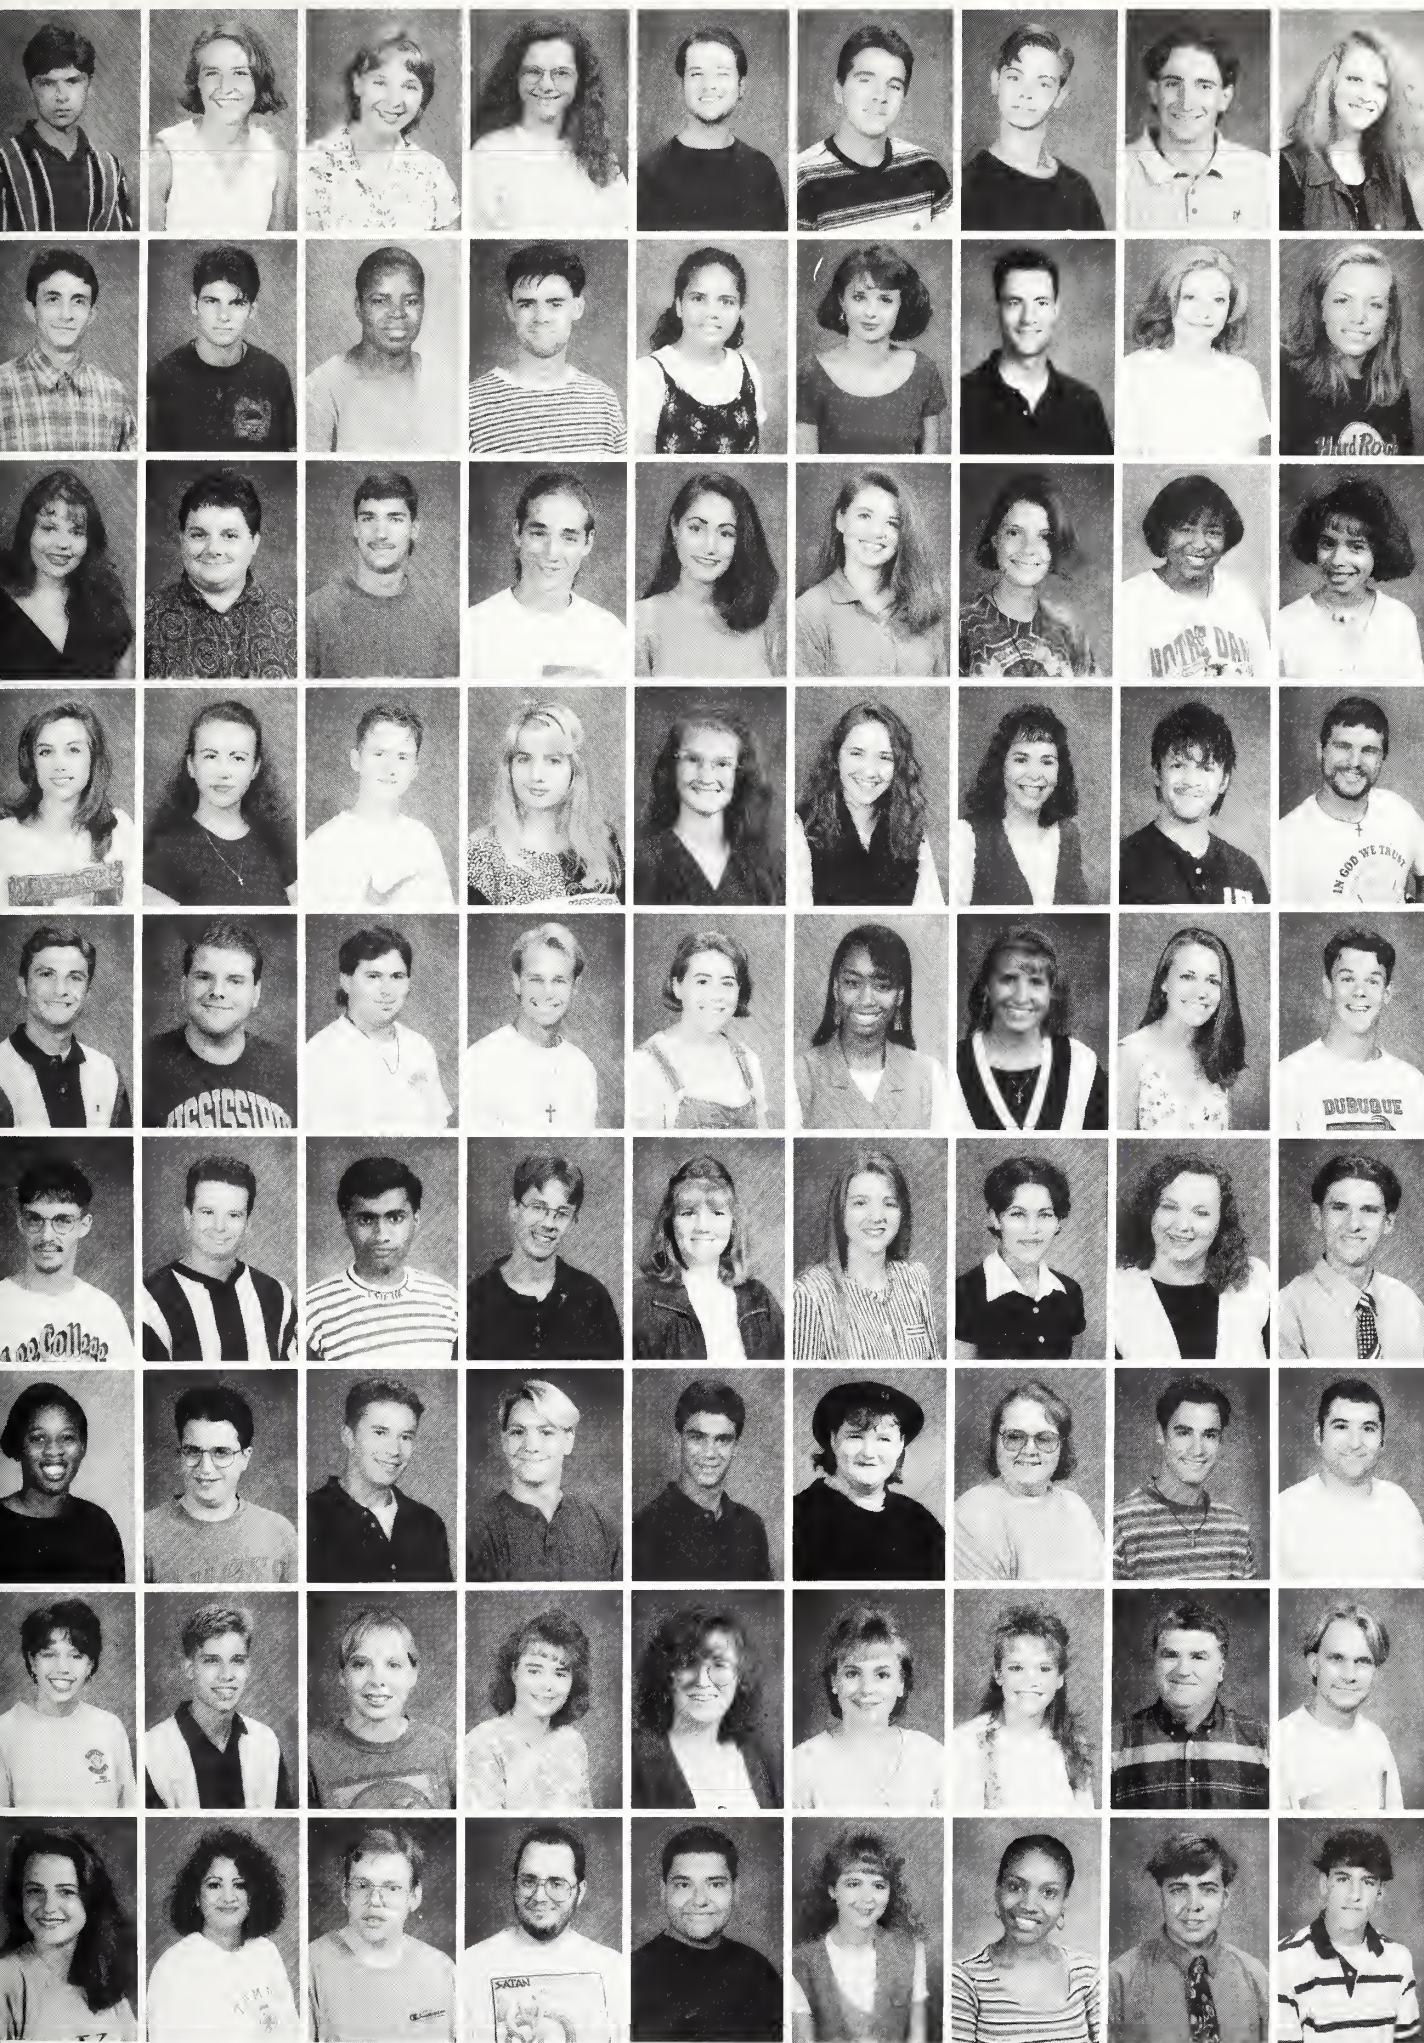

B. Diane Rhodes
Emilie Rice
Sabrina Rice
Sharon Rich
Todd Richards
C. Shawn Richardson
Daniel Richardson
Jason Richardson
Michael Richardson

Shane Richardson
Shay Richardson
Todd Richardson
Beth Richert
Timothy Richmond
Lorraine Richner
Nate Ridgeway
Melanie Ridley
Chad Ridner

Alphus Riggs IV
Andrea Riggins
Melissa Riggsby
Stacy Riggsby
Chris Riley
Howard Riley
Jeff Ringer
Thomas Roberts
Elizabeth Robinette

Marc Robinson
Justin Rodante
Janice Rodgers Troy Rodgers
Mariella Rodriguez
Brandi Rogers
Brian Rogers
Carissa Rogers
Jennifer Rogers

Summer Rogers
William Rogers
Mark Rogowski
Jason Rollins
Sonara Romito
Rachael Roney
Louise Rood
Tarmika Roots
Daphne Rosario

Tiffany Rosenberger
Rochelle Rosser
Chris Roudebush
Robin Rowell
Carrie Rowland
Kimberly Roy Julie Ruff
Mario Ruiz
Don Runkle

Jonathan Rush
Jonathan Rushing
Brian Russell
Mitch Russell
Stacy Russell
Valerie Russell
Tammy Ruth
Cynthia Ryals
David Sagraves

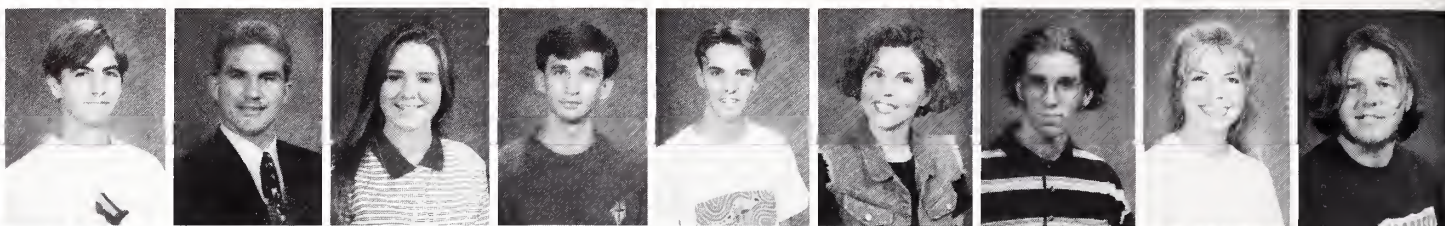

Steve Sagraves
Sidney Salcido
Vinod Samuel
Daniel Sanders
Jamie Sanders
Cheryl Sanderson
Irene Santos
Preston Sapp
Brian Sargent

Megan Saunders
Brian Saylor
Gary Schaekeel
Neil Scheibelhut
Zachary Scheidt
A. Joy Schindler
Charlotte Schober
David Scisciani
Mark Schock

Dawn Schuck
John Schuck
Shanda Scoggins
Andrea Scott
Heather Scott
Tammy Scott
Ranee Seal
William Seale
H. Lee Seals III

Rebecca Sears
Lisa See Bran
Vincent Seitz
Bruce Selvage, Jr.
Steven Sena
Traci Sester
Carol Seymour
Donald Shahan, Jr.
Rob Shannon

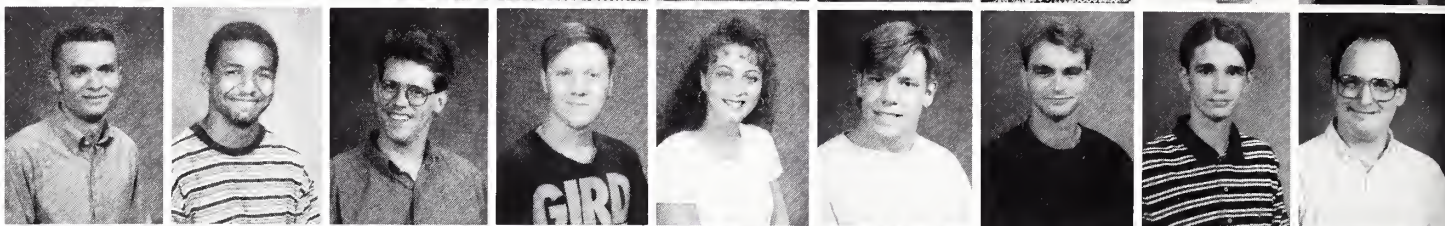

Derek Sharp
James Sharpe
Jenny Sheets
Yuri Shegera
Jeff Shelton
Krista Shelton
Brian Shields
B. Daniell Sherman
Shaun Sherman

Angelia Shields
Shari Shipley
William Shiver
Candace Shreve
Tabitha Shuff
Stacia Siders
Jennifer Sieger
Aaron Siller
Melissa Sills

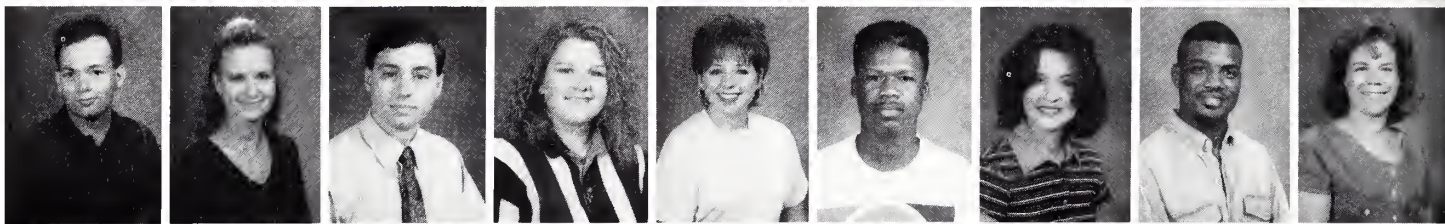

John Simmons
Keno Simmons
Lance Simmons
Travis Simmons
Taunya Simms
Chad Simon
Calin Simonca
Noel Simonca
Mike Simons

Eric Simonton
Heather Simpson
Heather Simpson
Katie Simpson
Stacy Simpson
Elizabeth Sims
Margaret Sines
Dana Sink
Lisa Sizemore

Lonnie Sizemore, Jr.
Marci Sleek
Robert Sluder
Angie Sultz
Cami Smallwood
Nathaniel Smart
Alicia Smith
Andre Smith

Cindy Smith
Derek Smith
Erin Smith
Heather Smith
Jason Smith
Jeremy Smith
Jeremy Smith
Jessica Smith
Lawton Smith

Mark Smith
Phillip Smith
Shawn Smith
Shawn Smith
Tommy Smith
Trinity Smith
William Smith
Vanessa Snead
Donette Snider

Brandy Snyder
Duke Snyder
Michael Snyder
Holly Sonnenschein
David Sosby
Noemi Soto
Crystal Sowder
Crystal Sowdes
Allon Sparks

Melissa Sparks
Ashley Speakman
James Speed
Keri Speed
Brian Speer
Misty Spell
Holly Spencer
Melody Spilde
Becke Stacey
Eric Stafford

Gospel

ACCORDING TO Elvis

By Elli DeLorenzo/Lee Collegian

Ever wonder where Elvis Presley learned how to pour every ounce of his being into his music? If you were thinking of Forrest Gump, forget it. Try the Pentecostal church.

That's right. Elvis Presley, the King of Rock and Roll, the lover of cheeseburgers and shag carpet, grew up in a bonafide Assemblies of God church and that's where Elvis cut his musical teeth.

When Elvis was a little boy, he attended the First Assembly of God in his hometown of Tupelo, MS, and later in Memphis. Elvis learned most of his stagecraft from the supremely flamboyant preachers of the 1940s and 50s. In addition, he was a great fan of the gospel quartets. Elvis claimed that Jake Hess, the lead singer for the Statesmen Quartet, was his musical inspiration.

Elvis even bragged about knowing practically every religious song that's ever been written. "Rock and Roll is basically just gospel music mixed with rhythm and blues," he said on his 1968 television special.

For the musicians at the Lee College School of Music, Elvis has had quite an impact, according to Dr. Jim Burns. "You'd be surprised at how much of an impact Elvis has had on this music professor," he said.

"We felt a kinship with him because he was Pentecostal. He could express himself through his music because of his upbringing in the church," Burns said.

Burns said that vibrant worship style that evolved from Elvis' background has biblical roots. "It can be traced back to the Hebrews. It's an important style of worship."

As far as other staff members with a touch of Elvis in their personality, Dr. Burns said that Dr. David Horton once sported a dandy ducktail.

From THE Collegian Files

By Todd Starnes/Lee Collegian

I was on my way to the restroom the other morning when I picked up the daily paper. No sense wasting time in the little boy's room. Know what I mean?

After checking out Mary Worth, I glanced at a rather startling headline in the local news section that caught my attention. "WOMAN BIT BY SQUIRREL IN BATHROOM," the headline blared.

With my curiosity piqued, I sipped my coffee and commenced to reading the story.

According to the paper, an Atlanta housewife was taking care of business in the little girl's room when she felt something nibbling at her bottom. It didn't take here long to figure out it wasn't the Tidy Bowl man.

Like any other right-thinking American, the woman leaped into the air, screaming like a banshee. An investigation revealed that an honest-to-goodness squirrel had crawled into this woman's latrine for unspecified reasons. According to authorities, the squirrel, identified as Mr. Squirrel, had not known criminal history.

The hysterical woman bolted down the lid of the toilet and doomed the furry, little fellow to an untimely death. The county coroner reported that Mr. Squirrel died as a result of accidental drowning.

Several thoughts came to mind as I pursued the article, the first being to remove my own buttocks from the porcelain bowl.

After shaking off a serious case of the willies, I reexamined the story with hopes of discovering what really happened in that suburban Atlanta dwelling.

Was it necessary for Mr. Squirrel to be subjected to such cruel and unusual punishment? Maybe he was simply looking for a refreshing drink of water. Or he could have mistaken the circular motion of the water for an indoor jacuzzi.

Regardless, the poor squirrel met an untimely death, but it wasn't from drowning. That's right, folks. Mr. Squirrel died from cardiac arrest.

Just put yourself in the squirrels position. Following a hard day of gathering nuts and berries, Mr. Squirrel cruised over to the restroom for a little rest and relaxation in the large, white, jacuzzi.

He sipped on a sparkling club soda and adjusted his Raybans as the water jets sprayed soothing bubbles on his furry exterior.

Suddenly, a dark shadow appeared on the horizon. What could it be? An eclipse? The Apocalypse? Day light savings time?

STROOMS

Concerned, Mr. Squirrel peeped over the edge and squeaked out in fright as two large cheeks of tanned flesh moved perilously close to the waterlogged rodent.

Within seconds, the two, massive dorsal regions and plunged Mr. Squirrel into total darkness, surrounded only by still, quiet water.

In a final, fleeting effort to escape from his deathtrap, Mr. Squirrel squeaked, gnashed his teeth, and tried to claw his way to freedom only to meet a tragic demise at the hands, or rather bottom, of an Atlanta housewife.

It reminds me of an old Southern saying: Look twice before you cross the road, think twice before you sit on the commode.

Amy Stamps
Darlynn Stamm
Matthew Stancel
Jennifer Stanley
Shannon Stanley
Brenda Stanton
Dylan Starcher
Steven Stark
James Starkey

Joe Starr
David Staton
Meredith Staver
Anthony Stevens
Crystal Stephens
Gina Stephens
Jennifer Stephens Shane Stephens
Larry Sterling, Jr.

Jason Streun
Jason Steward
Jayna Stewart
Jonathan Stone
Melanie Stone
Tracy Stone
Anita Stout
Garland Stout
Micah Stratton

Dusty Strickland
Heather Strickland
Shea Strickland
Melissa Stroud
Tracy Stroud
Jake Stum
Julie Sturgill
Kelley Sullivan
Shanell Sullivan

Hope Summerlin
Sharon Summersett
Erinn Sunderman
Joshua Sundheim
Grace Surujpaul
Joy Sutton
Michael Swafford
David Swanson
Ben Sweeney

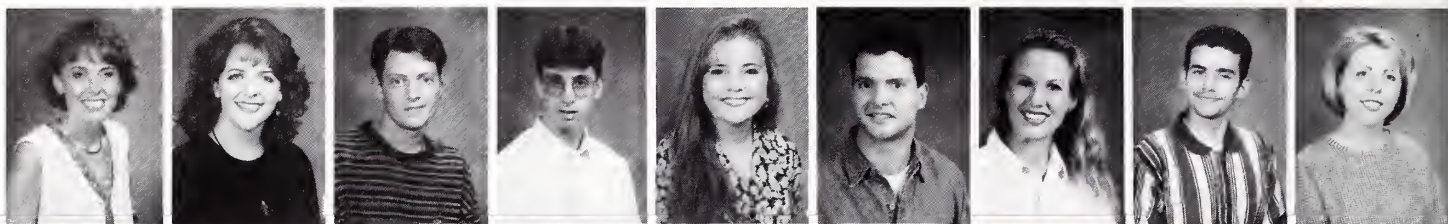

Christina Swift
Peter Swift
Neil Sylverston
Priscilla Tackett
Jessica Talbott
Jeremy Tallent
Thomas Tallent
Charryse Tallington
Kristal Tanner

Tim Tanner
Mark Tate
Shawn Tatham
Vicki Taulbee
Aaron Taylor
Christopher Taylor
Colette Taylor
Dana Taylor
Desmond Taylor

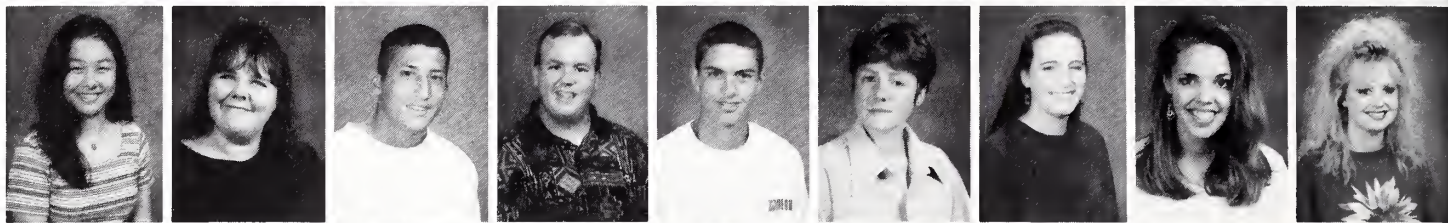

James Taylor
Marci Taylor
Robert Taylor
Tamara Taylor
Amity Tea
Matt Temple
John Terry, Jr.
Dewey Thomas
Donna Thomas

Karen Thomas
Lindsey Thomas
Shanta Thompson
Philip Thorpe
Stephen Thorpe
Dennis Threadgill
Michael Thurman
Lisa Tiets
Kevin Tighe

Laura Tighe
Heather Tillman
Brad Tingle
Shannon Tingley
Lauren Tipton
Michael Tipton
Spring Tiso
Jeremy Todd
Patricia Tomalewski

H. Tong
Cindy Topping
Marcus Torres
Travis Towne
Chris Townsend
Heidi Townsend
Jennifer Townsend
Joslyn Tredway
Shannon Trentham

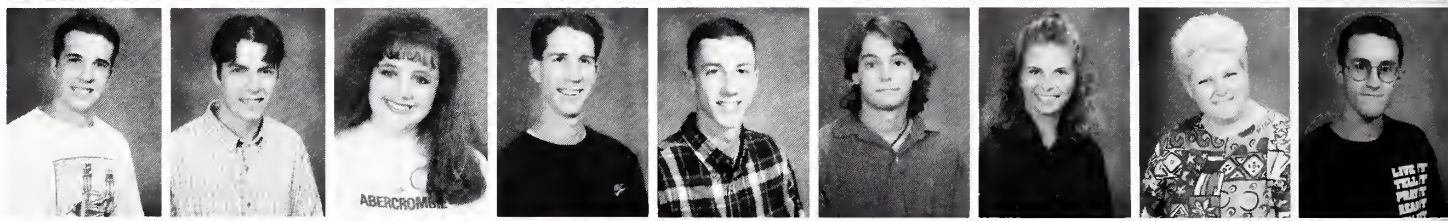

Melody Trotto
Robert Trump
Gary Trenum
Melanie Tullock
Amy Turner
Jessica Turner
Joshua Turner
Tracy Turner
Tony Tyboroski

Gary Tygart, Jr.
Dawn Tyler
Jonathan Tyndall
Jessica Usherwood
Shantelle Vaile
Stephanie Vandanker
Michael Vandevort
Cherie Vanoy
Rebecca Vandyne

Paul Van Fleet
Jayson Van Hook
Angie Varnell
James Vaughn
Paul Vaughn
Lamar Vest
Jennifer Viar
Sharon Villar
Nathaneal Villarreal

Dan Vincent
Melissa Vines
Gina Vyrostek
Gray Wachtel
Angela Waddell
Michael Wadel
Heather Wade
Matt Wagoner
Sheri Wagoner

Eric Waggoner
Rick Waggoner
John Waikel
Aaron Walaitis
Gena Walburn
Ryan Walburn
W. Russell Waldrop
Carla Wallace
Teresa Waller

Amy Walker
Littlefawn Walker
Stephanie Walker
Todd Walker
Tara Walker
Trent Walker
Carla Wallace
Wendy Waller
Stephanie Walston

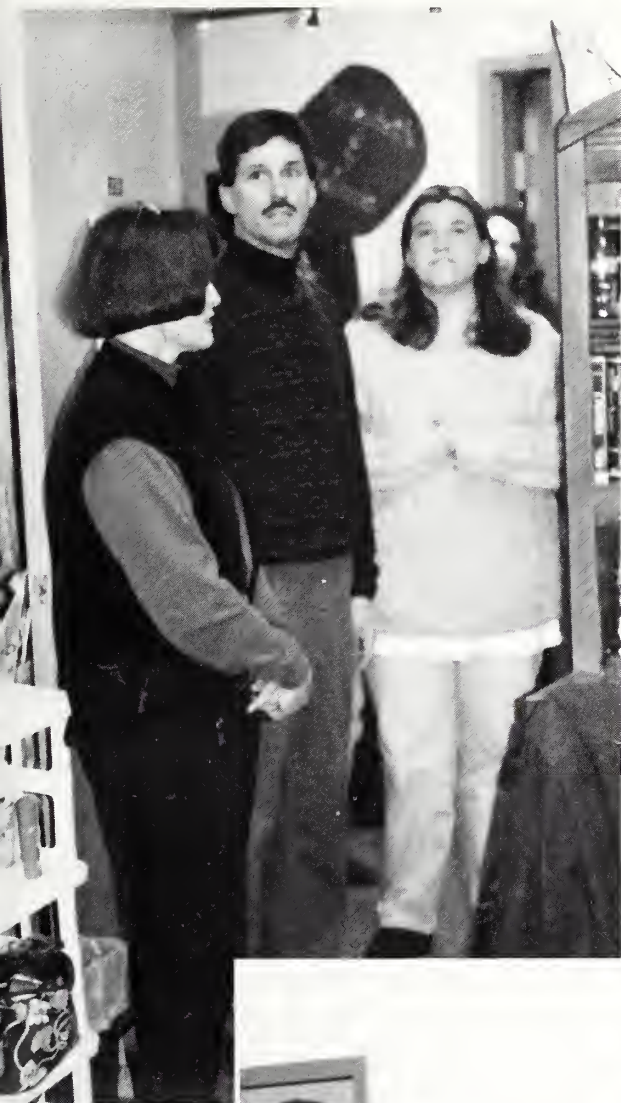

Janiese Ward
Jason Ward
Lisa Wargo
Mitzi Ward
Christi Warner
Ann Warren
Jason Warrington
Kristen Warwavesyn
Penny Waters

It was wonderful...It was above and beyond what I thought it would be.

-Suzanne Hamid

The Day that Dr. Conn visited

Despite the snow and icy conditions on campus, Dr. and Mrs. Conn made good on their promise to tour every dormitory on campus on Saturday, February 3.

The walk about campus was part of the tenth anniversary of Dr. Conn's presidency.

According to Suzanne Hamid, chairperson for the student celebration, the event was a great success.

"I believe it will be a memorable experience for Dr. and Mrs. Conn," Ms. Hamid said.

Memorable is certainly the word for the welcome the thugs from Hughes Hall gave Lee's First Couple. Living up to their name, the thugs transformed third floor into an Animal House wannabe - complete with a shrine to honor the beloved Dr. Conn.

Hunting FOR Eggs

You are never too young or too old to hunt for easter eggs as hundreds of Lee College students discovered during the Easter holiday. Eggs of all sizes were hidden around campus for girls and boys, both young and collegiate, to find. Inside the plastic eggs, finders discovered hidden treasures.

Wendy Waters
Jurline Watson
Shawn Watters
Amanda Webb
C. Nicole Webb
Hollye Webb
Jennifer Webb
Daniel Webster
Eric Weekley

Chris Weeks
Json Weil
Anthony Welber
Angela Wells
Karrie Wessel
Jimmy Westbrook
Bobbi Whaley
Christopher Whaley
Heather Wheeler

William Wheeler
Greg White
Juliet White
Leigh White
Jay Whitley
Michael Whitley
Dale Whitson
Rich Whitter
Matt Whitworth

Jim Wickes
Allen Wilfong
Allen Wiljnsng
Beth Wilking
Erin Willey
Allison Williams
Andrea Williams
Angela Williams
Anthony Williams

Bobbie Williams
Douglas Williams
Glenn Williams
Kellie Williams
Kevin Williams
Kristy Williams
Melanie Williams
Melody Williams
Nikki Williams

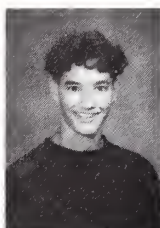

Renee Williams
Rodney Williams
Saxon Williams
Scott Williamson
Jonathan Wills
Andrea Wilson
Chris Wilson
David Wilson
Heather Wilson

Jeffrey Wilson
Kelly Wilson
Chris Wilson
Rebekah Wilson
Rickey Wilson
Megan Wilson
Timothy Wilson
Shellie Wimmer
Clinton Winebchenr

Mary Wise
Rand Witz
Jeffrey Wolf
Amanda Wolfe
Amanda Wolfe
Jennifer Wolfe
Rachel Wolgamott
Cayla Womac
Esther Wong

Damon Wood
David Wood
Marilyn Wood
Thomas Wood
Todd Wood
Amy Woodfin
Bill Woodruff
Ursula Woodward
Jason Woody

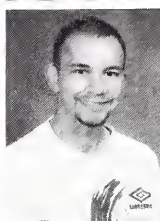

William Woody, Jr.
Brent Wooley
Brendda Wooten
Judy Wooten
Andrea Wright
Hope Wright
Jenny Wright
Tony Wright
Todd Wright

Warren Wright
Willie Wright, Jr.
Melissa Wyckoff
Matthew Wolgemuth
Beth Yandergraph
Jeremy Yoder
Damon Young
Wendy Young
Nellie Zyas

Peter Zefo
Michele Zillius
Erin Zimmer

The day THE Greeks PRAYED

The Greek community gathered at the flag pole in front of Higginbotham Administration for a See You at the Pole rally on Wednesday, September 20.

On this national day of prayer, the Greek clubs were given ten minutes each to pray for the United States and its leaders.

"This was a national day of prayer open to all students on campus," said Billy Humphrey, Greek Council chairman.

"We felt that if the Greek community would take the time to stop and pray, then other students would pray as well."

Dwain Allen, chaplain of Alpha Gamma Chi, called the event an eye-opener.

"Anytime you bring people together to pray, it brings an awareness into ministry," he said.

By David Fountain
The Lee Collegian.

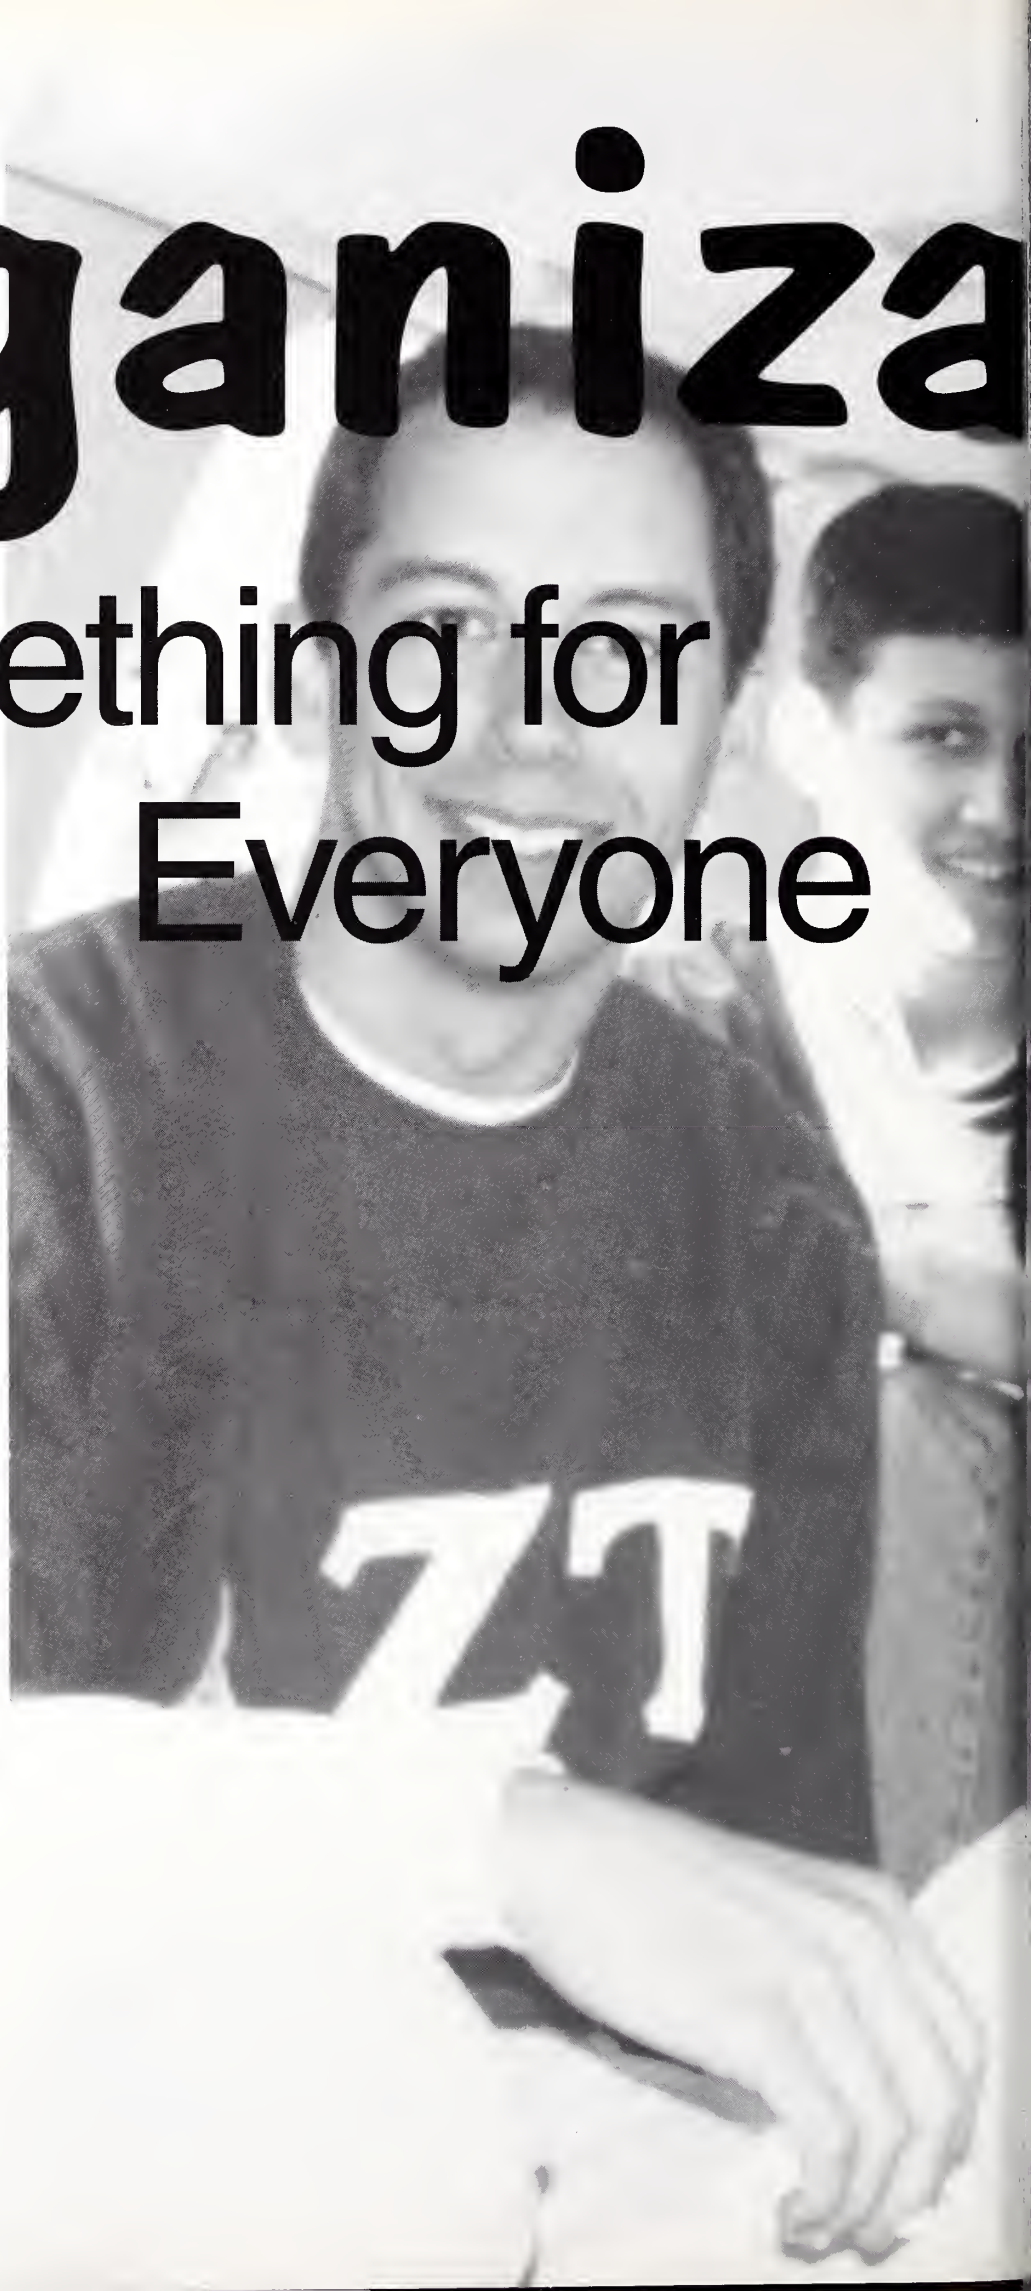

Organiza

Something for Everyone

Through the various clubs, choirs, and organizations, a student has many choices for involvement. ORGANIZATIONS minister on the campus, in the local community, and in other states and countries.

Between Greeks, choirs, bands, and numerous other organizations such as the Student Government and CAB, it's assured that if you are a student at Lee and want to get involved then you can.

180* Organizations

tions

The Greeks

THE BOYS AND GIRLS WITH COLOR

They work very hard each semester to bring many enjoyable events to you, the Lee student. You are able to enjoy such things as Pi Kappa Pi's Oktoberfest and Sigma Nu Sigma's Luau only through their hard work and dedication.

Each club, with its own individual style and personality, brings eight choices for membership. They hold a type of rush or get to know you party so you can experience first hand what it feels like to be a part of their family.

Select members from each club assemble together to form the Greek Council. They are the backbone to our Greek society and encourage friendships and unity between the various clubs.

All Photos Sheila Massengill

Tap Night

WE STOOD, WE WAITED, WE CLAPPED, WE LAUGHED, AND WE LEFT.

By Sheila Massengill

Held each semester in the freezing cold or the sweltering heat, tap night lives an age old tradition. The peddler is packed, barely allowing room for the clubs to pass through the crowds of observers and hopefuls. A ripple of screams and whistles drifts up into the night air as someone accepts the offer to become a brother or sister.

A watchful eye might catch the outsiders. They not in a suit and tie, but bearing their letters across their chest, standing in the midst of people alongside their prospective tap.

As the ritual draws near the end, each club honors their new taps and their beaux and sweethearts with a song. Then they disappear back into the night from which they came to begin their ceremonial inductions.

All Photos: Sheila Massengill

Alpha Gamma Chi

AH, HICKORY...YEAH WE'RE STILL SWINGING IT

This is a unique and prestigious group of gentlemen that has enchanted the campus of Lee College for thirty-three years. Chi is a social service club built strongly on the faithful brotherhood of its members. Their motto is "The Christian gentlemen and the Christian scholar...to the greater glory of God"

Chi have completed another year of activities benefiting the campus and the local community. These events included the traditional skating parties at the beginning of each semester and the Chi riverboat cruise which consisted of an evening of romance and fellowship aboard the Southern Belle. The return of the Ironman softball tournament and a freshman lock-in were a few other events offered to the students.

Chi have served the local community, lending a helpful hand to the Cleveland Boys' Club by working a haunted house on a volunteer basis. Chi also spend numerous Saturdays visiting nursing homes in the Cleveland area.

Chi closed the year out with a strong finish by winning the first intramural cup offered to the Lee College campus.

Jason Abernathy

Sheila Massengill

Holly Eklund

Sheila Massengill

Fall: President Jon Rogers, Secretary Matt Mndi, Treasurer Tony Weh, Chaplain Duain Allen, Parliamentarian Jeff Black, Historian Duke Snyder, Alumni Coordinators Brian Henry, Brett Mayes. Spring: President Jon Rogers, Vice President Matt Mndi, Secretary Elna Adams, Treasurer Brett Mayes, Chaplain Brian Alderman, Parliamentarian Doc Hughes, Historian Brian Henry, Alumni Coordinator Will Campbell.

Sheila Massengill

Sheila Massengill

Jason Abernathy, Elia Adams, Brian Alderman, Dwain Allen, Micah Andrews, Dana Anderson, Shawn Black, Shannon Burton, Kevin Barber, Emil Brown, Jeff Black, Brad Blackmon, Jason Crouch, Matt Cowherd, Will Cambell, Brian Conn, Jeremy Conn, Todd Davenport, Ronnie Everage, Kevin Gunter, Brian Hunter, Doc Hughes, Brian Henry, Nate Heyman, Jne Hatcher, Jason Jeter, Brian Jines, Ryan Kramer, Brandon Lagle, Mike Lawson, Jeff Laughlin, Dereck Lawson, Matt Mundy, Brett Mayes, Mac McClain, Matt Mondt, Dennis Purvis, Lance Powers, Mike Rester, Jon Rogers, Shane Rawlins, Todd Still, Shannon Skipper, Dave Sagraves, Dereck Sharp, Chad Schollaert, Ira Shaw, Jon Stone, Duke Snyder, Eddie Turner, Rob Trump, Rob Taylor, Micah Vnarritskul, Tony Webb, Tony Wright, Jimmy Westbrook, Jason Yonker. Sweetheart Anna Herschman, Little Sisters: Monica Knight, Deanna Smith, Michelle Kreuzer, Ashley Spearman, Pam Cobb, Erin Powers, Esther Wong, Kristy Verdel, Lisa Olsen. Sponsors: Andy Blackmon, Hubert Seals, Alan McClung, Phil Cook, Mike Hays.

Sheila Massengill

Sheila Massengill

Shawn Watters

Julie Elder

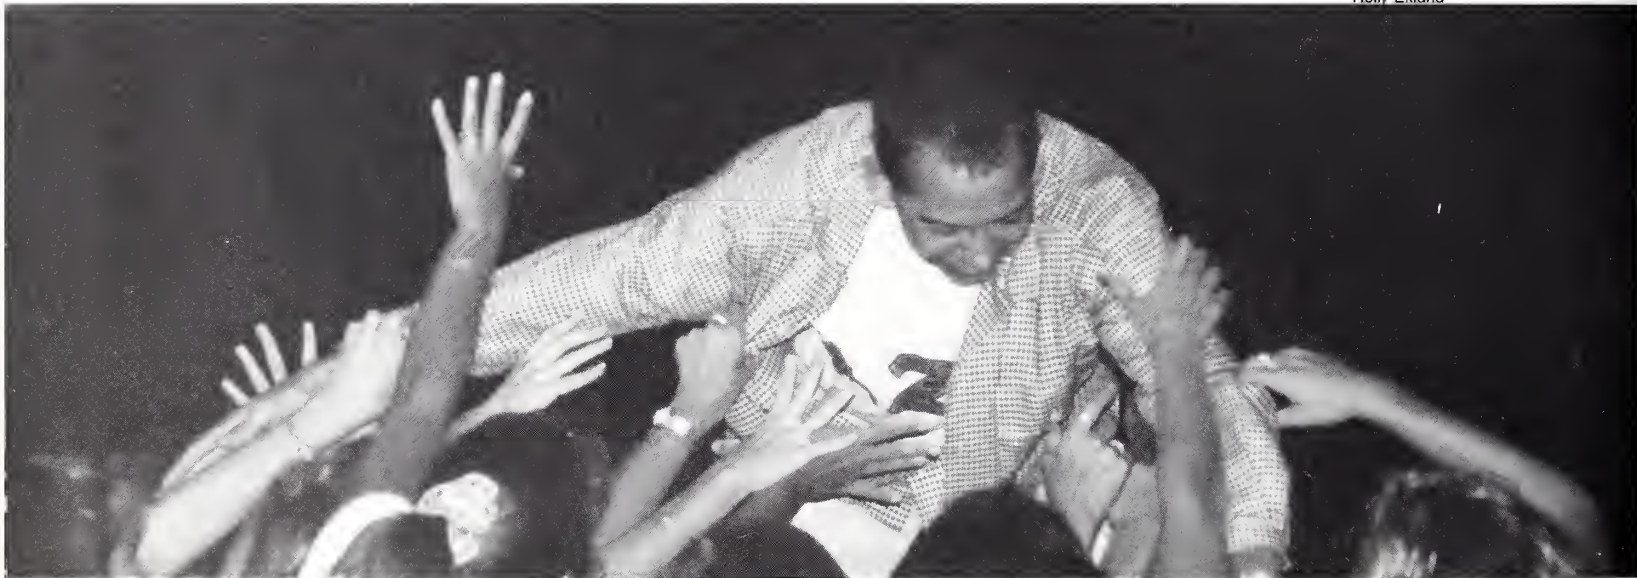

Johnny Hughes

Teresa Anderson, Andrea Antwine, Noemi Atilas, Julie Barker, Alicia Berry, Melinda Bigham, Carla Blaiser, Emily Brown, Noemi Browning, Kristy Carroll, Cheryl Chastain, Pam Cobb, Mary Terrell Dannie, Stephanie Davenport, Katie Dingman, Amber Douglass, Serita Devries, Susan Duval, Karla Elder, Rachael Fletcher, Michelle Fowler, Kelli Fred, Lori Gibson, Shawna Gwaltney, Mia Hall, Stephanie Haney, Anna Herschman, Beth Hill, Emily Holloway, Kerri Hudson, Stacy Isom, Marika Jewell, Aletha Johns, Anita Jones, Christy Kile, Kelly Kinser, Monica Knight, Michelle Kreuzer, Lorinda Lewis, Stephanie Livingston, Olivia Mayeux, Michelle McGuire, Deann McHam, Kristi McHugh, Angeline McMullin, Natasha Montgomery, Nikki Montgomery, Merica Patton, Kristin Peebles, Jennifer Pickens, Dee Rance, Dawn Schuck, Angie Shields, Tracy Smith, Sharon Spencer, Kristy Verdel, Allison Williams, Nikki Williams, Megan Williams, Andrea Wright. Gentlemen: Beau Billy Humphrey, Jeff Black, Andy Blackman, Jason Browning, Todd Davenport, Bobby Haines, Matt Hanrahan, Jon Rogers, Matt Rogers, Micah Poraritskul, Tony Webb. Sponsors: Patty Blackman, Tanya Rose, Carolyn Williams.

Fall: President Monica Knight, Vice President Angeline McMullin, Chaplain Anita Jones, Recording Secretary Mia Hall, Corresponding Secretary Stephanie Haney, Treasurer Natasha Montgomery, Parliamentarian Naomi Browning, Co-Historians Kristy Verdel, Susan Duval Spring President Angeline McMullin, Vice President Anna Herschman, Chaplain Kelly Kinser, Recording Secretary Amber Douglass, Corresponding Secretary Stephanie Haney, Treasurer Natasha Montgomery, Parliamentarian Sharon Spencer, Historian Andrea Wright.

Holly Eklund

Sheila Massengill

Sheila Massengill

Delta Zeta Tau

FULFILLING THE LIFE AS A SERVANT....AH...ΔZT

Kelly Kinser and
Allison Williams

From entertaining the children of Lee College faculty and staff in their annual Easter egg hunt to having two members walking away with the top two positions in the 1996 Parade of Favorites, the ladies of Delta Zeta Tau sought to serve the campus and community in as many ways as possible.

The lovely ladies of Delta Zeta Tau were actively involved all over campus. Student Government, Campus Activities Board, singing in four of the five choirs, women's athletics and the Advancement team all have ladies in red serving Lee College. Sweethearts and Little Sisters serve the men's Greek clubs, but the heart of Delta Zeta Tau lies in sisterhood. They serve each other in love as sisters in Christ.

they worked with the children from Crowder Chapel and visited the Bradley County Nursing Home on a weekly basis.

Each year they offer two campus-wide events: Harvest Hoe-down in the fall and a Valentine party in the spring. This past year

For over thirty years the ladies of Delta Zeta Tau have sought to serve.

ΔZT

Holly Eklund

Sheila Massengill

Julie Elder

Sheila Massengill

Upsilon XI

HICKORY, SAID WITH REVERENCE SWUNG IN IGNORANCE

[I]
T

The men of Upsilon XI completed another year of excellence serving the campus and community while having a "real good time." Upsilon kicked off the year with their annual Block Party complete with a "kickin'" band, the sounds of Bryon Wilkes, the antics of Jason Johnny Hughes

"Hanz" Hopkins and Bubba "Franz, Livingston, and the madness of M.C. Matthew Brumlow. The Block Party brought record numbers of students to the ped mall for an evening of social pursuing and stage diving.

The Sadies chase came back in full effect with all the trimmings in a muddy alumni park where hundreds of gals fought hard to steal the dolls from their obstinate dates. Sadie Hawkins turned out once again to be a huge success. Record numbers trekked out to the O'Bannon farm for some fun by the fires as Upsilon and friends entertained the crowd. They brought a 70s' theme to Sadies with "Let me stand next to your fire" anthem complete with big screen video footage of the chase and a live interview via satellite with Dr. Conn about his personal Sadies experiences.

Through the efforts of Sadies, Upsilon was able to help Big Pal/Lil Pal raise over $300 for the purchase of Bibles for kids in the program. Upsilon was involved in various other projects throughout the year, including delivering Thanksgiving meals and gifts to the needy, working with the local Boys Club and sponsoring a child through Compassion International. The softball team brought home the "Ironman" trophy yet again, and Upsilon was honored to see their sweetheart Miss Stacie Bowden crowned Homecoming Queen, as well as their little sister Miss Emily Holloway crowned Miss POF. Upsilon President Matt Brumlow was also named the F.J. Lee award winner 1996. Not a bad year.. not a bad year at all.

By Matthew Brumlow

Scott Antwine, Ben Bohnsen, Gene Batten, Jeff Beach, Jason Bolin, Matt Brumlow, Todd Bryant, Chad Buckner, Trace Colson, Tim Cook, Tony Copley, Dan Cragenbaker, Lance Dannie, Eric Deaton, Kevin Farris, Bertram Ferrel, Dave Green, Chad Hall, Josh Hames, Jeremy Hanrahan, Matt Hanrehan, Tom Heeren, Jeremy Holt, Jason Hopkins, Brian Hubbard, Richard Jackson, Chat Jacobs, Garth Justice, Chris Klicko, Clay Kyle, Michael Livingston, Jeremy Mauldin, Monty McClure, Blair McConnell, Tanner McFall, Clark Medlin, Jason Millwood, Richie Mullis, Mike Parker, Brian Patterson, Glenn Propst, Jason Richardson, Michael Richardson, Tony Robinson, Matt Rogers, Brandon Schaeckel, Lee Seals, Chris Shore, Dave Scisciani, Lawton Smith, Michael Smith, Jason Stephens, Kevin Tighe, Marcus Torres, Michael Trent, Gary Trenum, Jayson VanHook, Scott Varner, Ryan Walburn, Brian Watkins, Jobe West, Dave Williams, Bryon Wilkes. Little Sisters: Sweetheart Stacie Baker, Kelley Byrd, LaShea Colson, Bethany Ferreira, Karen Firestone, Angie George, Emily Holloway, Marie Johns, Cari McGlamery, Dawn Schuck.

Spring Officers: President Matt Brumlow, Vice President Chad Hall, Senior Member Richard Jackson, Chaplain Matt Hanrehan, Secretary Kevin Tighe, Treasurer Scott Varner, Alumni Coordinator Brian Hubbard, Historian Todd Bryant and Dave Scisciani.

Courtesy of Tony Copley

Sheila Massengill

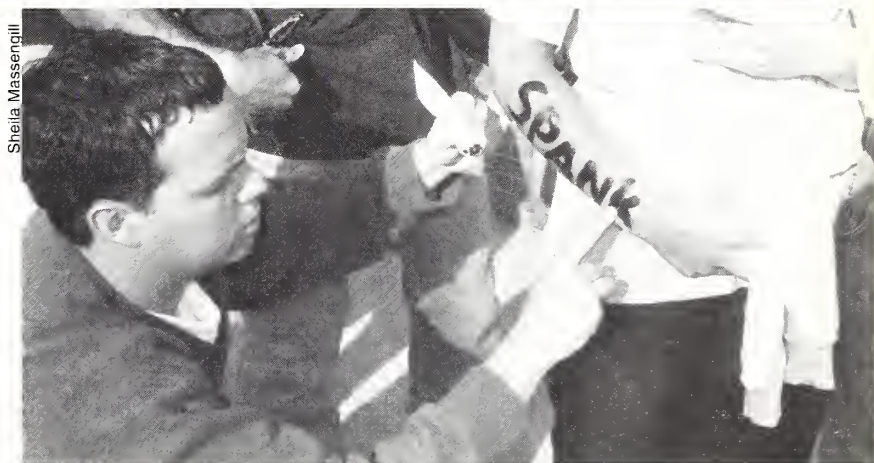

Sheila Massengill

Courtesy of Tony Copley

Courtesy of Tony Copley

Sheila Massengill

Sheila Massengill

Sheila Massengill

Fall: President Esther Wong, Vice President Deanna Smith, Secretary Ashley Speakman, Treasurer Kelley Byrd, Chaplain Lesley Afford, Historian Mary Ellen Warren, Parliamentarian Jill Sluss, Alumni Coordinator Karen Firestone, Induction Chair Deanna Smith. Spring: President Ester Wong, Vice President Kelley Byrd, Secretary Ashley Speakman, Treasurer Beth Serviss, Chaplain Karen Firestone, Historian Mary Ellen Warren, Parliamentarian Autumn Wilmsen, Alumni Coordinator Emilie Rice, Induction Chair Joni Martin.

Lesley Afford, Stacie Baker, Jamie Beard, Stacy Bowden, Alyssa Boyd, Jennifer Brothers, Alex Bush, Kelley Byrd, Jennifer Chambers, Julie Dalton, Corrie Farrina, Karen Firestone, Mary Ann Francois, Ashley Freer, Cristy Glasscock, Abigail Holt, Christie Horton, Kasey Knoght, Michelle Lovins, Johnna Marks, Joni Martin, Lea Moss, Kristy Murray, Stefanie Oppenheimer, Stacey Ratliff, Brandi Reed, Emile Rice, Carissa Rogers, Jennifer Rowsey, Beth Serviss, Danielle Sherman, Taunya Simms, Deanna Smith, Heather Smith, Ashley Speakman, Chyela Stewart, Heather Tillman, Mary Ellen Warren, Karrie Wessel, Jill Whitaker, Autumn Wilmsen, Esther Wong, Ursula Woodward. Big Brothers: Beau Chris Doan, Matt Brumlow, Tony Robinson, Byron Wilkes, Matt Mondt, Monty McClure, Tom Herren, Shannon Burton, Mark Shepard, Chad Hall, Lenny Garrison.

Holly Eklund

Courtesy of Sigma

Courtesy of Sigma

Sigma Nu Sigma

KEEP ON SHINING.....

ΣΝΣ

The 1995-96 school year proved to be yet another successful year for the ladies of Sigma Nu Sigma. The year started out with their annual Welcome Back Party where new female students could take a break from registration to play such games as blue rover and twister.

Before long it was Luau time at the rec center, where everyone enjoyed an evening of hula-hoop contests and the late auction.

At homecoming this year, Sigma's Stacie Bowden brought home the crown as the 1995 Homecoming queen.

To help celebrate the holiday season, Sigma ladies secretly invited dates to the Christmas Crush Party which was held at the Cleveland Country Club.

Throughout the year, Sigma continued to shine with activities such as a 60s dessert party and entertaining skits at campus functions as well as intramural sports.

Each year's retreat allows the girls to enjoy some rest and relaxation. This year, the club enjoyed a stress-free weekend in Helen, Ga and an adventure-filled weekend of camping in Soddy Daisy.

Through all these campus activities Sigma Nu Sigma continued to be "sisters in service" as they participated in many service projects to benefit the campus and community. These projects included visits to a nursing home, a shower for unwed mothers, trips to the home for children with Chi to visit their little sister Julia. Also there was participation in youth services at local churches with Pi, a visit to Bachman home with Upsilon and help offered in buying Christmas gifts for needy children. Sigma also served the campus through monthly dorm devotions and a faculty cleanup.

Sigma Nu Sigma ended the year with their senior spring banquet, held at the Chattanooga Marriot. This formal dinner allowed the sixteen graduating seniors a chance to say their good-byes.

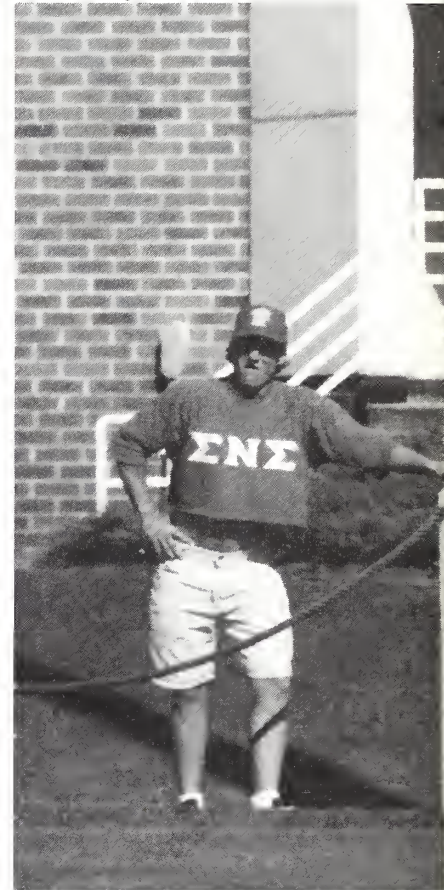

Sigma looks forward to the 96-97 school year as preparation begins for their 30th anniversary. Through campus activities, service projects or just casual contact, the ladies in blue always manage to uphold their motto "Charity Never Fails" and will continue to shine on!

by Autumn Willemssen

Courtesy of Sigma

Sheila Massengill

Sheila Massengill

Courtesy of Sigma

Pi Kappa Pi

NO MAN IS AN ISLAND UNTO HIMSELF...

Another year has past and the irresistible men of Pi Kappa Pi are still on the scene. True brotherhood is the definition of this Christian fraternity. They proudly stand tall with their green and khaki attire expressing their proclaim of faith in God, scholarly pursuit, and campus fellowship as their preeminent goals.

It is no surprise that Pi has a lot of influence throughout the Greek community and the Lee College campus. The mighty men of Pi Kappa Pi represented their club and the Greek community with their successful Oktoberfest and Saint Patty's Day bash during the 95-96 school year.

Pi Kappa Pi shows no signs of weakness, but they do show humility, Pi has proven their faith by projecting the role model of Jesus Christ as a servant and leader. Long live the men of Pi Kappa Pi.

By The Poet John Doe

Green and Khaki were the colors of the attire they all wore as they marched through the crowd, not saying a word... they'd crack a smile.

People started clapping and screaming really loud, I wonder and watch with the rest of the crowd. They who wore green and khaki, stopped walking and started singing.

The song they sang was in one accord, the melody of the final chord "Yes, we're in it cause we love it and we think none above it, Pi Kappa Pi"

Later that week I saw many other with shirts of different color. I noticed some just stood and stared at the prestigious men wearing green who proceeded to be Christian men of character and integrity.

The guys with different colored shirts and funny symbols stood and looked at them. I imagine that they heard the voice inside as they wondered why they weren't in Pi

By Daniel Richardson

Courtesy of Collegian

Sheila Massengill

Courtesy of Mike Sanjer

Sheila Massengill

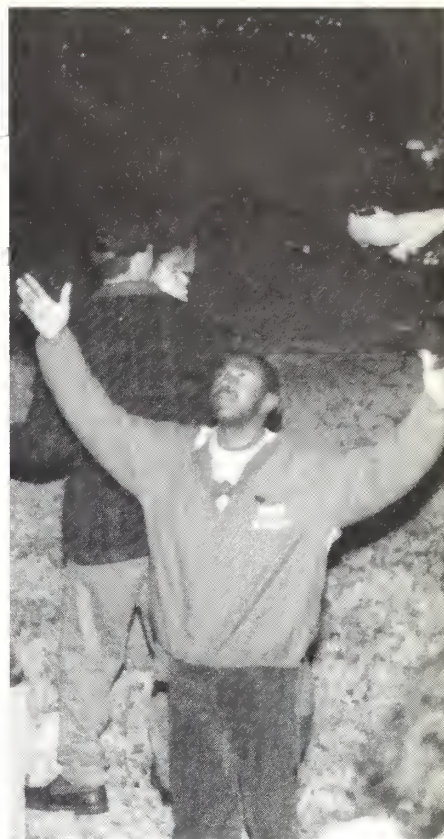

Johnny Hughes

Shella Massengill

...die Ashe, Randy Ball, Travis Bumgardner, Bernard Carter, Michael Cox, Chris Doan, John Flanagan, Shane Griffith, Joey Grizzle, Bobby Haines, ...yson Hamons, Chris Hodge, Andrew Hoo-Mook, Shae Hughes, Jason Johnson, Travis Johnson, Chad Kaylor, Kenneth Lane, Dustin Lee, Jimmy Martin, ...an May, Phil McCutchan, Jeremy McGinnis, Jason Moore, Tim Owens, Brandon Parker, Jamie Perry, Daniel Richardson, Brian Rogers, Mike Sanger, ...ff Shelton, Mark Shepard, Robbie Slocumb, Mark Stewart, Brian Summerall, Shawn Tatham, Chris Taylor, Jeremy Todd, Eric Weekley, Jimmy Wickes, ...illie Wright Jr. Little Sisters: Sweetheart Deann Micham, Tina Carver, Christy Hanson, Beth Hill, Michelle McGuire, Natasha Montgomery, Autumn ...llemesen, Kristy Williams. Sponsors: Andrew & Marbi Dipastena, Phillip Barber, Dale Goff, Hermilo Jasso.

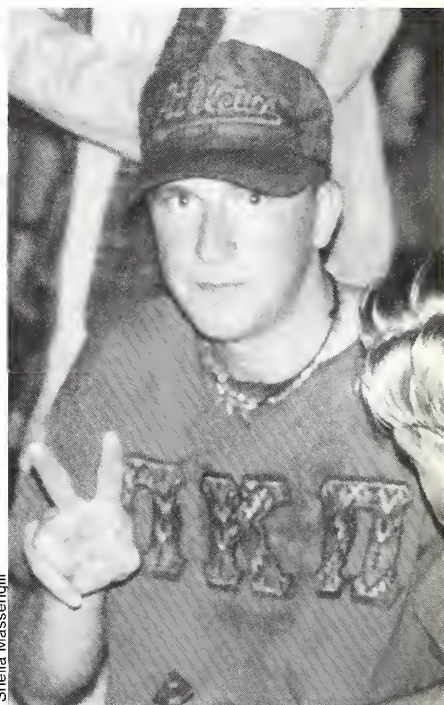

Fall: President Chris Doan, Vice President Jason Moore, Chaplain Travis Bumgardner, Pledgemaster Chad Kaylor, Secretary Shane Griffith, Treasurer Jamie Perry, Historian Mike Sanger, Alumni Coordinator. Spring: President Chris Doan, Vice President Jason Moore, Chaplain Joey Grizzle, Pledgemaster Robbie Slocumb, Secretary Mark Stewart, Treasurer Jeremy Todd, Historian Mike Sanger, Alumni Coordinator Ryan May.

courtesy of Mike Sanger

Shella Massengill

Shella Massengill

Johnny Hughes

Tara Bailey, Michelle Baker, Shauna Brantley, Amy Chunn, Lashea Colson, Hope Denny, Janine Dion, Amy Disbrow, Christy Disbrow, Elizabeth Dromeshauser, Jessica Duncan, Sherry Easton, Anna Ellis, April England, Vanessa Faulk, Bethany Ferreira, Charlene Garrett, Paula Giron, Elizabeth Graham, Nicole Gust, Christie Hanson, Jan Harris, Jaimee Hodges, Patti Link, Kristi Maitlen, Kimberly McMinn, April McCutcheon, Jessica Miles, Regina Miles, Dawn Palesch, Jana Pressley, Amanda Rapp, Faith Robinson, Jacqui Sausville, Raneé Seal, Stacia Siders, Selina Smith, Kate Spring, Ann Talley, Marci Taylor, Stephanie VanDaniker, Rebecca VanDyne, Rebecca Wanamaker, Leigh Ann White, Andrea Williams, Natasha Zhukova. Beau: Michael Livingston, Big Brothers: David Fountain, Shannon Greer, Jeremy Holt, Andrew MacAlock, Michael Parker, Jason Robinson, Eric Weekley, Filan McClurg. Sponsors: Chris Mathis, Christy Blair, Sheila Russell, Terry Cook.

Courtesy of Epsilon

Fall: President April England, Vice President Shauna Brantley, Recording Secretary Amy Chunn, Corresponding Secretary Stacia Siders, Treasurer Michelle Baker, Chaplain Faith Robinson, Historian Nikki Gust, Alumni Correspondant Rebecca Wanamaker. Spring: President Shauna Brantley, Vice President April England, Recording Secretary Paula Giron, Corresponding Secretary Stacia Siders, Treasurer Nicole Gust, Chaplain Lashea Colson, Alumni Representative Rebecca Wanamaker.

Courtesy of Epsilon

Epsilon Lambda Phi

...TO BECOME A BEAUTIFUL SWAN

ELΦ

The lovely ladies of purple and white had a vibrantly exciting and productive year as they served the community and the campus, upholding their motto, "Striving to become one in Christ." During the fall semester Epsilon hosted its signature event with the panache of the french quarter, the ever popular "Masquerade on the Mall." It was an enchanting evening of entertainment with a

New Orleans flair. A few of this year's entertainers were: Acts of God, Anointed, Jim Burns and Andrea Dismukes singing "The Phantom of the Opera," and a live band.

The advent of Spring brought many exciting events for the ladies of Epsilon. They participated in many community service and ministry outreaches including a nursing home ministry to the elderly and Friday night baby-sitting for the married couples on campus. Epsilon held its first annual sand volleyball tournament, providing teams with competitive fun.

The snow-covered spring landscape birthed violets as the ladies of Epsilon celebrated the saying, "Violets come in the spring, but sisterhood lasts forever."

At the end of the year the ladies of Epsilon held their annual campus-wide farewell party.

Epsilon Lambda Phi would like to wish their twenty-two graduating seniors the best of luck in the future.

Sheila Massengill

Courtesy of Epsilon

Sheila Massengill

Courtesy of Epsilon

Theta Delta Kappa

GIVING YOU SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT.....

In just four short years, the men of Theta Delta Kappa have grown to have a large impact on the Lee campus and in the Cleveland community. Their motto: Eternally Serving Christ; Unified Through Christian Servanthood, mixed with the Godly members within the club make for a powerful and influential social service club.

In the fall of '95, Lee College attended Theta's second annual Winter Freeze Out which served to combine warmth in the student's hearts with fun in the cold outdoors. In the spring semester, Theta sponsored the annual Cotton Club held at the Read House where everyone enjoyed a wonderful evening of music and entertainment in an unforgettable dining experience.

Theta's sponsors this year are Dr. Mark Wickam, who traveled with the team of Cambridge students, Mr. Bucky Burnsed, in his last year as director of Lee video crew and Dr. Jerald Daffe.

This young but influential club continues to progress as they let their light shine for Jesus Christ.

Sheila Massengill

Sheila Massengill

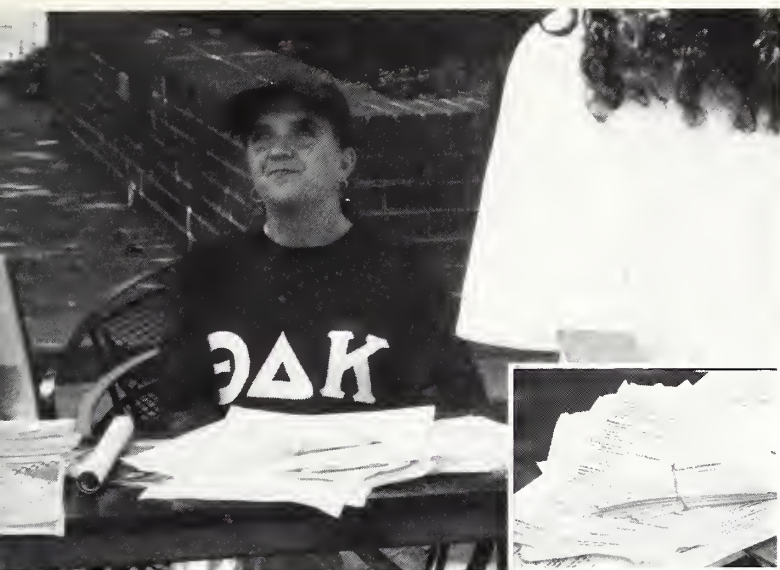

Oral Beason, Paul Bowden, Chad Brannon, Jason Browning, Scott Cason, Jon Cline, John Coyle, Daryl Dixon, Danny Deuell, Jeff Evans, David Fountain, Chuck Graham, David Graham, Shannon Greer, Doug Hadaway, Sherwin Hamlett, Paul Heid, Matt Hines, Billy Humphrey, David Jacobson, Phillip Johnson, Craig Leggett, Dwayne Maynard, Steven McClure, Mike McMullin, Danny Parnell, Craig Pressley, David Rathbun, Ed Renfro, Russ Robar, Jason Robinson, Ben Sextor, Rob Shannon, Jason Spakowsky, Mitch Tikoinakau, Eric Waggoner, Eric Whitaker, Glenn Williams, Damon Young, Rick Youngkin, Pete Zefo. Little sisters: Mindy Baker, Teresa Browning, Kelli Fred, Beth Graham, Christie Griffith, Candace Jones, Dee Rance, and sweetheart Angeline McMullin. Honorary members: Mama Dot, Mr. Charles White, Amy Cline, and Craig Caylor.

Courtesy of Theta

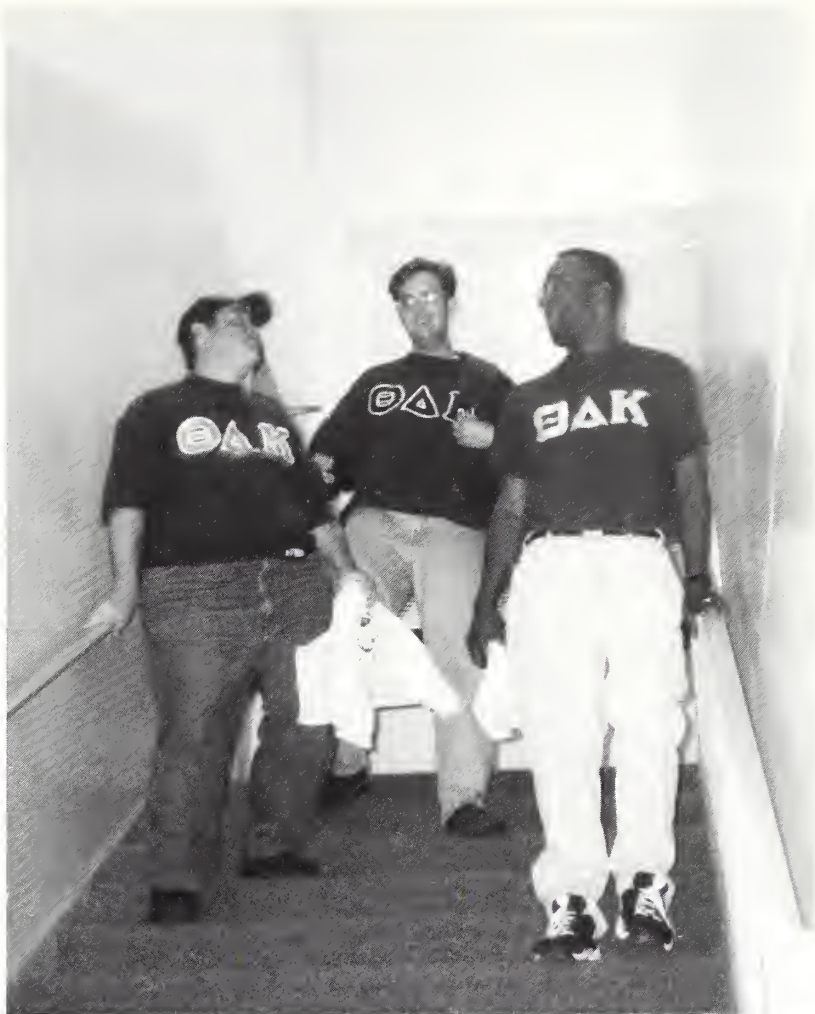

Shawn Walters

Sheila Massengill

Spring - Pres. Shannon Greer, VP Danny Duell, Chaplain David Graham, Pledge Master Dwayne Maynard, Treasurer Paul Heid, Secretary Russ Bar, Historian Danny Parnell, Ullumni Coordinator Eric Waggoner, Greek Council Rep. Pete McMullin.

Fall - Pres. Daryl Dixon VP. Oral Beason, Chaplain Shannon Greer, Pledge Master Dwayne Maynard, Treasurer Scott Cason, Secretary David Fountain, Historian Pete Zefo, Ullumni Coordinator Chad Brannon, Greek Council Rep. Jason Browning.

Sheila Massengill

Courtesy of Theta

Courtesy of Theta

Esther Anderson, Liz Edwards, Stacie Eldridge, Jamie Farrell, Ann Glass, Shannon Glass, Windra Griffith, Stacie Hancock, Candi Lankford, Jeni Lawrence, Bobby McCowan, Amy Motley, Devonia Netcliff, Amanda Nichols, Kelli Pyeatt, Christine Riddle, Julie Raff, Renee Williams, Heather Wilson, Missy Wyckoff. Knight: Terry Davis, Esquires: Danny Baker, Jonathan Rush, Lee Escobar, Brandon Larson, Earl Rabsatt, Tony Tyboroski.

Fall: President Heather Wilson, Vice President Stacy Eldridge, Pledgemaster & Parliamentarian Shannon Glass, Secretary & Treasurer Bobbi McCowan, Chaplain Devonia Netcliff, Greek Council Rep. Stacey Hancock. Spring: President Shannon Glass, Vice President Stacey Hancock, Pledgemaster & Parliamentarian Devonia Netcliff, Secretary & Treasurer Kelli Pyeatt, Chaplain Renee Williams, Historian Amanda Nichols, Greek Council Rep. Christine Riddle, Alumni Correspondent Heather Wilson, Intramural Coordinator Christine Riddle.

All Photo's Courtesy of Kappa Psi Nu

Kappa Psi Nu

THE HOTTER THE FIRE THE PURER THE GOLD!

KPSN

The ladies of Kappa Psi Nu had an exciting and eventful year. They kicked off the fall semester with a movie night together with C.A.B. The campus was invited to the DeVos Rec Center for a night of free movies and free food (Not to mention a way to legally break curfew!).

Throughout the year the members frequented the North Cleveland Towers, adopting a few ladies as honorary grandmothers.

The fall semester was ended by a "Kappa Cares" Christmas party. The campus was asked to come out for more free food and fun, and also to donate items to the less fortunate. All donations were given to Cleveland's Home for Children.

March 23, 1996 the ladies along with the help of their men presented the annual lock-in. This year's theme was "Toga-Toga," the very first campus-wide coed toga party! Lots of games, food, and fun were had by all!

The ladies of Kappa Psi Nu have worked hard this year to show that they are still "Exemplifying Christian faith, expressing it through unconditional love."

By Missy Wyckoff

Our talent reaches far around the world ministering through singing and music by our eight choirs and bands. Each brings their own style and sound into the hearts and minds of all who listen. They each have a small ensemble that assembles a special blend of voices for added ministry.

Throughout the year, during spring break, fall break, and even during summers, they tour the U.S. and other countries spreading the gospel of Jesus Christ and word of Lee College to everyone.

Choirs and Bands

All Photos Sheila Massengill

Each year, Choral Union, a chorus composed of music majors and community members, does two major performances. Classic Christmas is presented during the fall semester, and a concert follows in the spring.

Choral Union's presentation of Classic Christmas has become a significant event in the traditions of the Cleveland\ Bradley County Christmas season. On a Sunday early in December, the Conn Center is decorated in the elegance of the season. Candles are lit, and Choral Union joins with the Chattanooga Symphony Chamber Orchestra to fill the hall with the beauty of Christmas classics.

Choral Union

This year's spring performance was the dramatic and moving modern oratorio Saviour. A contemporary work written by Greg Nelson, Saviour features choir, orchestra, three tenor soloists, a mezzo-soprano soloist, and a bass soloist. The three tenor roles were sung by undergraduate James Coulter, Lee College alumni Chad Stafford, and graduate student Chris Thomas. Faculty member Ms. Andrea Dismukes sang the mezzo role and Dr. Jim Burns sang the bass role.

The newest of the Lee College performing ensembles is Chapel Choir under the direction of Dr. Walt Mauldin. Designed to be a gospel choir singing Brooklyn Tabernacle-type Music, requiring no audition and traveling no farther than to the Conn Center for chapel or to local churches, the choir was an immediate success.

"We felt there was a need for a choir like this," explained Dr. Mauldin.

"There were always more students wanting to sing with choirs than there were openings with the existing choirs."

But no one could have predicted the overwhelming response. With an invitation to "just show up", over 150 arrived at the Curtsinger Music Building for the first rehearsal. With a strong support from Dr. Conn, the choir has now become a credit class.

Chapel Choir wasted no time in getting involved in campus life as it sponsored, along with the President's office, a concert featuring former Petra lead singer, Greg X. Volz.

"Like all the other ensembles, Chapel Choir has students from every major field of study, not just music majors. We have students who are great singers but we also have students who said they couldn't sing of said they didn't like to sing, but came just to see what it would be like to sing in a big choir. Now they are our strongest recruiters," said Dr. Mauldin.

"We have fun, but most of all, we sing to the glory of God. I look forward to great participation in the future."

By Dr. Mauldin

"There were always more students wanting to sing with choirs than there were openings with the existing choirs."

Dr. Walt Mauldin

Clifford Anderson, Dan Ayers, Angela Baldasaro, Charity Barchers, Nikol Barchers, Kris Barger, Faith Barrett, Jones Beene, Enida Bega, Keely Beil, Rebecca Bell, Joshua Berryman, Melissa Braasch, Heidi Browning, Elizabeth Brozozg, Margarita Bryant, Darlena Buttram, Jeremy Carter, Lucrecia Castejan, Lynn Chaput, Mincy Clem, Emanuel Coccan, Ariel Coccan, Anthony Connor, Lacy Covert, Wendy Covey, Paula Cowdell, Tim Cowdell, Derrick Denham, Glenn Derr, Lisa Dietz, Jennings Dillard, Eric Doise, April Durand, Leach Edwards, Jamie Ferrell, Claudette Francois, Brent Garrard, Esther Gay, Andy Goehring, William Green, Jason Guyton, Michael Haight, Tera Hammonds, Steve Hargett, Robby Hay, Kristel Haynes, Angie Hazelwood, Barbara Hess, David Holmes, Dawn Holt, Amy Horn, Christie Horton, Amber Hubbard, Paul Johnson, Jeremiah Johnson, Angela Jones, Kristeena Jones, Amy Justice, Fabron Kelly, Hoyt Knox, Amanda Kreider, Mark LaMagna, Crystal Lawrence, Heather Lawry, Stephanie Link, Trista Lloyd, Elayne McNaughton, Robert Mitchell, Jenny Mulner, Melissa Murray,

Chapel Choir

Brenda Nolan, Robin Northcutt, Angela Orr, Deanna Palmatary, Geniene Piche, Lisette Popejoy, Elisabeth Popkie, Joanna Prescott, Laura Price, Steve Price, Mike Raburn, Melanie Radcliff, Sherrie Richardson, Shawn Richardson, Elizabeth Robinette, Kimberly Roy, Jamie Sanders, Cheryl Sanderson, Christie Secret, Traci Sester, Jenny Sheets, Candace Shreve, Jennifer Sieger, Leigh-Anne Spinks, Steven Stark, Dana Stevenson, Jason Steward, Hope Summerlin, Sharon Summersett, Michael Thurman, Dawn Tyler, Diane VanderVeen, Sheri Wagoner, Amy Walker, Kristin Waravesyn, Penny Waters, Hollye Webb, Angela Wells, Kellie Williams, Jeff Wilson, Amanda Wolfe, Damon Wood, Wendy Young.

Directed by Walt Maudlin

Darla Abbey, Dwayne Allen, Sallie Ard, Tara Bailey, Chaplain Travis Ballinger, Librarian Holly Beck, Bobbi Blackburn, Caleb Bolanos, Glen Boone, April Brantley, Shauna Brantley, Jason Brown, Steve Butler, Jim Carlson, Bernard Carter, Chad Cashion, Treasurer Trace Colson, James Coulter, Kevin Crawford, Kery Crespo, Chris Davis, Dan DeKonty, Jennifer Dixon, Jason Duncan, Keith Duncan, Michele Duncan, Angie Durham, Dave Edwards, Liz Edwards, Karla Elder, Nikki Elliot, Adam Frye, Attendance Secretary Angie George, Edward Gonzales, Michael Griffiths, Jeremy Hanrahan, Matt Hanrahan, Matt Hines, Hiroshi Hori, Jennifer Hodo, Jaimee Hodges, Social Activities Coordinator Abigail Holt, Jonathan Horton, Rhea Horton, Brian Hunter, Koichiro Ito, Bill Jenkins, Matt Jett, Jason Kirkland, Tim Lewis, David Jacobsen, Ondria Johnson, Angela Jones, Sabrina Joyner, Tera Karick, Heidi Kennedy, Tara, Lemons, Michael Livingston, Tim McLean, Tera McLendon, Clint Messer, Historian Buck Marshall, Michelle Marshall, Catina Miller, Carla Moody,

All photos this page Sheila Massengill

Campus Choir

Power Unlimited

Chad Muncy, Melanie Myers, Devonia Netchliff, Kayle Parr, Susan Parrish, Lora Phillips, President Dawn Pletcher, Kelli Pyeatt, Amanda Rapp, Tiffany Re, Earl Rapsatt, Tim Richmond, Tony Robinson, Troy Rogers, Brian Saylor, Recording Secretary Dawn Schuck, Alumni Coordinator Lisa See-bran, Vice President Rich Shelton, Aaron Simmons, Chad Smith Jason Smith, Noemi Soto, Melissa Sparks, Eric Stafford, Tracy Stone, Chaplain Andrew Thomas, Donna Thomas, Bryan Thompson, Lauren Tipton, Melodia Torres, Greg Towe, Jessica Usherwood, Angie Varnell, Brian Watkins, Heath Wheeler, Matt Whitworth, Nikki Williams, Cresta Willingham, Johnny Ziegler.

Directed by Dr. David Horton

Sheila Massengill

One man said, "God doesn't want you to do a great work, He wants you to be something." This became the focus of Campus Choir in 1995-96. We wanted to concentrate on being God's vessel, not singing.

In our fall and spring tours Campus Choir traveled as far north as Ohio and as far south as Florida. We let God guide and direct us, and He proved himself faithful.

In the fall Campus Choir performed with Ron Kenoly, and in the spring we sang with Alvin Slaughter both at Winterfest and the Music Explosion.

Campus Choir recorded new music for Karen Wheaton under the direction of Lari Goss. In addition, we recorded an album for Brentwood music. Even during the recording of the song "Follow Him, Lead me Lord," the Lord made His presence known. It was an incredible moment but the most memorable event was Winterfest in Gatlinburg, Tn.

Campus Choir was given the opportunity to minister to over 13,000 young people. What a sight it was to see thousands of kids begin to seek God. Even without an altar call, people made their way to the front or simply made their own alters. They were saved, delivered, healed, and baptized with the Holy Spirit. The second service was such a sovereign move of God that Alvin Slaughter was compelled to trade in his scheduled numbers for worship choruses. We sang until 1:00 a.m.

And so it went all year long: we focused on being God's vessel and let Him to a great work in us.

By Buck Marshall

Courtesy of Campus Choir

Courtesy of Campus Choir

Sheila Massengill

All Photos This page Sheila Massengill

"God is in control" has been the Evangelistic Singers' motto for this 1995-96 school year. This soulful, energetic group of students have learned that whatever situations they may encounter, they ought to praise God with all that is within them.

The purpose of the Evangelistic Singers is to spread the goodness of Jesus Christ through singing, dramatization, and evangelism. Under the direction of Mr. Sanford Garren, the ministry of the Evangelistic Singers this year has traveled to Cincinnati, Ohio, Chicago, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Kenosha, Wisconsin, Richmond, Virginia, Powell, Tennessee, the Agape Camp, Maple Street Baptist Church in Cleveland, New Hope in Sevierville, the Tennessee Prayer Conference, and many other parts of the United States.

This summer, however, the Evangelistic Singers will minister outside the United States into the Bahamas. Many fundraisers, preparation, and hard work have gone into this much anticipated week-long tour, in which we know that God will truly be manifested to the lives of many.

Isaiah 10:27 states that "the yoke will be destroyed because of the Anointing!" Each day EVS rises to seek God and His anointing, without which we could do nothing. We thank God from where we know He has brought us, and we thank Him for where He will take us.

All photos this page courtesy of EVS

Directed by Mr. Sanford Garren

Evangelistics

Anointed

Fall Fund Raiser Monica Alderman, Julie Barker, Jennifer Boyd, Angela Brooke, Historian Melanie Bunce, Beth Ann Burchett, Andrea Burns, Erica Caruthers, Jessica Cline, Kimmy Cole, Gretchen Conley, Melissa Churchey, Mary Terrell Dannic, Neshea Deal, Sarita Devries, Vanessa Faulk, Fall Librarian Suzie Filman, Stephanie Foreman, Melissa French, Public Relations Emily Giddens, Paula Giron, Secretary Dorcus Gonzalez, Chaplain Roselyn Gonzolez, Nicole Gust, Cindy Harris, Heather Holland, Christy Holler, Fall President Starla Hutto, Ginger Isom, Josie Jenkins, Michelle Kreuzer, Deidra Lawson, Michelle Lovins, Spring Fund Raiser Christina Malone, Student Director Jennifer Maynard, Jeannie Moore, Deanna Morris, Robin Northcutt, Amanda Ownby, Tiffany Prince, Shari Shipley, Spring President Vice President Elise Simpson, Fall Treasurer Margaret Sines, Paige Smith, Spring Librarian Selina Smith, Spring Treasurer Michelle Southard, Crystal Sowder, Pamela Stout, Laurie Sturgill, Stephanie Tate. Band: Shannon

Ladies of Bee

One Voice

Burton, Lynn Chaput, Toby Elmore, Wesley Finchum, Ben Sexton, Lance Simmons, Andria Wathen, Jason York. Technical Crew: Tim Flores, Chaplain Ken Lane, Dwayne Maynard.

All other photos courtesy of Ladies

Sheila Massengill

It has been an exciting year for the Ladies of Lee. The choir traveled to many churches including a tour to Virginia during Fall Break. The Ladies also performed at the Biltmore Estate in Asheville, North Carolina, for the Estate's annual Christmas Candlelight Tour. It has been an addition of the Ladies for nearly ten years. Spring Break took them to the Dallas, Texas, area where the Lord ministered in a special and unique way. Between their scheduled services, they were able to experience the rich history of Dallas. The spring semester also included several services around the state, and the Ladies were very honored to sing at the Lee College Commissioning Service in May, where they bid farewell to seven graduates.

The Lord opened the doors to a wonderful opportunity for the Ladies' summer tour. They provided special music for the Church of God Camp Meeting in Soldotna and worked within the camp in several activities, including children's church. Alaska is a true mission field, for few ministry tours are able to travel to that region.

Overall, the Ladies of Lee had a wonderful year learning more about becoming the virtuous women God has called them to be. He is doing a renewing work in teaching the choir how to keep a pure heart in ministry and how to reach people from the heart.

Directed by Andrea Dismukes

One Voice: Starla Hutto, Christy Malone, Dorcas Gonzalez, Michelle Southard, Jeannine Moore, Paula Giron.

Sheila Massengill

Sheila Massengill

Courtesy of the Collegian

The 1995 fall tour was filled with stops in Alabama, Georgia, Indiana, Kentucky, Maryland, and Virginia, and Washington, D.C. Second Edition, the Singer's small ensemble, performed at Fall Fest in St. Louis, Missouri. An event that is long remembered is the concert with the Chattanooga Boys Choir "Singing Christmas Tree."

During Christmas break, the Lee Singers were invited to premiere Proclaim the Power, their most recent recording project, at Benson Music Company in Nashville. Benson Music has signed with the Lee Singers to distribute their recording to Christian bookstores across America.

Spring provided great ministry opportunities for the Singers such as a live video performance with Ivan Parker and a concert with Gary McSpadden. On their spring tour to Georgia and the Carolinas, over 60 people were won to Christ.

The most meaningful time was experienced when Singers ministered at the Home for Children of North Carolina. The Singers went away having been challenged to be thankful for things that are often taken for granted.

A highlight of the semester was performing the Verdi Requiem with the Knoxville Symphony. The Singers joined the University of Tennessee, Carson Newman University, and the Knoxville Symphony

Chorus in presenting this demanding and powerful work.

This summer, Singers toured the countries of England, Wales, Ireland, France, Switzerland, Austria, and Germany. During this 17 day tour, they experienced different cultures, performed at churches, auditoriums, and convention centers, and did some sightseeing. We believe the best is yet to come! by Dr. Walt Mauldin

Courtesy of Lee Singers

Soprano I: Sherry Easton, Jill Sluss, Amber Easton, Jennifer DeWitt, Alliaon Williams, Johanna Tate, Laurie Potter, Heather Hall. Soprano II: Lesley Alford, Kristie Beasley, Heather Smith, Charity Burkhead, Wendy Waller, Donette Snider, Margie Barger, Nicole Owens. Alto I: Corrie Farina, Secretary/Treasurer Jennifer Lynn, Michelle Schane, Shannon Greijack, Jennifer Brothers, Cortney Ashley, April Britt, Candace Shreve. Alto II: Librarian Heather Tillman, President Mary Ann Francois, Vennia Francois, Melanie Battle, Tera Lynn, Melissa French. Tenor I: Vice President Jonathan Rushing, Rob Nicewarner, Historian Jeff Shelton, Jason Stephens, Jeff Grigg, Micah Stratton, Todd Heilig, Jason Matthews. Tenor II: Tim Emmett, Public Relations Chad Hall, Ryan Carnes, Dan Vincent, Wesley McKenzie, Kris Barger, Lance Simmons, Bobby Mitchell. Bass I: Phillip Allen, Neil Sheibelhut, Chris Weeks, Shawn Smith, Chad Carter, Brian Cripe, Chris Thomas. Bass II: Student Director Byron Wilkes, Chaplain Dale Whitson, Jason

Bee Singers

Second Edition

Sheila Massengill

Browning, John Terry, Tony George, Jason Leonard, Michael King. Trumpet: David Walker, Phil Anderson, Jeremy Mauldin. Trombone: Clay Davis, John Flanagan, Jeremy Dill. Lead Guitar: Matthew Covert. Bass Guitar: Brian Kennedy. Percussion: Jason Guyton. Drums: Brian Patterson. Keyboards: Dan Ayers, Kris Kidd. Sound: Eston Keller.

Directed by Walt Mauldin

The Singers went away having been challenged to be thankful for things that are often taken for granted.

Darla Betzer, Kaci Coley, Anna Livingston, Kristin Murray, Alrene Santos, Shelly Stroud, Joslyn Tredway, Ursula Woodward, Jason Cloninger, Chad Guyton, Garth Justice, Bill Langley, Kristan Maddox, Robert Reid, Lester Rector, J.B. VanHook, Brandon Guyton.

Director Danny Murray

Voices of Bee

Sheila Massengill

Sheila Massengill

Shelia Massengill

After a wonderful debut year, the voices of Lee found themselves with unbelievable second year performance opportunities.

The fall '95 semester began with the "trip of a lifetime", as many of the members described it, to Jerusalem where the group was featured at the World Pentecostal Conference and also a stop-over performance in Paris, France, later in the semester the "Voices" were called to Palm Beach, Florida to perform for the annual Christian Colleges Coalition President's meeting.

After numerous local church concerts, the semester concluded with eight Christmas Concerts in Georgia, Tennessee, and Virginia including "Soup & Carols", a Christmas music evening given by Voices to their professors on campus. A first, (but probably an annual event for us now).

January and February featured the Voices at four Youth Conventions, Winterfests! Audiences of 3,000 to 12,000 were in attendance in Florida, Kentucky, Pennsylvania and Gatlinburg, Tennessee.

Once again 4-Voices (our Barbershop Quartet) entered the Collegiate Barbershop Competition in the Cherokee District and won first place. Next is International Competition in Salt Lake City in July.

One of the all time great experiences for the group was a three day video taping in April for the GAITHER HOMECOMING VIDEO SERIES in Indiana with all the "gospel greats". Voices were featured for two songs on the taping to be released in the Fall of '96.

Christ Church in Nashville, Tennessee called for Voices to join featured speaker President Conn at their '96 Word and Spirit Conference.

Voices rap the year up with Summer tour May 28th through July 21st.

Courtesy of Danny Murray

The Lee College Symphonic Band completed one of its best years ever during the 1995-96 school year. During the fall semester, they participated in the first - ever Instrumentalists reunion of former Symphonic Band members at Homecoming. The performance at the Music Festival of present members and alumni was phenomenal as more than 140 musicians filled the Conn Center with music.

The band toured the Midwest during fall break, and they saw many people won to the Lord during the eight services.

The Symphonic Band and the Lee Players were an integral part of Dr. Conn's tenth-year student celebration in February. Renee Talley and The Lee Players kicked off the celebration with an updated version of "It Had to Be You" which set the tone for the entire evening.

The group also performed at the Church of God National Music Conference. During Spring Break the band toured south Florida with fantastic spiritual results.

The final tour of the year saw the group complete an outstanding visit to Arizona and California as the group toured Phoenix, Tuscon, Tombstone, Sedova, Flagstaff, the Grand Canyon, Hollywood Orange County, Malibu, Santa Barbara, and other exciting venues on the West Coast. Over fifty individuals were won to the Lord during this trip. Several members of the group remarked that this was the best tour they had ever made anywhere at any time.

During March of 1996, twenty-four students participated in a National Christian College Honors Band. They were also included in the National Christian College Honors Jazz Band at the Christian Instrumentalists and Directors Association's Bi-Annual Meeting held in Nashville, Tennessee. This was the largest representation of any christian college in America. This is significant because the instrumental program at Lee is now one of the largest of any christian college in the country.

By Mark Bailey

Cory Aaron, Darcy Abbot, Emily Abeck, Faith Barrett, President Joshua Black, Karla Blair, Jacqueline Blum, Jonathan Boatwright, Caleb Bolanos, Paul Boone, Derek Bowden, Secretary Lesley Brock, Jason Brown, Kimberly Brown, Chris Burns, Timothy Burton, Kristina Canossa, Bernard Carter, Melissa Clayton, Matthew Clayton, Matthew Covert, Spring Student Conductor Ken Cox, Lorne Crabtree, Public Relations Clay Davis, Derrick Denham, David Denison, Laura Delorenzo, Spring Vice President Craig Douglas, Treasurer Elizabeth Emerson, Belinda Fisher, Amy Fuson, Angela Garland, Tony George, David Gilbert, Noel Gilliam, Chad Glass, Stephanie Griffis, Jason Guyton, Nicholas Haines, Byron Hart, Paul Heid, Cristel Helm, Jenny Holder, Christiana Hudon, Historian Michaelia Hyatt, Michael Jennings, Garth Justice, Julie Lee, Chaplain Jimmy Leek, Robert Lockerman, Kenneth Loveless, Omar Lozano, James Matehack, Jeremy Mauldin, Deanna Maze, Fall Vice President Jonathan Maze, Darla Miller, Charles Mitchell, Deborah Moodley, Symphonic Band

Bee Players

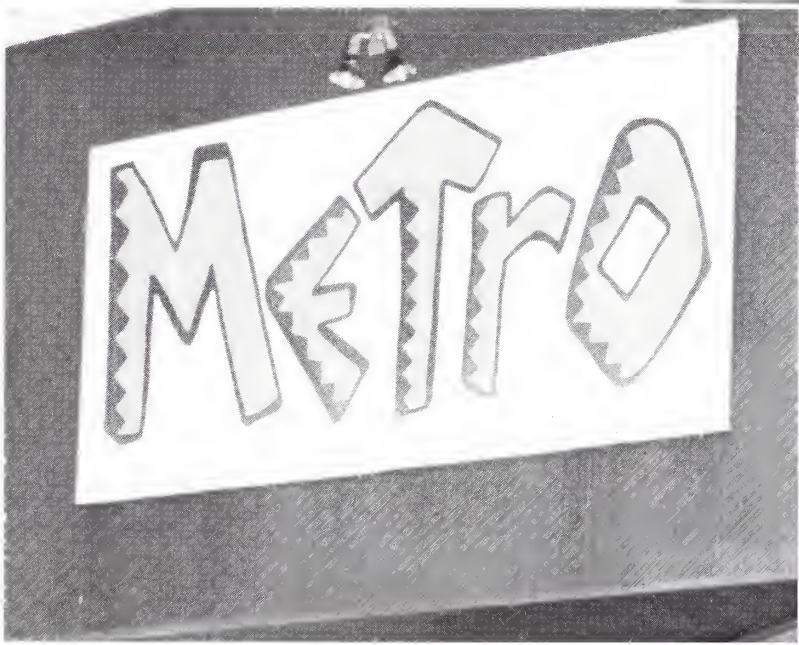

Aaron Neely, Amanda Nichols, Walter Parker, Kerinza Payne-Elrod, Chris Payne, Dwayne Pugh, Michael Raburn, Sabrina Rice, Sherrie Richardson, Christine Riddle, Fall Student Conductor Zachery Riggins, Troy Rodgers, Rachael Roney, Kimberly Roy, Neil Scheibelhut, Ben Sexton, Lester Shelton, Sharon Simmons, Stacy Simpson, David Staton, Jason Steward, Matthew Temple, Donna Thomas, Travis Towne, Melody Trotto, Christi Warner, Chris Whaley, Matthew Whitworth, Angela Williams. Graduate Assistants: Rodney Williams and Joseph Walker.

Directed by Mark Bailey

They were alternative photos by Lee Collegian

Local bands

... but they knew how to jam

METRO

They wore Brown Shoes

photos by Lee Collegian

By Kris Colasacco

Lee Collegian

Brown Shoes Band is a four member band with a purpose. God is the reason they sing, and lost souls are the reason God has blessed them with their talents. David Todd Graham is the 22-year-old bass guitar player. 21 year old Joel Clackum is the lead singer. He has attended Lee in the past, but took a year off to do inner-city missions in Atlanta with Safehouse Ministries.

Other members include Aaron Siller and Josh Rice. Their main goal is to reach people who don't know Christ and to build up those who do. "It's silly to try to sound like another band," Siller said. "That band is already there. We are different because we incorporate a lot of different sounds. We like to blend jazz, blues and modern rock."

The sound of music came in many forms

Organiza

Activities that en

There's something for everyone at Lee College. Whether it's politics, publications, or partying, there is a club or organization to meet your needs.

Many of these organizations gave students an opportunity to express themselves in various publications ranging from the Anthology to the Lee Collegian. Those with broadcasting skills had the chance to make their star shine on Sports Plus and the Video Yearbook. Here's a brief glimpse at the organizations that made life at Lee more complete.

tion

nance the life at Lee

Student Government Association

The Student Government Association has a lot of responsibilities underneath it's belt. Besides the organizing of all the class elections, they also host Festaganza and the Parade of Favorites.

The SGA is the student's liaison to the faculty. If there is an issue that the student body wants the administration to address, it's best to go through these guys. An example of this occurred this year with the SGA's proposal to abolish the attendance requirement at Lee. Although they later retracted this proposal, they voiced the student's concern to the administration, and the administration addressed the subject.

VOTE FOR:

Renee' Lynn Albert

R.L.A.

Sophomore SGA Secretary/Treasurer

VOTE: R.L.A.

- ☒ Reliable
- ☒ Loyal
- ☒ Able

President Tanner Mcfall, Vice President Jonathan Rush, Secretary Treasurer Angie Garland, Senoir Class Officers: President Matt Rogers, Vice President Shelly Davis. Junior Class Officers: President Kevi Tighe, Vice President Jenn Schreiber Sophmore Class Officers: President Matt Cowherd, Vice President Shea Hughes, Secretary Treasurer Genienne Piche Freshman Class Officers: President Willie Wright, Vice President Ashley Freer, Secretary Treasurer Ann Glass Senate Representatives: Johnny Abernathy, Micah Andrews, Renee Albert, Jennie Arnold, Brooke Bailey, Jenn Brothers, Christy Cannon, Dave Greer, Marika Jewell, Chris Knipp, Karin Kramer, Kerrie Lee, Lorinda Lewis, Stephanie Livingston, Rebekah Logan, Charles Mitchell, Nicole Montgomery, Matt Mundy, Jason Palmer, Emily Rice, Daphn Rosario, Lee Seals, Craig Smith, Joshua Sundheim, Desmond Taylor, Amy Tea, Cherie Vanoy, Ryan Walburn, Tony Webb, Jason Weil, David Wilson Sponsors: Alan McClung, Mike Hayes, Arlett Robinson.

President: Tanner McFall, Sophomore major in History and Political Science, from Lake Mary, Florida.

Vice President: Jonathan Rush, Junior major in Pastoral Studies, from Blountville, Alabama.

Secretary\Treasurer: Angie Garland, Sophomore major in Human Development, from Mercersburg, Pennsylvania.

A-Force

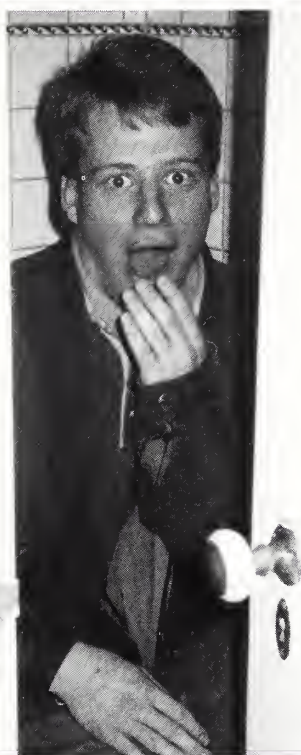

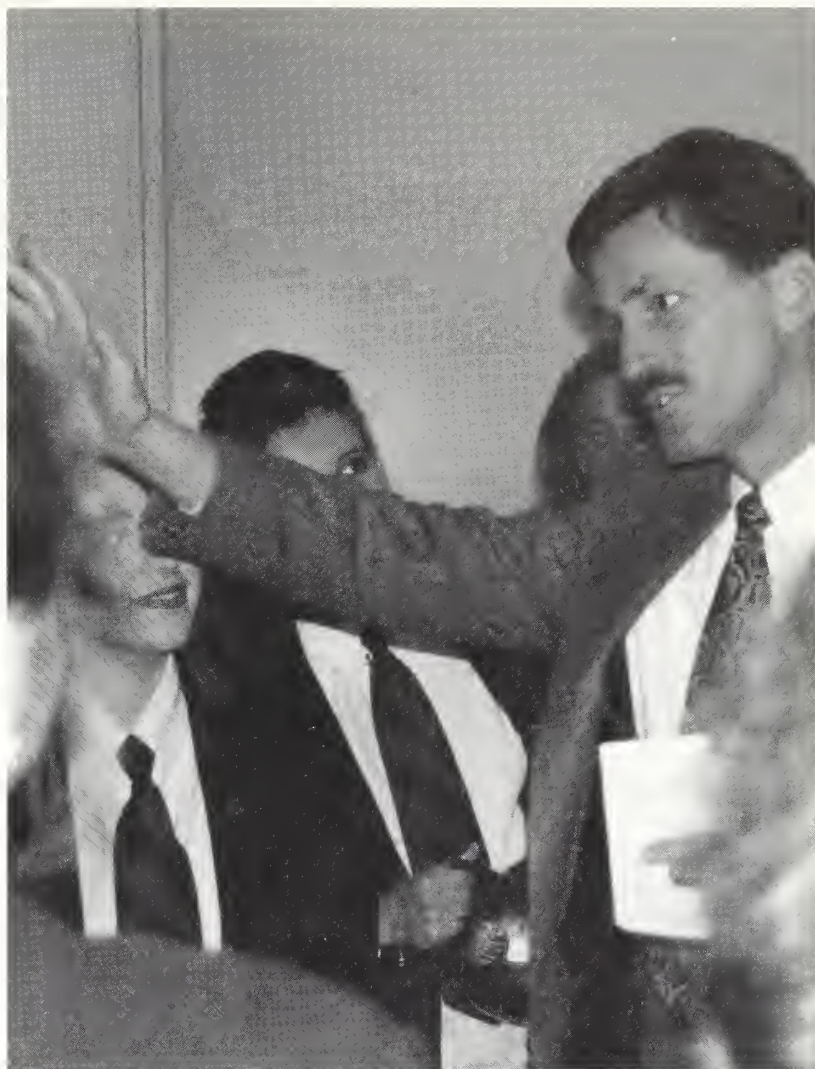

You may have said, "Hey, see that guy with khaki pants, navy blazer, and blue and red striped tie? Is it a campus choir member? Is it a member of College Republicans? No. It's an A-force man!

The A-force is Lee College's Ambassadors for the Advancement of Academic excellence. Under the direction of our fearless leader, Lorraine Jasso, and her faithful sidekicks, Nat Akiona and TonyLa Rose, the A-Force is reaching new heights every semester.

Where did you hear about Lee? Chances are, you would not have got here if not for the tireless efforts of the Admissions Office and the A-Force. A-force members give tours to high schoolers and transfer students who visit our campus to check us out. They answer questions from confused students and parents and call potential Lee College students on the phone. This years A- force team consisted of many hard working members in the fall and spring.

By Christian Coomer

College Republicans

Although the College Republicans were off a year election-wise, they still were active sponsoring two activities. The fall activity consisted of a coed basketball tournament.

In the spring, the organization sponsored an exciting faculty debate on current political issues. Dr. Schimmels, Mr. Tilley, Dr. Veenstra, Mr. Gee, Dr. Mundy, and the new political science professor, Dr. Ediger participated in comments and rebuttal for two hours. Even after the event was over, the faculty hung around and continued to debate hot topics.

Chair-Scott Lowrey
Vice-Chair-Jason Logan
Secretary-Jennifer Hamilton
Treasurer-Rachel Goble

Courtesy of the Lee College

Campus Activities Board

The campus Activities Board is made up of several students representing each class. In its second year, CAB hosted student events from week-to-week. The Coordinator is Andrew DiPastena.

The Homecoming Bonfire gave students and alumni a fun time of music, provided by Patmos Island, and tons of Hot Chocolate. Special Fan night at basketball and soccer games were also large hits with the students. The Tap Night Banquet was a success. It gave the Lee College Greek Community a place to go immediately following tap ceremonies.

The largest on campus event, the annual Superbowl bash, was a blast with two big screens in Walker Arena and all-you-could-possibly-eat hot dogs, nachos, and drinks. Also, there were Super Nintendo championships, games, giveaways, and the like.

The capture the Flag Tournament will be an event now held every year. This spring Upsilon Xi took home the cake. We're sure the competition will be even more exciting and tougher in the upcoming years.

Anytime you're looking for something to do on the weekends, catch a CAB weekly student event.

*Special thanks to Oscar for just being you!!

By Allison Williams

Technical Crew

This year was the first year for the resurrection of the Conn and Dixon centers technical support team. While most of the students went off for the summer, they worked to make the sound system clearer and more predictable with great success. They overcame the impossible by pulling together the best technical support team that the campus has ever recruited.

They achieved the goal of overcoming the negatives, and they produced some of the best lighting and audio that this school and community have ever experienced. In achieving their goals this year, the crew gave total technical support for homecoming, which they had not achieved in the past several years. They helped produce a Southern Gospel Video for Ivan Parker, worked with Ron Kenoly, East to West, Alvin Slaughter, and The Christ Church Choir, as well as many other special guests throughout the school year. Yes, this year has been a great one for the 1995\96 Crew, and their achievements will not go unrecognized. In the years to come the school will look back and "find us faithful".

By Ken MacPhee

Technical Support Crew: Tim Flores, Rick Field, Chris Hardy, Bill Jenkins, Howard Riley, Shawn Smith, Ryan Walburn, Jon Willis, and Trenton Clagg. Technical Directors: Paul Hollifield and Doug Williams. House Manager: Ken MacPhee.

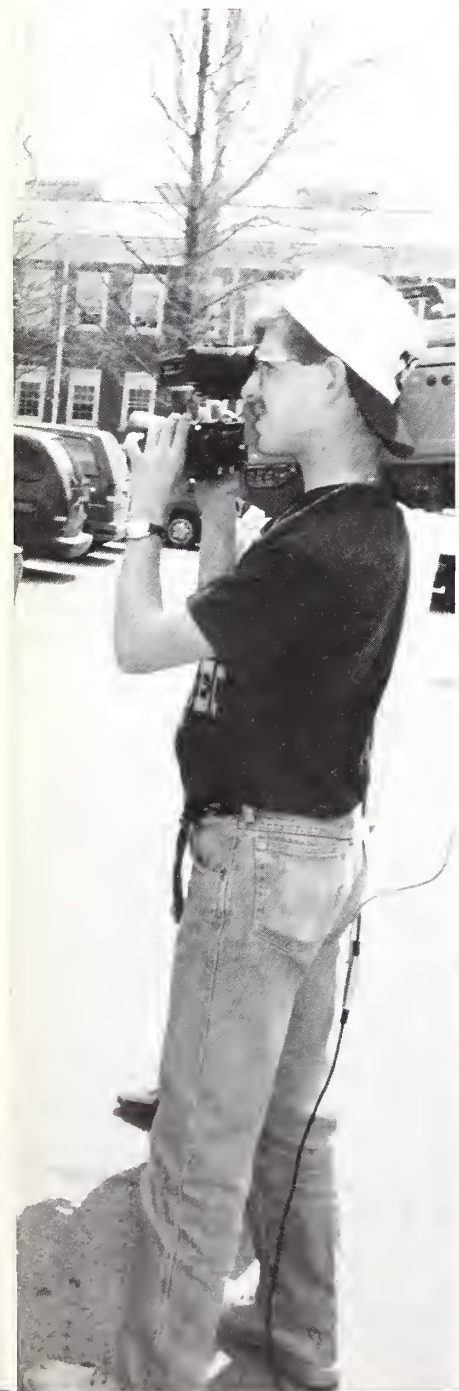

Video Crew

Under the all knowledgeable and capable hands of Bucky Burnsed and Ron Gilbert, the video crew existed. These students put in long hours filming many special events for Lee College. These events included recitals for the music department, presidential concerts and special promos to spread the news of Lee throughout the world. They also filmed a few shorts for local businesses.

During the summers, the video crew films and produces video for several state Church of God camp meetings. These students get to travel all over the U.S. while earning up to two credit hours of school.

A special "Good-bye" to Bucky Burnsed, we'll all miss you.

The Ushers

You may have seen us in the Conn Center, the Dixon Center, or at special events. The men wore striking blue blazers and were accompanied by three female ushers. We escorted you out of the floor to help you find a seat. Sometimes you put up a fight and pretended not to hear us. When we caught you sneaking in late to chapel, we made you sign a tardy sheet.

We asked you to enter quietly and reverently, and for you to remove your hats, though you laughed. We smiled when you crowded us to the wall and stepped on us as we scanned your cards.

However, we wore our usher badge with pride when we took up the offering and controlled the crowds. Not just anyone could fill our shoes.

Every Tuesday, Thursday, and Sunday while those of you slept, we arrived early to ensure the best worship experience for everyone.

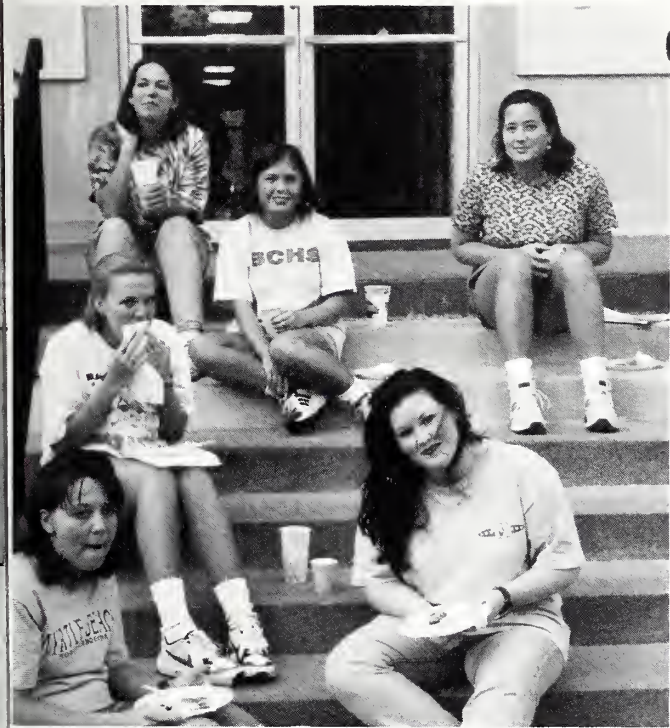

By Sheila Massengill

A view from the mall

it was Lee College

It was more than a paper...

Managing Editor Jeff Ringer helps Circulation Manager DeWayne Gruber deliver newspapers during the winter ice storm

it was the Lee Collegian

It was an exciting year for the staff of the Lee Collegian. As the official source for news and information about Lee College, the Collegian took on a new look and a new mission that caught the attention of people both on and off campus.

For the first time in the history of the school, Lee College had a weekly newspaper - and they even had color pictures. Go figure.

The staff covered practically every event on campus and their editorials on items ranging from dorms to Hughes Hall, garnered a lot of letters to the editor.

The staff also made an effort to become involved in campus activities. The paper sponsored a pizza-eating contest, had two rafts in the annual SGA raft race and published special editions to honor Dr. Conn and Spring Missions.

The Collegian also won four national journalism awards for design, best overall publications, opinions, and photography.

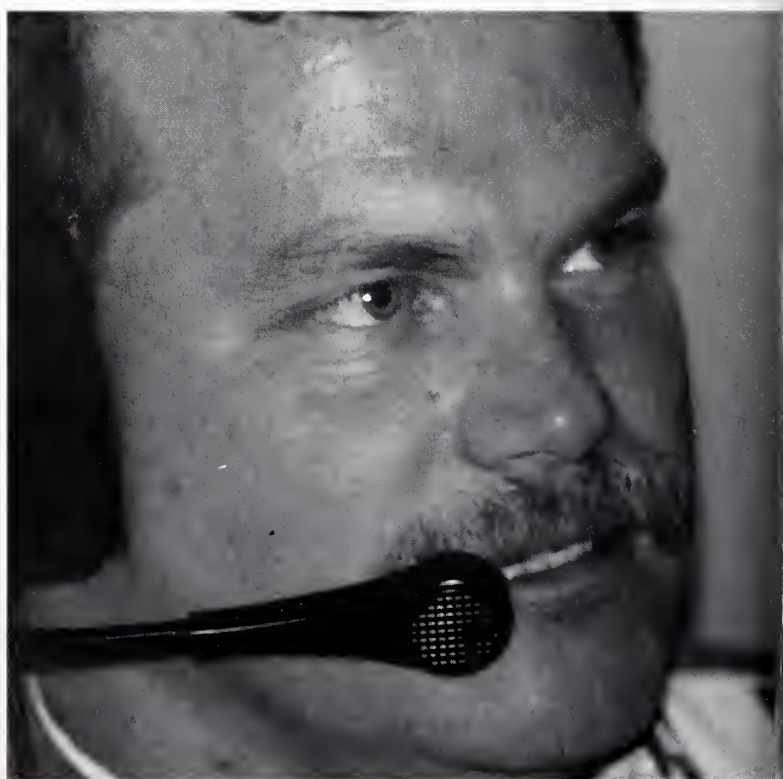

The staff included Todd Starnes, Esther Wong, Joni Martin, Jeff Ringer, Elli DeLorenzo, Jill Beatty, Paolo Arriola, DeWayne Gruber, Dave Kratz, Eric Doise, Matt Poyner, Casey Harris, Dennis Purvis, Vanessa Howard, Ashley Freer, Susan Parrish, Jeromy Conn.

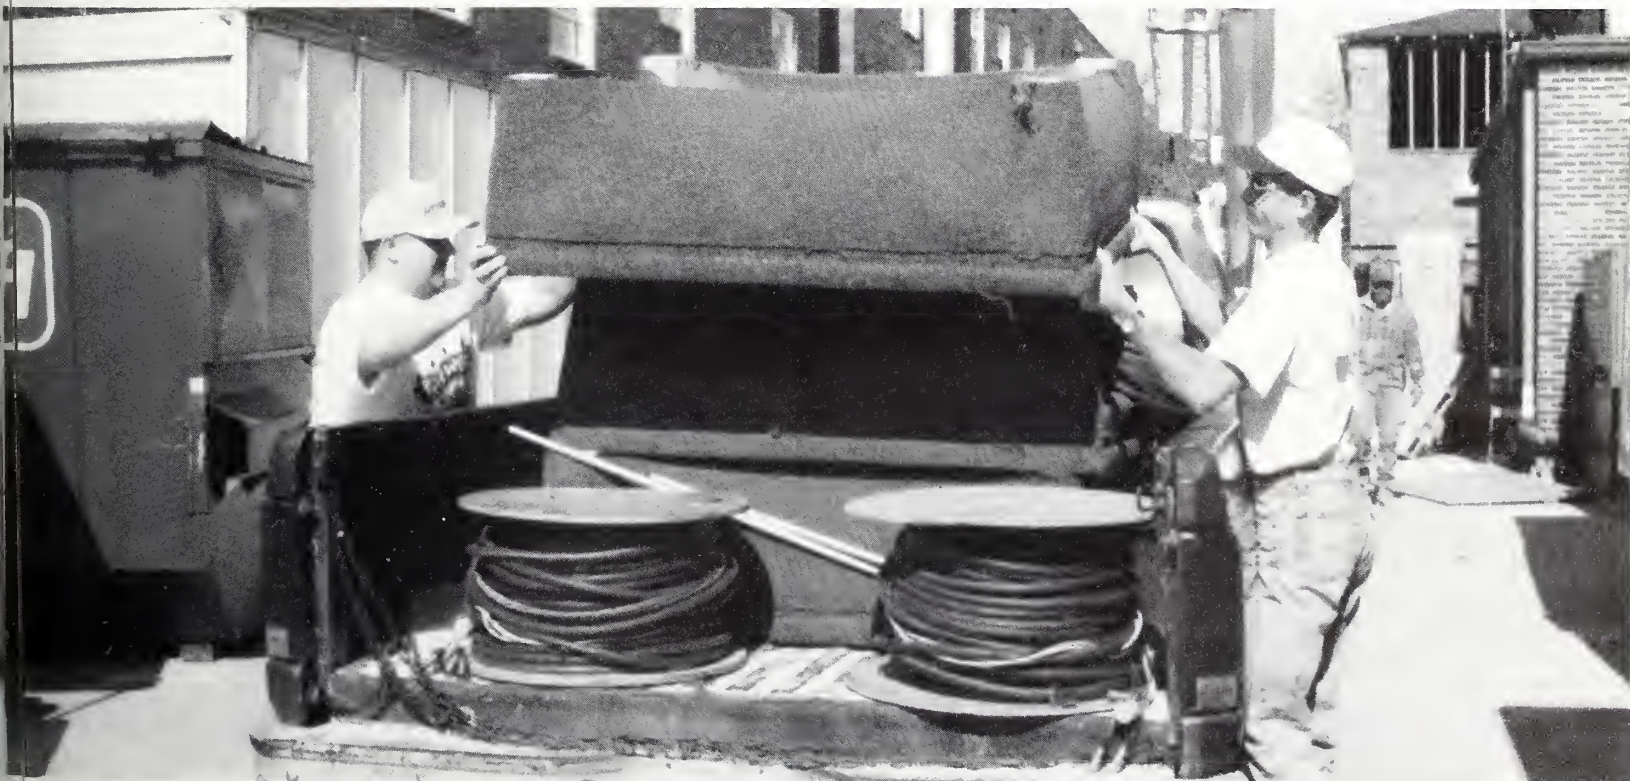

Sponsors included Dr. Matthew Melton, Vanessa Hammond, Dr. Chris Coulter, Cameron Fisher, and Dr. Robert Herron.

Video Yearbook

The video yearbook consisted of a small crew of individuals led by three people. While all three did some of everything, Tim Tanner provided most of the video footage. He found himself attending every event from sunrise to sunset. Dwayne Maynard controlled the editing suite, making sure every clip was properly put together. Bucky Burnsed oversaw the whole operation and made sure the guys were doing their job. What a fantastic job they did... We have them to thank for our video reflections for the year.

The Anthology

While the ped mall hummed pleasantly with small talk and bad pick-up lines and rushed "hello, gotta go's," and the unencumbered chewed on a quick lunch or stared blankly around from their black chair perch outside the Student Center, a group of their peers met in a location that will remain undisclosed, and painstakingly, thoughtfully and without bias, decided the fate of Lee's would-be artists, poets and writers.

"But what are they saying?"

"I'm not sure, but it's pretty."

"But what did they mean...?"

"I didn't get that at all."

And the wastebasket by the desk would fill and overflow as one soul's masterpiece became scrap paper. Perhaps they seemed a bit haughty, maybe even self-righteous, as they sat in their circle flaunting their opposite thumbs and lofty insights, tossing around words like ontological and organic unity. After all, excluding the editors, they were all self-appointed. But, they all carried the weight, the unseen burden, of putting the art back in this liberal arts college.

Under the guidance of their soft spoken leader Sara Engh and her able assistants, Lloyd "brady bunch" Harp and Rebecca "I think I know who wrote this" Wilson. The Anthology experienced a revival as submissions far outnumbered past years. Outlining a new standard of excellence while broadening the platform of acceptance to include formerly aggressive or borderline expression. Sara and her team turned out one of the best magazines yet and gave Lee a new testimony to its liberal arts heritage.

The staff included Angela Baldasaro, Emily Brown, Julie Dalton, Paula Day, Sarah Engh, Bertram Ferrell, Lloyd Harp, Ryan Herron, Michael Hodges, Ondria Johnson, T. Mark Keith, Lori Lang, Stephanie Livingston, Christer Mangold, Theresa Marvin, Sheila Massengill, Debbie Mattson, John Mattson, Isaiah Parker, Laura Perry, Sharon M. Rentz, Stacy Russell, Jayna Stewart, Elizabeth Vandergraph, Shawn D. Watters, Rebekah Wilson and Angie Green, sponsor.

We are

ON

The

AIR

Sports Plus

Sports Plus began its 3rd season at the start of the 95-96 school year. Sponsored by Ron Gilbert, students received hands-on experience in the fabulous and exciting world of TV. The show was produced each week and aired every Sunday at 12:30 p.m. on WFLI TV 53, cable channel 32. The 30-minute show was totally student run.

Sports Plus producer and co-anchor Allison Williams said, "We are the only TV show of this kind in the area. We give the Cleveland, Bradley, Charleston and Lee College athletes the coverage they deserve." She also added that it's truly exciting to be able to receive the internship credit and experience needed in the communications field.

Sports Plus cast and crew consisted of Dawn Adkins, Dennis Threadgill, Jerry Ferson, Kris Colasacco, Stephanie Beignley, Daphne Rosario, Tim Tanner, Sallie Ard, Sondra Romita, Jason Viviano, Todd Heilig, Jannie Holder, James Jenkins, Jerome Hammond and Bucky Burnsed.

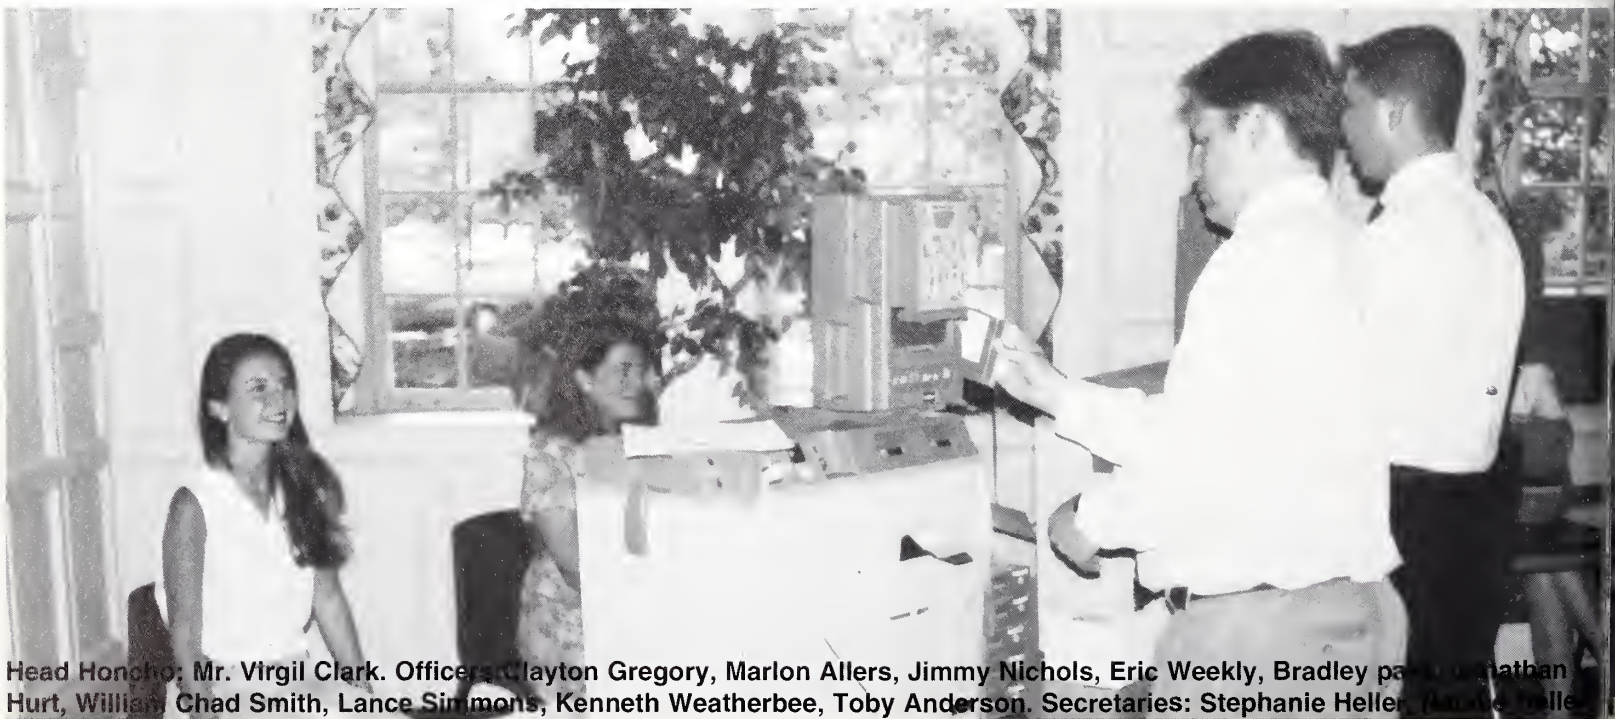

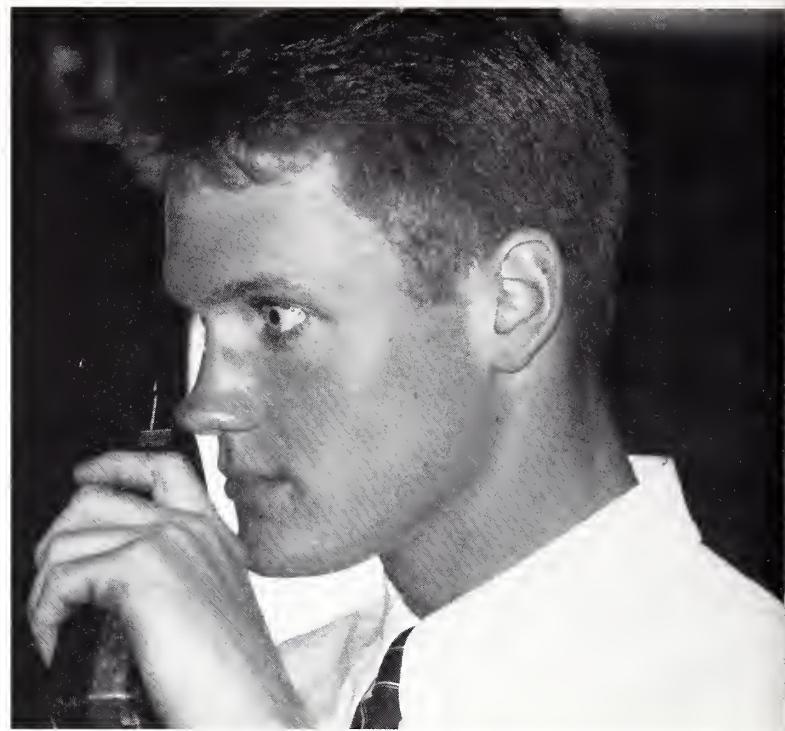

Campus Safety

They wander the campus day and night seeking to protect us from ourselves and others. The brave campus safety men take on the ever disgruntled Lee college student and live to go home and tell about it every day. They are led into battle by the fearless Virgil Clark, a man beyond mere words.

They labor hard under the heavy burden of tickets, car-boots, and walkie-talkies as they patrol the campus. They get no respect for doing their jobs.

We call on them to unlock our car doors and let us in our dorms when we come in late. We ask them to watch out for us when working late at the publication's house and expect them to look the other way when sneaking out of our dorms. We take them for granted and rarely even thank them. Instead, we try to steal their golf carts and would steal their keys if given the opportunity.

By Sheila Massengill

Head Honcho: Mr. Virgil Clark. Officers: Clayton Gregory, Marlon Allers, Jimmy Nichols, Eric Weekly, Bradley park, Jonathan Hurt, William Chad Smith, Lance Simmons, Kenneth Weatherbee, Toby Anderson. Secretaries: Stephanie Heller, (M. the Heller)

Collegiate Sertoma

Collegiate Sertoma's primary service activity takes place through the used textbook store. Students may buy or sell textbooks at a reduced rate. Funds raised by the book store are used for Lee College student scholarships.

During the 1995-96 year, Collegiate Sertoma also contributed to a food basket drive aimed at assisting needy families in four counties in our surrounding communities.

Also during 1995, Dr. Ray H. Hughes Jr., long time Sertoma Sponsor (1987-1995) was honored by the club for his selfless commitment to the scholarship fund raising efforts in support of Lee College students.

Sponsor Robert Debelak, President Dennis Peacock, Secretary Book store manager Kim Barber, Vice President Sam Keys, Hisotrian Book store manager Eddie Jones, Chaplain Darren Brown, David Kratz, Kim Dyer, Michelle hock, Sonia Gilstrap, Chris Paul, Chad Sines,

Maintenance and Grounds Crew

All photos Sheila Massengill

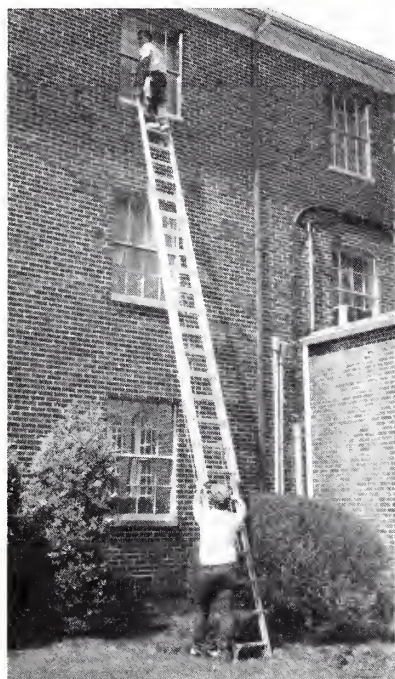

Physical Plant Director Bob Williams retired in December 95 and left it all in under the leadership of Jim Coffey, the new Physical Plant Director. Gary Beasley, Maintenance Supervisor, works hard to ensure that we have a comfortable stay while living at Lee College. Our Maintenance Crew respond as quickly as possible to our ever mounting needs. From electrical to plumbing they try to make us feel as comfortable as we would at home.

Our Grounds crews maintain our beautiful grounds at Lee College, putting in many long hours in the heat and cold.

Herb Terry keeps our custodial crew in line as they labor long and hard in our many buildings on campus.

Next time you see one of our many "behind the scenes" crews stop and thank them for the great job they are doing!

Mariott Cafeteria Crew

The Cafeteria crew is operated by Mariott and managed by Oscar Blum. We are provided with a wide array of foods. David, Food Service Manager, makes sure we have such things as fresh fruit, cereal, and breads everyday along with a daily balanced meal.

Postal Services

The Post office staff has one of the most challenging and most rewarding jobs at Lee. They work long days stuffing our 2268 mail boxes. They get to see our excited happy faces sometimes two or three times a day.

Don Chavis was in charge in the fall until graduation. Then Bill Breland came back in the Spring and brought along his unfaltering assistant Landon Roberts.

Health Services

Health Services are parolled by Donna Moore who allows no one in to see the nurse or Doctor unless they are really sick. Arlette

Robinson and Aletha are just two of the nurses that listen to our complaints, evaluate our sickness and prescribe a remedy.

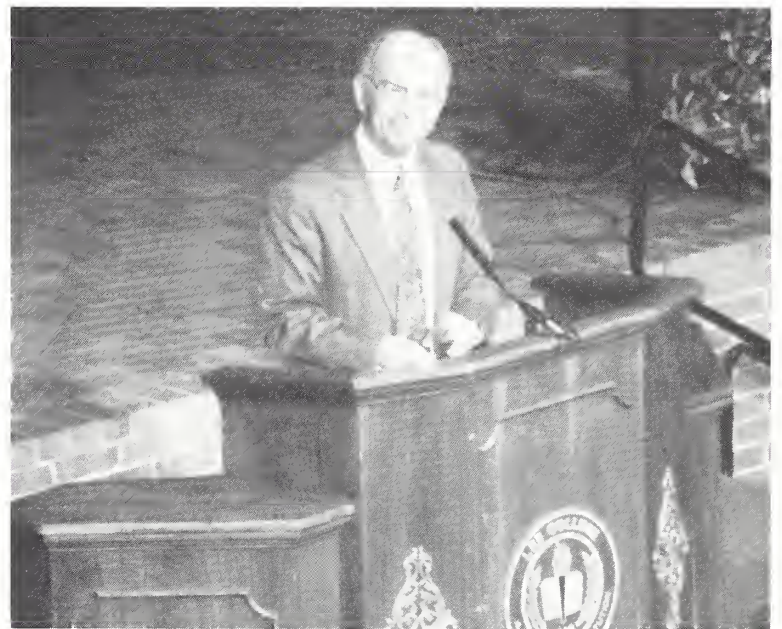

Beyond the Walls

Missions Week was an exciting time at Lee College as students not only learned about mission opportunities, but participated in mission opportunities. Even Cleveland's mayor, Tom Rowland, pictured above, joined the week of ministry by signing a proclamation about the Hunger Banquet. Mission agencies from across the country set up display tables in Dixon Center while Dr. Mark Rutland and the Rev. Philip Bray preached in Chapel. Money raised during the week was given to Kim and Alan Wheeler, who will be working in Mongolia.

DEE LAVENDER

MISSIONS WEEK

Ministri

Serving the Lord

Even though Lee College is known for its academics and social experiences, the school where "Christ is King" is perhaps best known for its commitment to serving others through Jesus Christ. Even when the school year ends, Lee students can be found across the world ministering in churches, housing projects, parks, theme parks, and camp meetings. From instrumental music to vocals, from drama to puppetry, the Lee student has found a way to use any talent to glorify the Lord. Without a doubt Lee College students are determined to minister with their eyes set on the world.

A black and white photograph of a person, likely a woman, wearing a white short-sleeved shirt. Her right arm is raised, with her hand open and fingers spread. She is wearing a dark wristband on her right wrist. The background is dark and out of focus, suggesting an indoor setting with other people. Large, bold, black text is overlaid on the image.

es

at Lee and abroad

M INISTRY

It's a tradition that's as old as the college. Chapel. On Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Sunday nights, thousands of students and faculty joined together to celebrate the Lord Jesus Christ.

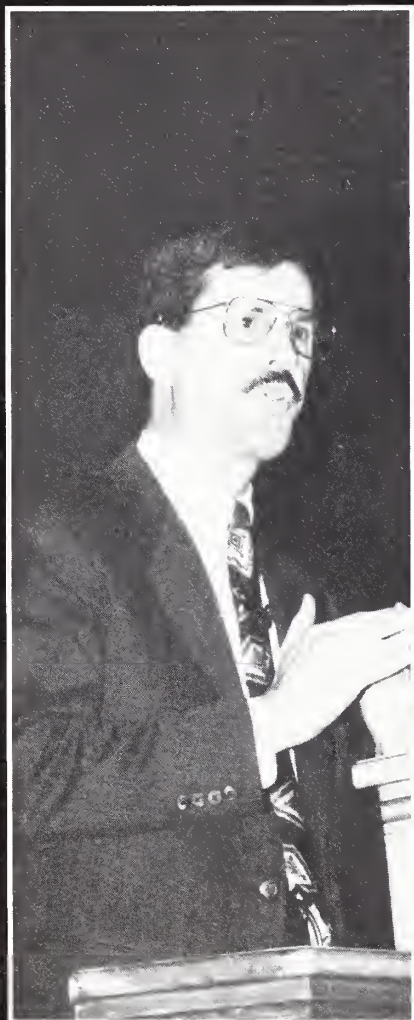

We gathered to sing praises with the school's ministry choirs and instrumentalists.

We gathered to lift our prayers and petitions to the risen Saviour.

We gathered to hear from men and women of God from across denominational lines.

And the Lord was present. He heard our prayers and our praises. He visited us in a special, unique way.

You see, Chapel provided a spiritual oasis for the spiritually weary college student.

C HAPEL

Ministerial Association

Spreading the Gospel

The Lee College Ministerial Association is a group of Lee College believers who have come together in order to experience ministry that involves working with the church community through personal evangelism and church worship. The utmost goal is to reap the harvest and to plant seeds while obtaining valuable experience in the ministry.

During the year, the Ministerial Association visited several local churches and others in the southeast. Bachman Boys Home is another outreach for the group. Services are held on various Wednesday nights, and this year several boys have become Christians.

Officers of the group were Steven Lacy, president; Donovan Law, vice president; Trina Law, secretary; Brian Griffen, treasurer; and Matt Wagoner, chaplain. Dr. Bill Simmons and Terry Johns were the faculty sponsors.

Members included Tim Melton, Jan Overton, Melinda K. Redman, Bill Redman, William H. Seale, Brian Thompson, Maggie Wagoner, Ken Weatherbee, Dale Whitson, Shane Denney, Rob Miskowski, and Jim Cantrell.

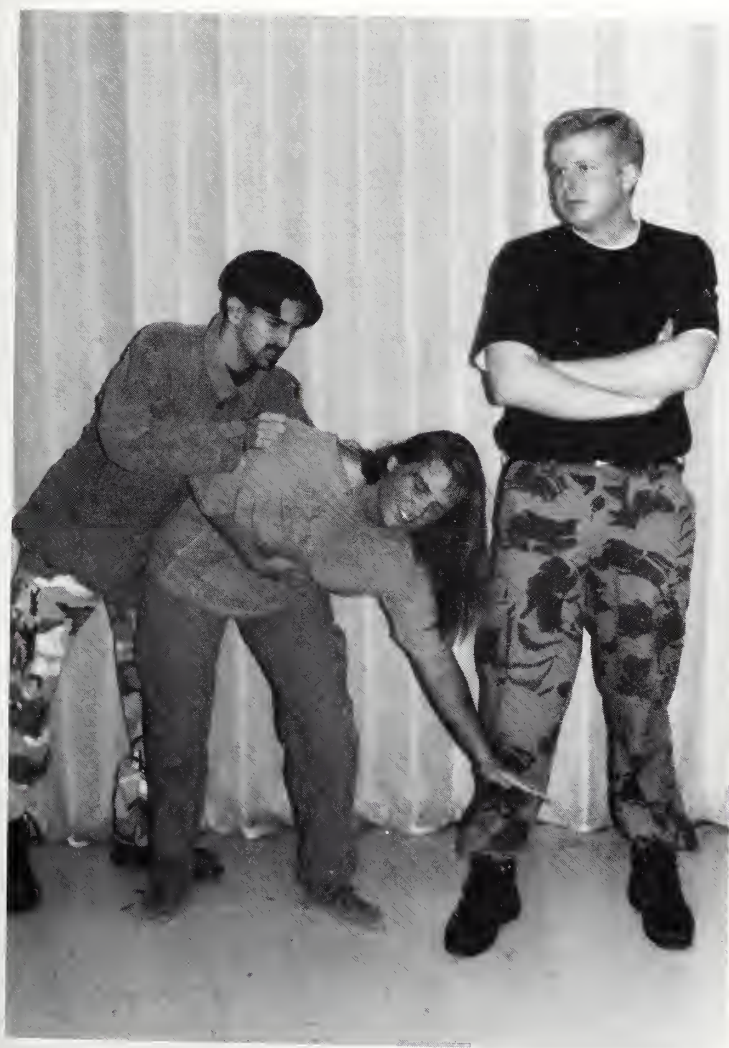

PKC

Pioneers For Christ

FCA

Fellowship of Christian Athletes

When Ben Bahnsen, Tim Cook, and Damon Goddard first came together as Lee College varsity athletes, all three initially came as transfer students who were heavily involved in the Fellowship of Christian Athletes (FCA).

When they arrived at Lee College, the guys decided to form a chapter on the campus.

Although approximately 40 individuals attended the initial meeting, the attendance leveled off to an average of 20-25 participants. However, the Lee College chapter of FCA is one of the fastest growing in the area, according to Dear Craig, the FCA director for southeast Tennessee.

John Hatfield provided musical talent at the FCA meetings with Bahnsen leading the Bible studies.

Goddard expressed a desire to become more involved with FCA chapters at other local colleges and to continue to reaching out to varsity athletes at Lee while encouraging them to maintain a focus on Christ and to not get caught up in the glory of the sport.

YLA

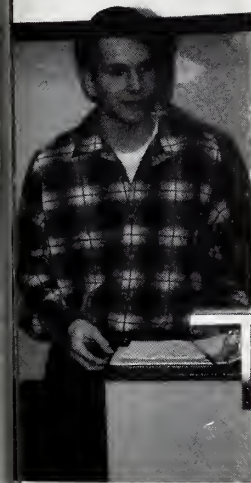

Youth Leaders Association

The theme of the Youth Leaders Association was Change. There were many different members this year and they all joined with enthusiasm and active participation.

YLA was fortunate to minister at several churches during Wednesday night services and also worked at WinterFest 1996 in Gatlinburg. YLA is geared to train future teachers, youth pastors and volunteer youth leaders.

YLA's mission is to reach the lost and to make disciples of the youth of this world. Officers included Lori Lang, Greg White, Peter Burke, Jaime Sanders, Monica Collins, Mike Chai, Russell Gann, Kevin Howell and Josh Hames.

Vindagua

It was a rebuilding year for the Vindagua. With a small staff of dedicated people, this year's book attempted to go "Through a Different Door."

Among the things required of this year's staff were: writing copy, designing layouts, taking and cropping pictures, and attending as many events as possible.

Many long hours of tedious work were put in by staff members.

Editors: Jennifer Hamilton and Shawn Watters

Assistant Editor: Tracie Payne

Photography Editor: Sheila Massengill

Section Editors:

Josh Martin

Summer Joplin

Dawn Pletcher

Rick Field

Aaron Paul

Faculty Sponsors:

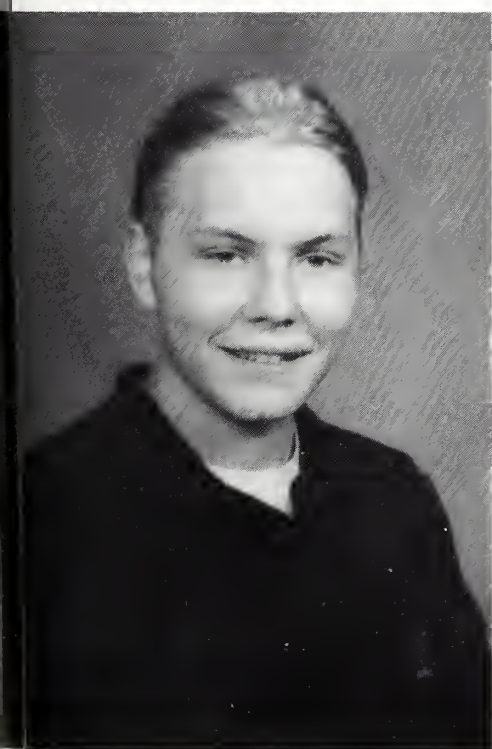

Dr. Herron

Dr. Summerlin

Dr. Melton

Ms. Thompson

Missions Alive

The Missions Club took an interesting turn with its new name, Missions Alive! The president for the 1995-96 year was Rick Waggoner; vice president, Heath Jackson; and Charles Nelson and Beatty headed up the music.

Missions Alive! volunteered at Westmore COG's homeless ministry and had an awesome retreat at "Granny's."

During the spring, Mrs. Kim Wheeler came and taught an intensive course on planting churches in unreached nations.

The Missions Alive! also provided stories and photographs for the LCC Collegian's special Missions Week issue.

Missions Alive's purpose is to promote campus awareness of missions opportunities and provide students with an outlet for prayer and worship as well as fellowship and fun.

Four VOICES Go

A barbershop quartet formed from within the Voices of Lee ensemble at Lee College won the international barbershop quartet award in Salt Lake City in 1996.

Known as Four Voices, the group includes J.B. VanHook of Des Moines; Dan Vincent of Portage, IN; Chad Guyton of Cleveland, TN; and Lester Rector of Cincinnati.

Earlier in the year, the men won the Dixie District Barbershop Quartet competition by defeating five-time defending champion Georgia Tech.

Four Voices is an extension of Voices of Lee under the direction of Danny Murray.

"This is a truly remarkable achievement," Murray said. "These guys have terrific harmony, and they are role model representatives for our city and Lee College."

Deaf Ministries

Deaf Outreach is a spiritual life club that is committed to reaching a world that has not heard. During our weekly meetings, members learned American Sign Language and deaf culture.

Members had many opportunities to experience deaf culture on a personal level.

Such opportunities included trips to the Tennessee School for the Deaf, social events for high school and college-age deaf students, and visits by the deaf to weekly meetings.

Deaf Outreach also sponsored a drama team which ministered at local churches, club functions and college-sponsored events.

Deaf Outreach offers to the students of Lee College the unique opportunity to become actively involved in deaf ministry.

"Although we focus our attention on teaching sign language, we are not merely a sign language club.

Rather, we are committed to not only learning the language, but also loving the people."

Officers include: Mike Feil, president; Robin Blackburn, vice president; Shannon Bartlett, secretary; Rachel Jackson, treasurer; Will Witte, chaplain; Steven Lucas, historian.

Big Pal Little Pal

The Big Pal program is designed to minister to children from low-income neighborhoods.

These children may be from dysfunctional families where alcohol, drugs, abuse and neglect are common.

Our mission is to provide love, build self-esteem, and most importantly, share the gospel of Jesus Christ.

Many students at Lee College are included in this effort. A student matched up with a child in the Big Pal program may take the child to church, the movies, or just a fun day out.

In addition to one-on-one outings, the program provides group events such as bowling, skating and picnics.

Upsilon Xi prove to be Iron Men

Lee Collegian
September 25, 1991

Consuming Fire Mission held an Iron Man Softball Classic on September 8 and 9 that culminated in almost 24 hours of straight softball. It added up to this: 12 teams, two finalists, one victor--Upsilon Xi.

Many fine teams entered this grueling festival, and many were quickly eliminated.

The real battle of this day was between Upsilon and the Underground.

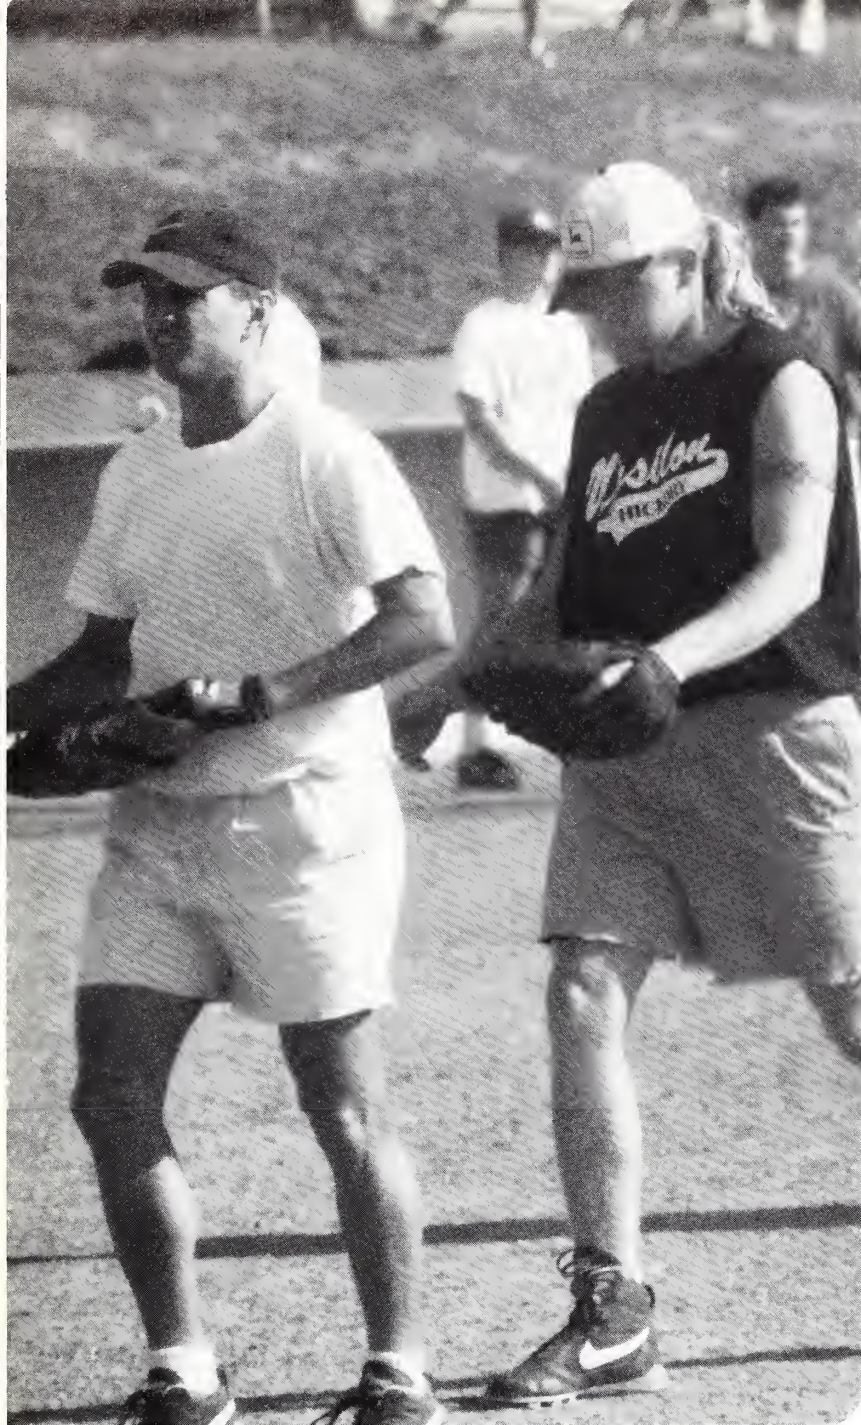

In the two teams' first meeting, the quarterfinals of the winners' bracket, Underground jumped off to an early lead only to watch it dwindle away due to hard hitting on the part of Upsilon.

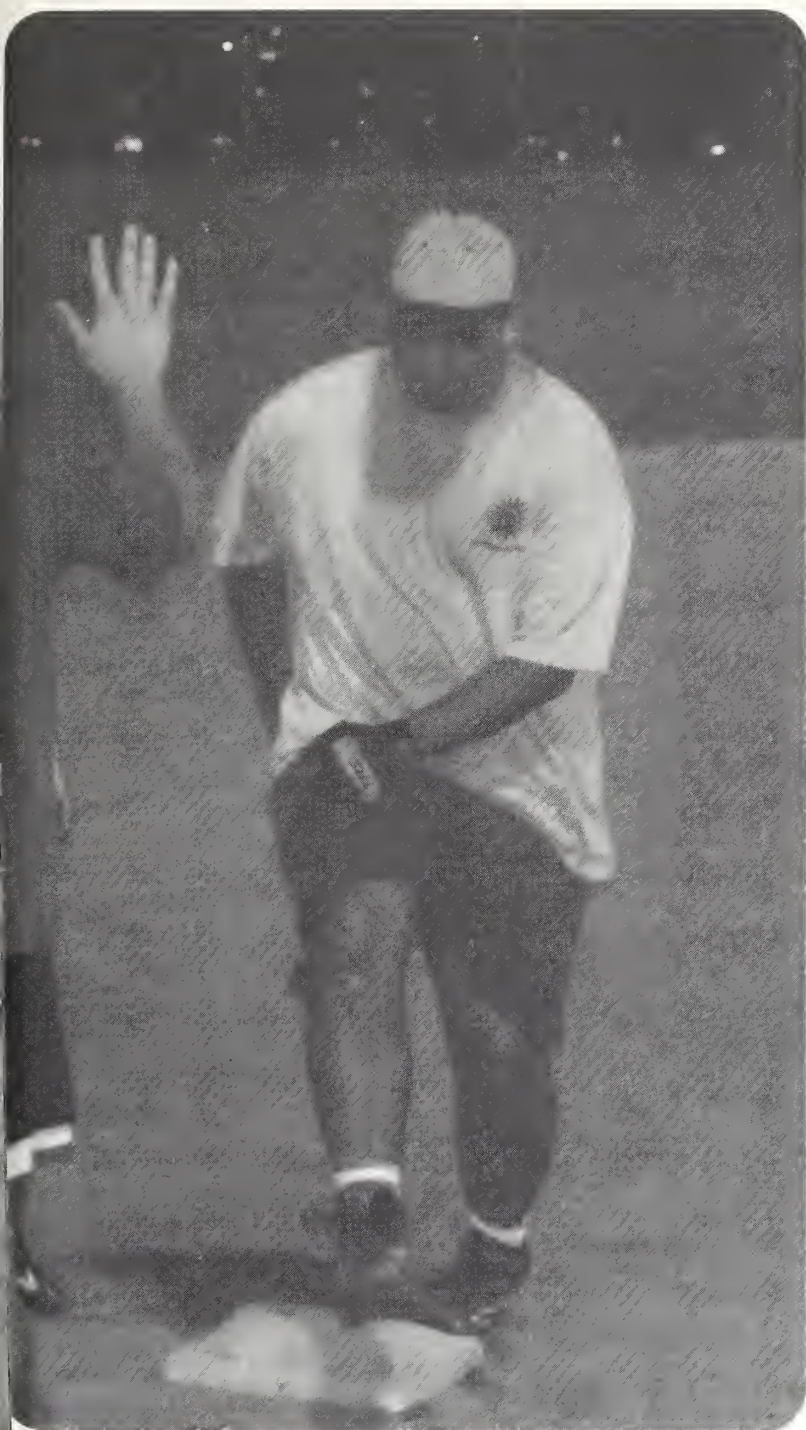

"It was a tough loss," Underground's Jeremy Bandy said. "That put us in a tough loser's bracket."

The Underground spent all Saturday afternoon making the way back through the loser's bracket without much or any sleep. Their work led to the consolation finals against Barker's Boys.

There was a three home run rule in effect for the game and Barker's Boys faced their limit early on. This helped the Underground's cause, and they squeaked by Barker's boys with two runs.

After playing eight games in a span of 20 hours, the Underground had to beat Upsilon twice in the finals to win the tourney. Ol' Hickory smashed the Underground in the first game 20-2.

Drama Club

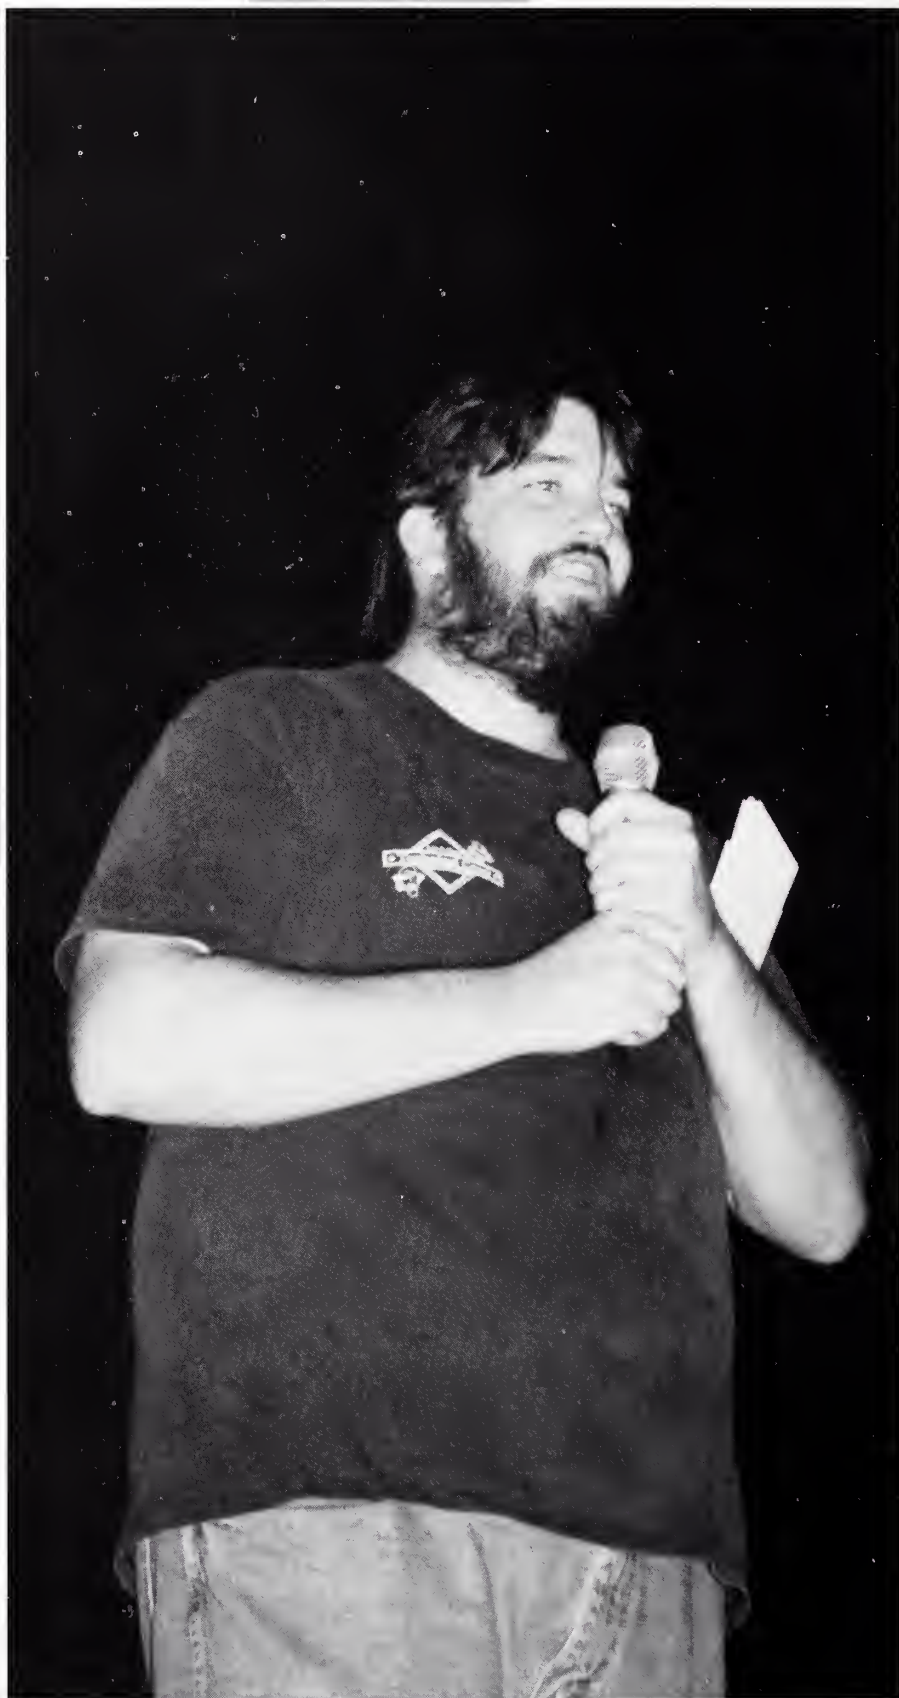

It was a grand year for the Lee College Drama Club as they brought cultural enlightenment to the campus.

The Drama Club is responsible for providing support for all productions of the Lee College Theater Program. In addition, the Drama Club attended many musicals, plays, and other dramatic events in Atlanta, Chattanooga and Knoxville.

Besides all this, the Drama Club began preparations to charter a chapter of Alpha Beta Xi. Alpha Beta Xi is a national honorary dramatic society.

Pictured at right is Steve McGuffey, the man responsible for designing all the sets for Lee's theatrical productions.

Officers for the Drama Club included Danna Amerman, president; Danny Baker, vice president; Julie Murphy, secretary; Melanie Stone, public relations; and Gerry Anderson, chaplain.

Suffer the little Collegians
children to come unto me, for and forbid them not, for Life such is the kingdom of heaven.

The Collegians for Life had a busy year keeping students informed about pro-life events. The highlight of the year came in November when Collegians for Life sponsored Life Week.

In addition to weekday seminars, Cathy Irvin, from New Hope Pregnancy Care, and Sheila Walston from New Life Maternity Home, visited campus.

The Drama Club, Deaf Outreach and Pioneers for Christ also participated in Life Week.

The Collegians for Life also began having weekly meetings in the Walker Memorial Building.

The Collegians for Life focus on improving the quality of life by saving the unborn peacefully. They also minister to the men and women affected by abortion.

The Collegians for Life was led by Sharon Rentz, president.

Kingdom Players

Kingdom Players is a touring drama ministry led by new Associate Professor of Communication Dr. Sharon Carbaugh. The company of six students presents exciting, humorous and dramatic skits based on the Bible in an effort to inspire and refresh as they bring the message of the Word of God. "Some of the skits draw out inconsistencies that exist in people's lives and encourage them to change," Carbaugh said.

The primary purpose of the Kingdom Players is to represent Lee College at camps, youth functions and other community-related and church-related events.

The students were chosen through audition and receive a scholarship for their involvement in the group.

Dr. Carbaugh is widely-known in dramatic circles because of her extensive publishing background. She has published numerous scripts in several drama books.

The Players have become an integral part of President Conn's plans for fund raising and recruitment. The group has and will be called upon for occasional excursions where a snippet of the Lee College student body is needed to "sell the vision" of Lee College.

Baptist

Brothers helping brothers. That's what the Baptist Fellowship is all about. Lee College's newest ministry organization is dedicated to serving not only Lee College, but Lee's extended family.

With nearly 300 Baptist students at Lee, the administration gave their stamp of approval to the creation of the Lee College Baptist Fellowship (BSF). By the end of the second semester, nearly 100 students, both Baptist and non-Baptist had joined the popular group.

"A lot of prayer, planning and preparation went into starting the BSF," said Todd Starnes, founder of the group. "We are extremely excited about the opportunities Lee has given to the BSF."

"It was amazing how God worked things out," added Shelly McClanahan, a sophomore from Cleveland. "My sister and I were praying that we would find a group of Baptists here on campus and the next week we saw a poster announcing the BSF."

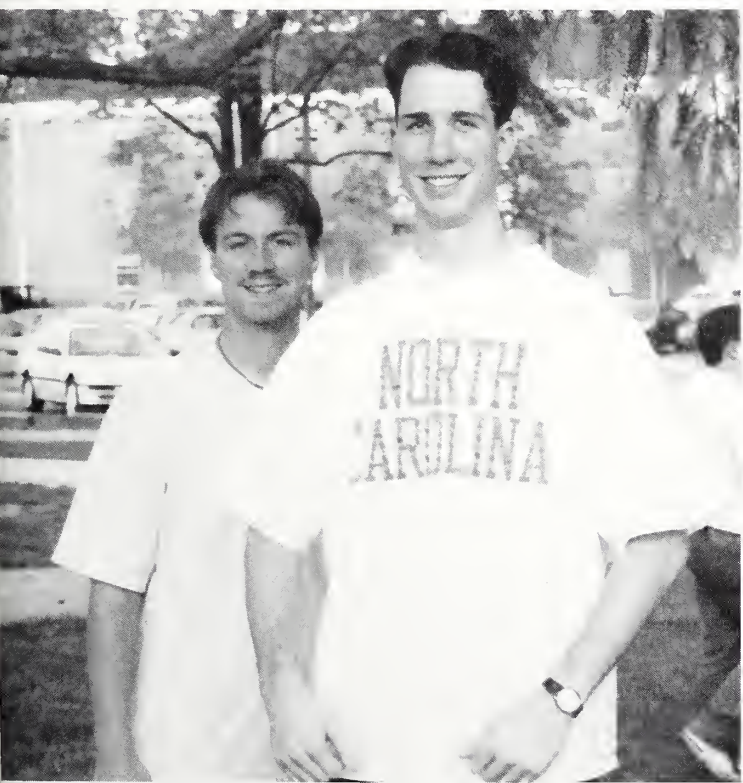

It's a wonderful group."

The BSF's biggest impact has been their Thursday Nite Rallies. These weekly Bible studies have brought 100 students together for intense study of the Bible as well as pot-luck suppers provided by local Baptist churches.

It's great to be at a school where people of different denominations can gather together and worship," said Jim Vaughn, a BSF member from Texas.

"And like good Baptists, we love to get together and eat," added Richard Chapman.

Sports

It was a hot year for

It was definitely a hot year for athletics at Lee College. From women's volleyball to men's basketball, the Flames were competitive and provided sports enthusiasts with incredibly exciting games.

Even more excitement was announced this year as Lee College announced that baseball would be coming back to campus. In grand style, the new baseball coach, David Altopp, was introduced to the coaching staff.

By next spring the Flames will be playing collegiate baseball in a new, state-of-the-art stadium a few blocks north of campus.

So enjoy the following pages as we look back on the year that the Flames blazed a path to glory.

the Flames

1st in the TVAC
1st in the Tourney
3rd in the NCCAA Coach Bratcher and
the guys who wear
shorts in November
kicked their way to a 20-4 season

OLE'

Ole' Ole' Ole'

"This was a great year, . . . probably one of the most enjoyable seasons of my coaching career, because we not only had a great year, but I was involved with a fine group of guys who got along with each other very well."

Head Coach John Bratcher

scoreboard

N. Georgia	W
Montreat	W
Cumberland Univ	W
Tennessee Temple	W
David Lipscomb	W
Covenant	W
King	W
Toccoa Falls	W
Bryan	L
Southern Wesleyan	W
Tenn Wesleyan	W
Bluefield	L
Tusculum	W
Milligan	W
Clayton St	W
Thomas College	W
Alabama A&M	W
Sue Bennett	W
TVAC Tourney
Bryan	W
Tusculum	W
Mid-South Region
Georgetown	L
NCCAA Tourney
Bartlesville Wesleyan	W
Malone	L
Indiana Wesleyan	W

HEIDI MARTIN Fan support. Whether it was due to the increase in enrollment, the World Cup, or just a renewed school spirit, the crowds were out in force, be it rain or shine, for the Flames. With Oscar Blum leading the crowd in a rousing "Ole, ole, ole, ole, ole!", the men would stream out onto the field for battle. And there were some great battles.

Bratcher and company, including former keeper Matt Hill assisting, rolled to a 20-4 record, defeating nemesis and nationally ranked neighbor Covenant College along the way. After clinching the TVAC Tourney they went on to claim third in their final season as host to the NCCAA Tournament.

The addition of some extremely strong players, Emil Brown and Eric Green, and continued strong play from veterans Shawn Tatham and Rafat Quimseh were the basis for the success of the season. Marcus Torres also had an excellent and much improved season as he and Eric combined to stop 167 on-goal shots, allowing only 20 all year.

1995 Flames Soccer

HEAD COACH JOHN BRATCHER, ASST. MATT HILL, JEFF LAUGHLIN, SHAWN TATHAM, MIKE SMELSER, TIM CORBIN, BRANDON PARKER, DAMON GODDARD, NATE HEYMAN, RAFAT QUIMSEH, RYAN HAMER, CHAD SCHOLLAERT, ANDREW HOO-MOOK, BRIAN CONN, EMIL BROWN, DAVE SAGRAVES, ANTHONY GUITERREZ, ROBBIE HAY, STEVE SAGRAVES, BRYANT SKINNER, JASON ROLLINS, JUSTIN YOUNKER, BRAD TRUMP, ERIC GREEN, MARCUS TORRES

BUILDING CHARACTER

The Lady Flames just could not seem to find a break HEIDI MARTIN

The ball just did not seem to bounce right for the Lady Flames, and another season of close losses and injuries plagued the former "Cinderella team." Sophomore Jennifer Bowyer "We did have a tough season, but in the end it was worth the struggles because we had great experience."

Coach Garafano, who once again declared this his final season as coach, added, "This has been a very challenging season. We endured a lot of injuries and were up against some very strong opponents. But throughout the season, the team persevered through the struggles and, I believe, showed the character of competitive Christian athletes."

Despite a rough regular season, the team pulled off a third place finish in the TVAC but lost in the tourney. They also traveled to the National Tourney in New York and Pennsylvania, where they placed fourth.

WS
O O
m C e C
N e
S r 276

A tough season ends in a third place finish and a trip to the TVAC Tourney

ALANNA LAND, DANA TAYLOR, AMANDA CONDO, KIMBELY DYAR, JENNIFER BOWYER, ERIN POWERS, HEIDI MARTIN, JENNIFER BROOKS, SARAH NORSWORTHY, SHAUNNA KUPLIN, DIANA CANTERO, TAMARA TAYLOR, LORI MACIAK, ANDREA BURNS, NICHOLA HOOPER, DACIA DOROUGH, HEAD COACH RALPH GARAFANO

scoreboard

Univ of the South	L	Covenant	L
Cumberland	L	North Greenville	W
Lincoln Memorial	L	Tusculum	L
Birmingham Southern	L	Carson-Newman	L
Christian Brothers	L	Montreat	W
Maryville	L	Clayton State	W
Tenn Wesleyan	W	Union	L
Lambuth	L	TVAC Tourney
Hendrix	W	Tusculum	L
		NCCAA Tourney
		Anderson	L
		Roberts Wesleyan	L

ghost over photo

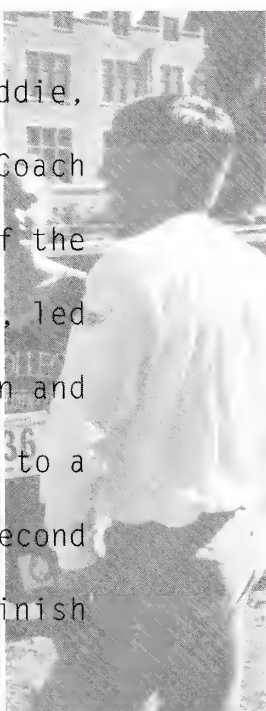

ralph

Well, the rumor that went around for two seasons became reality as Coach Bratcher announced he would take over both the ladies' and mens' teams in the Fall of '96. Ralph Garafano leaves a legacy of dedication and determination that will be remembered for years to come.

RUNNING WILD

Coach Eddie, TVAC Coach of the Year, led the men and women to a second place finish

"Finishing fourteenth and eighteenth at the NCCAA Championship was a great way to end a successful season and lead into next year with higher goals."
TVAC Coach of the Year
Eddie Atkinson

First season miracles, Cinderella stories and Coach of the Year . . .

Eddie Atkinson may have entertained these thoughts while dozing off on his golf cart at soccer games early in the season after an eleventh and seventeenth place start. But by the time they were heading for the Southeastern Classic, the worst finish between both teams was sixth, and they seemed to actually be contenders. With an almost entirely rookie team on both squads, what these guys and girls were accomplishing was simply incredible. They finished the season, men and women, in second place in the TVAC and went on to finish fourth and fifth respectively in the Mid-South Regionals.

They also had two All-Conference runners from each team, Saxon Williams and Jason Spakovsky for the men and Beth Richert and Brenda Abduhl for the women.

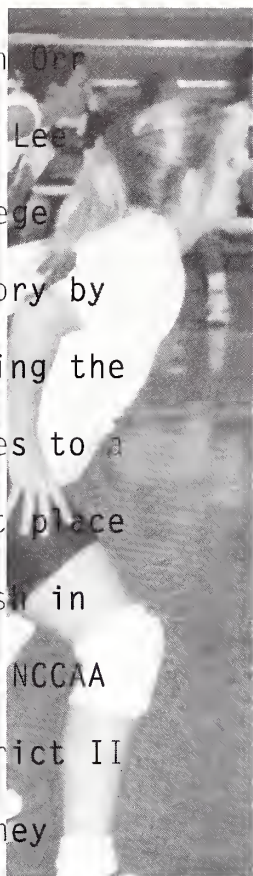

HEAD COACH EDDIE ATKINSON, STUDENT ASSISTANTS MATTHEW FARMER AND MARIBELL AGUIRRE, JASON SPAKOVSKY, SAXSON WILLIAMS, JOHNATHAN WILL JASON JEETER, PAUL VAN FLEET, BETH RICHERT, BRENDA ABDUHL, CRYSTAL BOWLBY, CHERYL CHASTAIN, MELINDA BIGHAM, BECKY OMAN, ALLYSA GUY

scoreboard

	women	men
carson-newman	11th	11th
vanderbilt	17th	18th
u. of the south	4th	3rd
oglethorpe	6th	6th
u.of the south	nts	3rd
southeastern classic	17th	18th
tvac	2nd	2nd
mid-south regionals	5th	4th
nccaa	14th	18th

Coach Orr made Lee College history by leading the ladies to a first place finish in the NCCAA
District II Tourney

HEIDI MARTIN
ALISHA ASHE
DYLAN CHURCH

SERVING to a HIGHER POWER

First place in the regular season. First place in the District Tourney. Runner-up in the Mid-South Regionals. And they weren't even ranked

Every college coach knows that the day will come when those players who have meshed, those team leaders who seem to think as one, will graduate. They hope those players have made an impression, have left a legacy--a prodigy, to step up and keep the good times going.

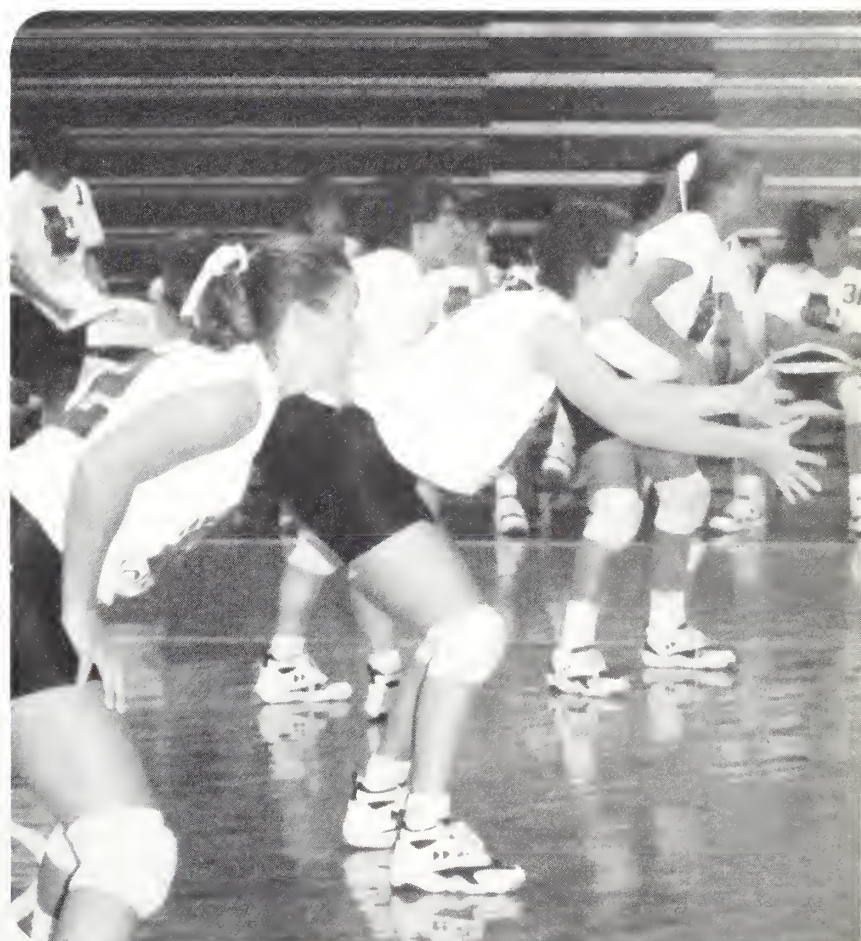

Well, with the loss of three of the finest Lee has ever seen, it wasn't one individual, or two, that stood in the gap. The whole team sensed the responsibility of carrying on the tradition of players like Niki Goodman and Britany Harned and gave Coach Orr her best ever finish at 39-12 and first place regular season standing.

The team was quick to pass on congratulations for their success, though. Junior Danielle Sherman explained:

"Not only did the team increase in strength and ability, we also raised our spiritual level." A strong spiritual nucleus and a season long goal to raise the spiritual level with the game level taught them to give God the glory. Freshman Alisha Ashe added, "With God put first on this team, there will be no stopping us. . ."

“Not only did the team increase in strength and ability, we also raised our spiritual level.”

Danielle Sherman

Flames finish season 20-13

It was an on-again, off-again year for the men's basketball program at Lee College as the Flames struggled to find the right formula to win basketball games.

Despite a series of misfortunes, the Flames advanced to the championship game of the NCCAA District 2 tournament.

The talented Lee team experienced a number of disappointingly close losses, but sophomore Paul Bell, from Alabama, proved a positive force when he scored a career high 36 points in the 106-96 victory over NAIA ranked Transylvania University.

Bell, who spent four weeks ranked fifth in rebounding in the NAIA, was joined in the national statistical ratings by senior Monty McClure. McClure climbed as high as 17th place in assists per game.

The Flames' season closed with the District 2 championship game where they ended a five-year reign with a loss to a resurrected Tennessee Temple University team.

The Flames marked their first absence from the national NCCAA tournament since 1985 and ended the season with a record of 20-

Paul Bell reaches 1,000 points

By Aaron Barnes
Lee Collegian

Ask Paul Bell about himself and he will tell you he's "just your average country boy from a backwoods town."

The sophomore center for the Flames comes from Section, AL, but, he is not your average player.

During the 1995-96 season, Bell surpassed 1,000 points for his career against Transylvania and was named NCCAA player of the week.

Bell averaged 19.9 points and 10.1 rebounds per game.

1st in the TVAC

1st in the Tourney

2nd in the NCCAA

Coach Bratcher and

the guys who wear

shorts in November

kicked their way to a 20-4 season

FANS of the Flames!

The Lee Collegian's Dennis Purvis talks about why folks love basketball

Two seconds left in the game. Your team is down by one. You have just been passed the ball.

You set up for the 15-foot jumper. You release the ball just before a defender's arm brushes across your vision.

In what seems like an eternity, the ball travels through the air.

You see nothing but the rotation of the ball. You know that it was a good shot. You pray that it was good enough. You have practiced a long time for that shot. You have sacrificed so much to be right there, right now.

It hits the backboard at the precise angle to find its way through the nylon cords. Suddenly, a rush that no words can properly describe flows through your veins. That is what basketball is all about.

Basketball takes tall, lanky schoolboys and makes them power forwards.

It takes the shortest guy in your fourth grade class and makes him a point guard.

It takes a tomboy and has her shooting treys. Everyone at some point has felt the magic of basketball. There is no better feeling than when your shot falls. No other game depends so much on an individual to bring prosperity to the team.

Whether you played in grade school or just for fun, basketball becomes an obsession.

It takes skill to conquer that leather ball.

Not everyone can dribble through their legs and drive for a reverse dunk.

We make heroes out of those who can do these things well.

For those of us that just play for recreation, there is another outlet for our obsession--being a great fan. Fan is short for fanatics and those of us who truly love the game know why. We will follow our team everywhere; we might as well be on the team.

We talk about our team and my shot like we were one of the starting five. When our team loses we feel like maybe it was our fault maybe we didn't do enough for the team.

When we come home the victors, no one feels the thrill of the win more than we do.

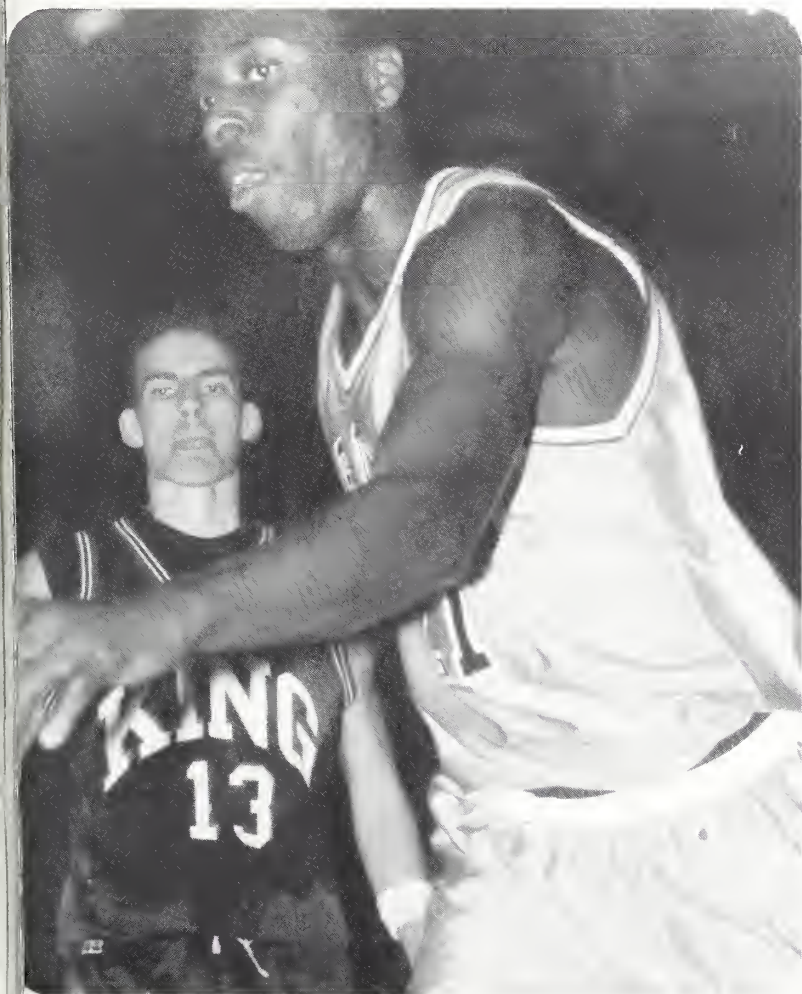

We are the fans of the greatest team on Earth. No one can take on our boys.

Bring on Jordan, Byrd and Shaq. We're ready.

1995-96 SENIORS - The Seniors on this year's team included from left to right, Jason Richardson, Eric Deaton, Antwan Brown and Monty McClure. Photo courtesy of the Lee Collegian.

The Flames have an Ohio connection

By Dennis Purvis
Lee Collegian

Russ Meilstrup, Erik Ramsey, Antwan Brown, Reggie Holtrey, Shay Richardson, and Tim Fenlon are just a few of the players that have made the trek down I-75 from southern Ohio.

It seems that I-75 serves as a feeding frenzy to Flames coaching staff. A lot of that is due to the style of basketball played in southern Ohio, according to head coach Larry Carpenter.

"There is a good brand of basketball played in that area,"

Carpenter said. "It helps that Lee itself draws a lot of students from that area as well."

The inside connection for Carpenter is Orville Robinson. Robinson serves as pastor of Cornerstone COG in Lebanon, Ohio. He is also an avid basketball fan.

"Orville is a good scout for us," he said.

"He has a good eye for talent and I have confidence that when he calls with a player, that player is worth watching."

BLAZING GLORY

The Lady Flames finish year 22-14

By Casey Harris

Lee Collegian

The Lee College Lady Flames wrapped up the 1995-96 season by taking second place in the National Christian collegiate Athletic Association's (NCCAA) National Women's Basketball Championship at Roberts Wesleyan College on March 9.

Head Coach Gary Baldwin said he was very excited and proud of the Lady's success. "When it seemed like all the odds were against us, we pulled together as a team and went on to take second in the tourney," he said.

Senior Kelli Crawford was named to the all tournament team in the NCCAA tourney. She was also placed on the First Team All American and the All District Team during the tournament.

Crawford led the team in rebounds, free throws, field goals and steals.

Baldwin said she was a key player this season. "Crawford did a wonderful job for us and was a great asset to the team," he said. "Captains Crawford, Borne and Moss really held the team together mentally. They showed the confidence necessary to win games."

Rogers, Moss, Baldwin and Kemper were all honored as All Star Athletes at the tourney.

Basketball

SPARKLIN' like diamonds

Lady Flames Softball team finishes in the top 8 at the national tournament

Note: All photographs by Chris Mathes

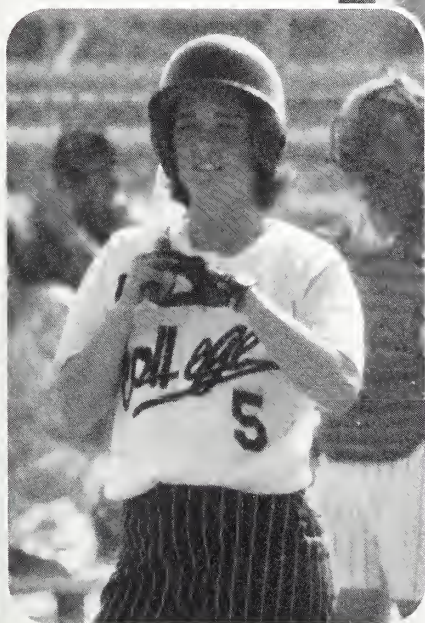

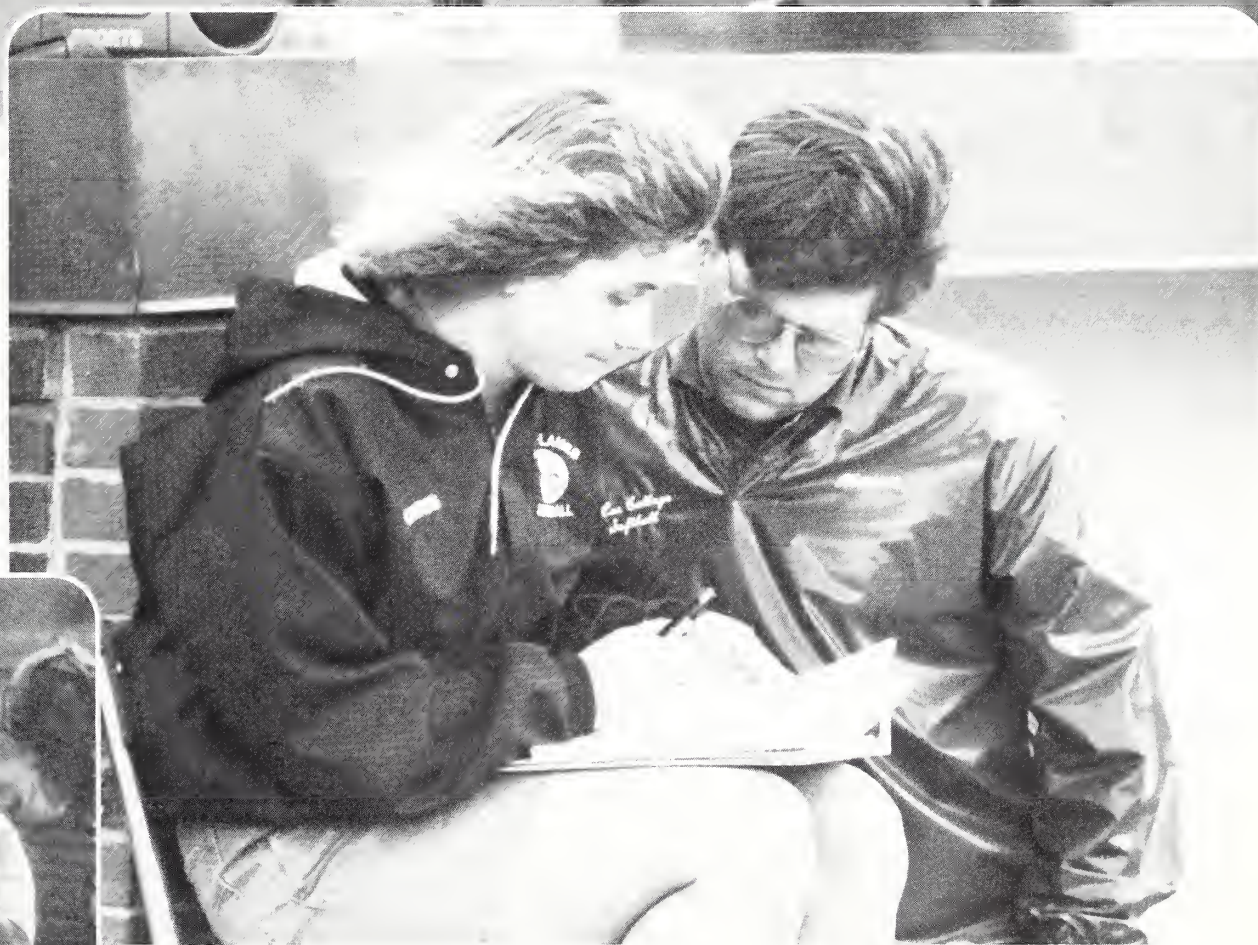

The Lee College Lady Flames Softball team gave the fans something to shout about as they blazed to glory both at home and on the road.

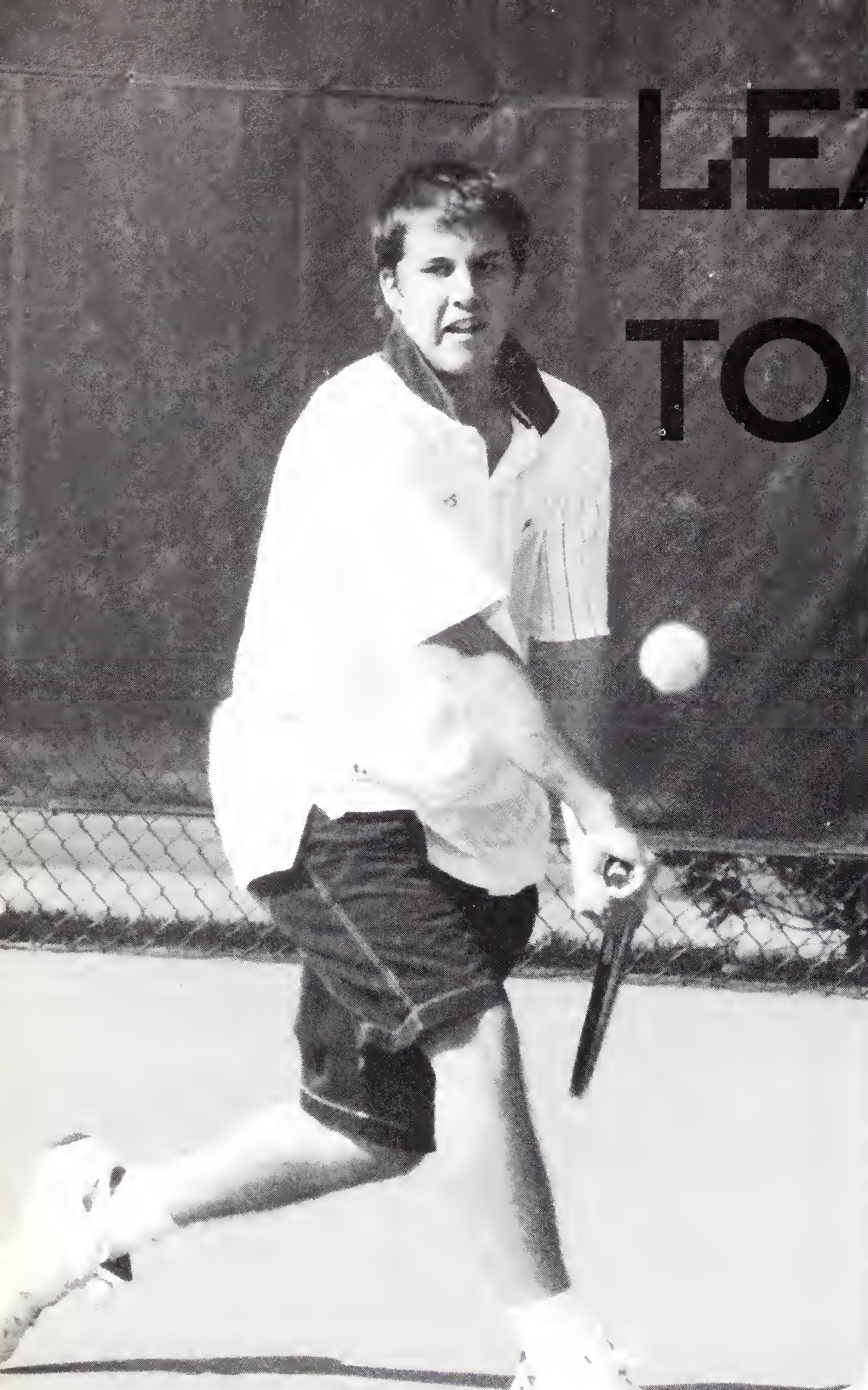

The Lady Flames finished the regular season in second place in the Tennessee Virginia Athletic Conference with a outstanding 17-5 record.

Late in the season, the Lady Flames rallied to beat Tusculum College 9-1 in five innings.

The win gave the Lady Flames an overall season record of 29-16.

Under the leadership of Coach Andrea Orr, the Lady Flames have a lot to look forward to as they strive to win a national title.

LEARNING TO LUV

The men's tennis team burned up the courts at DeVos

By Matt Poyner

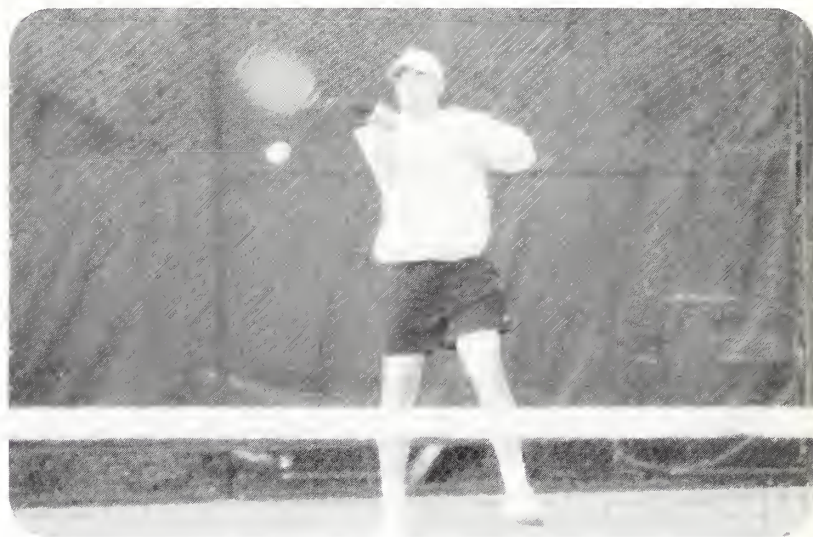

Lee Collegian

One of the highlights of the men's tennis team's 1999 season were two stunning upsets of NCAA Division I Lincoln Memorial University. The Flames roasted Lincoln 8-1, improving their season record to 7-9. Winning in the match for the Flames were Chris Foltz, Phil McCutchan, Jason Campbell, Jeremy Bandy, and Shawn McCutchan. Winning doubles were Cook and Bandy, Foltz and Phil McCutchan, and Ben Bahnsen and Shawn McCutchan. The men further improved their season record with a 9-0 win over Tusculum. That victory gave the Flames a 9-0 season record.

The Flames also had two players go to the national NCAA tennis tournament. Eric McCleery and Shawn McCutchan represented Lee College at the national tourney.

T
e n N
i s

All photos by Chris Mathes and the Lee Collegian

T
e n N
i s T
e a M

T
e n n i s

HOLDING COURT

The Lady Flames Tennis team showed once again why they are a power in collegiate tennis.

The Women's Tennis team, coached by Kay McDaniel, could hardly wait to start competition. "Even with the threat of snow in the forecast, the girls wanted to try and make it to the match at Milligan College," McDaniel said.

During the fall semester, the players engaged in preseason conditioning and worked outside on the courts.

As the temperatures dropped for winter, training moved into the gymnasium so they could keep in shape.

Along with this year's success, the Lady Flames plan on continuing the winning tradition. They have won the TVAC conference title three times the last two years in a row, and the team was ranked 21st in the national by the NAIA.

Even this season, the Lady Flames had a reputation for shaking up their competition. Success in women's tennis is the name of the game for the Lady flames.

BLAZING TRAILS

The Linksters blazed a path of excellence in the 1995-96 season

The Lee College Golf team, under the leadership of Coach Jack Souther, finished second in the Tennessee Virginia Athletic Conference tournament.

The tournament was hosted by Lee College at Flagstone Golf Course.

Scott Varner finished second in the TVAC tournament and received All Conference honors. Varner was also selected as a Paul Conn Athletic Award recipient.

The golf team is looking forward to another exciting year on the links.

It was a great year to be out on the links for the Lee College Flames

Cheerleaders

Intramural Softball

Lee Collegian
October 27, 1995

A week layoff due to Convocation gave softball teams a chance to regroup for the campus tournaments. Many teams had very successful regular seasons. Alpha Gamma Chi, Barkers Boys, and MEAT finished the regular season undefeated. Teams with lesser records met in the B-League tournament. These were teams like Lee Singers, Hoosiers, Pi Kappa Pi, and PFC Bandits, who had just slightly blemished records.

In the women's division, Devastation Inc., Sigma, and NC2 finished 3-0, 3-1, and 3-1 respectively.

In the A-League finals, in front of a packed house at Butler Field, Alpha Gamma Chi took on Barker's Boys for bragging rights.

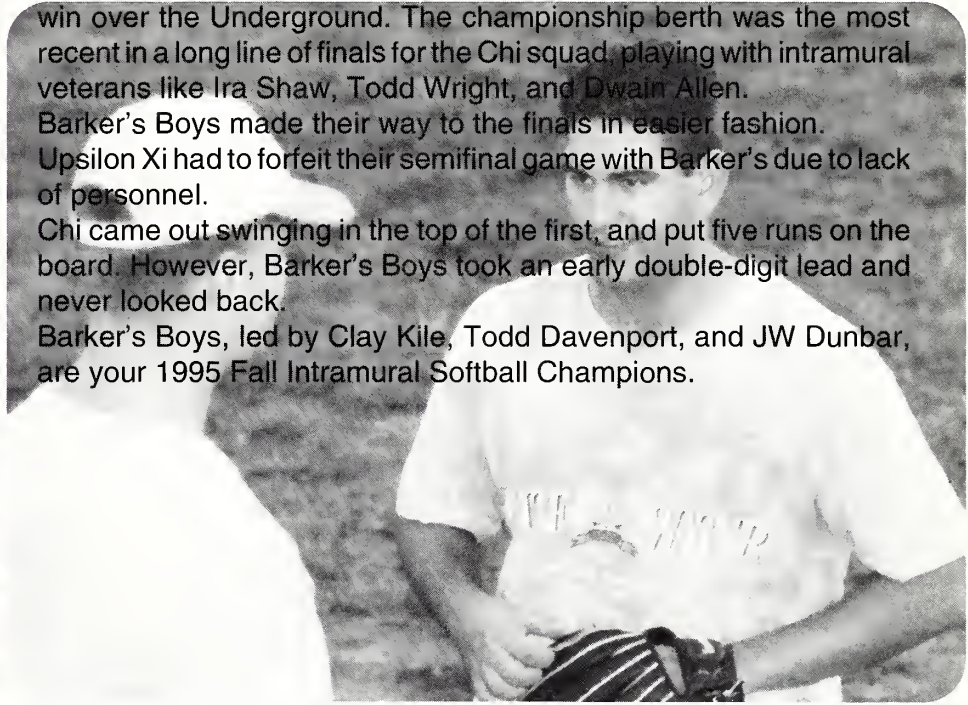

Chi got to the finals in a close win over MEAT 21-16, and a semifinal win over the Underground. The championship berth was the most recent in a long line of finals for the Chi squad, playing with intramural veterans like Ira Shaw, Todd Wright, and Dwain Allen.

Barker's Boys made their way to the finals in easier fashion.

Upsilon Xi had to forfeit their semifinal game with Barker's due to lack of personnel.

Chi came out swinging in the top of the first, and put five runs on the board. However, Barker's Boys took an early double-digit lead and never looked back.

Barker's Boys, led by Clay Kile, Todd Davenport, and JW Dunbar, are your 1995 Fall Intramural Softball Champions.

FOOTBALL INTRAMURALS

BASKETBALL

INTRAMURALS

Lee Collegian
March 27, 1996

It was another great season of intramural sports here at Lee. No sport has exemplified that more than basketball.

In the A division, it was the Cleveland Chiropractics over AAU 54-47. The B division championship matched the Bandits and Frank Rizzo's with the Bandits prevailing 58-44.

The women's division championship involved Devastation and the Heartbreakers. It was a low-scoring affair, but Devastation broke the hearts of the Heartbreakers with a 25-17 victory.

1

1996 RBR

William G. Squires Library
Cleveland, Tennessee
NOT TO BE TAKEN OUT

